Mob Battles Near Palace In Brussels

Tension Across Land Mounting Fast Revolution—Spaak

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 28—(CP)—Mobs of anti-Leopold demonstrators stormed through the streets of Brussels today, attacking streetcars and taxis which still ran in defiance of the general strike order protesting the return of the King. It was the second straight day of violence in the capital.

By mid-afternoon the anti-Leopold action squads had managed to stall most of the 100 street-cars which, operated by pro-Leopold workers, had tried to run the gauntlet.

The Belgian Cabinet was in almost continuous session throughout the day.

There were unconfirmed reports that Max Buset, leader of the Socialist party which has spearheaded the campaign against the King, has refused a summons to see Leopold at Laeken Palace.

With some 300,000 workers already idle in protest against King Leopold's return to his throne, both the King's supporters and his opponents pulled their battle lines tighter. Tension mounted through the country.

An anti-Leopold demonstrator died of injuries suffered Thursday night in a bloody 90-minute fight between police and anti-Leopold partisans who penetrated to within 300 yards of the King's palace at Laeken. The dead man was reported run down by a car he was trying to stop.

Few Street Cars

Only about 20 of Brussel's 750 cars were operating today. Protected by rifle-carrying gendarmes and jammed to the doors, they were driven by members of the pro-Leopold Catholic Union, which ignored the strike call of the larger Socialist-controlled union.

Wilson Faces A New Threat

DETROIT, July 28 (CP)—Detroit has a new and promising powerboat as candidate for the three-boat United States team which will defend the Harmsworth Trophy in September against the challenge of Miss Canada IV from Ingersoll.

Miss Pepsi, a 36-foot boat owned by the Dossi brothers of Detroit, yesterday became the first boat in history to round a three-mile course at more than 100 miles an hour.

No official timers were on the course, but stopwatches held on Miss Pepsi recorded her at slightly faster than 100 mph on the three-mile Gold Cup course on the Detroit River. Experts estimated Miss Pepsi travelled 140 mph on the straightaways, and driver Chuck Thompson said "She'll go faster."

Fired Accidentally Gun Creates Stir

VANCOUVER, July 28—(CP)—A bank messenger's revolver discharged in his pocket on a downtown Vancouver street Thursday leading to an intensive police search of the Bank of Nova Scotia premises and scads of excitement.

It went like this:

The unidentified messenger and a companion were waiting for a light to change when the revolver went off, shooting bits of pavement into the startled face of a woman bystander. She and a woman companion followed the two as far as the Bank of Nova Scotia, then summoned a constable.

Hordes of police descended on the 12-storey building, blocking all exits as crowds gathered. The mystery finally was explained but is still under investigation.

Louis Will Try Again For World Title

Notifies Boxing Club He Hopes To Meet Charles In September

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Joe Louis, now 36, will try to regain the world heavyweight boxing title he gave up two years ago.

As a challenger he notified the International Boxing Club that he started preliminary training in Indiana today with the hopes of meeting Ezzard Charles, National Boxing Association champion, in September in either New York or Chicago.

In Cincinnati, Charles said in a statement he "never had any particular desire to box Louis, but always wanted to be the undisputed champion."

The NBA titleholder added: "I welcome the opportunity to settle in the minds of boxing fans whether I am undisputed champion."

The 36-year-old Louis made the announcement through James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club.

Louis said in a statement "I have decided to fight again because of a large and unexpected tax assessment for 1946-1947 which has just been levied."

Charles is the generally-recognized successor to Louis although no champion occupies the New York State throne and Lee Savold of Englewood, N. J., is recognized as the British and European world champion.

After he had flattened Jersey Joe Walcott in the 11th round of their second fight at Yankee Stadium, June 25, 1948, Louis said:

"For my mother—this is for her—tonight was my last fight."

Since then Joe has engaged in several exhibition tours, fighting many good opponents in 10-round affairs.

Army To Keep Training Camp At Brockville

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—The Army said today it has cancelled negotiations to declare surplus the big training base at Brockville known to thousands of former Canadian officers who were trained there during the war.

An official said the Army had been negotiating with Brockville authorities for disposal of the camp, but the new defence expansion program has changed the picture.

There are no plans at present to station troops there but the camp is being "frozen" so it will be available if needed. The step was taken as an emergency measure related to the new recruiting drive for 3,000 to 4,000 more regular troops.

A great number of Canada's wartime army officers were trained at Brockville.

Say Pork Prices May Dip Later

GUELPH, July 28—(CP)—A Federal government official predicted Thursday that pork prices may drop later this year but beef prices won't.

A report by L. W. Pearsall, head of the Agriculture Department's Livestock Market Service, said heavy demand for beef in the United States and the prospects of lower U.S. tariffs on beef would tend to keep prices up.

But wehn the Anglo-Canadian bacon contract expires at the end of the year, pork prices might dip.

Mr. Pearsall's report was presented to the Ontario Poultry and Livestock Conference here by S. C. Barry of the Federal Agriculture Department's poultry product division.

3 Navy Ships Called Off Submarine Search

HALIFAX, July 28 (CP) — A Royal Canadian Navy spokesman said today three navy ships ordered from Saint John, N.B., late Thursday to check a report of a submarine in the Bay of Fundy have been ordered to return to Saint John.

He said the report was "unreliable," and there was no confirmation that a strange sub was seen in the waters that have been checked by navy ships Swansea, Lahulloise and New Liskeard during the last week.

Service At Westminster Honors Mr. King's Memory

LONDON, July 28—(Reuters)—With simple service in deference to his Presbyterian faith, Westminster Abbey today honored the memory of William Lyon Mackenzie King, long-time former Prime Minister of Canada who died last Saturday. The Royal family, all the Dominions, the United States and the British Cabinet were represented, while hundreds of ordinary British and Canadian citizens overflowed the choir into the main body of the ancient Church.

Prime Minister Attlee led a Cabinet representation which included Foreign Secretary Bevin; Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, and Lord Macdonald, Paymaster-General and former Governor of Newfoundland.

Lewis Douglas, United States Ambassador, represented his country.

Also present was Mrs. Alexander Macdougall King of Denver, Colo., sister-in-law of the late Prime Minister. She was holidaying in Britain when Mackenzie King died.

Lovely Setting

Sun poured through the stained-glass windows over the main altar as the congregation, which included Admiral of the Fleet Earl Mountbatten, and Duncan Sandys, representing his father-in-law, Winston Churchill, assembled.

British Liberals were represented by Clement Davies, their leader in the House of Commons, and Viscount Samuel from the House of Lords.

The Earl of Athlone, former Governor-General of Canada, represented the King. The Queen, Queen Mary and Princess Elizabeth also were represented.

A hymn version of the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord's My Shepherd, I'll Not Want," opened the service, which included Gustav Holsts's setting of Cecil Spring-Rice's poem, "I Vow To Thee, My Country, All Earthly Things Above."

Russian Move Surprises Canada

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—External affairs officials today expressed surprise over Russia's abrupt decision to end her boycott of the United Nations and take over the presidency of the security council Aug. 1.

Early reaction was that it might be a good development—and it could just as easily be bad—for Korea and for the general international situation

Canada's delegation at U.N. is understood to have been asked for a complete report on the Russian step.

Canadian Cadets To Meet King

OTTAWA, July 28 — (CP) — Twenty-five Royal Canadian Air Cadets will be received by the King and Queen at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, on Aug. 13, Air Cadet League headquarters announced today.

The royal reception will highlight a three weeks' tour of England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales.

Drawn from all parts of Canada, the cadets are gathering tody at RCAF station, Trenton, for briefing and preparations for the journey. The big thrill comes Aug. 3 when they fly to Montreal and climb aboard an RCAF North Star for the trans-Atlantic trip via Goose Bay and Iceland.

From their base at Uxbridge, Middlesex, the cadets will have several days of sightseeing in the London area followed by a trip to Scotland Aug. 10. Coach tours of famed Scottish landmarks are planned.

A flight to Northern Ireland, scheduled for Aug. 1, will be followed by a motor tour of Wales with a visit to Bristol.

RCAF Planes On Way To Tokyo

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash., July 28—(CP)—The first flight of R.C.A.F. Korean airlift planes was thundering across the Pacific today, bound for Tokyo.

The 5,000-mile flight will take at least 23 hours.

Officials at this base, North American hinge of the air lift, declined to say exactly how many planes had left or their time of departure.

It was assumed, however, that six R.C.A.F. aircraft were making the flight and that they had left here at 7 p.m. Thursday night.

The North Star planes of 426 Transport Squadron, under command of Wing Cmdr. Campbell Mussells of Montreal, arrived here Wednesday.

The squadron will ferry supplies to Tokyo over the Northern Pacific air route via the Aleutians.

R.C.A.F. ground crews will be spotted at airfields along the route to service the North Stars. United States Air Force ground crews are not familiar with the engines of the Canadian aircraft.

Car, Truck Collide Head-on, Two Killed

KIRKLAND LAKE, July 28 (CP)—Two Kirkland Lake men were killed when their automobile collided head-on with a truck on Highway 66 just west of the Ontario-Quebec border early today.

Dead: William Henry McGee, 64, and W. O. Smith, 28.

McGee who was driving the car, owned by Smith, died before a doctor reached the scene. Smith did nine hours after in Kirkland District Hospital.

J. B. Lacourse, 36, of Timmins, driver of the truck, said today that all he remembers is seeing the other car coming towards him. He dimmed his lights when the other vehicle started over to his side of the road. He put on the brakes but the other acr continued on his side and smashed into his truck.

Question of Ground Troops Brought To Head In Week

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP).—The uestion of Canadian ground troops for Korea may be brought to a head within a wek or less by discussions now under way, official quarters said today.

The government's approach to the new situation posed by troop offers by a number of Commonwealth and other countries is one of cautious exploration of a number of aspects in discussions with the United Nations and probably Washington. No quick decision is in prospect.

Cabinet's meeting aboard the Mackenzie King funeral train on Wednesday night—the first ever held in Canada aboard a moving train—discussed the situation in the light of troop offers by Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Turkey and other countries.

No decision was made, one way or the other. The policy enunciated by Prime Minister St. Laurent a week before remains the policy.

Gist of it is that an offer of existing frontline army units at this stage would not be warranted, but that immediate consideration will be given to any U.N. Security Council decision to recruit an international force.

Officials said there is no certainty that Canada would contribute troops of an international force that met the government's as-yet-undefined specifications. Cabinet hasn't gone that far in its thinking.

But such a step is considered not unlikely. Whether the men would enter a newly-recruited formation or whether an existing regular unit would be sent is unknown.

Big Offensive Under Way, Last Chance

Savage Artillery Fight Along Whole Front, Weather Curbs Planes

TOKYO, July 29—(Saturday) — (AP) — Communist North Korean invaders threw a savage armored attack at American divisions today in a decisive battle for the remaining U.S. foothold in South Korea.

The North Koreans were attacking in the rain along the whole 200-mile front with an estimated 90,000 men in nine divisions.

The heaviest blows were dealt against the greatly outnumbered American forces in the West-Central sector north east and south east of Yongdong.

General MacArthur's summary issued early Saturday said "a savage fire fight" was in progress, with concentrated assaults on the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division area southeast of Yongdong.

The 1st Cavalry foot troopers lost some ground in the Hwanggan vicinity, 15 miles east of Yongdong, but were last reported holding firm against three enemy divisions.

Twenty miles farther northeast elements of the North Korean 15th division drove a small wedge between the U.S. 25th Division and the South Korean 6th Division near Ichon village, MacArthur's announcement said. Efforts were being made to restore the breach.

No Air Support

Fighting without much direct air support because of the weather, the defending troops sought to bar the corridor to Taegu, temporary South Korean capital and supply-line hub 45 miles southeast of Yongdong and 40 miles northwest of vital Pusan port.

A North Korean broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said claimed North Korean forces killed 504 U.S. troops and captured 104 in an attack in the Hadong area on the southern front. Hadong is about 65 miles west of Pusan.

The Pyongyang radio broadcast also asserted North Korean forces which took Namwon in southwest Korea Thursday have captured Kurye, 15 miles south of Namwon.

An American counter-attack was made late Friday in an attempt to ease pressure on the central sector. There were no immediate reports on how it fared.

Heavy Fire

The Northerners' attack was launched and maintained under the heaviest concentration of artillery and mortar fire of the five-week-long war

In the far south, where the Reds for several days have been advancing with small feeler tank forces, they gained another 10 miles along undefended roads. This carried them within about 60 miles of Pusan, the all-important

US Envoy Transferred To Post At Taipei

WASHINGTON, July 28 — (AP)—The United States has ordered Minister Karl L. Rankin transferred from Hong Kong to Taipei, to serve as top American representative with the government of Nationalist China.

Taipei, on the island of Formosa, is the Nationalist capital.

Rankin will relieve Robert C. Strong, who holds the lower rank of Embassy First Secretary, as Chief of the U.S. delegation.

The State Department in announcing the shift said it is "routine" although the result is to place a higher-ranking Diplomat in the Taipei post.

Sentenced 4 Years For Wounding Wife

TORONTO, July 28 (CP). — Michael Jozefacki, 31, today was sentenced to four years for wounding his wife with a hunting knife during an argument.

Magistrate F. C. Gullen told him:

"You are fortunate the results are not more serious. There was no excuse or justification for such an act."

Won't Finish Highway

TORONTO, July 28 (CP) —The new Toronto-Barrie express highway will not be completed this year, Highways Department officials said today. Difficulty in clearing entrances to the 55-mile, four-lane artery has dimmed hopes of starting paving in 1950, but it is hoped the highway will be completed in 1951. Tenders totalling $3,000,000 have been called to complete overhead bridges and cloverleafs.

House Shooting Blamed On Gang Warfare

WINDSOR, July 28 (CP)—Police today blamed gang warfare for the shotgun shooting of Mike Nidoff, 24-year-old Windsor auto worker, in what they said was a bootlegging establishment.

Nidoff was taken to hospital in serious condition after the early-morning shooting and attendants said he may lose his left leg.

Police said that the man was apparently shot in a struggle for a shotgun, carried into a downtown Windsor house by his assailant. Investigators said they believe the gunman entered the house in a quarrel with its owner over competition between two bootlegging outlets.

Hunt Gunman

A search for the gunman is continuing, and police have arrested nine persons, including two women, for questioning.

Eyewitnesses quoted the gunman as saying to the house owner: "What are you trying to do, take over my joint? If anyone wants to start any trouble, start it here."

Police said that others in the house apparently struggled for the gun and an accidental blast hit Nidoff in the leg. Ronald Stocker, 25, who made a grab for the gun, was hit over the head with the gun barrel and required hospital treatment.

The shotgun was found a few blocks away with an empty cartridge in the chamber.

Fire-Fighting Accident Takes Youth's Life

QUEBEC, July 28 — (CP) — A freak fire - fighting accident brought death to one person in a crowd of onlookers and serious injuries to two others during an apartment-building blaze here Thursday night.

While firemen fought flames in the back porch of a third-storey apartment 26-year-old Andre Gauvin touched a metal clothesline charged with 2,200 volts of electricity by contact with a fire ladder which slipped against a high tension line.

Gauvin was electrocuted. Seventeen-year-old Laurent Letourneau and 52-year-old Henri Letourneau were shocked into unconsciousness when they tried to free Gauvin from the clothesline.

Onlookers finally broke the dead man's grip on the clothesline with the aid of mop.

Russia Calls Off Boycott Of UN Council, Malik To Take Presidency

Fear Soviet Will Use Veto To Block Further Action In Korea
Expect Demand Chinese Reds Be Members

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., July 28—(AP)—Russia late Thursday announced the end of her boycott of the United Nations Security Council. Her chief U.N. delegate, Jakob A. Malik, said he will take over the council presidency on schedule Aug. 1. The full meaning of the Russian return could not be evaluated. It threatened vetoes over future council actions on the Korean conflict or on any other action the Russians oppose.

But there appeared no way the Russians could recall actions already taken, although they have branded U.N. intervention in Korea illegal because the Soviet Union was not represented at the meetings and the Chinese Nationalists were.

Alphabetical rotation of the council presidency among its members gives Russia its regular term in August.

Malik, a Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, gave no indication that he intended to attend the Security Council meeting this morning. Its announced purpose was to hear what council members have to say about the review of U.N. military operations in Korea, received this week from General Douglas MacArthur.

Ready To Step Up

Malik notified Secretary-General Trygve Lie Thursday that he plans to take his August term and that he wants a council meeting held at 3 p.m. EDT next Tuesday. He told Lie he would announce the program of business later.

Lie's office notified all other members of the council immediately, including T. F. Tsiang, Chinese Nationalist delegate whose continued presence in the United Nations—over Russian protest—set off the Soviet boycotts that finally extended to 30 U.N. groups.

There was no indication whether the break in the boycott would bring the Russians back into other U.N. bodies.

Nor was there indication how long the Russians would remain or what would be their attitude toward the U.N. general assembly opening Sept. 19.

In Washington, some government officials said they suspect Russia wants to block further U.

A women's team defeated a men's team in a tug of war.

Louis Wejr, who is 70, won the buttermilk drinking contest. He downed a quart in 24 seconds flat.

Widows of Langton Victims Get $18,500 From Banks

MONTREAL, July 28 —(CP)—Mrs. William Goddyn and Mrs. Arthur Lierman, widows of the two men slain by a bank robber at Langton, Ont., June 21, are to receive a total of $18,500 in cash and gratuities from the chartered banks, it was announced today by J. U. Boyer, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

The association provides $12,500 and the Imperial Bank of Canada, whose branch was robbed, provides $6,000.

"Mrs. Lierman, in most unselfish and generous spirit, especially asked that any provision by the association for the two widows, be given to Mrs. Goodyn," Mr. Boyer said. "Therefore, Mrs. Goddyn, the younger of the two, who has a family of three small children, receives the greater amount, $15,500."

"Mr. Lierman, real estate dealer, insurance man and owner of tobacco land, left a moderately substantial estate, while Mrs. Goddyn had nothing, no insurance, and some debts. Her young, industrious husband was a good worker, actively seeking to build a future as a tobacco farmer when struck down."

Mr. Boyer said a house will be purchased for Mrs. Goddyn and her young family and, in addition, an annuity will be provided for her and her children.

Mrs. Lierman is to receive $3,000 from the Imperial Bank of Canada.

"The husbands of these two women," said Mr. Boyer, "good citizens with a militant interest in law and order, lost their lives pursuing a bank robber. We are glad to help take care of the needs of their families, arising from their sacrifice. There are no words adequate to express our sympathy for Mrs. Goddyn and Mrs. Lierman nor our admiration for the unselfishness of Mrs. Lierman."

Korea Recruits Turned Away By Hundreds

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP). — Canadians who want to fight only in Korea are being turned away from recruiting stations by the hundreds.

A defence department official said today that in the two weeks July 1 to 15, 600 Canadians asked to enlist for Korea duty. Hundreds more have kept recruiting officers busy since.

Each had to be informed that Canada is not accepting volunteers specifically for Korea. What the services want are men committed to go anywhere.

When told this, said the official, many of the volunteers wouldn't sign.

But in the first two weeks of July, 1,500 did volunteer for active service anywhere. A sharp upsurge was noted in the latter half of the month after Defence Minister Claxton made an appeal for men.

The total for the month will not be known for several days until district officers have sent in the figures.

Officials here said it may reach 5,000. That does not mean Canada will obtain 5,000 recruits.

For every man who passes the services' physical and other tests, 14 are turned away.

The armed forces' standards are high. At the moment there is no indication they will be lowered, as was done during the Second World War to increase the percenage of volunteers who can be enlisted.

Girl Tumbles From Automobile

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP) — Mary Turner, 19, leaped or was thrown from a slowly moving automobile in downtown Toronto early today.

She told police she was picked up by the motorist while waiting for a streetcar in the west-central section of city. She said she was driven to the waterfront and an attempt was made to rape her. In her battle with the motorist her jaw was fractured and her face cut and bruised.

Two bystanders saw the girl tumble from the car. They tried to get the licence number but it was covered with a piece of cloth.

The girl gave two different names and different ages to police before she admitted her real name and age. Police are still investigating her story.

UK Emergency Fund Will Be Discontinued

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP) — The United Emergency Fund for Britain is being discontinued, honorary treasurer J. L. Carson said today.

He said certain freight rate privileges granted by the British government were cancelled and the food situation in Great Britain had improved. He said the public had not supported the fund to the extent desired and it had turned out to be a "very costly venture".

Final report showed the fund forwarded 1,177,535 pounds of food and clothing overseas. Total value of all shipments was $1,071,250.

Miner Wins Victory, Reinstated

Labor Board Orders Company Take Sidener Back On Job

WASHINGTON, July 28 — (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered the reinstatement of miner Lloyd H. Sidener of Canton, Ill., who was fired from his job and fined $50,000 by a United Mine Workers local after he tried to go back to work during the 1950 coal strike.

In an unanimous decision, the N.L.R.B. held that the United Electric coal companies, the U.M.W. Local 7455 and a U.M.W. sub-district had violated the Taft-Hartley Labor Law in their treatment of Sidener, who was president of the local at the time the dispute started.

The Board ordered the coal firm and the unions to pay Sidener all the wages he had lost as a result of their action. The Board also directed the Unions not to force United Electric or any other company to discriminate against employees because of their union activities.

Major Victory

The NLRB decision represented a major victory for Sidener, who has carried on a fight for reinstatement since March 8 when the company fired him on union demand.

The union charged Sidener with trying to start a rival mine group after he had called a strike-ending meeting in response to an order from president John L. Lewis of the UMW to return to the pits.

Sidener denied the union accusation. He charged in turn that Lewis had secretly passed along word that the miners were to ignore his instructions and stay off the job.

May 31 the unions and Sidener settled their argument and he returned to his $21-a-day job as a shovel engineer. A day later, he reported receiving threats on his life. Once again he left work, asking the NLRB to investigate the whole issue.

Anti-Leopold strikers lobbed stones and smoke bombs into street cars today. Gendarmes rushed to aid smoke-filled cars floundering outside the stock exchange in the centre of the city.

At Brussels Thursday night 2,500 anti-Leopold partisans defied a local order forbidding more than five persons to gather in the streets. They marched on the royal palace, hooting, whistling and calling for the king's abdication.

When police failed to disperse them with a baton charge, 24 motorcycle police rode into the crowd. Several persons were injured.

The government poured truckloads of gendarmes into the tense capital during the night.

Even the one-day extra leave which Leopold ordered given those who formed the "guard of honor" for his arrival last Saturday was hastily cancelled.

Drowns In Labrador

MONTREAL, July 28—(CP)—Labrador Mining and Exploration Co. officials announced today that Alan V. Corlett of Kingston, son of A. V. Corlett, professor of mining at Queen's University, was drowned Thursday near a Labrador mine where he was working for the summer. Officials said his body has been flown to Kingston for burial. Further details of the accident were not immediately available.

U.S. Army Asks 100,000 Draftees

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The United States army, already scheduled to get 100,000 draftees by Oct. 30, may follow up with at least one more draft call before the end of the year to boost its strength near the 800,000-man mark.

While the air force and navy are waiting to see if volunteers will fill their combined 340,000-man quota, the army made clear Thursday that it is relying heavily on the Selective Service Act to meet its manpower needs.

It boosted its September draft call from 20,000 to 50,000 and said it would call another 50,000 men in October.

Even this increased total would fall short of bringing the U.S. ground forces to their 800,000-man goal.

In addition to the army, the United States is building as swiftly as possible toward an air force of 548,000 and a navy of 379,000—for a total military strength of 1,927,000 within the next few months. By next June this is expected to climb to 2,300,000.

Big Offensive

American supply port at the southeast tip of Korea across from Japan.

A Tokyo headquarters spokesman said, however, "the southwestern situation is completely under control."

It was on the west-central front, astride the road and railroad leading southeast to Taegu and Pusan, that the decisive engagement was being fought out.

Aimed At Pass

The main weight of their attack was aimed at two American divisions holding a strategic mountain pass 45 miles northwest of Taeju, key railroad and highway centre. MacArthur's intelligence spokesman said the North Korean attackers outnumber the Americans four to one on this sector.

He said pressure from attacking Red columns is building up over the whole length of the front. He said this was the Communists' maximum effort.

"Time is against him (the enemy) now,' 'the spokesman said "He must have a decision quickly. The next few days, from the Communist point of view, are extremely important."

The attack ran into staunch defence lines and the largest American counter-attack yet mounted. The 1st Cavalry Division counter-attacked in mid-morning after the Reds hit their positions near Hwanggan on the central front.

The South Koreans launched local counter-attacks at several points on the south coast where a smaller Communist force had been rolling forward virtually unopposed. On this southern front, the Reds advanced beyond Hadong toward Chinju on the road to Pusan.

Try To Hold Passes

Americans and South Koreans were fighting to hold passes through the rugged Soeback mountains guarding the American supply lines to the northern fronts. Yongdong and Hawanggan are virtually in the centre of the main mountain pass. This is where the battle is reaching its greatest intensity.

MacArthur's spokesman said a swift-moving Communist force which had knifed down the west coast and fanned out over southwestern Korea is "trying had for a breakthrough."

Headquarters said this spearheard had cut eastward about 16 miles toward Chinju. This would put the Reds about 60 miles west of Pusan. "The enemy's supply problem has become grave. Hence he must have a decision," said the officer. Moreover, if he does break through he has to be in top-flight condition to continue to move and take advantage of the situation."

A Red breakthrough wouldn't necessarily mean collapse of the Allied beachhead "because there are still defensible positions between the present lines and Pusan."

See-saw Battle

A headquarters spokesman gave this picture of the front from the east coast arching down to the southwest:

Yongdok—the 23rd South Korean division was engaged in a seesaw battle for possession of the town.

Yongju—South Korean 8th division under heavy pressure but has repulsed Red attacks and held its ground.

Hamchang-Hwanggan sector — U.S. 24th regimental combat team composed of Negroes, was relieved after being surrounded. The 27th regimental combat team of the 1st cavalry division wheeled into a new line. A 25th division element neutralized an enemy pocket behind its lines. Another 25th division unit counter-attacked and regained lost ground.

Hadong-Chinju sector — Communist forces advanced about 10 miles toward Chinju. Chinju and Hamyang were still in American hands.

Harvest Moon?

The probabilities mention clouds tonight for the full moon of the harvest time. But, if the sky clears after 10 o'clock, the lunar path will be a grand display of golden light, with Jupiter in its trail to the east.

Even if this is not the classic harvest moon, as listed in the almanacs, it coincides with the climax of the cereal season in the Kawarthas. Some of the fields have already yielded up their wheat. The spring grains are ripening, too, and the nights are apparently in for more warmth in the atmosphere.

Mysterious Object

LONDON, July 28—(Reuters)—A mysterious object was reported seen Thursday at 15,000 to 20,000 feet over Cowes airport, Isle of Wight. George Wilks, chief engineer at the airport and Capt. J. Jessop, a former transport command pilot, said the object was round, "emitted a hard, white light," and travelled at about 2,000 miles an hour.

Enjoys Working Will Not Quit

Bert L. McLean, manager of Lindsay Exhibition, says he would literally be bored to death in a month if he had to retire at his present age of 74. I prefer to keep going. I enjoy working far too much to quit."

He was recently appointed director of harness racing for the Ontario Racing Commission of which he is a member. Long interested in the standardbred horse, Mr. McLean in a recent issue puts in a boost for it with the prediction that there will be more harness horse races than ever at Ontario fairs.

"Because harness racing has been substantially revived, there has been a great development of interest among farmers and breeders of that type of horse."

Russia Calls

N. action on Korea. They said Russia's return without the expulsion of Nationalist China and the admission of Communist China represents a diplomatic victory for the west.

One U.N. source expressed the opinion that "this is complete reversal of politburo policy" and predicted the Russians are back to stay a while.

What will Malik do?

Further council action to aid Gen. MacArthur's war effort against the Russian-endorsed North Koreans appeared scheduled for a bog-down in lengthy debate or a Russian veto. The same possibility loomed should feared aggressions by other Soviet satellites develop.

But a special meeting of the general assembly—where Russia does not have the veto power — could be called should debate or veto stop future council action.

Some quarters speculated that Malik may come back with another attempt to oust the Nationalist Chinese from the council.

Roseneath Team Wins Bay Of Quinte Trophy

ROSENEATH, July 28 (ENS). —Roseneath junior farm girls softball team won the Bay of Quinte cup at the Eastern Ontario Junior Farmers' field day held Thursday in Belleville.

Representing Northumberland county, the girls played three games, winning all, against Durham, Hastings, and Victoria counties. The cup was presented on Thursday night at a banquet held in the gymnasium in the school for the deaf at Belleville.

Earl Nelson, of Campbellford, district president, presented the cup to Eleanor Brown, manager of the team. Coach was Neil O'Connell.

Drivers Watched Closer In Detroit

"They wouldn't do that in Detroit; they have to stop," said an indignant woman as she escaped by inches being struck by an automobile trying to sneak around the Examiner corner, against the red light at the Hunter St. intersection.

The car did stop, but not because of respect for the traffic sign. The brakes gripped to avoid hitting Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Breckenridge of Detroit, Mich. They are here on a vacation.

Mr. Breckenridge is related to the well known family of that name at Westwood in Asphodel township.

The incident was just another example of motorists' disregard for pedestrian rights, which is repeated frequently every day.

AN IMPUDENT BLAZE

SURE enough, there it was for startled passersby to see: a fire right on the roof of the fire hall. It didn't amount to much but some of the rumors did. Some chowderhead even spread the story that the building had burnt down A news photographer rushed to the scene believing he was about to get the humorous "shot" of the year. What happened? Well, some of the boys at the fire hall were using a blow torch in the basement while fixing pipes. A flaming piece of paper sailed up the chimney and landed on the shingle roof. Playing it safe, the embarrassed firemen extinguished the blaze with a hand-pump.

Early Gains Reduced On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, July 28—(CP)— Early gains were reduced as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials climbed strongly in morning dealings, continuing yesterday's strong advances, but begun to settle in mid-session as mild selling appeared.

Volume for the first three hours was 504,000 shares.

Abitibi Paper held the limelight on the Industrial Board, climbing 2¼ to 30¾ in brisk dealings. The semi-annual report is expected to be distributed shortly. Other papers, utilities and agricultures also climbed. Steels and refining oils were mixed.

Junior gold producers also climbed in dull dealings. Newlund paced leaders slowly upwards. Seniors also brightened.

In base metals, Quemont and International Nickel gained fractions and Labrador exploration and steep rock iron mines attracted considerable buying.

Western oils started higher but slipped into minus territory at the half-way mark.

Swimming Classes At Hamilton Park

Swimming lessons will be provided at Hamilton park beginning Monday, Alex Sinclair, recreation director, announced today.

During the past several days registration of the children has taken place. The instructors will be Miss Maureen Finn and Mrs. Pansy Forbes.

Mr. Sinclair said the water has been held back by the dam in the Jackson Park creek so that the depth at the deep end of the pool is 30 inches.

With the new program starting at the park Peterborough will have two areas under the recreation department where instruction in swimming is provided, Inverlea and Hamilton parks. The Lions' club provides instruction daily at the pool in Riverside park.

UK Resisting Strong Pressure Over Newsprint

LONDON, July 28—(Reuters)—Britain has resisted "strong pressure" from Australia, South Africa and a number of other countries to increase exports of British-made newsprint above present figures, Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons Thursday night.

The government has decided, nonetheless, to make the 1951 ceiling the same as this year's.

He was replying to a debate in which Conservatives had expressed fears that British newspapers might not be able to maintain their present size of six pages.

Richard Butler, Conservative, urged the calling of a commonwealth newsprint conference to discuss the pooling of a commonwealth resources of newsprint.

Wilson said the government regards Canadian newsprint as "one of the most important of our imports" and "one which we are most keen to maintain."

Butler said he had hoped that if the situation permitted more dollars might be released for newsprint imports and that these might be fitted into Canadian contracts.

Clement Davies, Liberal leader, said the breaking of Canadian contracts had done Britain considerable harm.

Ontario Leads Population Boost

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP). — Canada's population is creeping up to the 14,000,000 mark.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday that at June 1 the population was estimated at 13,845,000, an increase of 296,000 over June 1, 1949. It was also 2,338,000 above the figure in 1941, when the last census was taken.

Entry of Newfoundland into confederation last year accounted for 348,000 of the 10-year gain.

Excluding Newfoundland's addition, the largest net increase in these years and the largest on record was 318,000 in the 12 months ended June 1 last year.

In the previous year, the increase was 301,000, or slightly more than that shown by this year's estimate, which covers 10 as against the former nine provinces.

All Have Increase

The estimate for June - showed increases during the 12 months in all provinces.

Largest numerical increase was 101,000 for Ontario, followed by a gain of 89,000 in Quebec and 24,000 each in Alberta and British Columbia.

The population in Manitoba rose an estimated 17,000, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan, 13,000 each; Newfoundland, 7,000, New Brunswick, 6,000; Prince Edward Island, 2,000.

Estimates for the provinces and territories with 1949 figures in brackets:

Newfoundland, 355,000 (348,000); Prince Edward Island, 96,000 (94,000); Nova Scotia, 658,000 (645,000); New Brunswick, 522,000 (516,000); Quebec, 3,976,000 (3,887,000); Ontario, 4,512,000 (4,411,000); Manitoba, 795,000 (778,000); Saskatchewan, 874,000 (861,000); Alberta, 895,000 (871,000; British Columbia, 1,138,000 (1,114,000); Yukon, 8,000 (8,000); Northwest Territories, 16,000 (16,000).

Says He Wasn't There Drop Speeding Charge

OSHAWA, July 28 (CP). — Magistrate F. S. Ebbs Thursday dismissed a speeding charge laid by a provincial constable in an unmarked car who followed a car for six miles at speeds of up to 70 miles an hour.

Three witnesses testified that Peter Magelwich was in Toronto at the time the officer claimed he was chasing the car.

Magelwich admitted the licence number on the summons was his, but he denied that his car was on the highway at the time.

Exchange Teacher Arrives In Scotland

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 — (ENS)—Miss Betty Redner of Campbellford has arrived in Scotland, where she will take up her teaching duties in the Hynland Public School, Glasgow.

She will remain at this school for a period of one year. She was chosen to go to Scotland on a teacher exchange program and sailed from Quebec City on July 18.

Still Await Verdict

COBOURG, July 28 (ENS) — Due to the magistrate being on holidays, judgment in the Scriver assault case, scheduled to be handed down Thursday at Hastings was deferred to a later date. The accused, Albert Scriver of Hastings, is charged with assaulting Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey at Hastings on April 29.

New Building For Eldorado Cheese-Butter Co-Operative Expected Open Next Season

MARMORA, July 28—(ENS)—The construction of a new cheese factory with dimensions of 72 feet x 84 feet is well under way at the southern end of the village of Eldorado. Early this spring the newly formed Eldorado Cheese and Butter Co-operative received its charter to proceed with this project which was visualized about two years ago. The work is proceeding under the supervision of Gibson Bailey, who achieved fame in the erection of the covered rink at the community of Cooper last year.

The factory is being built on what is called the cost and plus plan, an alternative to contract letting. The walls now in course of erection are being built of cinder blocks and the one storey building will have a bonded roof.

The property of this new Co-operative extends to about ten acres and the former residence of Alfred Parnell has been purchased as a residence for the cheesemaker.

Four Factories Unite

Four factories with a history in of 55 years, amalgamated to form the Co-operative. They are all in Madoc township and with the exception of one—the Eldorado factory—are operative this season.

The Champion Factory, situated near the Union Church (United) in its prime, could boast of about 40 patrons. Its first cheesemaker was Wesley Mason, of Springbrook. This season, Athol Dudgeon, son of a cheesemaker and cheesefaker himself for several seasons, has operated there.

Then there is the Spring Creek factory at Remington with perhaps 25 patrons in its heyday, which also will lose its identity in this new merger. Archie Pitt is the maker this season.

Cold Springs factory, near the Hematite Mine on No. 62 Highway, owing to the idleness of Eldorado factory, has had an extended list of patrons this year. Originally it could number about 25. Russell Dunford has been serving that factory this season.

Twenty Patron

Eldorado factory, when operating, received milk from about 20 farms. As the new amalgamated factory opens in 1951, it is anticipated there will be about 80 patrons.

What the actual cost of building and equipment will be is an uncertainty. A guess computes it at approximately $40,000.

Because it is being erected in conformity with the regulations of the Department of Dairying, the federal government will be giving a subsidy of fifty per cent on the building as well as on all new material going into it. This is done where amalgamations of two or more factories are effected.

Messrs. Bain and Lackner, of the Department of Dairying, have been in close touch with the Eldorado project.

Use Septic Tanks

Under directions of the Department of Health, the system of septic tanks to be used will be something new in the annals of cheese factories in the County of Hastings. The well was drilled to a depth of 70 feet. An oil burner boiled was decided upon. Five vats go into this building and the curing room will be sufficiently large to handle the production of cheese. All whey tanks and other parts of equipment will be under the one roof.

In addition to the office, there is to be a showroom, both to face the highway. The feeling is that in this show room cheese of various sizes may be displayed to attract the attention of tourists.

The executive hopes to be able to arrange an official opening ceremony.

Engaged as maker for its inaugural year is Athol Dudgeon, make at the Champion factory this season.

The first general meeting for the formation of the Co-Operative was held in Madoc Town Hall last October under the presidency of James L. Nickle, former warden of Hastings County and former reeve of Madoc township. That meeting was somewhat disappointing in that the area the new factory was to serve was only partially represented.

The second meeting held the following month took on a different complexion. With the greater enthusiasm displayed in the project, initial plans were made.

The executive of the Co-Operative is fully representative of the area and comprises:

President, James L. Nickle; secretary-treasurer, John Thompson; directors, Bert McCarey, Beryl Carman, Clayton Blackburn, Allan Ketcheson, Bruce Robinson, Stanley Moorcroft and Derwood McCoy.

Although not a director, Edwar Robinson has been of great assistance in the establishment of bylaws and in the plans of the project. Cheese to be manufacturned at this new factory will be all probability be boarded in Madoc.

Campbellford Legion Carnival A Success

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 — (ENS)—The carnival sponsored by branch 103 of the Canadian Legion, held on the legion grounds on Tuesday evening, turned out to be the success it was hoped to be. Midway games, including bingo, were well patronized and many took away good prizes.

The Campbellford Citizen's Band entertained the crowd with modern and martial music.

Chamber Says Tourist Boom In Cobourg Area

COBOURG, July 28 (ENS) — The war in Korea has had no effect on tourist trade in this area, according to the records of the Cobourg Chamber of Commerce tourist office. Northern tourist resorts report cancellations of reservations made by U.S. visitors but in the Cobourg area there has been a 50 per cent. increase in the number of enquiries by tourists.

The motel is still the most popular type of accommodation but due to the increase in tourist traffic, tourist homes are doing more business than earlier this season.

Rice Lake resorts report a few cancellations in August reservations by U.S. tourists but Canadian vacationers are experted to snap up the vacancies.

Build New Toilet

COBOURG, July 28 (ENS) — Excavating has started for the new park lavatory which will be located at the east end of the pavilion. The structure will be of cement block and will be finished and ready for use by next spring. A local builder has the contract.

A New Road Needed?

It is suggested by the Ontario land surveyor, Mr. John Pierce, that Peterborough County needs a road to open up the Gold-Catchacoma-Anstruther Lakes district. The lakes east of Catchacoma are not at present accessible by road, and there are few summer homes on them for that reason. There are estimated to be more than forty of these lakes, all named and some well-known to sportsmen. However, only the hardier spirits visit them, as a considerable tramp in the woods and some portaging is needed to reach them.

* * *

The road which Mr. Pierce suggests would strike east from Apsley, joining the road which runs north from Buckhorn after passing through the neglected lake district. The fishing in this district is reported to be good, and as well as the lakes there are many streams and small rivers there.

* * *

The land in the undeveloped area is Crown land, and it may be bought at reasonable prices. We must say, however, that we would be sorry to see it overrun in a few years with cottages until—as in so many lake districts around here—it is impossible for anyone who is not a cottager to get near a lake. Nor would we like to see hot-dog stands and shabby stores defacing the district, nor third-rate lodges and cabin joints. It does not take long for uncontrolled development of that kind to ruin a lake district and keep away the better sort of summer visitors. There are areas in Peterborough country now where the atmosphere is more suggestive of a slum than a tourist's paradise. If the Gold-Catchacoma-Anstruther Lakes are to be opened to the public, can nothing be done to see that their natural beauty is preserved, and made freely available to anyone who wants to enjoy it? Surely we have learned enough in the past twenty-five years to prevent further degradation of our natural beauties?

Nepheline To Europe

It is good news that Canadian nepheline, mined at Blue Mountain, northeast of Lakefield, has begun to move in large shipments to Europe. It is used in the manufacture of glass, china, crockery and porcelain, and takes the place of feldspar in those products. European feldspar came from Czechoslovakia, and is now unobtainable. But Canada has plenty of nepheline, and we are happy to send it abroad—particularly as the shipments are paid for in American dollars, which our country needs.

The more commodities that Canada can ship abroad, the better it will be for this country. We have a number of extremely profitable raw materials which we export on a big scale, but in addition to these we need the greatest possible diversity among our lesser exports. In these days of rapid technological change it is impossible to say how quickly one material may be superseded by another; even our nickel might one day be a drug on the market. The more things like nepheline, therefore, that we can export, the safer will be our economy and the more resilient will be our trade. Canada is an exporting country, and every new export we find is good news. That is why we congratulate the American Nepheline Company on the great increase in its export trade to Europe.

Are Peterborough Motorists Inconsiderate?

Recently we have printed a few letters and news stories dealing with alleged thoughtlessness of Peterborough motorists at corners; many of them, it appears, are unwilling to allow pedestrians to cross the street when the green light is with them, if such crossing holds up motor traffic even for a few seconds.

The psychology of motorists is of particular interest. Many ordinarily courteous people, when they get behind the wheel of a car, are rude toward people on foot. They push and thrust, glare at pedestrians and mumble inaudibly behind their windshields; some of them honk their horns, and if they can honk right in the pedestrian's ear, and make him jump, they are filled with wicked glee. Bicyclists are no better; indeed they are worse. There is nothing a cyclist likes better than to whizz dangerously near to a pedestrian, and frighten him. To be mounted on even two wheels, not to speak of four, seems to have a bad effect on the human soul.

The Chief of Police says that nothing can be done about this state of affairs by his department, and he is right. The police cannot set to work to teach good manners to Peterborough motorists. They must teach themselves a little common courtesy, and a little restraint. They must train themselves to think "What am I really hurrying for?" when they feel the urge to rush and jostle and honk. For, after all, to be rude in a car is just as offensive as to be rude when on foot.

Peterborough motorists are a proud-stomached and vainglorious lot. They should school themselves to remember that Pride is one of the Seven Deadly Sins. They should also remember that the pedestrians whom they despise also pay taxes to keep up the roads which the motorists treat as their exclusive property.

Let Us Hear More About the Franconia

The case of the steamship Franconia, which ran aground half an hour after leaving Quebec on July 12, appears to have been settled to the satisfaction of the Ministry of Transport. We cannot say that it has been settled to the satisfaction of the people of Canada. The pilot has been suspended for a period which has not yet been fixed, and there is to be no formal enquiry. But why not?

Pilots are a class of men in whom a special trust is placed. They are, in the main, worthy of that trust and discharge their work well. But when one pilot runs a large ship on the rocks in one of the principal seaways of the country suspicion is aroused that there may be other pilots who do not know their business, or who may not always take proper pains in doing their work. The only way to lift that suspicion is to make public what happened, and why it happened, and to make it clear to everybody that it is not to happen again. If a locomotive engineer involves his train in an accident the public expects to know why. The same curiosity extends to the pilots of the St. Lawrence River and all the ports of Canada.

Nobody wants to humiliate a man merely for the satisfaction of humiliating him, but people have a right to know why serious and spectacular accidents occur. The action of the Ministry of Transport in this case looks as though something were being glossed over and hushed up, and such a suspicion, attaching to so important a service as the pilot service, and involving a waterway used by so many Canadians as the St. Lawrence River, should not be permitted to exist.

Red Pepper War?

Despite the best-laid plans pigeonholed in secret vaults at military headquarters in Whitehall, the Pentagon, Ottawa or even the Kremlin, wars cannot be planned ahead of time, excepting by the aggressors. Surprise is one of the classic principles of war, and the forces beginning the war gain the surprise, strategically if not always tactically. The United States, with global war plans, involving the swiftest jet planes, the most deadly bombs, and massive squadrons in the air and on the ground, is now faced in Korea with a different type of war. The jet planes are less useful than planned, tanks and artillery are not as outmoded as they seemed to the planners, and the campaign is not on a vast scale.

Korea may be the pattern evolved by the Red world to perpetrate their knavish tricks and frustrate the western planners. Wednesday last the United Nations Committee on the Balkans formally warned that the Cominform may be planning a new attack on Greece. Such a warning from such a source has weight. Instead of the Cold War, instead of a World War, may the Red strategy be undeclared wars on scattered small fronts, all over the world? Red pepper war!

NOTE AND COMMENT

More than half the world's populace is illiterate, we read. And this does not include the large proportion which can read, but doesn't.

At Ormskirk, Lancashire, a man who cherished an ambition to become an official hangman was found hanging from a beam. Just a case where practise didn't make perfect.

This year's "Miss Toronto" is a country girl from Grimsby, who was born in Saskatchewan. Shortage of pretty girls in Toronto?

A movie is being made of the Canadian classic Maria Chapdelaine. For movie purposes, however, the name was changed to Turmoil and later to The Naked Heart. We thought the movies had outgrown that silly business of changing the name of a book when transferring it to the sceen.

Hardware Can Be Fun

By
DONALD E. WALKER
(In the Christian Science Monitor)

"I WANT to buy a glub."

"Would you repeat that please?"

"A glub."

"Ah, yes," I said, still not having any idea what the man in front of me wanted. "What size?"

"About a twenty-five," in the same monotone.

"Do you see it around here anywhere?" This time I was not trying to be so subtle.

"I vant a glub, like in the electric." At last I caught on. What he wanted was a globe, in other words a light bulb.

This little scene took place in the local hardware and variety store where I worked last summer. As I looked around the store on my first day, I had to search over paint, picnic supplies, comic books, stationery, toys, and radios, which could be classified under varieties, before I found any hardware. But there it was, just west of kitchen utensils, and due north of needles, thread and rayon binding. How I learned what all those items were, what price, and where stored. I attribute to a miracle; but, by the end of the summer, I even got the hang of the culinary and sewing departments!

PAINT was one of the major problems. Until that summer, I had thought of paint as something that you hired a painter for, if you wanted it put on your house. It took time to master the various types of paint and their uses. I'll not forget the day Tony came in. "I'ma da wanta painta ma house."

"Oh, you do? I'll show you the chart for house paint."

"Na, not da whola house, justa da fronta door."

"Here are some charts. See anything you like?" This said as I pulled down every available piece of paint literature in the place.

"Ya, here'sa da one I like,"—bright red. It was floor and deck enamel, but I thought "paint' paint." And, after I assured him that he was on the right track, he left to paint his door bright red. About two hours later, he was back.

"Dis stuffa no good," I heard him telling Chuck Kaufman, vice-president in charge of hardware and local authority on paint "It'sa too theeck to put ona door."

"Naturally," Mr. Kaufman replied rather amazedly, shot a sidelong glance at me and got the right thing for our friend. After the painter left, I was given a detailed account of why enamel was not house paint, why house paint was not indoor paint, and something about not being afraid to ask if you didn't know what you were talking about.

* * *

ONE day, after all this had passed, I was confronted with the question: "Do you have a driver's license?"

"Yes," I replied brightly.

"Good"—handing me a ring of keys. "Take my car and load it up with as many orders of soap as you have room for and deliver them out in the country to these addresses."

"Soap!"—I thought. "All this and more too."

Ten miles from nowhere, with the truck chock full of twentyfive pound boxes of soap, I stuck in the mud. I rocked the car back, I rocked the car forward, back, forward, and then I went backward, free at last. Later, much later, I learned what had provided the traction which got me out—a smashed box with a tire mark running over it. A pretty sight, the light blue of the soap flakes against the dark brown of the mud!

ONE meets interesting people, working in a store of this kind. There is the local electrician who has no time to waste, who enters the store with a determined air, fiddles around the electrical department for a few minutes, emerges with a box under each arm and says, as he is retreating out of the door: "Charge three junction boxes, fifty feet of bx cable, six plugs and ten light receptacles to John Doe."

There is the young plumber, who works for the borough and arrives with an old rusted piece of pipe, announcing that he needs three inch and a quarter street el's and one inch and a quarter galvanized union in a hurry. I stare at him blankly, wondering if I ought to head for the paint, the hardware or the plumbing; but finally I am educated by this man into the secrets of el's pipes, valves, and unions.

* * *

OCCASIONALLY one meets a woman who has strayed by mistake into the wrong department. She begins by announcing that she wants a thingamajig to go on the whosywhatsis to keep the dingbat from rolling around and waking the children. This, of course, takes mental telepathy and I calmly reply that I have no idea what she is talking about, and could she be a little more specific?

"A fine hardware store this is," she says. "If you don't want to be civil to your customers, I'll take my business elsewhere."

"But, lady," I reply, "I'm sure we have it. We've got everything else. Why stop at that? Just give me a little more information about it."

At this point, the store owner intervenes, smooths the rumpled feathers, and tactfully gives her a wide assortment of nuts and bolts to meet any emergency.

* * *

A little boy, just tall enough to get his nose over the counter, came in with a cocoa box under his arm. "I'd like one of those cowboy holster sets, like you have in the window," he said.

"Those are expensive," I said. "They cost five dollars. Are you sure you have that much?"

"Oh, yes." I got one for him. "Now where's your five dollars?"

"Here," and he presented me with the cocoa box—full to the top with pennies. I was alone in the store and there were three people waiting patiently for me to write money orders for them. One can appreciate the time lag involved in counting out five hundred pennies, two by two.

* * *

ANOTHER little boy came in with his father about closing time. "Take a balloon and give the man your penny," said papa. "No, no, Johnny, not a red one. Daddy likes the blue ones."

"Wantu red one," screamed Johnny.

"But what's wrong with the blue ones? They're so much prettier."

They bought the blue one and it goes without saying that young tears and consolation were the prime factor of the walk home.

Then there are the practical jokers to contend with. A man asked me one bright and sunny day if we had any left-handed monkey wrenches. I told him that they didn't sell very well, as there were not many left-handed monkeys in captivity. Then he asked me if we had any striped paint. "We're all out of that, too," I said. "That new barber down the street used it all up on his pole."

He left me, rather shaken; so you see, hardware can be fun!

A NATION'S REQUIEM

WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE KING, 1874-1950

Letter To The Editor

HOSPITAL "OPEN HOUSE"

Sir: Open houses can be held here and there, but for the general public in and around Peterborough open house is being held at the Civic Hospital here, which is second to none in Canada, and for which, every citizen should be proud—and this takes place this week-end.

The writer was on staff at Westminster Hospital, London, Ont., and often said that we had everything to make patients comfortable and happy, but I find, that we did not have everything—whereas, this hospital, here in Peterborough, has every facility possible, that money can buy, to facilitate the well being of every citizen interested in health and what health means to each one of us—surely those with means who have the general welfare at heart should support with everything they have the Board of this fine institution—and see to it, that any deficit is not shown on the books—at any rate, support given is tax free and the good such funds could do, is immeasurable—and far reaching.

The staff, is competent, and courteous—and are doing a grand job; from the front office down to the cleaners, all are doing one fine work.

The city is to be congratulated on having Mr. Hornal as its superintendent at this New Civic Hospital—also Miss Thompson as superintendent of nurses. Then we have Miss Morgan as dietitian, also Miss McIntyre as housekeeper, and I could go on—all fine people doing a grand job, for the city, and their work is of a serious nature—all tending to the one issue in mind, of getting people well—no one has any idea of the work involved, and so Peterborough, you can pat yourself on the back, by knowing that you have the finest hospital in Canada, also the finest staff to attend to your needs—get behind this institution, everyone—and show that you really appreciate what has been done for your welfare, by attending the "open house".

Yours very truly,
H. GILBERT.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. (Matt. 5: 16.)

* * *

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven....

Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock, and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it.

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7: 21, 24-29.)

Not In One Canoe!

(Toronto Financial Post)

The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests says that a question often put to its rangers is: "Is there such a thing as an ideal list of groceries for a two-week canoe trip?"

There are so many complications that the rangers, accustomed to making long wilderness treks, hesitate to answer it. But the department say that one list suggested for two persons on a two-week canoe trip—provided that fish will provide the bulk of at least one of each three meals a day — is:

"Flour, 20 pounds; baking power, ½ pound; cereals, 10 pounds; granulated sugar, 10 pounds; table salt, two pounds; pepper, one can; whole milk powder, three pounds; white navy beans, seven pounds; bacon, seven pounds; tea, one pound; coffee (concentrated) two jars; dried fruit, 10 pounds; shortening or lard, three pounds; canned butter, three pounds; sweet chocolate, three pounds; maple syrup, one quart; potatoes, onions or fresh fruit, as desired."

Essential cooking utensils are:

"Medium-size double boiler; frying pan; coffee pot; saucepan; light wire broiler; can opener; folding reflecting baker; large spoon; cake or egg turner; butcher knife; kettle; deep pot with swinging wire handle; plates, cups, cutler, etc."

Did you say two people?

Did you say a canoe?

Musial's Batting Streak Ends In Tilt With Brooks

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—Stan Musial's lengthy batting streak is at an end today but the star St. Louis Cardinal outfielder can be consoled by the knowledge that he is only the 11th big leaguer to hit safely in 30 or more consecutive games.

Musial entered Thursday's game against Brooklyn Dodgers with a run of 30 straight games in which he'd hit safely. He had five chances in which to keep his skein alive but failed each time although his mates clubbed five Brooklyn hurlers for 13 assorted hits.

Musial thus failed in his efforts to equal or tie four marks.

His immediate goal was the team high of 33 straight hitting games set by Rogers Hornsby in 1922. The second was the modern National League mark of 37 games established by Tommy Holmes, of Boston Braves in 1945.

After that would have come the all-time National League standard of 44 games set by Baltimore's Willie Keeler in 1897; then Joe DiMaggio's brilliant 56-game hitting streak in 1941, which stands as the major league record.

Following are the team leaders since 1900:

American League:

1941—New York, Joe DiMaggio, 56.

1922—St. Louis, George Sisler, 41.

1911—Detroit, Ty Cobb, 40.

1949—Boston, Don DiMaggio, 34.

1933 — Washington, Heinie Manush, 33.

1925—Philadelphia, Bill Lamar, 29.

1936—Cleveland, Hal Trosky, 28.

1936—Chicago, Luke Appling, 27.

National League:

1945—Boston, Tommy Holmes, 37.

1922—St. Louis, Rogers Hornsby, 33.

1916—Brooklyn, Zach Wheat, 29.

1929—Chicago, Hack Wilson, 27.

1920-24—Cincinnati, Edd Roush, 27.

1930 — Philadelphia, Chuck Klein, 26.

1923 — Pittsburgh, Charlie Grimm, 25.

1933—Pittsburgh, Fred Lindstrum, 25.

1930—New York, Fred Lindstrum, 24.

Mrs. Herbert Patton Vice President Of WA

MILLBROOK, July 28 (ENS)—The south group of St. Andrew's W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Vertil Kennedy on Tuesday evening, the president, Mrs. Laurence Winslow in the chair. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. N. Weatherilt, who took as her theme "More Time for Devotions."

Mrs. Herbert Patton gave the secretary's report and the roll call. Mrs. V. Kennedy was appointed vice-president. It was decided to join with Mrs. P. Stinson's group in putting on a rummage sale in the fall. The amateur night which had to be postponed in June, is to be sponsored by the South Group in September. The exact date is to be decided later.

The August meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. H. Patton. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Return Nootka To Sea Duty

OTTAWA, July 28. (CP)—The Halifax-based Tribal Class destroyer HMCS Nootka is scheduled to return to active duty Aug. 15 as a new ship with a new commander, the Navy announced today.

The announcement said Cmdr. Alexander B. Fraser-Harris, DSC and Bar, 34, of Halifax, has been appointed commanding officer of the Nootka which is scheduled to return to active commission as an anti-submarine destroyer.

The Nootka will be the sixth vessel re-fitted under the Royal Canadian Navy's destroyer-modernization program.

Cmdr. Fraser-Harris, a native of Halifax, has ben taking staff courses for a year. Before that he was commanding officer of HMCS Shearwater, the RCN air station at Dartmouth, NS.

McMillan Stars At Regatta Staged Near Healey Falls

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28—(ENS) — The Campbellford and District Fish and Game Club held its annual regatta at the Woodland Estate near Healey Falls on Wednesday afternoon before a crowd of about 2000 people.

The speedboat races attracted much attention, with entries from many distant towns and cities. The entries ranged from the larger outboard classes and a large inboard, to the tiny seafleas barely six feet in length. One of these latter sported a 22½ horsepower motor, which was almost as big as the boat itself.

There were seven separate races to accommodate the various classes and each was packed with excitement as the drivers fought a battle of wits to keep the tiny craft on the course and in the most advantageous position. There were a couple of spills when boats missed the turns at the buoys marking out the course, but fast launches were on hand to pick the unlucky drivers and tow their swamped crafts to shore.

The most outstanding boat and driver of the day was Sandy, driven and owned by Hector MacMillan of Campbellford Mr. McMillan bounced his way into first place in every heat he entered. In the free for all race he had the misfortune to get off to a bad start, and to make matters worse, the steering locked on one of the turns and his boat had to come round and take another pass at the marker buoy. Mr. McMillan went on however, and finished second behind Blue Blazes, driven by Hugh Folkard of Picton.

Folkard Disqualifies

Blue Blazes had been disqualified however, as he beat the gun at the start of the race When Mr. MacMillan learned of the disqualification, he said he would not accept the trophy and first prize money, and presented both to Mr. Folkard, the driver who had been disqualified. Folkard upset during the following race.

A demonstration of water skiing was put on by Mrs. Norma Gordon, the Canadian Woman Champion and Gus McIntosh, Canadian champion for the men. These two skiers have appeared in news-reels and won their title at the Canadian National Exhibition. They were roundly applauded for the many tricks they did on the water skis.

A demonstration of retrieving by owners of Labrador Retrievers was enjoyed as the dogs showed their ability to retrieve game birds. A shotgun would be fired, then a dead pigeon thrown into the air. At a given signal, the dog would hunt down the bird and return it to his master, without so much as ruffling a feather. The dogs also showed their ability to retrieve the fallen birds from the water.

Americans Win

The bait casting contest drew many entries and the American visitors took most of the prizes in this exhibition of skill.

John Elmoe, as visitor at the Woodland Estate, was presented with a new mahogany skiff, valued at more than $300 by Doug Maybee, president of the Fish and Game club, after his ticket was drawn from the large drum on the grounds F. Cords, proprietor of Woodland Estate, presented the second prize, an outboard motor, to Florence Schrum, also a visitor at the estate. The third ticket drawn was for a pair of Hudson Bay blankets, and Fred Burgar presented these to Mike Bolton of Hastings. Mr. Burgar is the chairman of the committee that arranged the regatta.

After the draw, the crowd began to dwindle away, but a large number remained for a dance to be held in the pavilion at the estate.

As the regatta was drawing to a close, several spectators went for a ride in an aircraft, and two sea planes were kept busy taking up passengers.

Results of Races

The following is a list of the results of the boat races. Class A—B. Bishop of Belleville in "Touche", Second, C. Phillips of Consecon in "Scat"; third, Bill McLean of Picton in "Show Girl".

Class B1—K. Gilmour of Picton in "Imp"; second, B. Bishop of Belleville in "Touche"; third Bob Vincent of Picton in "Miss Behavin".

Class B—first, W. Kiser in "Miss Canada Jr."; second Jack Lyons in "Black Magic"; third P. Luxton in "Lucky".

Class M—first, Leonard Vigodda of Picton in "Slo-Poke"; second Herb Vincent in "Herbie Hind"; third Vince Gentile in "Fleaburg".

Class 5 — H. MacMillan of Campbellford in "Sandy"; second C. Palmer in "Karlie Ann"; third Hugh Folkard in "Blue Blazes".

Free-For-All—H MacMillan in "Sandy"; second C. Palmer in "Karlie Ann".

Special — H. MacMillan in "Sandy"; second C Palmer in "Karlie Ann"; third Vern Coverly in "Silver Arow".

Twelve-year-old Leonard Vigodda, driving "Slo-Poke" made a good showing. He handled his boat like a veteran race driver.

Labrador Retriever From Toronto Wins

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 — (ENS)—The water and field demonstrations by the Ontario Labrador Retriever Association were carried out at the Campbellford and District Fish and Game Club regatta at Woodland Estate on Wednesday afternoon, attracting much attention.

Only four of the seven entries took part. The first place winner was a yellow Labrador owned by Harold Crang of Toronto and handled by R. L. Blythe of Streetsville Gun Dog School. Second place was taken by a black Labrador owned by Jack MacKenzie of Toronto and in third place, was a black Labrador owned and handled by Mr. Lumsden of Tweed. Placing fourth was a yellow Labrador pup only ten months old, owned by Lloyd Taylor of Camp-Tay Kennels of Campbellford, and handled by Vincent Vaughan of Agincourt, Ontario.

The owners and handlers were well satisfied with the awards made by the Campbellford club and all voiced their intentions of returning next year to put on a bigger and better demonstration, possibly field trials.

Lloyd Taylor headed the committee in charge of the dog demonstration and was responsible for the organization.

Charlie Justice, Normie Bagnell In Pitching Duel

Softball fans may see history made Saturday night as Charlie Justice and Normie Bagnell will meet at the East City Bowl.

Justice, colored star moundsman for the World Softball champions, Toronto's Tip Top Tailers, will be hurling for Johnny Russelle's Mutuals while Bagnell will see action for the Oshawa Pedlars, last year's Ontario Senior B champions.

During the past year Justice has become a common word among softball and fastball fans a ross Ontario. This wizard with a softball led the Tip Top to the world championship last year Shelley Miley, colored star catcher for Tip Tops, will do the receiving for the Mutuals.

Norm Bagnell may not be well known in this area but batters in the Toronto district will more than vouch for his pitching ability. It has been said several time recently that Bagnell could better the Tip Top hurler This may be his chance.

17 Strikouts In Game

Bagnell was with the strong Levy's nine last year in the Toronto fastball play and this year has been hurling for Pedlars. Recently he whiffed his fast one past 17 in a game with Bill Durnan's al-star team to enable Pedlars to win 3-1. Durnan's team two weeks ago sent the Mutuals down 18-3.

With the Mutuals' infield and outfield Johnny Russelle feels that Oshawa will be overpowered. For this game he will have Reg Leether at first, Bob Crowe at second. Howie Dalton at short, George Hawkes at third, Jack Carpenter in left, Tony Gardine in centre and Nels Foster in right field. Others to be used throughout the game will be Phil Pryde, Jim Kinna, Wimp Borland, Bob Greenlaw and George Hunter.

The game starts at 8:30.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Proximity, queen of the country's present day trotters, gets a chance tonight to break the 73-year-old money winning record for harness horses.

The eight-year-old mare heads a classy field of nine in the $15,000 sportsman s trot at Sportsman's Park in Chicago.

Proximity, unbeaten in 10 starts this season, will be shooting for the money-winning record of Goldsmith Maid which has stood since 1877 at $206,462.

Proximity now has a total bank account of $204,879. If she takes first in both heats of a mile and a sixteenth, her money total would be increased $7,500. A second place finish would give her $3,000 and third place would be worth $2,250.

The other horses in the race have good records but the bay flash is rated at least a 6 to 5 favorite.

Ten prospective starters were ready today for the colorful $75,000 added Arlington Handicap which will close Arlington Park's 36-day meetng.

Top-weghted with 128 pounds and probable favorite in the mile-and-a-quarter stake is Calumet Farm's Ponder. Citation, Calumet's world champion money winner, was declared out of the race last week after pulling up lame after a workout.

Brandywine stable's Cochise, carrying 122 pounds, will have as a running mate Greek Sonk, the Arlington classic winner.

Ponder, with veteran Steve Brooks up, will be after his stable's third Arlington handicap triumph. Coaltown won the laurels last year and Armed turned the trick in 1947.

Gordon Walker, baseball writer for the Globe and Mail, has been appointed business manager of the Toronto Baseball Club in the International League. it was announced Thursday night.

John Wyhonic, who signed a contract with Montreal's Dominion champion Alouettes football club a month ago, suffered a knee injury in practice Thursday night and will be lost to the club for the forthcoming season, coach Lew Hayman announced.

Wyhonic, who played with Buffalo Bills in the United States League for the last two years, aggravated a former knee injury.

THERE WAS TROUBLE in Louisville when Clay Hopper, manager, and his St. Paul team hit that blue-grass city. Here Guy Wellman, St. Paul catcher, went into the stands after two fans who tossed beer at a teammate as he approached the dugout, possibly annoyed mainly by such waste. Anyway, the two unruly customers were arrested for being somewhat overloaded.

Petes Win 7-6 From Lions

The Petes edged the Lions 7-6 Thursday in a peewee league lacrosse game at Miller Bowl while the Shrimps trimmed the Hurricanes 6-2 in a tadpole league fixture. On Wednesday the Lions dropped the Tigers 8-3.

The Petes were held in the first period to 2-all tie. Coombs and Davis scoring. The Lions' scores were by Ellis. The Petes were put one up early in the second by Ferguson but the Lions came back with Danahy combining with Parry and Reid. Ferguson with two goals and Kent one sent the Petes' score up to six as compared with the Lions' three at the half. Trudeau and Parry counted for the Lions in the third with only one reply by the Petes. Ferguson, Ellis slipped in his third goal in the fourth quarter to end the scoring.

The Shrimps started slow in their game with the Hurricanes, Parry opened the scoring for the Shrimps on a pass from Walling only to have Heffernan tie the score before the end of the period. Hurricanes went ahead in the second on a goal by Heffernan. Parry whipped in the tying goal to start a Shrimp rally which the Hurricanes couldn't overcome. Walling slapped in two goals before the half. He added a third in the third with Mountney assisting and a fourth alone in the fourth.

Panthers Given 10-2 Setback By Motors

Hughes Motors' juveniles handed the Panthers a 10-2 setback Thursday night in minor lacrosse play at Miller bowl while the Legion midgets edged the Kiwanis boxla squad 7-6 in overtime.

The Motors started strong as they scored three in the first without a reply, Farley, Fontaine and Carravaggie. They rapped in four more in the second, Fontaine Farley and Carravaggie (two). Brennan notched the only Panther score of the period. Farley, Brioux and Williams added three for the Motors in the third while Fitzgerald added the second Panther goal.

Legion midgets took a slim one goal lead in their game with Kiwanis 3-2 in the first. Corbett scored two and Allan a single while the Kiwanis goals were by Delahay and Batley. Both teams added a single in the second, Drury for Legion and Bloom for Kiwanis. Delahay, Batley and Orde sent home goals in the third period to tie the score for the Kiwanians. Scriver and Allan hit the twine for Legion. After thirty seconds of play in the overtime period Scriver scored the winning counter for the Legion.

Southend Juveniles Edge Out East City

Despite steady pitching by Bill Dorris the Southend juveniles were edged Thursday night 5-4 in Riverside Park by the East City juveniles. Dorris allowed only five hits while his team committed one error as compared with six hits off Murdock and five East City miscues.

A hit and two errors gave the Southend two runs in the second but East City in their half also scored two on two hits, and two walks. Again in the fourth both teams scored making the score 3-all.

Scoreless until the seventh, the East City nine opened with a walk and later a hit to push two runs across to take the win. Southend failed to match the scoring, only scoring a single in the inning.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Out of a total of 48 entries, in the Lindsay doubles on Wednesday, 25 entries were from Peterborough club and that just about tells the story. Some of our boys were drawn together on the first round—however, some did reach the charmed circle.

Seventh with 3 wins — Stan Lowe and A. Mander.

Sixth for three wins—Joseph Detcher and Nelson Routley.

Twelfth with one win — W. Ashley and R. Payne.

Eleventh with one win — E. Pritchard and K. Shadgett.

Tonight, men's rinks—off the board at 7:30 o'clock.

Campbellford Pairs In Lindsay Tourney

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 — (ENS)—Campbellford had four representatives at the bowling tournament held in Lindsay on Wednesday afternoon, W. A. Kingston, A. D. Bennett, W. H. Brady and A. Meyers. Bennett and Brady won the prize for the high score for two wins with 53 plus 5. W. M. Letcher and J. Allen of Port Perry won the Hiram Walker Trophy, which was the big event of the day.

21 Strike-outs In Bantam Game

Frizelle sent 12 East City bantams down on the third strike Thursday night as he led his Southend bantam teammates to a 8-2 victory in Morrow Park. McMoyle, for East City, struck out nine but allowed 10 hits, hit two batters and walked four. Frizelle allowed five hits and gave up six free trips.

Southend broke into the scoring in the second inning when they sent five runs across. East City tallied their two runs in the third but the southenders kept up the second-inning pace with a single to make the score 6-2. In the last half of the sixth the Southend nine counted the final two runs.

Predict Guest Triple Winner

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 28 (CP)—Barring such unforeseen happenings as a leaking shell or a broken oar, Toronto's Jack Guest today should become the first triple winner of the Royal Canadian Henley's 68th annual outing. The kid has everything in his favor, including a bundle of confidence.

The strapping 195-pounder, unbeaten since he entered big-time competition a year ago, rolled up victory No. 2 of the four-day regatta Thursday. For a 17-year-old that probably is a record in this premier aquatic festival on North America.

He followed up Wednesday's first-place effort in the high school singles with a close victory over defending champion Joe Angyal of New York Athletic Club in the open quarter-mile dash. It followed by an hour an easy two-open-length decision over Winnipeg's Derek Riley in the first heat of the association singles.

St. Louis Romps To Win Smashes Brooklyn 13-3

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Temporary loss of Curt Simmons, top National League pitcher with 14 victories, puts the Phillie Whiz Kids to the real test. Eddie Sawyer's staff must take up the slack for two weeks until the $65,000 bonus baby returns from a National Guard camp.

The Phils face a harrowing schedule including important series with St. Louis and Brooklyn before Simmons comes back.

Simmons protected the Phils' 1½-game lead over the Cardinals with a 13-3 decision over Chicago Cubs. Curt allowed seven hits, including a homer by Andy Pafko, fanned five and walked five.

Del Ennis ruined the Cubs, driving in seven runs with a double in the seventh and a homer in the eighth, each with the bases loaded. Doyle Lade was the loser.

Sticking Close

St. Louis stuck close to the Phils with a rousing 13-3 romp over Brooklyn. The Cards broke the game wide open after it had gone 1-1 through the first six innings. Enos Slaughter and Chuck Diering each hit two homers and Del Rice hit one but Stan Musial's 30-game batting streak was ended. Musial went hitless in five trips.

The loss cost the Dodgers third place when Boston grabbed a 5-3 night victory over Pittsburgh behind Warren Spahn. The Braves' lefthander had a shutout until the ninth when the Pirates bunched three of their eight hits for all their runs.

Cincinnati and New York were idle.

Breaks Tie

As happens so often in baseball, an old teammate came back to haunt the New York Yankees Thursday night. George Stirnweiss, traded to St. Louis in June, came through with a ninth-inning single to break a tie with a 3-2 Brownie victory.

The loss dropped the Yankees a game and a half back of Detroit, which knocked over Boston, 5-1, in an afternoon game. As Cleveland also lost to Philadelphia 7-2, the Tigers gained on all other first division clubs.

Dizzy Trout, who figured as second-string bullpen pitcher last spring whipped Boston for the third time to help the Detroit cause. The veteran righthander turned in a neat nine-hitter to beat Ellis Kinder. A three-run fifth inning in which Vic Wertz hit his 16th homer with a man on ruined Boston.

Lou Brissie, the "losingest" pitcher in the majors with 13 defeats, calmed the Indians with four hits for the first Philadelphia victory over the Indians in their last 10 starts.

Gets 17th Homer

Sam Chapman accounted for the A's first four runs with his 17th homer with Elmer Valo on base in the first and a two-run double in the third.

Washington split a pair with Chicago, winning the first, 3-2, and losing the second, 6-3, on Randy Gumpert's eficient pitching. The Senators were held hitless for 6⅓ innings of the opener by Billy Pierce. Then they broke loose for three runs to win in the eighth inning.

Junior Petes Expecting Tough Fight

Lou Vitarelli's boxla junior Petes will receive their stiffest test this season Saturday night when they meet St. Catharines at 8:30 at the Miller Bowl.

Considering this is Peterborough's first venture into junior play, the team's results are good, a club official said today. In nine games to date the club has three victories and six losses. Most of the miscues have been to the strongest clubs in the circuit which have been operating for several years.

The seven-team league has arranged the playoff system so that the top four teams will play a Junior A series and the bottom three, a Junior B series.

Although Peterborough's chances are slim for the first division, they are excellent for the junior B championship. From first indications the locals should have little trouble if they play in the lower bracket.

Some of the players Saturday will be Bill Nicholls, the goalie, Gary Robinson, Bob Batley, Harry Russelle, Joe Whitnell, Jim Heffernan, Bill Killingbeck and Gerald O'Reilly, all graduates of the Peterborough minor lacrosse league. Already Robinson and Batley have seen senior action and may be used more in future senior Petes games.

While the juniors are at home, Coach Red Creighton's juveniles, an all-star group, will be in Huntsville for a return exhibition game. They trimmed the Huntsville juveniles here two weeks ago. Transportation is still required and if anyone is interested, he should contact Walt Murphy at 8324 or 21426. Gasoline expenses will be paid by the club. Some of the players are Carl Brioux, Art Galley, Carl Fitzgerald Frank Farley and Bob Fontaine.

Blue Bombers Staging New Comeback

By MORLEY COOPER

WINNIPEG, July 28 —(CP)— Winnipeg Blue Bombers are on the comeback trail. They've slipped a few aces into the deck for a grand-slam bid in the Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union.

The days when Bombers dominated the Western football scene and sometimes the Canadian picture are fond memories. But the club hopes to make them a reality again. Bombers don't intend to finish in last place as in the last two seasons.

To carry out their plans, Coach Frank (Butch) Larson and President Ralph Misener have recruited some promising talent in Eastern Canada and the United States.

Topping the list of imports is 30-year-old quarterback Indian Jack Jacobs. A desire for the security Canadian football offers and the amalgamation of the two United States professional football leagues enticed Jacobs away from Green Bay Packers.

Injured Knee

"I hurt my knee last year with Packers and I might be cast off without a penny if it goes on the bum in the middle of the season," Jacobs said. "In Canada, I have all-season security."

R. P. (Budy) Tinsley, a brawny six-foot, four-inch tackle, backs up Jacobs.

"The combining of the leagues is going to put a lot of guys out of work," said the former Baylor and Los Angeles Dons star. "The slicing of contracts by the combined leagues—plus the insecurity—brought me up here."

A big Bomber factor will be fleet Tom Casey, almost a one-man team with Hamilton Wildcats in the Big Four last season. Besides his year's experience in Canadian football, the 25-year-old halfback toted a pigskin for Hampton Institute in West Virginia from 1942 to 1947 and for New York Yankees in 1948.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting—Del Ennis, Phillies: drove in seven runs with homer and double, each with bases full, in 13-3 win over Chicago.

Pitching—Dizzy Trout, Tigers: stopped Tigers' losing spin with 5-1 victory over Boston, protecting Detroit's first place margin.

Three City Boys In Swim Meet At Watertown

Peterborough swimmers, sponsored by the Lions' Club, will perform at the third annual International Invitation Swimming Meet in Watertown, New York, this weekend. The meet will be held at the John C. Thompson park pool under the auspices of the Watertown Recreation department.

Entries by the three boys, Jim Heffernan, 1950 Ontario under 14 years breaststroke champion; Donald Wood and John Boorman, all members of the YMCA swimming club, have been made in the two divisions, the junior events, 16 years and under, and the senior division, 17 years and over.

Bill Lech, former Dominion 100-yard junior breaststroke champion and swimming instructor at the Lions' club pool, will accompany the boys. He said today that at least two first should be won.

John Boorman has entered the junior class in the 50-yard free and the 50-yard backstroke and the senior 100-yard backstroke. Jim Hefernan will swim in the junior men's 5-yard breaststroke event. As a team, the three boys will compete in the medley relay event, 105 yards, in the junior division.

Marlboro Requests Racing Under Lights

BALTIMORE, Md., July 28 — (AP)—Marlboro, newly-remodeled half mile track in Southern Maryland, asked the State Racing Commission today for permission to hold its 10-day September meeting under lights.

Marlboro's decision to take to the arcs wasn't surprising. Manager Ed O'Hara has been mulling over the idea for some time. But his decision to carry it out could be interpreted as a sign of the times.

Night flat racing has been tried at a few tracks across the United States, but as yet nothing conclusive has resulted.

Rochester Edges Orioles 8-7 To Take Series

By The Associated Press.

Rochester Red Wings are sailing serenely along at the top of the heap in the International League pennant race today following victory in a crucial series.

Johnny Keane's pace setters nipped the runner-up Baltimore Orioles, 8-7, in 11 innings Thursday night to win a six-game series, 4-2. The series victory enabled the Wings to increase their lead to five games.

The Wings won out in the 11th on Dick Cole's single and Don Richmond's double.

Montreal's third place Royals also lost ground as they bowed, 3-2, to Springfield Cubs. Al Ihde blanked the Royals on one hit until the ninth when he was yanked after the Royals loaded the bases on a double and two walks. Tony Jacobs came on and got out of the hole with the aid of a double play. Jack Wallaesa smashed a two-run homer, his 19th of the season, to drive in what proved to be the winning runs for the Cubs in the sixth.

Jersey City Giants edged Buffalo Bisons 5-4. Andy Tomasic scattered nine Bisons hits and fanned 11 in out-fielding Charley Harris and Lynn Lovenguth.

Art Hartley pitched Syracuse Chiefs to a 2-1 decision over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Claude Corbitt homered in the third for the Chiefs' first run and Ed Little drove home Ben Zeinara with the clincher in the sixth.

Minor League Ball Gets Pat On Back

VANCOUVER (CP).—The Pacific northwest's Class B Western International League has received a pat on the back from none other than baseball commissioner Albert Benjamin (Happy) Chandler.

Said Chandler, who watched a doubleheader in Victoria between that city's Athletics and the Tri-City, Wash., Braves while holidaying on the Pacific coast:

"Yes, I believe the playing of the teams in the Western International League comes pretty close to the calibre of the Pacific Coast League."

The PCL is triple-A ball.

EN ROUTE TO GRAVE — The body of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King is borne from Toronto's Union Station by RCMP between honorary pallbearers and honor guard. Mr. King's body, which lay in state in Ottawa's Hall of Fame after he died last Saturday, was taken to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. There were about 90 persons in the funeral party, including Prime Minister St. Laurent and cabinet members.

Britain Insists On Getting Equal Terms

LONDON, July 28—(Reuters)—Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, said it is government policy to agree to a reduction in exclusive commonwealth tariff or preferences only in return for equal concessions.

With reference to a forthcoming tariff conference, Wilson was asked what instructions were being given the British delegation on the subject of imperial preferences. Wilson said he could not give that information because it would make successful negotiation impossible.

The "third round" of negotiations on tariffs and trade will be held at the international tariff conference at Torquay, England, in September.

In reply to another question Wilson said he is aware that imperial preferences were an instrument in stimulating intra-commonwealth trade.

"But I think the events of the last two or three years have shown," he said, "that long-term contracts and other instruments have been at least as important" in increasing the trade to its present record levels.

Boat Tips, 2 Drown

MONTREAL, July 28—(CP)—Two men were drowned in the Lake of Two Mountains at nearby Belle Plage Thursday night when their canoe upset. Provincial police identified the victims as Fernand Leroux, 29, of Belle Plage, and his 20-year-old brother-in-law, Bruno Seguin.

Machine-Gun Home

HAVANA, July 28 — (AP) — Two men were killed and one was seriously wounded Thursday night when gunmen machine-gunned a private home in what appeared to be a squabble between two revolutionary groups.

Wholesale Flour Prices To Ease

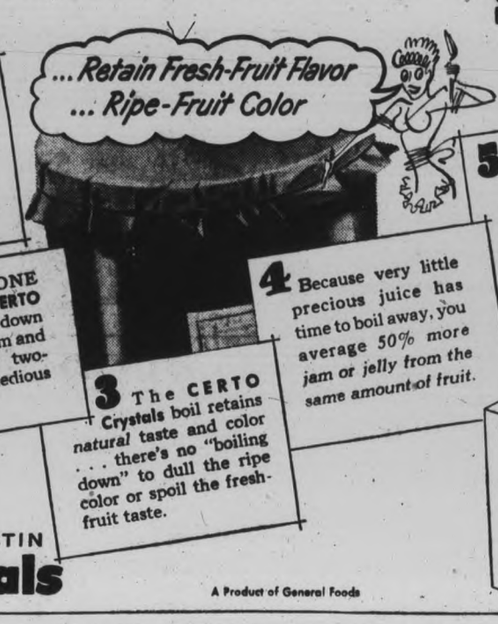
OTTAWA, July 28—(CP)—The wholesale price of bread flour may ease slightly next month, but that won't mean a cheaper loaf for the Canadian housewife.

A baking industry spokesman said Thursday that costs of such other ingredients as lard and sugar have risen so sharply within the last few weeks to make it impossible for bakers to consider price reductions.

Third Victim Dies

JOHANNESBURG, July 28 — (Reuters)—A new-born baby who died of smallpox here Thursday was the third smallpox death in one family within a week. Two other members of the family are in hospital with the disease.

Jams and Jellies made this Short-Boil Way are DELICIOUS... SPARKLING!



1 It's no chore to make jams and jellies with CERTO Crystals . . . the pectin product in crystals form that helps all fruits to jell perfectly.

2 You boil only ONE MINUTE with CERTO Crystals . . . cut down time needed for jam and jelly-making by two-thirds . . . end tedious long boiling!

3 The CERTO Crystals boil retains natural taste and color . . . there's no "boiling down" to dull the ripe color or spoil the fresh-fruit taste.

4 Because very little precious juice has time to boil away, you average 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

5 You'll get SURE RESULTS with CERTO Crystals. Tested recipes come in every package. Follow the simple directions exactly and you'll have no failures.

Congress Split On Mobilizing U.S. Home Front

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP) — Congress seemed divided Thursday whether there should be all-out mobilization of United States home front—with most members apparently against such a move right now.

On the heels of Bernard M. Baruch's proposal for an immediate "ceiling on everything," some Congressmen called for full-scale economic mobilization, complete with consumer rationing and wage-price controls.

A barrage of questions hurled at Baruch before the Senate Banking Committee made it obvious that most committee members did not think highly of this suggestion.

1. Senator Robert Taft (Rep. Ohio) announced that a committee of Republican Senators would begin drafting today proposed amendments to curtail some of the administration's bill for production and credit controls. Taft also forecast a 10-year preparedness program costing at least $100,000,000,000 and renewed his call for heavy taxes as an alternative to controls.

2. The Senate unanimously passed a bill removing all limits on the size of the armed forces until July 31, 1954.

3. Members of the Senate appropriations committee pressed Defence Secretary Louis Johnson; Gen. Omar N Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; and other military leaders as to whether they couldn't use more than the $10,500,000,000 President Truman has asked for new military equipment.

CCF Rejects Radio Operated By Province

VANCOUVER, July 28—(CP)—Provincial government ownership or operation of radio stations is not practical, the C.C.F. decided Thursday night.

Delegates to the party's biennial convention rejected a resolution proposing that the provinces be given the right to operate radio stations the same as private companies.

David Lewis, C.C.F. national secretary, said:

"Just imagine attempting to control a network owned by Duplessis in Quebec, one owned by Frost in Ontario, one owned by Manning in Alberta, one owned by Johnson in British Columbia—yes, and one owned by Douglas in Saskatchewan."

(Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan is Canada's only C.C.F. premier).

A general resolution, reaffirming support for the CBC, was carried.

Pension Resolutions

VANCOUVER, July 28—(CP) A resolution calling for old-age pensions of $50 a month at the age of 65—without a means test—was endorsed Thusday night at the C.C.F. national convention. Another resolution asked "adequate" pensions for disabled civilians.

Glittering Prairie Capital Dark Shadow of Old Self

REGINA, July 28. (CP)—This city of 70,000, once an oasis of light in the flat expanse of the prairie night, is just an illuminated skeleton of its former self.

Normally the traveller sees the lights from miles off in the lonely darkness. To the prairie-ite they are a comfort after miles of riding over unvarying terrain.

Now the only far-seen signs of welcome are the big red light on the dome of the legislative building, the red obstruction lights at the airport, and the orange flame crackling from an oil refinery's waste stack.

A strike of employees of the city-owned power plant darkened the streets last Saturday. Emergency crews produce enough for domestic use and some street signs, but the city's own consumption is cut to the bone.

Almost Deserted

The streets are almost deserted at night, except for the occasional bobbing flashlight of a pedestrian, the odd neon sign along the main north-south artery, and the all-night restaurants.

Automobiles probe the gloom with startlingly-bright headlights. Traffic-control lights reflect from nearby buildings.

Squares of light dot the sidewalks at the entrances of downtown apartments or business blocks.

Most store windows are dark.

But away from the main streets, lights twinkle cheerily in private homes. Company officials say they will continue to get power as long as the power house is manned.

Roman Catholic Mayor Urges Religious Freedom

WINDSOR, July 28 (CP). — A message urging the prompt change of civil laws which interfere with religious or other democratic freedoms was sent to Prime Minister St. Laurent on Thursday by Mayor Arthur Reaume.

Mayor Reaume earlier this week expressed amazement at the arrest of five Baptist evangelists in the village of La Sarre, Que. His statement today referred to a remark by Mayor F. X. Martel of La Sarre. Mayor Martel said the arrests were not a question of religion or church but followed the refusal of the five evangelists last Saturday to obey the law according to police instructions.

"The mayor's statement may very well be true," Mayor Reaume's message said. "However, the important thing is this, that where the civil law interferes in any way with freedom of religion or any other democratic freedoms, then in haste and in equity the civil law should be changed."

Copies of the message to Mr. St. Laurent were sent to Premier Duplessis and to Mayor Martel.

Of Vital Importance

"This matter is not one that only concerns the town of La Sarre or the Province of Quebec, but is one of vital importance to the Dominion of Canada," said Mayor Reaume, who is a Roman Catholic.

Windsor's board of control has gone on record as supporting Mayor Reaume's stand.

Mayor Reaume noted that a second meeting of Baptist evangelists may be held in La Sarre next Saturday and added: "I trust that some action will be taken by the proper authorities before then."

Five Baptist evangelists were arrested in La Sarre last Saturday and charged with illegal assembly after being attacked by a group of citizens of the predominantly Roman Catholic village.

Labor Council Tries Official

HAMILTON, July 28 — (CP) — Hamilton Labor Council (CCL) voted Thursday night to set up a trial committee to try executive member Arthur Laverty for malfeasance of office.

He was accused of "vilifying" the leadership of the United Steel Workers (CIO-CCL) to which he belongs. Delegates at the meeting said he was also to be tried by the union.

(At a labor meeting earlier this month in Port Colborne, Mr. Laverty said the Steel Union was being weakened in the Hamilton area because union leaders were ignoring needs of members and devoting their time to "raiding" the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers. The Smelter Union recently was expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor because of Communist domination.)

Exceed Target

LONDON, July 28 — (AP) — Russia said Thursday it had exceeded its industrial five-year plan for the second quarter of 1950, although there were failures in some lines. Moscow radio in a broadcast heard here said gross output of industry was fulfilled by 103 per cent.

Two-Acre Fire

PORT ARTHUR, July 28—(CP)—A two-acre forest fire was reported Thursday at Kashabowie Lake, 77 miles northwest of the Lakehead. Provincial firefighters are at the scene.

Iron Works, Mines Started Development Of Marmora

By W. J. COTTRELL

MARMORA, July 28—The first recorded attempts to trace the early history of Marmora were in May, 1893, when in the second issue of the Marmora Advocate, published May 11 of that year, H. J. Brenner started a series of articles on the early life of the village.

The village, situated at the junction of Highways 7 and 14, has developed from the days which Mr. Brenner describes and probably few villagers of today would fail to learn something from a glimpse at the old serial.

"We promised in our first issue to say something about the early days of Marmora and we find it no easy task to get the desired information, inasmuch as we are strangers and there are a very few of the early settlers living within reach; but we find that in the year 1820, Mr. Hayes of England, by his nerve and exertion, first brought this township into notice, by starting what was known at that time as the Marmora Iron Works, and when we think of the great disadvantages he labored under, we almost wonder how he ever built the works or even operated them as long as he did.

"First, he was obliged to bring in all his supplies on a sled drawn by oxen, and his estimable wife had to use the same kind of transportation to reach her new home, which must have been novel to her, to say nothing of the discomfort of a trip of that kind from Stirling here.

Many Failures

"Well, to make a long story short, Mr. Hayes' venture proved a failure, for the same reason as his successors, not that the ore here was not a good quality but the very difficult and expensive means of transportation, in the days of Mr. Hayes, and those who have made the venture since his time rendered it too costly.

"Our young readers will hardly believe that it took four days to make the round trip to Belleville in that time, and that only providing the load was not too heavy.

Gravel Road Built

It was about the year 1860 the gravel road with its toll gates was built but such early settlers as the Johns, Hughes, McCallums, Leggetts, Campions, Richardsons, Keys, Jones, Crawfords, Fidlars, Lennons, Kane, Laycock, Quinn, Sheridan, Downard, Downey and several others we might mention, know all about the elegant corduroys with now and then an elegant rock just enough to break the monotony of corduroy travelling.

"Carriages were scarce in those days and the man who sported a spring seat on his wagon, was considered a nabob and extravagant if he endulged in a sheep skin cushion to adorn that seat even if it did raise an occasional blister."

Old Copies Burned

Here the chapter ends. As succeeding copies of the Advocate are not available due to the fire which destroyed the office, what succeeding chapters contained can only be guessed.

The Editor announced his office to be in the Arcade block adjoining the furniture store (apparently operated by the Pearce Company). In expressing his desire for the Advocate to be a "newsy, reliable and family paper," the Editor solicited the assistance of school teachers and others in furnishing items of the sayings and doings of their localities." A column of the Advocate was devoted to mining operations.

Much Mining

Its six items show that there was a good amount of mining activity in the Marmora district 57 years ago.

Here are some of the news items:

"The large lithograph mill that is being ouilt on the lake, is nearly completed and will be something Marmora ought to be proud of."

"The Belmont Gold Mining Mills are being worked to their full capacity. Under the energetic management of M. Crawford, most gratifying results are being obtained. We are informed that the capacity will be increased ten fold in a short time."

"The Hastings Mining and Milling Co. Reduction Works have been obliged to close down for a short time on account of high water, but they are still mining ore and will be in full operation very soon again. John Rothwell is shipping a carload of ore from the Canada Consolidated Gold Mining Co. property for treatment under a new process at Detroit.

"H. G. Strickland, of Peterborough, one of our oldest prospectors, paid our village a visit on Saturday last and was the guest of A. W. Carscallan, M.P."

Springbrook Sprinkles

Under Springbrook Sprinkels are included the following two items: "Dr. W. A. Sargent recently purchased Mr. C. Forestell's house and lot where he has now his office."

There are several rival deacon skin dealers here, Mr. T. Rupert, a prominent celebrity as well as Professor Weaver, is vigorously pushing things in this line."

Building Boom

A building boom evidently struck Marmora in 1893 for a striking local affirms: "Buildings are going up in all quarters in Marmora," a statement which might be as truly made this year. Another local mentioned that Laughlin Cook, of Lot 25 of the 3rd Concession, had a two-year-old steer which weighed 1,150 pounds.

Other locals are of varied interest: J. H. Wilton, formerly of Havelock, opened a butcher shop in the building opposite the Provincial Hotel.

Capt. John Deblin was to command the steamer "Helen" during the coming season, making daily trips to the head of Crowe Lake and fishing grounds.

Town Doctors

The two physicians of the village were Dr. Henry M. Jones, who also operated a drug store, and Dr. L. E. McC. Pomeroy, whose office was at R. Stewart's drug store.

Under "Musical Notes" reference is made to the libretto of a popular opera then on the boards in London, England.

Old timers who scorn popular songs of today blush to recall these words:

"Ducky darling, sweety-meaty,
Kissey-missy me.
Nicey-picey, periwinkle,
Tickle-ickle-ee:
Lovey-dovey, rosey-posey,
Oh, ker-noodle, do.
Posey-wopsey, kicksky-wickey
Winkey-pinkey poo."

MOURNS FORMER CHIEF—Prime Minister St. Laurent stands with bowed head at the graveside of his former chief — William Lyon Mackenzie King. The former prime minister's body was brought from Ottawa in a special train and interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery in Toronto. Tombstone of Mr. King's father and mother can be seen in background.

For Private Enterprise

WELLINGTON, N.Z., July 28—(Reuters)—Civil Aviation Minister Stanley Goosman today announced that the government had decided to hand over the state-owned National Airways Corporation to private enterprise as son as possible. The corporation, which operates New Zealand's internal air services as a monopoly, runs at a loss.

Hotel Rates Up

NEW YORK, July 28—(APY)—Most of New York's bigger hotels have raised room rates for transient guests by about six per cent, the Hotel Association of New York City said Thursday. The reason: to make up in part a $7,000,000 - a - year increase to 35,000 employees.

Safeguard Harbor

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—New steps to safeguard New York Harbor from sabotage of potential hiding of atom bombs were announced Thursday by Harry M. Durning, collector of the Port of New York. He told a press conference that henceforth all ships from Russia or Russian satellites, except Yugoslavia, will be detained at the harbor entrance for "very intensive" inspection.

Study Overpopulation

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Big Three Western foreign ministers will consider at their next meeting what steps should be taken to relieve the overpopulation problem in Europe. Canada was described as among countries in a position to receive European immigrants.

Dozens Volunteer

LONDON, July 28 (Reuters)—Men and women by the dozens called at recruiting offices in London Thursday to volunteer for service in the Royal Navy, following Wednesday's announcement that naval reserves would be called to the colors.

Polio Reported Down

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Thursday there is less polio in the United States thus far in 1950 than for the same period a year ago. There were 5,151 polio cases reported up to July 22 this year, compared with 6,323 in 1949.

Flood Control Plan

STRATHROY, July 28—(CP)—Premier Frost said Thursday night that talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent give every reason to expect" a federal-provincial-municipal program for flood control.

Makes Safe Landing

TOKYO, July 28 — (AP) — A Superfortress landed at Tokyo's Haneda airport today with one engine aflame after the pilot jettisoned bombs and a crew of 10 baled out safely.

Presents Theory Of How Earth Created

BERKELEY, Calif., July 28.—(AP)—A theory which seeks to account for the chemical reactions involved in the creation of the earth was offered today by a University of California scientist.

Most experts in cosmology, the study of creation, accept the idea that the earth and other planets were formed from an immense cloud of dust and gas, parts of which condensed and became solid.

Presumably this cloud was incredibly cold. But it takes a lot of heat to form some of the chemical compounds which make up the earth. Where did the heat come from?

Dr. Wendell Latimer, widely-known chemistry professor, advanced an explanation of this heat source in an article to be published by the technical journal Science.

The piece of cloud that formed the earth probably was 10,000 times as big as the earth today, Dr. Latimer said. As it shrank and solidified, it developed gravitational force. This force acted to speed up the movement of heavier elements toward the core of the embryonic earth, while lighter substances, settling more slowly or not at all, formed the globe's outer layer or remained in outside space.

Kind of Purifier

This process acted as a kind of purifier, in that it segregated the substances. It concentrated potassium, some forms of which are radio-active, into such masses that they produced heat.

This potassium heat was enough to raise the young earth's temperature to 3,600 degrees fahrenheit when the condensation process had been in operation 1,500,000 years, Dr. Latimer figured.

That was hot enough to decompose basalt into two components, dunite and granite. The heavier dunite settled and the lighter granite rose to form mountains.

Some of the silicates and aluminates so concentrated were heated until they gave up water in the form of steam. This condensed later to produce the first water on the earth's surface. The steam also reacted with other elements to form the gases of the atmosphere, Dr. Latimer theorized.

CCF Convention Crushes Revolt On Korean Support

By DAVE STOCKHAND.

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP).—The National CCF party, a policy revolt crushed, today was pledged to support United Nations' action in Korea and Canadian participation in such action.

A move to kick aside the National Council's stand on Korea was swamped Thursday at the CCF's biennial convention. Delegates voted 115-25 against a policy opposing armed intervention.

The revolt paralleled an Atlantic-pact disagreement last year at a British Columbia conference of the C.C.F.

Both rebel groups had the same leaders: Rod Young, former CCF member of parliament for Vancouver Centre; Colin Cameron, former secretary of the British Columbia CCF, and Bob Strachen, delegate from Nanaimo, B. C.

The Korean proposal, introduced by Mr. Young and seconded by Mr. Strachen, asked in the place of military support to South Korea:

That Communist China be admitted to the U.N. Security Council; that the U.N. issue another cease-fire order to both sides; that leaders of both Korean governments appear before the U.N.; that the U.N. form a commission, headed by Prime Minister Pandit Nehru of India, to seek a permanent solution.

Tries Again

Mr. Young tried to have the National Council's Korean resolution—hammered out in closed sessions here—referred back to the resolutions committee for redrafting along the lines of his proposed substitute.

The move was defeated, 111 to 24. The original resolution then was passed 115 to 25.

The resolution, which asks the government to reconvene parliament at the earliest moment, says: "The burden of military action to halt aggression in Korea should not be left to one nation alone."

All countries in the U.N. should participate "according to their ability in whatever military and other measures are necessary."

The CCF went on record as opposing any move to grant Red China a seat on the U.N. Security Council as a condition of settling the crisis.

Cattle Prices Drop Dollar During Week

TORONTO, July 28 (CP) — Cattle prices were generally $1-$1.50 a hundredweight lower on all grades at the Ontario stockyards this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. Calves were $1 higher and hogs were generally 25 cents higher. Lambs were $1-$1.50 lower while sheep were steady.

Cattle receipts of 7,115 head were added to 500 carried from last week. Fresh receipts were 461 more than for the corresponding week last year. The supply included 1,100 stockers. Plain quality slaughter cattle were predominant. Export shipments were light and domestic trade slow.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $29-$30.50 Common to medium light steers and heifers brought $20-$28 and a few good heifers sold at $28.50. Choice fed yearlings closed at from $25-$31.50 after early tops of $32 50 Medium to good cows closed at $19-$22. Canners and cutters were from $14-$17.50. Good bulls sold from $23-$24. Good Western stockers opened at $26-$27 25 and closed with a few above $26. Common stockers sold downward to $19.

Calves totalled 2,285 head. Prices were $1 higher with a good export demand. Choice vealers sold from $29-$30 with common to medium ranging from $20-$28. Grass calves for slaughter brought $16-16.50.

Hog receipts were 2 583. Prices were 25 cents higher at 31.75 for grade A with sows at $22 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were 1,441 head. Lambs closed $1-$1.50 lower than last week. Off car lambs sold at $32 for good ewes and wethers while off truck lambs brought $31. Bucks sold at a $1 a hundredweight discount. Good light sheep sold from $13-$15.

Transfer Carrier To Korean Theatre

LONDON, July 28. (Reuters)—The light fleet carrier Warrior will be transferred from reserve at Portsmouth and used to carry reinforcements to Royal Navy forces operating off Korea, it was announced Thursday.

The 18,000-ton Warrior was commissioned in January, 1946, and served with the Royal Canadian Navy until 1948 when she returned to the Royal Navy and became an experimental training vessel.

US Soldiers In Europe Serve Extra 6 Months

HEIDLEBERG, Germany, July 28—(AP) — The United States army is tacking six months onto the terms of all officers and other ranks on duty in the European command Aug. 31.

All home leaves after that date are cancelled. About 110,000 men make up the command.

The army's European command headquarters announced the freeze Thursday, saying the orders came from Washington.

One officer said:

"We simply have to keep what men we've got here. It just boils down to keeping our forces in Europe on hand."

Protection of West Germany, which has no army of its own, is one of the tasks of the occupation forces.

Revive Old Days At Hollywood Legion Stadium

By BOB MYERS

HOLYWOOD, July 28 (AP) — The old days are being revived at the famed Hollywood Legion Stadium, a boxing arena where for nearly 30 years movie stars have gathered to be seen, and fans flocked into the place to see them.

It has been that way since 1921, when the late grand old character actor, Theodore Roberts, led a drive to build a fight centre.

And each Friday night, Hollywood's habitual "fight night at the Legion," stars and fans cram into the spick and span club and enjoy a mutual pleasure against a backdrop of sweating boxers and thudding fists.

About two years ago movie patronage began falling off; probably because the management for some puzzling reason elected to favor others with prominent ringside seats.

Stars First

There has been a change, however. The movie people are getting back the choice pews, and the fans are again elbowing through the turnstiles.

The stadium for years has served as a barometer for a star's prestige. He or she could almost be judged by where he sat.

In the old days, Mae West, Pat O'Brien, George Raft and others bought their seats by the year—at nearly $400 per pair. You had to be famous to get them.

Faithful Lupe

Lupe Velez was perhaps the most faithful fight fan of them all.

Lupe's shrill exhortation to her favorite gladiators — "Keel the bum"—was a catch phrase.

The gallery lost a friend when she died, and there was hardly a dry eye in the place the night tolled off 10 soft taps on the bell for Lupe Velez.

Fruitgrowers Fight Ontario Legislation

HAMILTON, July 28 (CP) — Fruitgrowers along the Queen Elizabeth Way from Winona to Jordan who have been operating individual fruit stands in defiance of the Ontario legislation have contributed towards the defence of five growers who have been summonsed to court.

"It is our intention," one of the growers said, 'to fight right through the appeal courts if a conviction is registered against these people. We do not consider the recently-passed legislation as legal."

Pending the decision of the courts, growers all along the Queen Elizabeth are continuing operation of their stands and very few are making use of the four community fruit markets, set up for their use by the Department of Highways.

Woman Prefers Jail To Paying Fine On Dog

DETROIT, July 28 — (CP)—Mrs. Mabel Cote began a 10-day jail term Thursday and vowed she would finish it rather than pay a $50 fine for letting her dog range at large.

Mrs. Cote appeared in court for the seventh time on charges that her black mongrel pet, Bootsie, took nips at neighborhood children.

She said neighbors would have loaned her money for the fine, but she would go to jail as a matter of principle.

"Bootsie wasn't really bad," she said.

As for the dog—he has served 70 days in the dog pound as a rabies suspect.

Lose 2 Citizens A Day Through Drowning

STRATHROY, Ont., July 28.—(CP)—Canada lost two citizens every day through drowning in 1948, Health Minister Martin said Thursday night in an address prepared for delivery at the opening of a Lions Club swimming pool here.

He said 724 Canadians drowned during the year, though even this figure was a considerable improvement over previous years.

"To be able to swim and to render assistance to others is essential for living a full and challenging life," he added.

Young Baby Killed Hit By Automobile

PEMBROKE, July 28 (CP). — An infant was killed and two young girls injured Thursday when struck by a motor car, driven by Bert Holmes of Renfrew, while walking along the highway.

Killed was 13-months-old Beverley Richardson, in her baby carriage, while her four-year-old sister, Aloma, and a companion, Merle Paget, 16, were injured.

Regards Canada Problem Country

LONDON, July 28. (CP)—C. R. Srinivasan, chairman of the All-India Newspaper Editors' Conference, regards Canada as the problem country of the century.

In an interview here on his way home from the seventh Imperial Press Conference in Ottawa, Srinivasan said Canada, with limited manpower, has developed so fast her internal economy cannot sustain itself on inherent strength.

"Among the knowledgeable in Canada," he said, "the implications of an economy standing on its apex and not on its base are beginning to cause worry.

"Have they exchanged the political domination of one country for the economic domination of another?

"There is an uneasy feeling that this junior partnership in dollar economy may cost them dear should a recession set in.

"They would like to have better moorings under multilateral trade but do not know how to secure it."

Canadians Lag In Methods Of Identification

The lag in Canadian identification methods was shown clearly this week at the convention of the International Association for Identification, said Sgt. Bill Aggas today.

Sgt. Aggas, who is identification officer for the Peterborough force, attended the convention with 234 other officers, 15 from Canada, 12 from Germany and the remainder from the United States.

Fingerprinting Bill

As an example, he pointed out that a bill for fingerprinting the entire population of the United States is now before the U.S. Senate, and stands a good chance of being passed.

Further, he added, some cities are already taking precautions against atomic blasts destroying fingerprint and other files by micro-filming these files and putting them in underground vaults.

A prime example of the problems of Canadian identification officers came, he said, with the Noronic disaster. However, said the sergeant, the problem was overcome, and only three of the bodies found in the burned vessel remain unidentified.

The convention was less of a convention than a study group, with the greater part of the four days (Monday to Thursday of this week) devoted to lectures and question and answer periods.

Lectures were mostly accompanied with slides, and dealt with all phases of police identification work.

Identifying Noronic Dead

Most interesting of the lectures to Sgt. Aggas were the two that dealt with the identification of the Noronic dead. Police photographs taken after bodies were removed played a large part in this identification.

Other addresses were telephoto machines, identification facilities at the FBI, anatomical identification, police photography, document and firearms identification and progress in fingerprinting.

One field in which identification has made advances is the identification of stains in criminal assaults. Two Swedish doctors suggested several years ago that a certain chemical be used for identification of seminal stains.

Sidney Kaye, laboratory director in the Virginia Department of Health, experimented with the test—known as the acid-phosphatase test—for almost two years.

The test has been used now in more than 200 cases and false reactions or doubtful interpretations have never been reported.

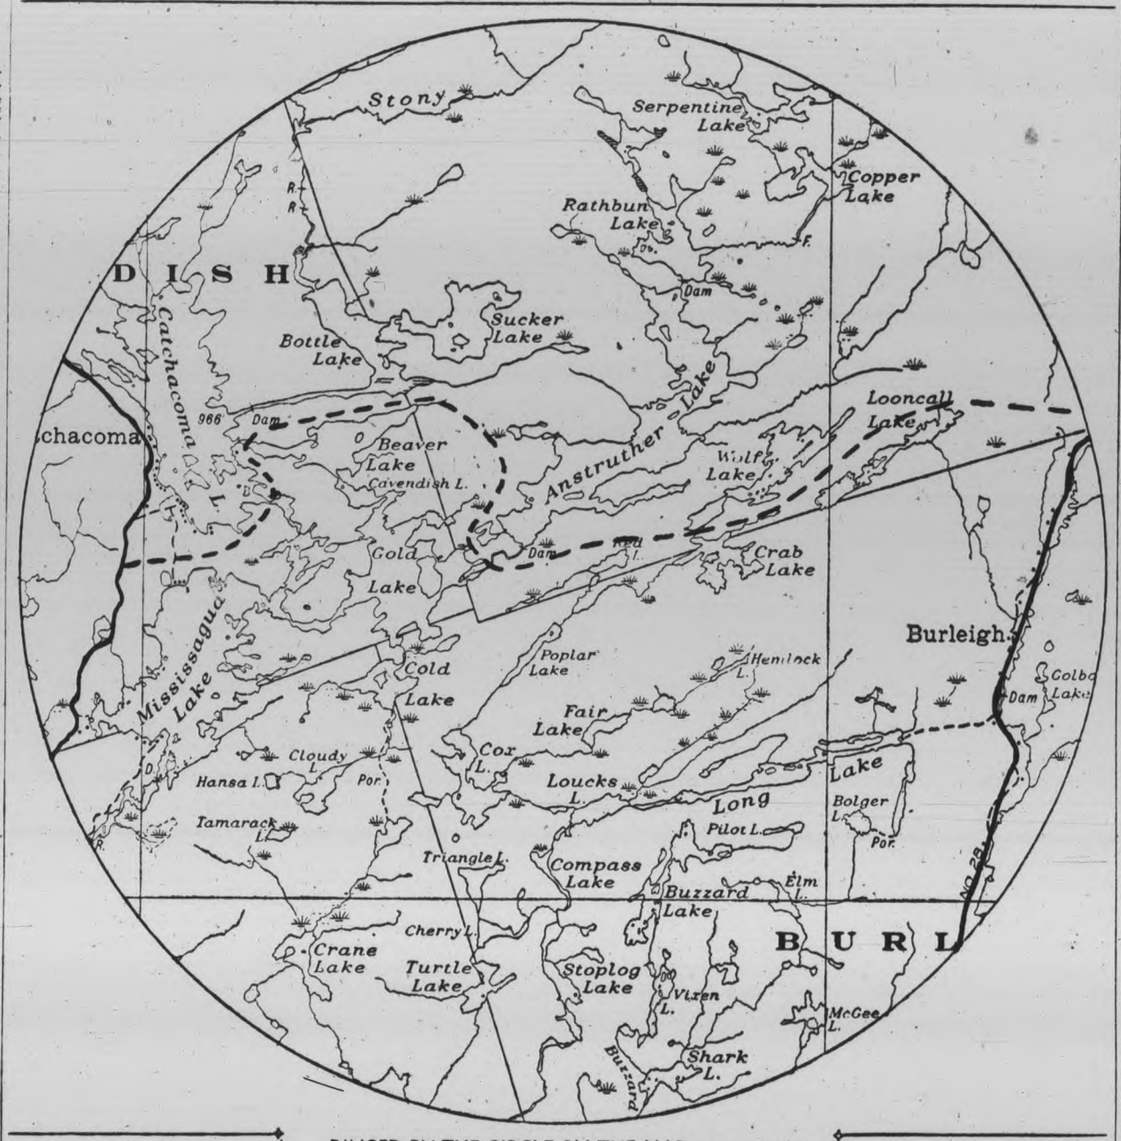
According to Sgt. Aggas, identification methods in Canada are a long way behind the times. Only in recent years have Canadian police forces set up identification offices.

Within the past five years, the Ontario Provincial Police have included a laboratory in their setup, and three years ago, the Peterborough force established their identification office.

The 12 German officers, said the sergeant, came from the US occupied zone of Germany, and said that the greatest problem of identification in Germany came when the war was on and bombing raids killed as many as 14,000 people in a single night.

ARM BRUISED

Mrs. Frank Traynor, Cavan, suffered a bruised right arm Thursday afternoon when struck by a car as she walked across Water St. at Simcoe St. Knocked to the street by the auto, which was driven by Denton Young, R.R. 11, Otonabee, she was taken to the clinic for treatment.



RINGED BY THE CIRCLE ON THE MAP are more than 40 lakes in the Catchacoma-Gold-Anstruther Lake district. A 16-mile road, proposed by Ontario Surveyor John Pierce, is shown by the dotted line which travels from Apsley west to cut the road north from Buckhorn. Most of the land is crown-owned, except for one area on which timber rights are held by the Peterborough Lumber Company. Fishing is good for lake trout, bass, and speckled trout.

Utilities Man Badly Burned Gas Flash-Fire

Burned on the face and arms when leaking gas flash-fired Thursday afternoon, George Cheel, 26, 175 Sherbrooke St., is in Civic Hospital today where his condition is reported as satisfactory.

Cheel, a gas fitter with the Utilities Commission, had just finished repairs to a south end gas main, and is believed to have lit a cigarette after he stepped from the hole.

The gas exploded, and Cheel was rushed to hospital. Hospital authorities say he suffered some "nasty burns" and slept only at periods during the night.

The Utilities Commissions said today that they didn't know how the explosion occurred. An explanation offered Thursday was that not all the pipes in the hole had been plugged.

NO BAND CONCERT

The weekly Sunday night band concert has been cancelled. Next Sunday night the entertainment will be provided by the Peterborough Film Council.

Highway in North of County Needed to Open Lake Area

Peterborough county is missing a bet by not having a road run through the Gold-Catchacoma-Anstruther Lakes district, says John Pierce, Ontario land surveyor. Although Mississauga and Catchacoma Lakes have been open for years, the lakes east of them are barely settled, and only hardy souls willing to portage through the chain have cottages on them.

Mr. Pierce said that opening up the country would mean a difference of many thousands of dollars to the county's coffers.

There are about 40 lakes named in the district, which can be enclosed in a circle six-and-a-half miles in diameter.

Suggested Road

A road suggested by Mr. Pierce would go east from Apsley and pass by Looncall Lake, between Wolf and Crab Lakes, wind past Anstruther, Gold, Catchacoma and Mississauga lakes to the road which runs north from Buckhorn.

The road would be about 16 miles long, and would travel through some of the last untouched territory in the Kawartha district. The land is about evenly divided between marshy country, rocks, and timberland.

Mr. Pierce said he understood Catchacoma, Gold and Mississauga Lakes were pretty well settled, but that only a few have moved into the lakes to the east.

"A few hardy ones are portaging through to set up cottages there," he said.

Rivers and Streams

Besides the lakes in the district, there are a number of small rivers and streams, threading their ways throughout the area.

There are about 44 lots now which have to be surveyed this season, and Mr. Pierce expects there will be 70 by the time the survey gang moves into the territory in September.

Following is a list of the lakes and the numbers of cottage lots taken this year on each: Anstruther, 10; Gold, 13; Bottle, 2; Beaver, 1; Catchacoma, 4; Long, 8; Buzzard, 2; Loucks, 1.

Mostly Crown Land

Most of the land in the area is crown land, although timber rights in one part are owned by the Peterborough Lumber Company. Crown land can be purchased at prices ranging from 40 cents a foot. Letters patent to the land cannot be granted to the applicant unless in the first year he does $500 worth of work.

However, said Mr. Pierce, that $500 does not represent much in the way of a building

Fishing in the district is good, with lake trout, speckled trout, and bass abounding. Some of the lakes have been fished heavily, but there are many which have seldom been covered by fly or plug.

DRAW WINNERS

Winners of the two special Labor Day draws sponsored by the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL), are Margaret Mann, Bridgenorth, and Alma Snaughnessy, 25 Braidwood Ave. Both will receive $10 credits that can be used in a local store. Two further draws will be made in August and then the big draw will be at the conclusion of the celebration on Labor Day. Proceeds will help finance prizes that are donated by the Labor Council for children's sports.

Resort Owner Also Maker Of Tombstones

TWEED, July 28—Joseph Allore is a busy man of many talents! A farmer and a builder of rustic log houses, assisted by his wife, near Bogart, on the banks of the Clare River, in the "Land O' Nod" area, in the North-East district of Hungerford township, and is a maker of cemetery tombstones as well.

The people who come to Mr. Allore's camp to fish in the number of small lakes thereabouts, and in Addington County, often may see him at work, making the tombstones at which he has been working for the past 20 years.

This interesting side of Mr. Allore's active life was something he learned many years ago in Cleveland, Ohio, and at present he has more to do than he can handle. Eight of his cemetery products are in Tweed cemetery, two in Madoc, nine are in Erinsville, seven in Flinton, six in Northbrook, nine in Stoco, five in Tamworth, two in Ardoch, four in Thomasburg, five in Bethel, four in Belleville, three in Trenton and two in Roslin cemetery.

"The flat plaques on a cement base, are the ones being used now," he discloses, "because the standing monuments will not remain upright over a number of years." Mr. Allore makes composition stones and also handles bronze plaques, made by a North Bay form.

Composition Stones

The composition of one of Mr. Allore's creations is a mixture of lake sand, which is sharp and gritty, containing mica, and a white waterproofing material, which gets harder and whiter with age, and is fireproof. It is mixed with the sand and when it comes out of the form, the letters are pressed into it. This must be done quickly because the mixture hardens fast. The letters are of a Gothic type, available only in the U.S., and are pressed in the stone. In addition, he can put on the Raised Cross, clasped hands, the Oddfellows' three links and Masonic square and compass.

"I can do two per day," he says, "which means two stones and eight corner posts to go with them. The most popular type, because it is long-lasting and good-looking, is the pillow design on a reinforced cement base."

Life Saving Pupil Rescues Girl From Lake

The learn to swim and water safety campaign sponsored by the Peterborough Red Cross branch in Omemee, has already paid dividends.

June Collins, Omemee, one of the girls training for leadership under Mrs. Pansy Fortes, instructor of the Red Cross class and coach of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, rescued a girl from drowning Wednesday in the Pigeon river.

Evelyn Fee, 14-year-old non-swimmer from Omemee, was drifting in the middle of the river on a tube when the air suddenly leaked out, leaving her helpless in the current. She went down.

Miss Collins, also 14 years old, swam to the girl's rescue. Using the training of the past several weeks, she dived down after the drowning girl and pulled her safely to shore.

Miss Fee has now joined the non-swimmers class in the Omemee instruction periods which are held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, sponsored by the Peterborough Red Cross.

Might Have Been President OAC

"The Civil Service of Ontario has lost one of its best men in the death of Prof. A. D. Runions of O.A.C.," said Senator J. J. Duffus.

"I have a strong feeling that if he had had good health he was on the way to becoming president of the college. I knew Prof. Runions very well, and I saw his work. It was not a surprise then that he was made head of the new two-year course at O.A.C.

"At any rate, that indicates my high opinion of Mr. Runions. He was a fine recommendation for our Civil Service in Ontario, and the more men they get like him, the stronger will its position and work be in the province.

"It was a great shock to me when I heard only last week that Prof. Runions was dangerously ill. He had won the affection of all those who knew him. He was so good natured, capable, and with a great gift of imparting his knowledge, that we all loved him, and I know our Peterborough farmers are going to be saddened by his death.

"He was also a good living man, and his influence on the young people of the agricultural clubs I am sure extended beyond their special interests. Parents had every confidence in him, and in their young people doing club work under his direction. He left behind him a great record and also the warm respect of everybody."

Joint Service For Centennial

Centennial committee decided Wednesday to investigate fully a suggestion of holding a "Religious Sunday Evening Combined Service," in the open air, and possibly at Exhibition Park, preferably early in September.

The committee asked to a meeting Aug. 3rd for the discussion of this proposal: Major Everitt of the Salvation Army; Michael Sadlier, and George L. VanKoughnett, 635 Bolivar St.

The secretary was instructed to enquire into the possibility of obtaining permission from the authorities of St. John's Anglican Church to have an expert come from Ottawa for a carillon program from the tower of the church some time in September.

Bruce Sargent is being invited to the next meeting of the committee to supply information relating to a proposed old fashioned outdoor dance.

Three Types of Jaywalkers Drive Motorists Crazy On City's Busiest Streets

By BOB HATTON

"Oh Yeah! What about those fool pedestrians!" Drivers recently criticized for their lack of courtesy, common sense and knowledge of the traffic laws while driving through Peterborough's main intersections have come right back with the charge that pedestrians are even worse than drivers. Even a casual glance as men and women scramble about downtown intersections reveals plenty of evidence which backs up the drivers' charges. The most flagrant misdemeanor of pedestrians is their disregard for traffic lights.

There seems to be three groups of jaywalkers: those who are simply confused by lights and have decided not to look at them; those who figure lights just slow down a good fast negotiator, and finally, the worst bunch of all, the people who jaywalk because they have just gone to sleep.

Many pedestrians who walk across light controlled intersections almost every day are still not sure when they should walk and when they should wait. Many, especially women, wait until the traffic coming at them from right and left stops, then they start to dash across. When a car comes toward them making a right or left turn, they seem to think it has no business being there.

They don't seem to know that, although they have the green light and right of way, cars also have the green light and are permitted to turn right or left when the way is clear.

Few Look Back

Few people look back to the right as they are crossing to see whether there is a car coming behind them intending to turn left. Neither do they look to their left before stepping off a curb to guard against walking straight into a car making a right turn close to the curb.

Men and women who work in stores and offices downtown appear to have contempt for traffic lights and traffic. They seem to consider both of them only hazards in an obstacle course. These downtown people, jump, run, prance and sidle through the heavest traffic and drive motorists crazy by their antics.

But it is the sleepwalkers who take the cake. You see them everyday. They wander along with the crowd across the intersection. Halfway across they meet their old friend Joe or Sarah.

"How's it going Joe? Did you get home all right last night? What are you doing downtown now? I wish I had a job like that. Well, don't work too hard."

All very pleasant and harmless. Except that Joe and his friend might never work or live another day in their lives. While the chit chat has been going on, the lights have changed and they are standing smack in the middle of traffic.

Some Sleepwalk

Then there are the sleepwalkers who, because they see people crossing the intersection toward them, assume without looking at the lights that everything is okay. What they don't see is that the lights are changing and the other pedestrians are just getting across on an orange light. They walk out, right into the path of an oncoming car.

Some of the worst offenders in street crossing are mothers with baby carriages. They seem to think the carriage makes them immune from any danger or injury. Time after time, any day in the week, you will see mothers wheeling their infant sons and daughters across intersections against red lights while drivers gnash their teeth and slam on their brakes.

Until the city council passes a by-law making it unlawful for pedestrians to cross against a red light, policemen can do little to prevent them from walking into a car. In the meantime the police can only stand on the corners waiting for the green light while pedestrians stream past them.

93 New Homes Privately Built To Cost $744,000

Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars is going into privately built homes in Peterborough. These homes are not confined to any one district, but are springing up almost willy-nilly, across the city.

Mostly, however, building is confined to the outskirts of the city.

Altogether there are 93 houses to be privately built, for which building permits have been issued. Average cost is a little more than $8,000. Total amount of building permits issued to July 27 was $746,800.

There are 16 homes in the over $10,000 class, most expensive of which is an $18,000 job. Under $5,000, there are five homes to be built, cheapest of which is estimated at $3,200.

A few streets show more growth than others. Most of the streets chosen for homes have but one or two houses planned so far this year. Several, such as Gordon Ave., Manor Hill, and Sherbrooke St., have three or four.

Kiwanis Vote $200 For Lights

Prompted by a vote of the general Kiwanis Club membership at a luncheon meeting at noon Thursday, the club's executive decided Thursday night to give $200 to help pay for the floodlights at Riverside Park.

Club president Al Plaskett brought the matter before the meeting because he thought members might have changed their minds after deciding some time ago that they would not contribute to the floodlight costs.

After some discussion at the luncheon meeting the members voted that the executive should reconsider the earlier ruling.

A new member, Norman Armstrong, was introduced to the club members.

Five visitors, mostly from the United States attended the meeting.

Three 10-Year-Olds Land 12-Lb. Muskie

Three ten-year-old Peterborough lads, Doug and Garry Rishor and Ralph Adams followed their elders' footsteps by doing a bit of trolling off their camp dock at South Beach on Thursday. Much to their surprise and delight a 'lunge gobbled their lure and got itself well hooked. They saw it was not going to be one of these tail-walking demonstrations that wind up in a fury of hook-throwing at the last minute. They yelled for help which appeared from an unnamed fisherman in a nearby boat. Between the four of them, the muskie was boated and socked on the head. On the cottage scales it tipped the beam at 12 pounds and measured 38 inches in length.

Centennial Year

Did You Know These Facts?

THAT Peter Robinson's bill presented to the British government for the emigration of 568 Irish families to the Kawarthas in 1823 amounted to £12,539-3-9½, approximately $4,000.

THAT only one month after Peter Robinson went to Ireland to tell the people about the government scheme for emigration to Upper Canada, 568 were on board the Resolution, ready to sail to Quebec.

THAT "nothing could prevail on man, woman or child to eat plum pudding at Sunday dinner, which is the usual custom on board ship," according to Mr. Robinson's report.

THAT the journey from Ireland to Quebec took eight weeks and that one woman and eight children died at sea.

THAT the men, who were allocated cocoa and half a pint of spirit for breafast, refused to drink the cocoa, and asked for potatoes.

THAT when they saw the officers breakfasting on cocoa, they proceeded to take their rations.

THAT on May 20, 1873, the West Peterborough cricket team defeated East Peterborough by two runs and six wickets.

THAT this information and a great deal more, is contained in the documents displayed in the centennial exhibition of books, pictures, records, maps and pioneer articles which opened Thursday at the Public Library. The Exhibition will remain open until the end of September.

Fathers, Be Warned By One Man's Grief If Ever You're Tempted To Ride A Bike!

A well-known business man came to grief Wednesday evening when he decided to use his son's bicycle for transportation because his car was being repaired.

The bicycle had handle brakes, a device which the father, who did his riding more than 27 years ago, hadn't used before.

Riding south on Park St., he came to the railway tracks which cross near the CGE. He gripped the handled grips to brace himself for the jolt over the tracks. He forgot about the handle bar brakes. They grabbed, and he shot over the handlebars and landed some distance away on his stomach. All he could say when people went to help him was "How the devil did I get this far?"

He was taken into the CGE clinic and ha his bruised and scraped right arm patched up. The bicycle didn't have a scratch.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Twilight Crop Meeting Tuesday, Aug. 1 At Farm Of Robert Armstrong, Cavan — Potato Bug Almost Completely Liquidated By New Insecticides and Spraying Machines — Cross Breeding Of Chickens Increasing — Central Ontario Blood Lines In New Zealand Record-Breaking Holstein Cow.

Farmers of Peterborough and Durham counties are being invited to an evening field meeting Tuesday, Aug. 1 at the farm of Robert Armstrong, Cavan. It is being arranged by the crop improvement associations of the two counties.

The tentative program opens at 7:30 p.m. with a description by Dr. G. P. McCrostie, director of field husbandry, OAC, of the experimental rod rows of nine varieties each of oats and barley, grown by Mr. Armstrong in cooperation with the field husbandry department.

At 9 o'clock Mr. J. R. Weir, pasture specialist of the Department, will discuss hay and pasture improvement, and will use a set of slides to demonstrate his subject. F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative in Peterborough, will give a short address of welcome; Ken Fallis, district supervisor of the crops, weeds and seeds branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, is on the program at 8:30 for a short talk, and Dr. McCrostie will conduct a discussion period.

E. A. Summers, agricultural representative in Durham, reports the test plots a good average, and is urging farmers of the district to attend this twilight meeting.

The Armstrong farm is about one mile west of Scott's Corners, one concession north of Springville. Inthe event of rain the program will be under cover.

NEW ZEALAND MILK RECORD

A record-breaking Holstein cow in New Zealand traces her ancestry on both sides of her pedigree to Central Ontario.

Lauderdale Regina Primrose has recently produced 32,639 lbs. milk containing 1,201 lbs. of fat, with an average test of 3.68 per cent on three times a day milking in 365 days. This is the greatest yield of milk ever made in New Zealand, and the largest butter fat record ever made by a mature cow in that country.

The records broken by Regina have stood for 27 years. Holstein breeders of this district will be interested in the information that she is descended on both sides of her pedigree from Burkeyje Sylvia Posch which was imported into New Zealand in 1913 from the herd of A. D. Foster, Bloomfield, Ont. On the paternal side there is a line of breeding to Daisy Verbelle Hengerveld from the herd of G. W. Countryman of Tweed. "Regina" is owned by Flecken Bros., of Tai Tapu, N. Z.

AT O.A.C. CONFERENCE

Peterborough was represented at the poultry conference at the Ontario Agricultural College this week by, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Telford, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Reynolds, Reeve James Gifford, Arthur G. Douglas of Quaker Oats Co., Clifford Johnston, Ald. E. C. Braund, Fred McIndoo, Dr. Harold Worton, Thomas Rose of Warsaw, J. Harry Sherin of Lakefield, and Rod Blackwell of Co-Op Services.

PROF. A. D. RUNIONS

Prof. Arthur Dixon Runions who died of cancer of the stomach at Western Hospital, Toronto, on Wednesday, received his degree of Bachelor of Science and Agriculture from the University of Toronto in 1927. He was successively assistant agricultural representative in Middlesex county, agricultural representative in Lennox-Addington and Peterborough until the end of 1937 when he became a lecturer and extension specialist at Kemptville Agricultural School. In 1942 he was appointed to the staff of O.A.C. as associate Professor of the animal husbandry department.

Prof. Runions was widely known and highly esteemed by farmers througnout the province in many speaking and judging engagements. Fifty years old at his death, he still had a bright future of service and achievement, if health had remained with him. His death will be keenly felt by a host of friends, including the farmers of Peterborough county who gratefully remember the four years of work be carried on among them.

URGES WHEAT FOR FEED

A press report Thursday indicated that the Ontario Federation of Agriculture was recommending to farmers that they buy Ontario winter wheat instead of western grain for feed purposes.

"Winter wheat is usable for feeding hogs and poultry, up to a point," it was suggested, "and the present price situation makes it more economical than oats or barley."

BRITISH MISSION'S VISIT

Field of hybrid corn and white beans "amazed" the members of the British Agricultural Mission to Canada in their visit this week to farms in the Chatham area and to the Ontario Experimental Farm at Ridgetown.

Sir William Ogg, head of the mission, said he had never before seen those vegetables in field growth. The seven visitors were greatly impressed with the intensity of production per acre that is maintained on western Ontario farms.

"As high as England's highest,—as high as will be found anywhere," Sir William said. As to the wide diversity of crops, he said that was an indication of scientific farming on soils suited to a variety of crops. Growths of alfalfa that had been treated with DDT were inspected.

MORE CROSSBRED CHICKS

Radical changes that would upset the whole system of breeding poultry and possibly do away with present recognized breeds might be necessary for further development. Frank Ellis of Woodstock, retiring president of the Ontario Approved Hatcheries Association said this week at the poultry and livestock conference at O.A.C.

The crossing of pure-bred chickens, although frowned on by many, has produced such results in egg and meat production that some hatcherymen were finding it difficult to market standard-bred chicks, Mr. Ellis said.

"Crossing has produced a vigorous quality, but it must be supervised or everything will be mixed up," Mr. Ellis said.

The number of cross-mated flocks in the U.S.A. increased from 7.7 per cent to 13.3 per cent from 1944 to 1949, was information quoted by Paul B. Zumbro of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

✦ ✦ ✦

POTATO BUG VANISHING

The Colorado beetle, commonly known as the potato bug, is becoming extinct.

Throughout Ontario it is almost a pest of the past, according to the crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Elders of the community who remembered the appearance of the outriders of this beetle, and years of combatting it with Paris Green as the most effective insecticide of their day, have been marvelling in recent years at its graduai decline in numbers and nuisance effects, virtually to the point of evanishment.

Knocking the bugs off the potato vines, at least in the smaller patches, used to be a midsummer job. Neglect left the stalk to the appetite of the bugs, and so voracious were they that apparently they did nothing else out eat until the patch was stripped of its foliage.

A combination of efficient power sprayers and more modern and deadly chemicals have brought the Colorado beetle under control Today it is the least of the worries of specialists like Henry Blakely and the other Manvers farmers who have boosted production to astonishing volume in bushels per acre.

Experts of the Department say it is possible to go over hundreds of acres and never see one of the striped back bugs and clusters of their progeny.

But, other plant menaces have taken their place, according to Department officials who list as present day pests of the potato patch, flea beetles, aphids, leaf hoppers, and such virus afflictions as bacterial and fungus diseases, blight and scab. They can be just as troublesome as the potato bug if not treated early in the season.

HALDIMAND GRASS DAY

"We will export this year to the United States and elsewhere $60 million worth of cattle," said Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, at the Haldimand county Grassland Day near Cayuga. "Before the war this would have been unheard of. The reasons for this big increase are our present testing methods for mastitis and T.B., and our better-breeding methods. Cattle from Ontario have proved that they milk better, and last longer than cattle from other areas of Canada and the United States.

"In Ontario we have only 11 per cent of the population farming commercially. These farmers are feeding three out of five million people in the province. In spite of this fact, and our increasing population, we have a more nearly balanced economy than the other provinces."

William Kalbfleisch of Central Experimental Farms, Ottawa, told the Haldimand district farmers that recent tests showed that the most efficient farmer required an average of 110 hours to move 100 tons of hay.

"There is not a variation of fivt hours in all tht tests mate in moving 100 tons at peak efficiency. It is wise to study your present method to see whether you are efficient before deciding on a change to some other method, in search of more efficiency."

JUNIORS' DAY AT "EX."

From seven counties of Central Ontario, Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, expects 200 young farmers to compete in the junior division of Peterborough Exhibition Thursday, Aug. 24.

Some revision has been made in the program contests and demonstrations. Following registration at 9 a.m., the rest of the morning will be taken up with judging beef and dairy cattle, heavy horses, sheep and swine.

For the afternoon there are a quiz on agriculture, identification contest, tractor defects test and dinner at the Empress Hotel with Canada Packers as hosts.

The girls' inter-club contest will take place in the market hall. The committee in charge of this section of the Exhibition is composed of: Don Milburn, chairman; Burritt Mann, Manson Cathcart, Allan Drummond, Kevin Hurley, Reg Ferguson.

"I hope our own juniors will be interested in the scholarship given by Peterborough county council," Mr. Paterson said. "The amount is $100 for top two Peterborough county boys to encourage them to take the two-year course either at OAC or Kemptville."

Exhibition directors have allotted $1,000 to the junior section this year.

SEED BED IN OLD SOD

"Harold Tate of Cavan broke a field of old sod last year and has a good stand of Cornell wheat," R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, reported this week. "It was a rough looking job after the first plowing but subsequent cultivation smoothed out and made a firm seed bed. It took a lot of work to get it ready, but it is naturally good wheat land, well drained, and the result of the cultivation is shown in its open appearance and pithy texture."

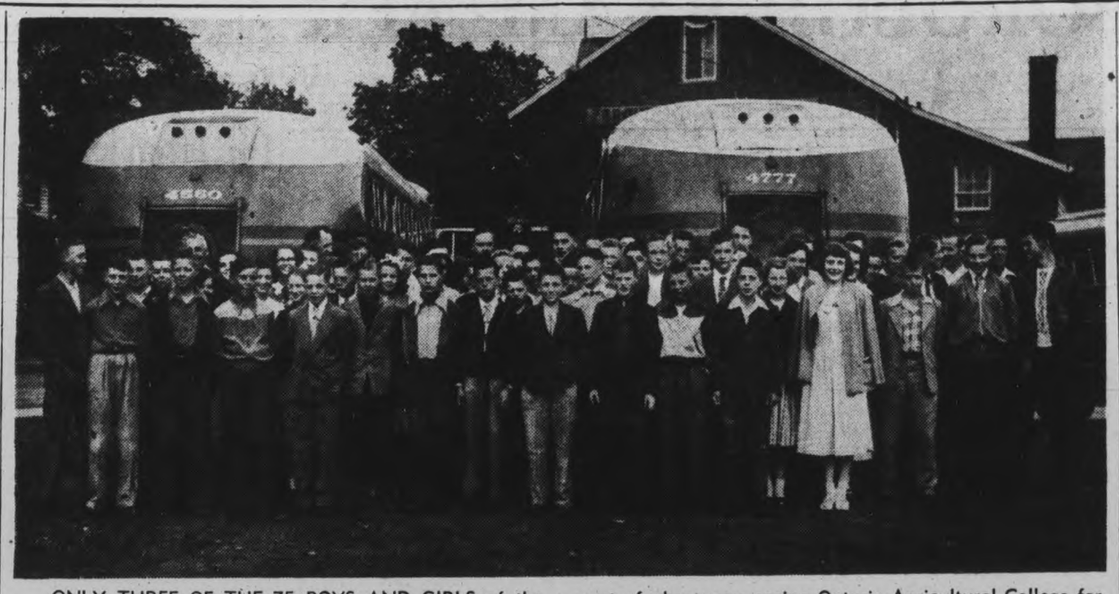
POULTRY HOUSE AT SCHOOL

Although most of the students attending the Watford District High School are quite familiar with farm practices, the Board of Education has added a new poultry department to the school for specialized studying of poultry raising. A new poultry house has been constructed and adds another training unit to the household economics and wood working department which were added to the school a few years ago. Care of the school grounds is being developed for its educational value to the students.



ONLY THREE OF THE 75 BOYS AND GIRLS of the three Peterborough calf clubs missed the two-bus trip to OAC provided by the Kiwanis Club and county Federation of Agriculture. James Goldie, chairman of the agriculture committee of Kiwanis, and two other members, Wilson Gemmell and Frank Graystock went along with the youngsters. Keith McIntyre, club leader, and R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, were also guiding the party, most of whom were seeing Ontario Agricultural College for the first time. Boys in the picture occupy most of the front row, but two girls are near the left: Gaye Hancock of Smith (in white dress) and Kathryn Thorn of Otonabee. The three clubs represented were the east and west dairy cattle clubs and the beef club. It was a grand outing for the young people. The picture was taken by F. C. Paterson at the King St. bus terminal.

SEILING ROYAL WING, bred and owned by Albert Seiling, Elmira, Ont., is the first Holstein in the world to make two official yearly production records above 1,200 lbs. butterfat on three times-a-day milking. She is the first Canadian Holstein to perform this feat regardless of times milked daily. As a seven-year-old she gave 1219 lbs. fat from 28,505 lbs. milk and as a nine-year-old 1215 lbs. fat from 28,714 lbs. milk. A medium sized cow weighing approximately 1400 lbs. "Royal Wing" has not been hurt by her heavy production, which is approximately six times that of the average dairy cow, and her owner expects her to start another big record this September. Joe Gorel, herdsman for Mr. Seiling milked her by hand.

Remarkable evenness and consistency of this Holstein cow's production is shown in her two records. Her highest day's milking was 109½ lbs. in her first 1200 lb. lactation, and her best day in her second 1200 lbs. lactation was 109 lbs. In the former she had 33 days over 100 lbs., and in the second, 27 over 100 lbs. At the finish of the first she was milking 65 lbs. daily, and at the end of the second record period 63 lbs.

In her latest record she had 14 official butterfat tests ranging from 4% to 4.8% for an average of 4.3.

Mr. Seiling has attained a high place among the Holstein breeders of the province, and is also an outstanding poultryman. He came to Peterborough last winter at the invitation of G. A. Brethen of Norwood, and talked informally to many of the poultry breeders of this area.

Garish Spectacle To Mark 116th Emancipation Date

WINDSOR, July 28 (CP) — Windsor's best-known impresario, a shredded cigar in his teeth and a harried smile on his broad face, is putting the final touches to a whirlwind that hits Windsor annually about this time.

He is Walter Perry, 50, secretary-treasurer of the British American Association of Colored Brothers. The whirlwind is a three-day celebration of Emancipation Day, which begins tomorrow.

Walter (Windsorites wouldn't know him as "Mr. Perry") says it's "the greatest international freedom show in the world."

No one has yet successfully challenged the statement.

On the surface it's a mixture of watermelons and barbecued spareribs, bathing beauties and baby contests, jazz music and Negro spirituals, amateur shows and pie-eating contests. All have the stamp of Walter's showmanship.

Serious Purpose

Behind the show is a more serious purpose: Celebration of the 116th anniversary of the freeing of slaves in the British Empire. Windsor is chosen for the festival because it was the Canadian end of an underground railway which helped United States slaves reach freedom in Canada before Lincoln proclaimed their emancipation in 1863.

Walter and the association of colored brothers, which sponsors the event, say they expect 180,000 persons to attend the three-day show in Jackson Park.

"To colored people," says Walter, "this is the Canadian National Exhibition, the Mardi Gras the Atlantic City beauty contest—all rolled into one."

He Operates

Highlights include a Saturday amateur contest with 150 participants; an eight-hour open air service Sunday; and a bathing beauty contest Monday to choose Miss International Sepia from 27 candidates representing such cities as New Orleans, Miami, Los Angeles, New York, Toronto, London, Ont., and Chatham.

This Emancipation Day show will be the 18th under Walter's direction.

"Despite its size, it is a one-man show," says an associate. "Walter's the big wheel; he's the Kingfish."

To which Walter replies modestly: "I operate."

Big Business Under Fire In United States

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Once in a while big business in the United States comes under fire.

Many people feel it comes under fire for scarcely any other reason than the fact that it is big.

So far as one can see, the attacks on bigness in itself don't come from workers or people in general, whose chief concern seems to be one of getting their share of the profits of production.

But there is a considerable political attack which may be a hangover from the "bad old days" when business was a fair object for curbing.

The attacks across the border have been fairly voluble recently, but Sam Dawson, of The Associated Press, comments that the shooting war in Korea may soften the outcry. And he adds: "If the shooting spreads elsewhere, we may wish our industries were even bigger than they are."

Not Big Enough

Before the Korean trouble started, Commerce Secretary Sawyer of the United States asked:

"When everything else in America is getting bigger, shall we expect business to get smaller?" And Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric, commented: "No company and no industry has yet been big enough to bring goods to enough people."

It would seem to this writer that the argument is immature and certainly overlooking the developments that have taken place in the present century.

At any rate it doesn't enter into the picture to any degree in Canada.

We are interested in one thing, economically, and that is the greater prosperity of people at large. That is the foundation for individual well-being and it is the only foundation for big business. We don't have to worry about it too much, because we have room for business both big and small, and, we hope, for the individual.

CCF Raps Discrimination Against Married Women

VANCOUVER, July 28—(CP)—"Discrimination" against married women in the teaching profession was attacked Thursday night at the biennial convention of the C.C.F.

The convention endorsed a resolution opposing restrictions on the employment of married women as teachers.

Two other resolutions dealing with education were passed. They called for federal grants to the provinces for education, and federal scholarships for needy high school and university students.

Bancroft Hospital To Receive Grant

BANCROFT, July 28 (ENS).—The Red Cross Hospital at Bancroft is among three Red Cross Hospitals in Ontario which are to receive further financial assistance from the province.

Premier Leslie Frost announced Thursday that grants will be awarded as follows:

Bancroft $84,117; Burk's Falls $81,390; Wiarton $72,332.

The capital grants represent one-third of the cost of building programs which will provide each of the hospitals with 22 beds and 11 infant basinettes.

THE CIVIL LIST

Annuities payable to the King and to members of the Royal Family are known as the Civil List.

Toronto Youths Found Drinking At Greenhurst

LINDSAY, July 28 (CP)—For having beer in a place other than their homes, three Toronto youths, found drinking at the nearby Greenhurst resort, Wednesday were ordered to pay $15.30 each in fines and costs. They are Peter Haywood, 17; James Whetmore, 18; and Clifford Desormeaux, 16.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter said, in passing sentence:

"Until some parents realize that we are living in a faster age than 25 years ago and keep a closer check on their children, there will be episodes like this."

The youths were arrested Sunday morning, several hours after they had been warned by Const. Guest to leave the park. He told the court that he had discovered them about two o'clock Sunday morning in a truck. In the truck with them was one full beer bottle, and an empty case, which had originally contained 24 pints. He was told, said Const. Guest, that the beer had been purchased in Toronto by a fourth youth, aged 18, who was not with the party. At this time, said the officers, he warned the trio to leave the park.

At 10.30 a.m., on visiting the pavilion, continued Const. Guest, he found the lads having a snack. They were causing no trouble, but as they had apparently ignored his warning, he brought them into jail at Lindsay.

In his capacity as Crown Attorney, while Mr. Jordan is on vacation, Col. R. I. Moore told the court that parents of the lads had been phoning him to see what could be done for their sons. Col. Moore revealed that the parents seemed to be unaware that the boys drank. They knew they were coming to this district for the weekend, but had no idea they would get into trouble. He pointed out that the parents had told him that their boys had given no previous trouble, and that since they had been in jail since Sunday morning, it might be a valuable lesson.

Suggest A-Bombing Soviet If Russia Crosses Line

LONDON, July 28—(AP)— A Labor member of parliament said Thursday the West should draw a line on the map and atom bomb Russia if the line is crossed.

R. T. Paget, Northampton, told the House of Commons Stalin would never, in the face of such a warning, join "the company of those dictators and emperors who have been rash enough to come to conclusions with this famous island."

Said Paget: "Send the Russians a map with a line on it. Say, here is the frontier. If you or your satellites invade across the line, then within 24 hours atom bombs will fall on your cities."

Meanwhile, Ilya Ehrenburg, one of Russia's most versatile propaganda artists, today chided Londoners for not taking the atom bomb seriously enough.

They seemed "slow to appreciate the immediate danger," he said at a press conference.

In Britain to speak on behalf of the Stockholm peace campaign, Ehrenburg said he found Britons less concerned about banning the atom bomb than did people on the Continent.

It was puzzling, he said, for they had less open space in which to move.

"The man in the street in London seems slow to appreciate the immediate danger," he said, without amplification.

CHINA CLAY

China clay deposits were first discovered in Britain in 1750 by William Cockworthy, a Devonshire chemist.

Radioactive Gold Aids Cancer

LONDON, July 28 — (AP) — Bold new attempts to fight cancer with peacetime radioactive atoms from atomic ovens were described today to the Sixth International Congress on Radiology.

Radioactive gold is injected by needle into the abdomen to combat cancer which has spread through the area.

Radioactive or "hot" atoms of such common things as sodium, bromine, or cobalt are put inside plastic bags which then are placed inside concer-ridden bladders.

These uses of radioactive atoms were reported by Dr. D. W. Smithers of London and Dr. J. H. Muller of Zurich, Switzerland.

Smithers told of injecting salt solutions of radioactive gold into the abdomens of five persons with advanced cancer. One woman had cancer of her ovaries. The ovaries were removed but the cancer had spread to new spots in her abdomen, which was painfully distended with fluid.

Too Early To Tell

Injections of gold reduced the pain and swelling. Six months later the woman felt fit and well and returned to work, he said. But he cautioned that it was much too early to classify this recovery as a cure for cancer.

Muller said radio-zinc and radio-gold injected in much the same way had benefitted other women whose cancers had spread through the abdomen.

Some forms of radio-zinc and radio-gold injected into veins seemed to locate in the lungs, Muller said. This offers hope of combating lung cancers with these atoms.

Of 700 forms of radio active atoms from atomic ovens, only six or seven have been found to be medically useful against cancers or other diseases, said Dr. Leon H. Jacobsen of the University of Chicago.

The useful ones include iodine, phosphorus, gold and cobalt. Iodine particularly has been found helpful in some cases of over-active thyroid glands and cancer of the thyroid.

Recruits Rush To Join Aussie Army

SYDNEY, July 28 (AP) — Australia's contribution to United Nations' ground forces in Korea probably will total a division Army and Navy Minister Josiah Francis said Thursday.

That might mean 10,000 or more men—more than have been pledged by any other country to line up with United States troops.

Recruiting began with a rush By Thursday morning, 100 men had applied in Sydney alone. Officials said Second World War veterans, plus some regular soldiers, will make up the bulk of the force.

(A New Zealand dispatch today said that country's contribution to the campaign is understood to be one field artillery regiment and a supporting signal detachment, with a provisional total of 1,200 men. However, more than 1,650 volunteered on the first day and the force may be increased.)

Waiting Word

Francis said the final decision on the size of the force will depend on information from Prime Minister Robert Menzies, who is to see President Truman in Washington this week.

Acting Prime Minister Arthur W. Fadden announced the destroy Warramunga will be sent to Korean waters soon to join the destroyer Bataan and the frigate Shoalhaven. Australian planes have been in the fight from the first.

"Australia is determined to accept its responsibilities until the aggression in Korea has been crushed," Fadden said.

Prime Minister Howard Beale said Australia must be prepared for total war. He told the inaugural meeting of the defense supply planning committee in Melbourne "events around us indicate that there is no time for delay."

The committee, in addition to stockpiling strategic materials, is to plan mobilization of key industries in the event of war.

N. Ontario Weekly To Cease Publishing

TIMMINS, July 28—(CP)—The Porcupine Advance, one of the oldest weekly newspapers in Northern Ontario, announced Thursday it is discontinuing publication.

The Advance said it will concentrate on job printing.

It was founded in 1912 by George Lake, now of Langstaffe, Ont., and since 1939 has been published by Merton W. Lake, son of the founder.

The Advance first was published in South Porcupine, some 20 miles east of here, and moved to Timmins in 1916. It was founded with equipment from an earlier weekly which failed. It lived to see eight rivals perish. Only one, now the Timmins Daily Press, survived.

Roseneath Women See W. L. M. King Bier

ROSENEATH, July 28 (ENS) — Thirty-five Roseneath women on a bus trip to Ottawa and Hull on Tuesday, were among the twenty-three thousand people who filed past the bier of the late Hon. Mackenzie King in the Hall of Fame.

The bus trip was sponsored by the local Women's Institute.

Charge Infraction

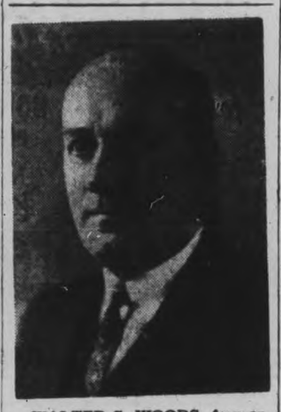
LAKE SUCCESS, July 28 — (Reuters)—The Egyptian government complained to the United Nations Thursday that an armed Israeli force, supported by aircraft, allegedly crossed into Egyptian territory and killed three persons June 30. The charge was contained in a letter to Trygve Lie, UN secretary-general, from Egypt's Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Nationalize Company

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 28—(AP)—The Ministry of Internal Trade said today the Church Art Company of Bratislava, selling religious objects, has been nationalized.

WORKING HOURS

More than 70 per cent of the plant workers in Montreal and more than 85 per cent in other cities work 45 hours or less per week.



WALTER S. WOODS, former deputy-minister of Veterans' Affairs, is the first national chairman of Red Cross veterans' services, heading a new committee which combines all Red Cross work for veterans.

Youngsters Play Milady Dress Up for Tea Party

Miss Beverly Pidgeon, playground instructor, was hostess at a tea party for 13 Peterborough ladies at Inverlea Park Thursday afternoon.

Tea (grape freshie) was served at 3 p.m., when the ladies ranging in age from five to eleven, seated themselves gracefully on the lawn of the Tot Lot and proceeded to enjoy themselves with some real down to earth girl's gossip.

After about five minutes chat, one of the ladies was seen removing her shoes with the remark, "these high heals are unbearable in such hot weather." Another stylish mamselle agreed as she dunked her cookie in her cup before eating the tasty tidbit

After the tea, a fashion show was held when all the ladies walked past the judge's stand displaying their finery.

It was a hard decision, but the judges, Mrs. G. K. Frise, 70 Auburn St. and Miss Phyllis Selby, 1027 Water St., finally picked Miss Betty Found, 328 Euclid Ave., as the winner. Miss Found was gowned in black crepe with a black hat, decorated with red roses, and red accessories. Second and third prize went to sisters, Karen and Judy Neal, 570 Water St.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Takes Breather Away from Home, Family

DEAR MISS DIX — I am 26 years old. Married and have two children, 3 and 4. I lost my job and had to send my wife and children home to her people. Since she has gone back home her friends are taking her out. I don't go anywhere because I love her and the babies too much, but when I ask her to give up her good times and stay at home with the babies she laughted at me and told me to leave her alone; that she had been tied down for six years and that while she had the chance she was going to enjoy herself. She said that when I got a job we would go back together again. Please advise me what to do.

J. V. X.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—Do nothing. Let her have her little fling, which seems to be innocent enough. She is back home among the old friends of her girlhood and they are giving her a few parties. That is all the situation is when you look at it with clear eyes instead of through jealous ones.

Has Had Hard Time

In a way your wife's conduct is just a reaction from the strain of the last few hard years. Think of what she has been through, bearing two children only a year apart. Pretty hard on any woman. Terribly hard when that woman is only a girl herself, with all of youth's craving for pleasure. Now she is back home and mother is taking care of the babies to give her a rest. She can get a good night's sleep. She can slip some of her responsibilities. Her old friends are rallying about her and giving her good times, and it seems so wonderful to her to laugh and dance and forget for a little while the shadow that hangs over her that it is not strange that she tells you to let her alone when you try to stop her pleasure.

That doesn't mean that she doesn't love you, or won't be glad to go back to you when you are able to support her. She will come back to you all the more eagerly and with all the more affection for you if you are big enough and generous enough to see the situation as it is and to trust her and make her feel that you are glad for any happiness that comes to her. Furthermore, she will come back to you refreshed in body and spirit, as she would not be if she spent all of her time pining for you and brooding over her misfortunes.

DEAR MISS DIX—A lot of us girls have been arguing about the word sophistication. Will you please tell us just what it means?

JERRY.

ANSWER—A dictionary definition of sophistication is "arguing cleverly but fallaciously about things." In other words, making a thing seem true or right that isn't true or right.

But the modern definition of the word, as you hear it used, is knowing all the answers. We apply it to a person who is worldly wise, who has been about and seen a lot and heard about all there is to tell. The sophisticated individual is one who is at home in any situation and who knows just what to do under any circumstances; who always says the right thing at the right time and in the right place; who always has on just the proper clothes for the occasion; who has poise and tact; who is always at ease himself or herself and makes every one else feel at ease.

Many young people have a very erroneous idea of what sophtication consist of. They think they are being sophisticatel when they break all the laws of God and man. Many young girls write me that they are sophisticated young women because they have no shame in getting drunk or going to live with men to whom they are not married. Many boys think they are sophisticated when they crash parties to which they are not invited, when they have illicit affairs with married women, when they drink too much and refuse to work.

Many others think that they are sophisticated because they know head waiters by their first names, go to night clubs, tell dirty stories and use language tbat needs to be sent to the laundry. But these are not real sophisticates. They are just plain loose women and loafers and bums.

Young people think they are sophisticated because they believe nothing, but the only really sophisticated people are old people who have lived so long and seen the impossible happen so often that they believe everything.

DEAR MISS DIX: What can I do with my leisure time? I am a young healthy married woman with a college education, no children, and living in a hotel. My husband lately has given evidence of feeling of irritation because I do nothing all day but loaf, yet he does not want me to get a job. I used to be a teacher. What would you suggest?

MRS. J. W. P.

ANSWER: You might ally yourself with some philanthropic organization, or do club or lodge work. Nearly every church has some sort of a club or society that is glad to have volunteer workers.

My real suggestion is that you go housekeeping. That will give you plenty of work and plenty to think about, and it is a far more wholesome way for a young married couple to live than in a hotel.

Dior Stressing Bigger Hips

PARIS, July 28, (AP)—Christian Dior opened the fall fashion showings here Thursday by introducing a shapely silhouette which emphasizes big hips, an ample bust and an hourglass waist.

Everything reminiscent of the 1920's has been swept away and even hemlines tend to be slightly longer, particularly for topcoats.

He spotlights the bust with drapery and plumps up the hips with padding, pocket flaps or Kangaroo-pouched drapery.

He plasters many dresses with large plain pearl buttons and any number of outside pockets.

Dior skirts are either narrow or fabulously full. He evokes a 1930 look with narrow ones that fit tight to the knees then flute out into godets or bunches of pleats.

The full ones are in his best new-look tradition and the mannequins parading them knocked ashtrays over with clockwork regularity.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD MONTGOMERY were married on Saturday in the parsonage of Lakefield Baptist Church. The Rev. W. Watson officiated. Before her marriage, the bride was Miss Mary Jane Galvin, daughter of Mr. Harry Galvin and the late Mrs. Galvin, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Montgomery.—Duke Studio Photo.

Crisp, Cool Salad Will Tempt Most Lackadaisical Appetite

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, July 28—(CP)— A crisp, cool salad will tempt the most lackadaisical appetite these hot weather days.

Shrimp salad — ingredients: four cups cooked shrimps; one-quarter teaspoon paprika; one-half teaspoon salt.

Boil fresh shrimps in salted water, wash and drain and carefully remove the shells. Also remove the black line which runs the length of the body.

When cool, add salt, paprika and mix well in French dressing. Let stand in refrigerator until thoroughly chilled.

Arange shrimps on crisp lettuce leaves or shredded cabbage and garnish with curled celery and sliced pickles.

Salmon sald is another hot-weather luncheon dish

Ingredients: One can salmon; one cup cabbage (finely cut); one cup celery (chopped); one-half teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon paprika; mayonnaise.

Flake the salmon fine and mix it with the cabbage and celery. Sprinkle lightly with the salt and paprika and then chill the mixture. Mix with the mayonnaise and serve on lettuce leaves.

Lemon snow makes an excellent dessert after a heavy meal.

Ingredients: Four tablespoons cornstarch; one-third cup sugar; one-half teaspoon salt; two cups boiling water; one lemon (grated rind and juice); two egg whites.

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt well together. Gradually add boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat until thick and clear (about five minutes) Add lemon juice (three tablespoons) and grated rind (one tablespoon) and pour slowly over stiffly beaten egg whites, stirring until well blended.

Serve with custard sauce. Yield: six servings

For the custard sauce you need; two tablespoons sugar; one teaspoon cornstarch or two teaspoons flour; dash of salt; 1½ cups milk; two egg yolks or one whole egg; one-half teaspoon vanilla.

Mix sugar, cornstarch or flour, salt and one cup of the milk. Scald in double boiler. Beat egg yolks with remaining milk. Add slowly to the hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture coats a spoon, about five minutes. Remove from heat and add vanilla.

If desired one-third cup chopped maraschino cherries or raisins may be added to the sauce.

Child health experts suggest that it is best to give children small servings of food — big amounts may be discouraging. It is better for a child to form the habit of cleaning his plate, and, if still hungry, asking for a second helping.

Mary Jane Galvin Becomes Bride D. Montgomery

The marriage of Mary Jane Galvin and Donald Montgomery was solemnized in the parsonage of Lakefield Baptist Church Saturday, by the Rev. W. Watson. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. Harry Galvin and the late Mrs. Galvin. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Montgomery, all of Lakefield.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a blue street length taffeta dress with white accessories and carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath. The bridesmaid was Miss Marlene Crowe, who wore a pink taffeta dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. Charles Tyndale of Peterborough.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Galvin, Lakefield. The groom's mother received in a gown of navy blue and navy accessories and a corsage of baby roses. Mrs. John Thompson, of Peterborough, aunt of the bride, assisted in a brown figured silk dress with natural shade accessories and a corsage of baby roses.

On their return, they will live in Lakefield.

What's Right?

You are to be the guest of honor at a party.

WRONG: Plan to go a little late, so that the other guests will be there when you arrive.

RIGHT: Arrive a few minutes before the time set for the party so that you will be there in time to meet the first guests who arrive.

A WONDERFUL WAY TO GLORIFY vegetables is to serve them in croquettes. These are made with carrots, but almost any kind of "mashable" vegetables is adaptable. See "500 Delicious Dishes from Leftovers" for a variety of recipes.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Left Overs From Meal Will Make Attractive Dish

Lovely to look at, economical, and fairly teeming with vitamins. That's "Golden Mountain," one of the vegetable recipes in the Left-over Cookbook. This booklet is the second in a series of twenty-four prepared by the Culinary Arts Institute and being offered to readers of the Examiner.

Golden Mountain

2 cups cooked mashed carrots
¼ cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten slightly
1 teaspoon sugar

Combine ingredients and mix thoroughly. Place mixture in greased mold, set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 45 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serves 4 to6.

Another good burget-stretcher is "Pea-Pod Soup." It has a distinctive flavor that's really delicious. Here's the recipe:

Pods from 2 quarts peas
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons flour
1 onion, diced
1 teaspoon pepper, dash nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter

Wash pea pods and cut into pieces; cover with water and boil with onion for 1½ hours. Puree mixture, add seasonings, sugar, nutmeg and hot milk. Heat to a boiling point and thicken with butter and flour mixture. Serves 4.

SERVEL REFRIGERATOR

The Refrigerator That Is Different!

THE ONLY REFRIGERATOR TRULY DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHERS BETTER THAN ALL OTHERS!

DIFFERENT:
Because it has No Motor.

BETTER:
Because it has No Motor.

NO MOTOR:
Means no Machinery to wear or cause noise.

NO MACHINERY:
Means absolutely silent operation, Service Free Operation

SERVICE FREE:
Because it has No Motor. No moving parts, nothing to wear, nothing to get out of order nothing to service.

SERVEL REFRIGERATORS:
Last many years longer, because they are not Mechanical Refrigerators.

IT IS CALLED THE
"MIRACLE OF ICE FROM HEAT"

Electric Models operate on a tiny electric element (takes the place of machinery).

Kerosene Models, where you are out of reach of Hydro, operate from a Small Aladdin Lamp.

Forty-five Present At Birthday Dinner

BONARLAW, July 28 (ENS)—A birthday dinner was held on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Frank Hinds, Madoc township. There were 45 present.

The table was decorated with cut flowers and centred by a large fruit cake, decorated with candles in honor of Mrs. Hinds and her five sisters.

Mrs. Hinds was the recipient of many gifts including a Bible and two rugs.

While Mrs. Hinds blew out the candles and cut the cake, little Geraldine McFaul and Linda Wellman sang Happy Birthday to You.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Robertson and Judy of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Seymour and family of Brighton; Mrs. Myrtle Seymour, Bancroft; Miss Shirley Walker, Mr. Ray Walker, Peterborough; Mrs. Leona Walker, Marion, Wayne and Dale, Marmora; Miss Betty Harris and brother Joe of Marmora; Mrs. June Wellman, Charlie Wellman, Linda Wellman, Wilford Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Walker, Mrs. Clara Sparks, Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McFaul and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McFaul and family and Mr. Charles Runnalls.

Communists Say McManus Fired By Union

TORONTO, July 28 (CP)—The Communists said Thursday night that Thomas Gerald (Gerry) McManus was kicked out of the party. They denied his statement that he quit.

McManus, 50-year-old secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Seamen's Union (Ind.), announced earlier in the day that he had resigned his post and said he was quitting the Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party because of its hands-off policy toward the Korean war.

The former Communist provincial leader for Saskatchewan said at a press conference he could not support a party or organization which "supports war of aggression on the one hand and advocates world peace on the other."

His action was similar to that of Pat Sullivan, who resigned a few years ago as CSU president because he claimed the union was Communist-dominated.

Removed From Job

Stanley Ryerson, organizational secretary of the LPP, issued statement on behalf of the party saying McManus was "removed from any position of responsibility and suspended from membership some two months ago on grounds of conduct prejudicial to the party."

"That he now is being taken up by big business as a mouthpiece for attacks on the LPP and the most progressive sections of labor is wholly in the tradition of his predecessor, the infamous Pat Sullivan.

"McManus has taken the path of the renegade. All honest men and women in the labor government will treat him with the utter contempt that his action merits."

Donations Boost Sale Receipts For Institute

WARKWORTH, July 27 (ENS)—The July meeting of the Percy Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Young with 20 members and 17 visitors present. The president, Mrs. Gordon McCubbin, conducted the meeting.

Four cash donations were received from members who were unable to bake for the cooking sale, thus making the proceeds of sale amount to $25.46.

Two gifts were donated to the branch, a quilt top, the pattern of "Around the World" was donated by Mrs. Maidens Sr. and a cash donation of $6 from Mrs. Cassie Angus.

A donation of $5 will be sent from this branch to the District Women's Institute.

The district director, Mrs. Doug Laver, presented gifts to the girl leaders, Mrs. W. McCubbin and her assistant, Mrs. E. Laver, for the splendid work done in the Girls' Club this year.

Keitha Greenly, on behalf of the girls, presented their leaders with gifts, in appreciation of the interest and help they had given them.

Ruth McCubbin, Doreen and Keitha Greenly, June and Joy Craighead, completed the year's unit and were presented with silver spoons by the president, Mrs. Gordon McCubbin.

The Girls' Club, with Mrs. W. McCubbin as the convener, was in charge of the program.

Motto—"Let her be free and natural as the flowers that smile and nod throughout the summer hours," by Mrs. Oscar Laver; posture song by Joy Craighead and Ruth McCubbin; reading, Country Girls' Creed by June Craighead.

Lunch was served.

Happy Homemakers To Help At Regatta

MARMORA, July 28 (ENS).—The Happy Homemakers' Club held its fourth meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joan Shannon with all members present.

Plans were made for working in a booth at the regatta on July 29. It was decided to unite with the Garden Club for a weiner roast at Glen Allan Park on July 27.

Judging of school lunches took place before the meeting closed.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Betty Moffatt on Aug. 7.

The hostess served refreshments.

Comedy Presented

NORWOOD, July 28 (ENS).—A play, "Ready Made Family" presented by the 16th church, RR 1, Lakefield, under the auspices of LOL No. 522 was presented in the Norwood Town Hall Wednesday evening before a fair crowd. The comedy was well presented and enjoyed by all.

Sunday School Picnic Held At Birdsall's

HASTINGS, July 28 (ENS).—The Sunday school department of Trinity United Church, Hastings, held its annual Sunday school picnic at Birdsall's Beach on Wednesday.

The events under the leadership of assistant superintendent George H. Humphries were as follows:

All children six and under received prizes.

Running race, boys, 7 8, 9—1 Russell Tripp, 2 Stanley Fisher; running race, 10, 11, 12—1 Gordon Fisher, 2 Paul Humphries; wheelbarrow—1 Don Fisher and Bob Fairman, 2 Peter Crate and Paul Humphries.

Swimming—Seniors, Don Fisher; juniors, Gordon Fisher; young ladies—1 Jane Dickinson, 2 Nancy Dickinson.

Boys' shoe race—Bob Fairman; race and putting on shoes, Paul Humphries; married men's race, George H. Humphries and the Rev. N. Cole; bean counting contest, the Rev. N. Cole.

The afternoon was brought to a close with a picnic lunch.

Theatre Ready With Play By Leslie Howard

The role which Leslie Howard created for himself when he wrote the play "Elizabeth Sleeps Out" will be played next week by John Primm in the Summer Theatre's presentation.

The actor, who died some years ago, wrote the play as a vehicle for himself. He opened it with a stock company in Boston and then took the play to Broadway where it was an overnight success.

John Primm, who scored a success in Peterborough last year and was seen in "Harvey" this year, will take the role Howard played.

Donald Glen, who has won admirers with his starring roles in "Dream Girl" and "For Love or Money," is back with "Elizabeth." The Dream Girl herself, Kate Reid, will be back again and so will Pat Atkinson, Clairine Jackman, Ron Poffenroth and Marjorie oRot.

The story of the farce concerns two middle-aged spinsters who are training their 26-year-old niece, Kate Reid, for spinsterhood.

Into this stuffy atmosphere walk two men, John Primm and Donald Glen. The farce is off.

Michael Sadlier, the Summer Theatre's young producer-director, is directing the play. Like all the other plays put on by the Summer Theatre this year, "Elizabeth Sleeps Out" has run one week in Niagara Falls, smoothing out any rough spots.

People who have been having trouble getting good seats at the end of each week, might like to know they will not be guinea pigs for the play if they go at the first of the week.

St. Andrew's Church Vacation School Ends

MARMORA, July 28 (ENS).—The Church Vacation School at St. Andrew's concluded its sessions on Thursday morning with a program and demonstration of work. During the ten days of the school, which was directed by the Rev. G. D. Young, the children were trained in music by Miss Hilda Henderson of Deloro.

Handicraft work was directed by Anne Barlow, Jean Nash, Lois Bedore and Graeme Leonard, Bob Prentice and Marjorie Wells also assisted in leadership.

For the Bible study period, colored film strips on the life of Joseph were shown.

Games were played out of doors each morning. The morning's program concluded with a period of worship following the theme "God's plan for happy homes."

More than 60 children registered and the average daily attendance was 35.

Korean Invasion Long Prepared

WITH U.S. FORCES ON SOUTH COAST OF KOREA, July 28 (Reuters). — American troops are finding evidence that the North Koreans prepared their invasion of South Korea long in advance.

During Thursday's battle for Hadong, 75 miles west of Pusan, the Communists used concrete machine-gun emplacements. Northerners in another part of the area fired on allied troops from deep holes on hills without natural cover.

Intelligence officers have noted other positions prepared in advance for North Koreans on high ground and strategic points.

As soon as the North Koreans entered the area they went straight to these positions.

American intelligence authorities assumed that since the withdrawal of United States troops from Korea at the end of the occupation, underground forces began preparing for the invasion, smuggling in and storing arms caches through the country.

Grasshoppers Invade City As Well As Farm Lands

By JACK SCOTT

TREGARVA, Sask.—Generally speaking, there are two types of grasshoppers.

One type is the friendly grasshopper whose worst offense is joining your picnic uninvited, a happy, singing little fellow whom Leigh Hunt once described nicely as "the green little vaulter in the sunny grass" and by somebody else as "the fairies' kangaroo".

Then there is the other, or Saskatchewan, grasshopper about whom no poets sing.

It's surprising how even the mentions of the Saskatchewan grasshopper brings out the beast in men. Freddy Cruice, a fellow I met in Regina yesterday, is a good example. Mr. C. is a benign type, a veritable Santa Claus without whiskers, but mention that word and little horns start growing in his forehead.

"I go out each night," he said yesterday, sounding suddenly like Peter Lorre, "and squash them with the end of a two-by-four. Oh, I like to kill the little (three words censored here)."

Mr. Cruice was particularly bitter since some young, city-type 'hoppers have already digested most of his suburban strawberry patch. Freddy thinks they are just getting in shape for his lawn.

"You cannot learn to hate grasshoppers until you've seen them erase a fine healthy lawn", he says. "They like it in the sun and so they follow the shadow line until their work is done."

Like me, you've probably thought of grasshoppers only in terms of the damage they do to crops in the country and not of invading a city. Do, though. And in such fantastic numbers that workers going into the office have to pick their way through them on the streets.

A Reginan told me how one bad year he filed a story east about the 'hoppers and received a query back asking for a description of the insect.

"I just walked to the window," he recalls, "picked one of the little terrors off the ledge, put him in a match box and mailed him east".

On The Farm

Last night we dropped in on the farm of Gordon Pearce, who has 1100 acres here, most of it in wheat. As we walked to the white farmhouse, through the tall grass the young grasshoppers, tobacco-juice brown and about a half-inch in length, bounded ahead of us.

Dave Innes, editor of the Saskatchewan Farmer, who was showing me around, explained that recent rains have kept the 'hoppers down, but added that the insects are well-nigh indestructible. Recently, in the line of research, a 'hopper was frozen solid in a block of ice for a week and pogo-sticked away, with a tiny, bored yawn, soon as he was thawed out.

Pearce's farm is in an area marked in blue (which means "severe infection") on the Department of Agriculture's grasshopper forecast map. Innes explained that there's no telling how serious this year will be, but it looks pretty bad.

Farmer Pearce, a heavy-set laconic man, was in the red barn milking and we conducted a cow-side interview. It was pleasant in the barn with the manure smell and the swallows flitting about, but I've already learned not to expect a farmer to reflect his peaceful surroundings.

"How do the 'hoppers look this year?" Innes asked.

Pearce gave a few vicious squirts.

"Bad," he said.

"Have they done any damage?"

Squirt, squirt.

"Well, son," Pearce drawled, they never yet done any good."

"What precautions are you taking, Mr. Pearce?"

"The usual, I guess." Squirt, squirt. "But sometimes I figger it's like barking at the moon."

Ever Present

Pearce loosened up conversationally when he found Innes could talk his language and showed us some of the poison he is spreading (by shovel from the back of a truck). It's an evel-smelling mixture of sawdust, bran, water and a poison called Aldrin, all supplied, ready-mixed and free, by the government.

"Trouble is, you may get some and then a whole new batch may come in," Pearce explained, to which Ines added the technical fact that a single lady grasshopper lays from a hundred to 400 eggs each fall.

The bigger farms—or "wheat factories" as they're known hereabouts — use planes to spray the crops, but at $1.10 an acre farmers like Pearce can't afford that kind of insurance.

Hoppers made their largest number of enemies here in 1938 when crop damage was over $30 million, but, like drought and hail, the insects are a potential threat every year.

"We don't get too pleased with ourselves," Pearce said, looking out at his fine stand of wheat, now above knee height, and with what I'm told is chronic pessimism. "We done quite a little starving in the thirties, We could again."

One Of Subs Off East Coast British

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP). — The British Admiralty has informed the Canadian Navy that one of several submarines reported sighted in Canada's eastern waters within the last few weeks was the British submarine Astute.

This information was received, a naval headquarters spokesman said Thursday, after the navy had requested the Admiralty to check the possibility that the Astute may have been the sub observed by the cantain of a Spanish trawler off Newfoundland's Grand Benks July 10.

The reply was to the effect that it was the Astute, travelling from Halifax to Plymouth after training with Canadian naval units.

But the report of the Admiralty threw no light on eignt other reports of submarines sighted off the east coast of Canada All reports reached headquarters within space of three weeks.

Wednesday, after completing a partial investigation of the sightings, the navy indicated that at least one of the submarines belonged to Russia and that it had slipped into Canadian waters illegally.

Leave For Coast

OTTAWA, July 28— (CP)— The Governor-General and the Viscountess Alexander left Thursday by air for the Pacific coast where they will remain on vacation until the end of the month.

$20,000 Fire Damages Bait Works

Driver Spots Flames After Midnight, Turns In An Alarm

Fire early today broke out at the rear of the Lucky Strike Bait Works, Sherbrooke St., and swept through most of the building. Damage may amount to $20,000.

The paint shop containing costly spray guns, jigs and dyes was completely destroyed. Tons of brass sheeting, valued at about $800 a ton, were also made unuseable by the intense heat.

Fire doors prevented the blaze from spreading to the stockroom in the new section of the building but the water damage there is heavy.

Cause of the fire has not been established. Frank Pammett, 25, who lives in an adjoining residence and keeps an eye on the premises, said that the rear of the building is a favorite playground for children. It is possible they ignited a large pile of sawdust and wooden blocks which smouldered till the early hours of the morning.

"It's a lucky thing the fire didn't get to the paint storeroom" commented Mr. Pammett. "There's enough lacquer thinner there to blow up the block."

Flames were first discovered by an unidentified woman who saw the fire from Sherbrooke St. hill. Almost immediately afterwards, Gordon Beatty, 25, Wolsley St., turned in the alarm giving the exact address.

"I had just come off night shift," Mr. Beatty, a CGE employee, told the Examiner. "As I was driving north on Rubidge St. I could see the flames shooting out of the Bait Works. I drove over and honked my horn to wake up the people in the adjoining house and then I went to turn in the alarm."

He stayed to help firemen with the hoses and lend any other possible assistance.

Fight or Die Fighting Walker Orders

There Will Be No Evacuation From Korea General Informs G.I.'s

By DON WHITEHEAD

A U.S. FRONT-LINE COMMAND POST IN KOREA, July 29—(AP)—Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker today ordered his Eighth U.S. Army to make a stand—or die fighting—against North Korean Reds swarming forward in a new offensive.

Walker went to the front to tell his division commanders there will be no retreat and no surrender in this fight.

"This operation very definitely has entered its crucial stage," the general told correspondents.

Walker, who fought with Gen. Patton in Europe, said his troops had been ordered not to yield an inch.

Won't Give Inch

"We have been trying our best to shore up all the holes in our lines. As has been forecast, this is a fight for time. We will not give up an inch of ground that's not already lost.

"Everybody in this Army knows we must hold along the lines we now have.

"There's no thought in the mind of anybody in this Army—even though we might be so disposed—that there possibly can be a Dunkerque. It would be impossible for us to get out.

"All realize that to be prisoners of these people would be worse than death . . .

"I feel absolutely confilent of success in the operation though I know we are in for some hard blows before we are absolutely secure. The operation very definitely has entered its critical stage."

A correspondent asked the General if there was any basis for speculation U.S. forces would pull back into a tight perimeter about Pusan, United Nations supply port at the southeastern tip of Korea, until reinforcements are built up. Walker replied:

"My army is not going to give up one more inch. We will stand."

Advises Farmers Hold Back Wheat Supply

AILSA CRAIG, July 29 (CP).—Robert McCubbin, Liberal member of parliament for Middlesex West Friday advised farmers in western Ontario to withhold their wheat in anticipation of a rise in price. The farmers are at present harvesting soft winter wheat.

Speaking at the Ontario Wheatland and Crops Day at Ailsa Craig Mr. McCubbin told farmers they should store their wheat in their own barns, or in a space which would be provided for them by the government. He advised them not to "endeavor to market their wheat in the next few weeks"—a move which would bring a "very unsatisfactory" price.

Mr. McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Agriculture, told the hundreds of farmers they lacked organization through which they could fight the unsatisfactory price being offered them by millers.

"We're not in a position to bargain or dicker with the millers who are offering us $1.50 per bushel, where only a few weeks ago they were offering $2.10. We have not organization to work through," he said.

Kennedy Opens

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture officially opened the Wheatland and Crops Day.

Col. Kennedy told the farmers not to be afraid of the future — "our farms must change to keep up with advances of machinery," he said.

"Those things we have today," Col. Kennedy said, "are not the last words at all. Fifty years from now we will have farm machinery of which no one dreamed. Electricity will give way to something else. There are people in this audience who will see the sun give us heat and light for our homes."

"When the change does come," he said, "we here in this country will be largely responsible for it."

Among other speakers were Dr. G. P. McRostie, head of the field husbandry department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph and Dr. Waddell, of the same department of the OAC, Guelph.

Has Even Score

DEDHAM, Mass., July 29 (AP)—The score is eight boys and eight girls in the Deshiro family. Mrs. John Deshiro, 37, gave birth to her 16th child Friday, a girl. The children range in age from 21 to the newborn. Mrs. Deshiro was married when she was 15.

Thousands Riot In Brussels Liege In State of Siege

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 29—(AP)—Furious rioting by thousands of anti-Leopoldists broke out anew in Brussels today. A state of siege was declared in the industrial city of Liege, government sources said. A battalion of the crack Chasseurs Ardennais Regiment was ordered to be ready to move into that French-speaking centre, a stronghold of Socialist-led forces who want to drive King Leopold from the throne he regained a week ago. Liege was paralyzed by strkies. The city's governor resigned, either unable or unwilling to carry out the government's orders against the strikers.

There were unconfirmed rumors that an attempt might be made to set up a Rebel provisional government in Liege. The more extreme Walloon separatists long have wanted to secede from Belgium and throw in their lot with France. These, however, are only a noisy minority group.

Rioters started marching through Brussels at noon, singing the revolutionary "Marseillaise." Mounter police, with drawn swords, charged a crowd on the Place De Brouckere, heart of the capital, as it was trying to overturn a street-car.

The rioters had dragged the motorman and his two protesting gendarmes from the car. Mounted police rode in, striking with their sabres in all directions.

Attack Gendarmes

The gendarmes drew a cordon across the square but were attacked by the demonstrators. Horses reared and plunged under a shower of bottles, cafe chairs and tables snatched from a nearby terrace.

The crowd forced its way through the police cordon and marched along the Boulevard Adolphe Max to the Place Rogier in front of the north station, where Socialist leader Isabel Blum harangued the crowd: "We are fighting for the good of the country. The gendarmes have no right to strike at us."

Meantime, the gendarmes withdrew into the narrow Rue Neuve to redispose their strength.

Socialist Victor Larock appealed to the crowd to keep discipline and put down their bottles and other missiles.

Hold Meeting

The crowd marched off through the Rue Royale and was halted by mounted police who surrounded the 'neutral" area in front of the parliament buildings, where demonstrations are forbidden. The anti-Leopoldists then held a meeting in front of the flame burning above the grave of Belgium's unknown soldier.

Workers from anti-Leopold southern Belgium poured into Brussels.

Ottawa Ready Buy More Butter

VANCOUVER, July 29 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said here Friday the government is "buying all the butter it can get."

He arrived here from Alaska, "combining work with vacation," he said.

Mr. Gardiner said in an interview, he is not frightened by the government's 20,000,000 - pound stock of butter, still growing.

"We bought 48,000,000 pounds last year and we sold practically all of it. We will probably need 60,000,000 this year to carry us through, either in government or private hands."

The butter is purchased under the government farm support plan, which guarantees the farmer 53 cents a pound.

Mr. Gardiner will leave here Sunday, motoring via the United States to Ottawa.

Car Disappears Youth Arrested

A Toronto man is under arrest after being picked up on the outskirts of Lindsay Friday night in a car reportedly stolen. He is 23-year-old Jack White, now lodged in Cobourg jail.

The owner of the car allegedly stolen is James Bond, also of Toronto. He told provincial police that he picked up White who was hitchhiking from Toronto.

Near Fraserville they ran out of gasoline and Bond left the car to look for a service station. In the meanwhile, he charges, White got a push from a friendly truck driver into Fraserville.

After filling the tank at Cunningham's store White drove away.

A couple of hours later he was picked up on the outskirts of Lindsay after crashing into the rear of an automobile and trailer driven by Everson Fisher, Newcastle.

Lindsay city police were investigating the accident when Provincial Constable B. W. Welde, Lindsay detachment, spotted the car as he returned from patrol.

White, who made no attempt to get away, was arrested and taken to Cobourg. No charges have yet been laid.

Invite Hitler Seamen Join Communist Navy

BERLIN, July 29. (AP)—Seamen who served in Hitler's fleet were invited by the East German Communist regime today to volunteer for the new Navy Police.

Neues Deutschland, official newspaper of the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) Party (SED), announced the conditions in an article that amounted to a recruiting campaign.

Former Nazi sailors were advised they will be accepted if they can show "a positive attitude toward the German Democratic Republic and her government."

The Communist bosses have been careful to avoid calling the Navy Police a navy. But the semi-official East Berlin Zeitung said 22 ocean-going ships are under construction along the North Sea coast.

Held In Jail In Texas Since March

Pal Say Charge Illegal Entry, Fear Youth Dying

A Havelock youth, Fred N. West, 17, has been held in a Houston, Texas, jail four months because, according to his two pals, he entered the United States illegally.

His friends, Gordon K. Burnell and Charles W. Worth, both of Toronto, in a Canadian Press story today, said they were appealing to the Canadian government for help. They are seeking his release from the Harris County jail in Houston "before he is carried out feet first."

West, a small youth, the son of Mrs. Robt. Hanlon, Havelock is in poor physical condition because of bad food, beatings and appendicitis and gall bladder operations, they said.

Young West was being beaten by another jail inmate, a Texan of Mexican descent, and nothing could be done they claimed because most of the other prisoners were Texans or Mexicans.

Arrived Broke

The Toronto youths said they had hitch-hiked to Houston and arrived broke. Burnell was deported through Detroit by the immigration department. Worth wired home for funds and paid his way back to Canada.

West's mother had a letter from her son July 24 in which he asked for a little money and said he was not feeling too well, but for her not to worry. He said he had had an operation. The mother expects to get more information today.

Boy Vanished

Chief Constable Bay M. Bell of Havelock said today young West had become involved in some trouble in Havelock about a year ago and had been placed in the custody of his mother and stepfather. Immediately after that the boy had disappeared and nothing had been heard of him until two weeks ago.

Then one of West's former schoolchums received a letter containing some notes which were to be taken to Mrs. Hanlon. The mother told Chief Bell that her boy was down in Texas and the chief wrote to the Houston city police for information.

He received a letter back saying West had been held in the Harris county jail since March 30, but did not state on what charge he was being held.

Charge Poliquin With Perjury

MONTREAL, July 29 (CP). — Charles Emile Poliquin is in jail today, along with three Quebec Provincial Police officers he has charged with plotting rural bank holdups.

Trial of the three was dramatically interrupted Friday afternoon when Poliquin, himself awaiting trial on a bank robbery charge, was accused of perjury. He was immediately arraigned, bail was denied and he was sent to the cells.

Detective Lieut. Marcel Patenaude, suspended head of the Provincial Police hold-up squad; detective Sgt. Gaston Archambault, his assistant, and Paul Hervieux, former provincial detective, have been charged with conspiring to commit several bank jobs.

Poliquin, 28year-old Montrealer is the chief accuser. He claims that after he was arrested by the provincials last November, they offered to let him go if he carried out robberies planned by them.

The perjury charge was laid Friday after an RCMP officer told the court Poliquin had been an informer for the RCMP. Poliquin testified last week he never had been a police "stool pigeon."

Little Too Eager

TOKYO, July 29 (Reuters) — United States bombers accidentally shot down a British Seafire fighter from the carrier force Friday, an American spokesman announced here today. The pilot was picked up from the sea by rescue aircraft.

Seal Donates Ride

EASTPORT, Me., July 29—(AP)—Two fishermen said a 300-pound brown seal gave them a "Nantucket sleigh ride" Friday after they hooked it on a Pollock line. Boyd and Harold Frankland had to use a gun as well as fishing gear to subdue their rambunctious catch. The seal towed the Franklands' 32-foot power boat five miles in 90 minutes.

Export Trade Totals More Than Billion

OTTAWA, July 29 (CP)—Canada rolled up a vast $1,430,600,000 export-trade total in the first half of this year and more than 60 per cent of it produced needed U.S. dollars.

The $1,430,600,000 figure was the highest six-month-export total in Canada's peacetime history. So was the $995,000,000 worth of exports that went to the United States, just 31 per cent more than the $690,860,000 total from U.S. Canadian imports in the first half of last year.

The over-all total bettered the previous record of $1,424,600,000 in the first half of 1949 by $6,000,000.

Shipments for June were valued at $289,200,000, a record so far this year, compared with $287,000,000 in May and $255,100,000 in June last year.

Other Reductions

While the big increase to United States markets stood out, the Bureau of Statistics reported that shipments were lower to such markets as the United Kingdom, other commonwealth countries and to Latin America and Europe.

Shipments t othe U.K. in the first six months of this year dropped from $335,604,000 last year to $235,917,000 this year. June shipments declined from $60,718,000 to $52,472,000.

Shipments to other commonwealth countries dropped from $158,600,000 to $100,992,000. In the half year, exports to the Union of South Africa slipped from $40,667,000 to $22,863,000; India from $41,637,000 to $14,629,000, Australia from $16,639,000 to $16,431,000 and New Zealand from $6,529,000 to $4,839,000.

Communists Return Five British Soldiers

HONG KONG, July 29 (CP) — Five British soldiers, detained by Chinese Communists after "inadvertently crossing the Hong Kong border" while on patrol last Thursday, were returned to their units tonight.

Negotiations for their release were started when they crossed the border.

A British army spokesman said the five were taken while on routine patrol along the 20-mile border separating China proper from the small peninsula which is part of the crown colony.

American Line Holding Under Furious Attack, Red Losses Said Heavy

Strong Counter-Attacks Check Big Push Pile Up North Korean Dead; Hint US Reinforcements Aiding Defenders

TOKYO, July 29—(AP)—Under orders to "fight to the death," American infantrymen held their mountain positions today against waves of attacking North Korean Communists. The order to fight it out on their present lines came from Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker, Commander of the U.S. Eighth Army, in a visit to a front-line Command Post. "My Army is not going to give up one more inch," Walker said. "We will stand."

American infantrymen showed their willingness to back up this order by strong counter-attacks which checked a big Communist push and piled up the North Korean dead. Red pressure shifted. But their guns and infantry continued to hammer at American and South Korean lines.

By mid-afternoon Saturday there were no important changes in the line, a spokesman for Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said.

Planes Active

Allied warplanes slipped in under the clouds to blast Red troops and trucks and blast two enemy-held towns.

Targets of the U.S. fighter planes were Hadong and Kochang, on the southern tip of Korea, front dispatches reported. Carrier planes joined the attack for the fourth consecutive day.

"This operation very definitely has entered its critical stage," Walker said after flying over the front and conferring with his division commanders. "We will hold the positions we have and fight it out here."

He said he had "bright" hopes of reinforcements, was "absolutely confident of success."

The Reds were taking heavy losses. More than 3,000 died before blazing guns of the U.S. 1st Cavalry and 25th Infantry Divisions.

An assessment of North Korean losses to date listed 31,000 Reds killed and wounded, 170 tanks destroyed and 100 others damaged. A spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters called the figures "conservative."

Allied planes, land-based and from carriers, roamed dripping Korean skies unchallenged, raining more destruction on the enemy, his transport and supply centres.

Sheriff Crusader Shot Before Home

PIKEVILLE, Ky., July 29 (AP)—Sheriff Roy Conway, Pike county crusader against gambling and bootlegging, was shot and killed last night.

State police said the sheriff, about 40, received an anonymous telephone call shortly before 11 p.m. and was told to come out in front of his home. He stepped outside and was felled by a bullet which struck him in the temple.

Britain Halts Release Of Army Men

LONDON, July 29 (CP)—Britain, backing up its pledge of ground troops to fight in Korea, Friday halted release of army regulars whose enlistments are expiring and told volunteer reserves to get ready for duty.

A War Office spokesman said it is impossible to say how many men would be affected by the orders.

The army call followed a similar move by the Royal Navy two days ago. Conscripts are not affected.

The King signed a "case of emergency" proclamation Friday permitting the navy to enforce its call-up orders. A similar Royal proclamation will be needed later to formalize the army action.

Call Up Reserves

The navy expects to call up from its reserves a number of technicians and about 50 pilots with carrier experience. About 1,100 officers and men will be retained through the freeze of discharges.

A War Office spokesman also hinted that the order soon will be extended to the Women's Royal Army Corps. A spokesman said instructions for the women's services "will be issued separately."

The regular army now consists of 184,000 men. Counting conscripts, women auxiliaries and the territorials, Britain's army, navy and air force can muster 827,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen. Of these 464,000 would be army men and women.

Dean Of PR Men Will Retire

MONTREAL, July 29. (CP)—Walter S. Thompson, director of public relations for Canadian National Railways and dean of Canada's public-relations men, is retiring from the railway's service in October, it was learned today.

A former newspaperman, he has been with the CNR and its predecessor companies for more than 36 years.

Mr. Thompson, who started out more than 50 years ago as a five-shilling-a-week "leg boy" in London's Fleet Street, will reach his 65th birthday Oct. 22. Retirement age in the CNR is 65.

Mr. Thompson arranged Dominion tours of many an important visitor, including the late David Lloyd George, the Duke of Windsor, who then was Prince of Wales. He was the first to greet and the last to bid farewell to the King and Queen on their tour of Canada in 1939.

Plane Crashes 49 Die In Brazil

DIO DE JANEIRO, July 29 — (AP).— All 49 persons aboard were killed Friday night when a Brazilian Constellation plane crashed and burned near Porto Alegre. It was the worst disaster in the country's aviation history.

Among the 43 passengers was Ralph Motley, 48, an American, sales manager in Rio for the Atlantic Refining Company. All other passengers and crew members were believed to be Brazilians.

Witnesses said the plane circled Porto Alegre for 90 minutes in heavy weather and then smashed into Goat's Hill, about 20 miles outside of town. It may have hit a high tension wire in the vicinity. Porto Alegre is about 700 miles southwest of Rio on the Brazilian coast.

Panair, owners of the plane, said rescue crews sped to the scene immediately.

Bette Davis Weds Her Fourth Husband

JUAREZ, Mexico, July 29. — (AP))—Film star Bette Davis and actor Gary Ferrill were married yesterday in a civil ceremony here.

The marriage was Miss Davis' fourth. She obtained a Mexican divorce here July 3 from artist William Grant Sherry. She retained custody of their three-year-old daughter.

Merrill was divorced two days ago in Los Angeles by his stage actress wife, Barbara, and also was granted a divorce in Juarez first civil court Friday. The California divorce does not become final for a year.

Miss Davis gave her age as 41, Merrill as 38.

Girl 8 Confesses To Police She Killed Baby Brother

MILWAUKEE, July 29—(AP)—An eight-year-old girl told police Friday that she killed her 10-month-old half-brother almost two years ago by holding his head in a tub of water.

"I was jealous," the little girl replied when asked if she was sorry.

Charles Nowakowski, Captain of Detectives, said he was not convinced of the accuracy of the girl's statements. He said there were some discrepancies. The case will be handled in secrecy by juvenile authorities.

The child cannot be named because of a State law against naming juveniles charged with a criminal act. She was taken to police by her mother who said she coaxed the admission from her daughter.

Police said the girl also confessed that she tried to injure another 10-month-old half-brother and drown a 3½-year-old boy cousin recently.

"I hate them. My mother paid too much attention to them," she told Capt. Nowakowski.

The drowning occurred Sept. 26, 1948, at Knapp, Wis., where the family lived before moving to Milwaukee. The drowning was classified as accidental.

The girl's mother told police she had long suspected her daughter in the boy's death. Wednesday, she said, she caught the child stepping on another half-brother, 11 months old.

Subs Grow Like Mushrooms Navy Informed 23 Years

OTTAWA, July 29 (CP).—The east coast Russian submarine scare has done more than make headlines.

It has brought publicity to bear on an international rule of thumb that is under siege now after three centuries of general acceptance.

It has officially raised the question of the ownership of the Bay of Fundy, a tumultuous body of water that has been the greatest breeding ground of sub-sighting reports.

It has brought both worries and chuckles to naval headquarters with its wave of submarine reports—23 by Friday.

The rule of thumb is what is known as the three-mile limit. It was devised in the 17th century by a Netherlands lawyer who based it on the range of shore batteries then used to command sea approaches.

Some countries now are objecting to it but it is still generally accepted that any waters within three miles of a country are part of its territory. They are called territorial waters. Water outside that limit is international and any ship, sub or otherwise, is entitled to use it.

This brings up the question of the Bay of Fundy. It is flanked on one side by New Brunswick, on the other by Nova Scotia and there is some disagreement in Ottawa as to just whom it belongs to. The Navy tends to the view it's Canadian.

Other government officials, however, say only the water within three miles of shore is Canadian. There is no great dispute over it and the latter view is apparently the official one.

At least one the Fundy reports indicated that a Russian submarine came within three miles of shore around Chance Harbor, N.B. Once inside the three-mile limit, the sub was violating Canadian boundaries.

Investigate Reports Of Commons Damage

LONDON, July 29 (Reuters)—Police were called in today to investigate reports that telephone and water systems have been maliciously damaged at the House of Commons.

An assistant commissioner merely said: "Inquiries are being made into some damage at the House of Commons, but no statement can be made at this stage."

A spokesman of the ministry of works, responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of all government buildings, said no evidence of malicious damage or sabotage has yet been found.

Utilities Defer Installation Of Water Main

A petition for a water main on Cameron St., east of Monaghan Road, failed to gain any advance in preference on the work sheet of the Utilities Commission Friday.

The active phrase in the letter signed by twelve householders, with the name of Herbert F. Doig at the top, was the rather startling "absolutely insist."

The Commission has already laid a main on Cameron St., some distance west of Monaghan Road, and to the east of it extends to Spruce St., which stems south from Cameron to Riverside Drive. So the petition is actually for a main from Spruce to the foot of Park St.

This letter was put on file. It was read after the Commission had decided in a forthright discussion to suspend new work until the end of August. Ross L. Dobbin, manager, said he had jobs laid out for the present that would not be finished before September.

"We'll live up to any commitments we have made," said G. S. Matthews, with the assent of his associates, G. A. Macdonald and Fred Hills, "but we've got to slow up. Any new capital job will have to be held up until we know where we are going."

Conditions Serious.

Mr. Matthews said conditions appeared to be serious, and they were worse in the United States. "We might run into another problem of getting pipe."

The facts mentioned by the commissioner were: the working staff will be busy until September on mains and connections that have been promised; and it appears to be advisable to mark time until then about any new undertakings.

It was said that an application is in sight for a new main to Grove School on Erskine Ave., "an expensive job, with very little revenue in sight when it is done." That gets the hoist to September.

Another factor which in the opinion of the Commission is not generally recognized, is that their department has been co-operating with the city and the public for the last four years in all the needs of laying mains on new streets and providing water service to many hundreds of new houses.

With the receipt this week of the money borrowed by issuing debentures for work done and materials purchased, Howard Clegg, accountant, reported a bank credit of $63,960 in the electrical account and $82,202 in the waterworks account.

Pressure Continues

There is a continuing pressure of new construction, and the Commission has decided to put a brake on further extensions until Fall.

The Commission is estimating that it will have to spend approximately $50.000 on an office building to be erected on its Aylmer St. property. They had decided not to move up George St. for offices in the new city hall, and with the prospect of the Simcoe St. block being vacated, possible sold, they have to fend for themselves.

Mr. Dobbin was authorized to bring preliminary plans and estimates to the next meeting of the Commission. He said he would like to have the foundation finished in the Fall in the hope of proceeding with the building next Spring.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, July 29 (CP) — Oats and barley held small gains in the Winnipeg coarse grains futures market Friday, but rye came in for late selling which wiped out early gains.

In moderately active trading liberal offerings of oats were well absorbed by shippers and buying for American account. Barley followed a fairly even course, while rye ended up with losses of as much as one cent.

Class 2 wheat, for export to countries other than the United Kingdom, was unchanged at $2.06. The day's export business was 800,000 bushels for the United Kingdom and 25,000 for Belgium.

Melts Tap Tops

Frank Edgar, owner of the business, said the heat was so intense that it melted the brass tops on a couple of water taps, hindering the fire fighting. Just how badly the machinery in the machine shop is damaged he could not say.

"There'll have to be a thorough cleanup job and we may find some of the motors are useless."

"There's one good thing; it was during a slack season or the loss would have been much heavier," said Mr. Edgar.

Mr. Edgar was to leave this morning for California for an extended vacation. The 17 employees left Friday afternoon for their two weeks' vacation and nobody is believed to have been in the building since 4 p.m. Shortly after 2 a.m. today the blaze was discovered.

The new section of the building —of concrete block construction— received only water damage. Worst hit were the paint shop— completely gutted—and the old warehouse. Thousands of wooden plugs were also burned.

Lose Spray Guns

Included in the loss were some fine spray guns, almost irreplaceable in today's market. Also a supply of finishing lacquers and jigs and dies.

The factory is set in from the street and adjoins a house occupied by six people—Mr. and Mrs. Pammett and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Russell. Both couples have a child. Fire doors prevented the spread of the flames so their home was not affected.

Lucky Strike Bait Works recently came into the news when they found the competition of Japanese-dumped fishing tackle too much. A protest was made to the federal government on the grounds of unfair competition.

Centennial Cake Made Of Lights

None other than Harry Beatty of the Utilities staff is reported to be "cooking" a festive cake as a contribution to the spirit of centennial year.

Actually it was conceived and authorized by the Utilities Commission, and was passed to Ross Dobbin, who appears to have relayed the details of the job to Mr. Beatty.

From several references, it appears that this is to be a "cake" of lights, reproductions of which are to be suspended at eight street intersections down town. The first of them may be completed in a week, Mr. Dobbin told the Commission yesterday.

Or, they may all appear at once before the end of August, continuing to glow through the autumn months of Peterborough's centenary.

Their corner locations are: Hunter St. at Mark, Water and George; Charlotte at Aylmer and George; also George at King and Brock and Simcoe.

It was mentioned at the meeting that the decorative flags and bunting have become darkened from the smoke in the central area, contrasting with streamers near the Clinic on Charlotte St., that are said to be almost as bright and clean as when they were first placed above the street.

Fight To Death

News of reinforcements from Okinawa, American airbase island in the Ryukyus south of Japan, was reported reliably but unofficially. They were not mentioned by Gen. MacArthur's release.

However the official announcement did report "an American road-block" checked a southern coastal thrust at Ponggye, 55 miles west of Pusan—vital southeast port supplying the Allied holding action. Two other Red columns were similarly stalled in the north.

Counter-attacking units of the U.S. 1st Cavalry and 25th Infantry divisions regained ground yielded Friday night on the central front in the critical Hwanggan sector.

2,500 Reds Killed

The ferocity of the Communist assault was indicated by MacArthur's report that more than 2,500 Reds were killed by the 1st Cavalry Division. More than 800 North Korean dead were counted in front of the 27th Regimental combat team of the 25th Division.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead reported the U.S. counterthrust had stabilized the line in that sector. At that time—about noon Saturday—Hwanggan evidently still was in American hands.

Hwanggan is important in this "battle of decision". It is a key railway and highway town only 19 road miles northwest of the American supply and communications centre of Kumchon.

A spokesman at MacArthur's headquarters had described the continuing action as a battle of decision: "He (the enemy) must have a decision quickly."

Very Little Change

Except for "slight adjustments," no appreciable change in the curving 200-mile mountainous front was reported in the 24-hour period up to about noon Saturday.

A powerful North Korean attack, begun early Friday against the 24th Infantry Regiment, made a "slight penetration" in American lines. But MacArthur reported the ground was regained in the U.S. counter-thrusts.

A rifle company had been cut off in the central sector, but it was relieved by the counter-attacks.

MacArthur said the 1st Cavalry Division had "taken care of" a number of Rers who infiltrated the line.

South Koreans Holding

In the north-east sector of the front, three South Korean divisions were engaged in heavy fighting. Slight gains for the defenders were reported from the Hamchang sector, 28 miles northeast of Hwanggan, to a point south of Yongdok, on the east coast.

In the south and southwest, American road blocks stopped Red columns at Punggye, at a point 10 miles west of Kochang and a point near Anui. Anui is about midway between the south coast and the Hwanggan sector.

Air reconnaissance showed that the Reds had pushed into Kochang. That's about 38 miles south of Hwanggan and some 75 miles west of Pusan.

Meanwhile, Allied airpower ranged nearly the length of the peninsula, bombing and strafing enemy targets.

One U.S. B-26 was shot down by anti-aircraft fire, crashing near Chongju behind Red lines in the central sector. It was firing rockets at six Communist tanks when it was hit.

Navy planes set seven Red-held villages ablaze. Superfortresses and light bombers struck at 15 major targets in Central and North Korea. Their attacks were concentrated on supply arteries.

Not All Dynamite Used By Army Korean Favorite Dish Powerful

WASHINGTON. D.C., July 29. — American rations supplied Uncle Sam's fighters in Korea may seem outlandish to the natives of that embattled peninsula. But the Yanks in turn can also say of Korean fare that "home cooking was never like this."

A favorite dish of the Koreans is a concoction called kimchi, notes the National Geographic Society. It is made largely of Chinese cabbage, with additions of fish, onions, garlic and red pepper. Gastronomic dynamite, this relish is guaranteed, as one sampler put it, "to lift the top off a foreigner's head."

Housewives prepare giant-sized batches of kimchi at a time. In yards outside Korea's mud and thatched homes, huge jars, big enough to hide a man, often hold a winter's store, growing more powerful with age.

Exotic Touches

Less violent combinations that give exotic touches and add diversity to the Korean table are many pickled dishes. Around a central bowl of rice at a party dinner, for instance, may be a half dozen or more smaller bowls of pickled pine nuts, cabbages, turnips, maple leaves, mushrooms, and beans sprinkled with millet seeds.

Curiously enough, in view of other Chinese influences, tea is almost unknown. Once widely cultivated, it was abandoned by Koreans centuries ago in favor of such beverages as rice water flavored with orange peel, and a spicy drink brewed from ginger and dried ginseng. Another popular drink, served during the New Year season, is made of wild honey and fruit juices, with floating pine nuts.

But for all its tasty accessories and red-pepper accents, the basic Korean diet is sharply limited for the majority of the people, both in variety and amount. Desserts are rare and reserved for holiday occasions.

Rice Scarce

Rice is the preferred staple, but it is relatively scarce, even in normal times, despite the large quantities cultivated on paddy and dry fields.

Along with rice, millet is widely favored by Koreans, and both are supplemented by other grains and numerous vegetables and fruits grown on the tiny and primitively operated farms.

Many of the peninsula's fruits are known in the West, but except for the large and flavorful Korea persimmon, most of these fruits seem rather tasteless to foreigners —the result of the country's excessive rainfall during the wet summer season.

Have Little Meat

Koreans have little meat- conserving their few cattle for heavy field work. Some underprivileged pigs and chickens and occasionally dogs are raised for food. On the other hand, fish, including shrimps, clams, oysters, sardines, crabs, cod, and abalones, from an important item of diet. Special Korean treats are seaweed and sea slugs, plus whale meat, when the sea mammals are available.

Meals are served at small and low individual tables. There are no chairs, the diners sitting cross legged on the floor. Table implements are covered copper and brass bowls of many sizes, chopsticks, and long-handled spoons.

Wanted—Leopard To Kill Baboons

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — Africa needs more leopards. Experts say unless the leopard population can be built up again, baboons and bush-pigs will become a major menace to agriculture.

In the Gambia colony in West Africa experts estimate it will take "well over 50 years" to restore the balance of nature after heavy killing of leopards for their skins.

"It has been realized, perhaps too late," said one "that leopards have provided the only effective means in the animal kingdom of keeping the dog-faced baboons in check."

At present many tons of various crops are being destroyed every year by these raiders.

In the north eastern Transvaal, bush-pigs are creating havoc in the corn fields. Leopards, even farmers feel, would be a lesser menace.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP) — Grain prices eased at the opening on the Board of Trade today, wheat and soybeans dropping for losses extending to more than a cent.

Wheat opened ⅛-⅜ lower, September $2.26½-¾, corn was unchanged to ¾ lower, September $1.52¼-⅜, oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, September 77¾, and soybeans were unchanged to 1½ lower, November $2.64-$2.63½.

Dutch Girl 13 Disowns Parents In Singapore

SINGAPORE, July 29 (Reuters) —Bertha de Hartogh, 13-year-old Dutch girl, who lived for eight years in the jungle in Javanese and Malay villages, Friday night was reunited with her Malay foster-mother.

The court of appeal earlier in the day set aside a previous order that Bertha be restored to her natural parents in the Netherlands.

Tonight Bertha ran into the outstretched arms of her foster-mother, Aminah, in a reunion flooded with tears of happiness while Aminah repeated her Malayan name, Nadeera (Light).

Earlier Bertha had received a letter from her mother in Holland describing her sisters and brothers there and saying they were looking forward to Bertha's return. But Bertha said she will remain with Aminah.

Father Perplexed

At Bergen-op-Zoom, Holland, her father, a former sergeant, said he was most perplexed when he heard of the court's decision.

"I do not see how it is possible for the court to keep our child away from us," he told reporters. "If necessary I am prepared to go to Singapore myself to get her back. Meanwhile, we are considering asking the Dutch Government to mediate in the matter."

During the last two months, Bertha, who fled with Aminah into the jungle when the Japanese invaded Malaya in 1942, has been in the care of the Singapore Government Social Welfare Department. Aminah had appealed against the earlier court order.

When the court ordered Bertha's return to her parents, the girl refused to be parted from the woman she had called mother for eight years. She also said she had been brought up a Moslem and did not want to become a Christian.

One of six children of the former army sergeant, Bertha lived with Aminah while her parents were interned by the Japanese. On their release in 1945 they asked Dutch authorities to discover her whereabouts.

A district officer who had heard of a fair-haired, blue-eyed girl living in a remote district, discovered Bertha several months ago. She was living Malaya-style could not use a knife, fork or spoon and spoke only Malayan.

Three Suffered Minor Injuries

Three people were injured, none seriously, in city accidents Friday afternoon and evening. Worst of the injuries was a fractured ankle, suffered by William McCarthy, 106 Princess St., foreman at Dewart Milling Co.

O. R. Ormond, 206 Stewart St., suffered possible fractured ribs Friday night when his motorcycle and a car driven by Berdean Garside, 980 Western Ave., collided at Aylmer and Charlotte Sts.

Mrs. S. Galley, 178 Douro St., suffered a bruised left side Friday afternoon when she was struck a glancing blow by a car driven by P. W. Hartley, 444 Rogers St. The accident occurred at Parkhill Rd. and Water St.

Mr. McCarthy was injured when he stepped accidentally into a grain hopper set in the floor at the mill.

X-rays were taken of Mr. Ormond, but no report had been made this morning. He was riding his motorcycle east on Charlotte St., and was partway across Aylmer St. when the west-bound auto driven by Mr. Garside turned south in front of him.

Mr. Ormond also suffered bruised hands, and scrapes and bruises on his right leg above the knee.

Slight damage was done to a truck and a car Friday evening when they collided at Reid and Murray Sts.

Driver of the truck, Neil Harvery, 206 Dublin St., told police he was driving south of Reid St., and as he passed Murray St., an east-bound auto driven by Alvin Snowden, 225 Lake St., came out of Murray St. and hit the right rear of the truck.

Minor damage was done Friday night to the rear of a car owned by W. J. Hickey, Omemee, when it was struck on the rear by a car driven by W. G. Grozell, 170 William St., Lindsay.

Mr. Hickey had stopped for the traffic light at Sherbrooke St. when Mr. Grozell's car came up behind.

Thousands Riot

Another battalion of troops was reported to have been ordered into coal-mining sections of Hainaut province and the strikebound cities of Charleroi and Mons.

The demonstrators in Brussels finally broke up before the Royal Opera House but they arranged to meet again tonight.

The port of Antwerp was virtually paralyzed as men working the locks between the docks and the river Scheldt went on strike. Rail traffic was at a standstill in many parts of the country. International trains were stalled at Liege and other points. Some were rerouted through Flanders.

The troops will probably be used to protect power station and steel works.

The Governor of Brabant Province, which surrounds Brussels, ordered the army to take over power stations and telephone exchanges.

An order forbidding more than three persons to gather together in the streets was expected in all the strike-affected provinces.

Blow Up Bridge

A bridge linking two docks at the great Flemish port of Antwerp was blown up, blocking the channel.

The capital's power plants were on reduced production and more than half the city was without public utilities.

Max Buset, leader of the Socialist party, said he had been summoned to an audience with the King at Laeken Palace but had refused to go.

"I will only go when I know in advance that I will come out with the results you want," he told a meeting of strikers. "Belgium is a democracy which no longer accepts a King of the old kind."

What the workers want from Leopold is nothing less than his agreement he will abdicate.

The only news from Laeken, where the King has been since his return from Switzerland, was that he has chosen his personal secretariat.

Anti - Leopold mobs surged through the streets of Brussels and other large cities Friday, attacking street cars, taxis and stores operating despite a strike call. Socialist leaders, leading the drive against the King, said 500,000 workers were on strike.

Troops today began protecting vital communications installations to relieve police for service in the streets. There were unconfirmed reports Belgium was calling back occupation troops from Germany as civil strife ripped the country.

Russia Speeds Buying

SINGAPORE, July 28—(Reuters)—The Russians are heavily increasing their buying and shipping of Malayan rubber, Singapore dealers said today. Next month two Russian ships from Odessa are due to carry 7,000 tons each. Rubber shipments to Russia from Malaya in the last six months amounted to 34,662 tons, making Russia the third largest rubber buyer after the United States and Britain.

Youth 17, Held On Liquor Count

James Ayotte, 17, 600 Chamberlain St., is in cells today, charged with careless driving and obtaining liquor while under 21. Justice of the Peace James Fleming remanded Ayotte in custody to Monday.

Friday night, in response to a call, PC D. Andrew found Ayotte sitting in an auto at Park and Sherbrooke Sts., trying to start it. He smelled strongly of liquor and told the officer he had 12 pints of beer during the evening.

Mrs. Vera A. Young, 334 Dalhousie St., told the officer a car similar to Ayotte's had run up on the sidewalk and very nearly hit her.

Seek New Market In America For NZ Produce

By J. C. GRAHAN

CHRISTCHURCH, NZ (CP)

Farmers' leaders in New Zealand are urging the conclusion of agreements with the United States similar to those made by Canada to spread out shipments of produce over periods mutually agreed upon to avoid flooding markets.

New Zealand farm leaders are convinced that the Dominion must find new markets for her produce, especially lamb, butter and cheese. They dislike having all their eggs in one basket. With Britain taking nearly all the output. They also think new markets are essential if New Zealand is to keep expanding production.

They are convinced that North America offers by far the most promising market. Farmers see in sales to the United States and Canada a useful source of dollars and they consider that the rapidly-growing population should offer a continuously expanding market.

Need Goodwill

As a first step, however, they think it essential to get the goodwill of North American farmers. For this reason the president of the New Zealand Federated Farmers, W. N. Perry, is urging the sending of a goodwill mission to discuss the possible development of markets.

Perry says that unles the goodwill of powerful primary producing organizations is assured, New Zealand will find it hard to maintain trade with America. He suggests to avoid flooding markets that New Zealand, should aim at arrangements with the U.S. similar to those made by Canada.

Police Advise Thugs Move On

WINNIPEG (CP) — "Keeping 'em moving" is the policy of Winnipeg cops.

Veteran officers say there was a time when Winnipeg was the rendezvous of wanted criminals from all parts of Canada and the northwestern United States.

But no more, they say. Detectives keep close tab on all arrivals, advise them to "move on."

Those who disregard this advice are taken in custody and given the choice of leaving town or serving a possible six-month stretch for vagrancy.

The transient criminal element is kept under observation by a daily check on cheap rooming houses and third-rate hotels. Pawn shops are regularly visited.

Chief Constable Charles McIver said the Winnipeg method has come in for some criticism in the courts and from police departments in other cities.

Stock Prices Climb Slowly For 2nd Week

By FRANK KAPLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock prices have advanced for the second week.

However, the upturn was mild. A strong recovery movement the previous week pulled a wide list of leaders strongly ahead as the market attempted a recovery from sharp breaks after the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Investors had a breather last week and this week, and settled down to evaluate current conditions resulting from the situation in Korea.

President Truman's proposed armament program and tax increases were being analyzed closely by streeters.

The so-called "war stocks" attracted more attention but traders were wary, waiting to see how taxes would affect earnings. Many expect some type of excess-profits taxation and some government controls.

Day-to-Day Basis

Observers say that much of the trading is on a day-to-day basis. Investors are loath to commit themselves to any rigid policy.

In New York, rails held the limelight in a brisk market Monday. Announcement of the proposed tax increases stopped a Tuesday rally and prices moved irregularly Wednesday. Steel and auto stocks climbed Thursday and yesterday. General Motors was in the spotlight yesterday on news of record profits for the second quarter of the year.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed the five day's trading at 75.2, a gain of .4 from the previous Friday.

Canadian market reflected the firmer Wall Street movements. The United States armament plans gave base metals a strong push. It is expected that the U.S. will need from Canada increased quantities of such metals as lead, zinc, copper, nickel and aluminum.

UN REHEARSAL — World problems head the agenda as these young westerners conduct a special rehearsal in Montreal for their mock session at the United Nations Security Council next week. Representatives of the Alberta section of the United Nations Association of Canada, they are en route to Washington for a chat with President Truman and will present him with a 10-gallon hat. None of them are older than 16.

Baptist Sunday School Enjoys Annual Picnic

HAVELOCK, July 29 (ENS)—Havelock Baptist Mission held a Sunday School picnic Wednesday at Chard's Bridge. The day was sunny and bright and games and races were enjoyed.

There were running races for the children and novelty races and relays for the adults. There were a good many laughs when the ladies were driving the nail in the board, hitting everything but the nail.

There was also a contest to see which one could make the best costume out of newspapers. This was won by Mrs. McGowan who dressed Marjory Vilneff as a Dutch girl. A cup and bottle relay was won by team captained by Mrs. B. Smith. Each child received chocolate bars, life-savers or suckers.

Approximately 41 people sat down to a meal. There was an abundance of food and the children enjoyed the ice cream and chocolate milk along with their suppers.

The evening was concluded with a ball game.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Canada may have an entry in the world championship basketball tournament in Buenos Aires next October.

Indications are, however, that it will be the Vancouver Clover Leafs and not the Canadian champions—Young Men's Hebrew Association of Montreal.

The reason, as outlined in Vancouver, is two-fold. First, the Clover Leafs, past champions, have the $15,000 necessary to ship a team to South America. They're sponsored by a rich Vancouver cannery.

The other reason is that the YMHA squad probably won't be available anyway because of plans for a trip to Israel in October.

Seven baseball fans were injured—one seriously—when a portion of the grandstand roof at Briggs Stadium in Detroit collapsed during Friday night's game between Philadelphia and the Tigers. The part that fell was a heavy piece of steel which toppled into the upper deck of the grandstand as several hundred spectators screamed and scrambled for safety.

It still looks like the Australians and the United States for the Davis Cup finals.

The Aussies, with Frank Sedgman and John Bromwich carrying the load, swept singles matches of the American zone finals from Mexico in Mexico City yesterday. They need one more victory to take the series.

Winner of the Australia-Mexico series will meet the winner of the European zone final, which Sweden leads 2-0 over Denmark.

The South African links artist moved into a tie with Ken Bousfield in the 90-hole North British tournament at Harrogate, England, Friday with a 279 after 72 holes. The fifth and final round will be held today. Locke shot a 69 to pull up to Housfield.

Toronto-born Dick Fowler, plagued by bursitis, is heading for his home in Oneonta, N. Y. for the rest of the season.

Ada Mackenzie, veteran Toronto golfer, will captain Ontario's team in the women's interprovincial team matches at Winnipeg Aug. 18-19. The choice was announced in Toronto Friday. Other members of the team are Anne Sharp of Welland and Mrs. J. H. McCarter and Mrs. J. B. Seawright, both of Toronto.

Odds-on favorites in the featured stakes met with disaster at Thorncliffe Raceway in Toronto Friday, Malcolm Hanover, favorite in the fourth and seventh races nearly ruined his faithful supporters.

In the fourth, the speedy Malcolm broke stride going down the back stretch and lost much ground. Driver Vic Rowntree got him pacing but just when he was moving to the leaders Malcolm Hanover overreached himself and broke stride again. He finished sixth.

In the seventh, he broke badly, never really reached contention although he finished a distant third to Blacklock and Leyte.

Blacklock also had won the fourth, paying $12.65. The same horse paid $6.10 when he just caught the flying Leyte in the final stride.

Individual driving star of the afternoon was Harold Wellwood, who scored another double. He took the third with Mr. Oakley, owned by the powerful Wes Litt Stable of Stratford. Wellwood also took the sixth with Carlisle Hanover, owned by A. P. McNiven, of Ecorse, Mich.

Bethany Girls Win 28-13 From Yelverton

BETHANY, July 29—(ENS)—Bethany girls crossed the plate 14 times in the fourth inning to give them a healthy lead to defeat Yelverton Thursday night 28-13. Milligan started on the mound for Bethany and was relieved by Mantle in the third. Yelverton started three pitchers, McGill, Mairs and B. Kerr.

Batting honors went to Audrey Mulligan with a homer and a triple, Evelyn Mantle a homer, and Cristella Rowan, a triple, all accounting for the large score in the fourth inning when the bases were loaded.

Line-ups:

Yelverton—McGill, Mairs and B. Kerr, p; G. Kerr, c; Cain, 1b; M. Kerr, 2b; Mairs and B. Kerr, 3b; E. Malcom, ss; Shea, lf; E. Kerr, cf; W. Malcom, rf.

Oil Pipeline Half Done Officials Say

WINNIPEG, July 29—(CP)—A steel-skinned serpent is burrowing through 1,190 miles of prairie to carry Alberta oil to the vast oil markets of Eastern North America.

Officials of the Interprovincial Pipeline Company report that trenching, welding, pipe-laying and trench-filling operations are almost half completed. They started this spring.

The aim is to connect Alberta wells with a lakehead outlet at Superior, Wis., from there the crude oil will be shipped to refineries at Sarnia, the 20-inch and 16-inch pipeline, at a cost of $90,000,000 will deliver oil at one-third to one-quarter of present railway freight rates.

A 75-mile spur line connecting refineries at Winnipeg with Gretna, Man., a pumping station near the international border, was begun Friday. Southern Manitoba's spring floods delayed that $2,500,000 project.

Expect Lower Price

Among advantages claimed for this "glorified plumbing" are a lower price for petroleum products, a consequent increase in demand, and a resultant impetus to costly research for new fields. Western oil in eastern markets will also save United States dollars ($90,000,000 last year).

Present production potential of Alberta fields is about double prairie demand, and greater than prairie refining capacity.

The line was first envisaged as a 480-mile feeder from Edmonton to Regina, then, in 1948, the Redwater field boomed northeast of Edmonton and production jumped by 50,000 barrels daily.

Imperial Oil engineers and financiers fathered the I.P.C., drafted its route, and arranged financial backing in Canada and the U.S. They decided to pipe eastward to the Great Lakes, Atlantic and possibly European markets, instead of west to British Columbia and the Pacific.

Famous Old Buffalo Wallow Training Spot For Sailors

By JACK SCOTT

REGINA, Sask. — Scratch the hide of a man who has once had white canvas catching a wind over his home and you'll find a sailor.

Which is by way of introduction to some notes on one of the strangest yacht clubs in our land and our first experience at sailing some 1,500 miles from the ocean.

Hard by the Saskatchewan legislative buildings there's a serene pond known as Wascana Lake. In the early days the lake was a slough and famous as a buffalo wallow. Wascana, I'm told by an unreliable party, is a phonetic spelling for the Indian name meaning "many bones." As such, it's unique. Every other Indian place name we've encountered seems to mean "meeting of the waters."

Just in passing I might mention that Regina was originally know as "Pile O' Bones" because of the large number of buffalo skeletons that littered the area. The name was changed in 1882 (or thereabouts) when the CPR reached the spot. Personally, I think it was a mistake. Medicine Hat and Moose Jaw never changed their names, although it must have been a sore temptation.

Anyhow, a few years ago, when the last of the buffalo had cleared out, the slough was made into an artificial lake, fed by a small creek, and with a couple of artificial islands. It is a quiet little liver-shaped body of water about a mile long, girded by a nice green park.

It is on this that the Regina sailors bravely go through the motions of making like seafarers.

In The Grass

The club house is on one of the lake's artificial islands. When we dropped in there, lured by the sight of white sails fluttering in the breeze (off the prairie), we found much the same atmosphere of yacht clubs the world over.

Two young men in dungarees and white sweat shirts with the club's name stencilled across their chests, were standing at a window of the spacious clubhouse. They were discussing the breeze as if they were heading on a weekend cruise.

We inquired about renting a boat and one of the members volunteered to sail us down to the other end of the pond where, as he put it, there was a "livery."

Our skipper, at the tiller of his 16-footer, was all business. He kept looking up at the dome of the government buildings with a crucial eye and I realized finally he was watching the Union Jack to see if there were any changes in the breeze.

The little sloop slipped along right nice, hampered only by the fact that we appeared to be sailing through grass. A green weed grows in patches in the lake and tends to cut down your speed. As we neared the lake-end, a strange, flat-bottomed tub came briskly by, propelled by stern-wheeler paddles and loaded with sightseers. Name on the bow was "Queen Mary."

were to rent our craft, the wind

Near the boathouse where we disappeared entirely. "Bad sailing in here," our skipper explained professionally. "Parliament buildings take your wind away."

The idea of sailing in this confined area struck both Brown Eyes and me as pretty hilarious, but our friend was so intent on his handling of the boat and clearly having so much fun from it, we made no remarks. A sailor is a sailor on land or sea or grass. He does not lightly accept humorous comment about his passion.

Margo-Lynne

Renting a boat at the "livery" was a more difficult job than I'd expected. When we asked for a sailboat the man on the desk looked at us as if we'd called for a submarine. "I'll have to call the boss on this," he said.

The boss appeared and gave us a third degree. How much experience had we had sailing? I said we'd been sailing around Vancouver for 20-odd years. "Lake sailing's a little different," the boss said, but after further questioning finally agreed to trust us.

We then filled out forms swearing we knew how to paddle a boat and how to swim, and the boss led us down to the tiny wharf and Margo-Lynne, a gaff-rigged bathtub with about four inches of rain water in her and obviously in service long before the first buffalo was on the scene. There were

Four Boys Drive 2,500 Miles On Four-Day Round Trip

HAVELOCK, July 29—(ENS)—Four Havelock boys, Robert Watson, James Thompson, James Chase and Kenneth Nobes, returned in the early hours of Friday morning from a motor trip to Campbellton, New Brunswick, having travelled 2,500 miles in four days, their route taking them round the Gaspe peninsula.

The boys made the trip in Robert Watson's car and 87 gallons of gasoline were used for the journey. They report that the expenses were light as the transportation cost to each one was only $10. They are enthusiastic about the Quebec scenery, especially the hills and cliffs.

Although the journey was done in quick time, the boys crammed an immense amount of sight-seeing into it, taking only two nights off for sleep, one in their tent and the other, when it was raining, in a cabin.

On the return trip, when they passed Dorval airport, they saw the squadron of North Star transport planes warming up for their journey to Korea.

Rains Every Day

There was only one drawback to the trip and that was rain. It rained every day and night. Quebec, they were told, had experienced a drought so the rain was a welcome relief there.

The boys started their journey the shrine at Ete. Anne De Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec City, neat little placards on her warning us to hang on to the boat and call loudly for help "in the event of emergency."

It took some ponderous oaring with Margo-Lynne's floor-boards (no paddle being available) to get the two hundred yards across the lake, and I dropped my $10 sunglasses into the depths trying to get the weeds off the old girl's tiller, but it WAS a sail, and if the government buildings could just be moved there'd be a nice breeze there.

You are less apt to make sport of Regina's little sailing fleet when you learn how many boys went from this prairie pond to sail in Canadian ships of war. Fair breezes to you, mates.

at 8 a.m. on Monday, visiting Beaupre, returning to Quebec City for night, which they spent in their tent. On Tuesday morning they crossed the St. Lawrence river and continued their journey on its southern shore, spending the night in the tiny fishing village of Mont St. Pierre. Another spot that particularly interested them was tha towns of Gaspe and Perce.

Wade To Perce Rocks

At Perce James Thompson and James Chase waded out at low tide to Perce Rock in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. This rock is now a sanctuary for seagulls.

From there they continued on Wednesday to Matapedia and here they decided to drive to Campbellton, N.B., where they had supper at 10 p.m. They started back to Matapedia about midnight and crossed the peninsula to Mount Joli about 4 a.m. on Thursday. After a rest of two hours, they continued on their way, reaching Quebec City at noon.

Drive To Ontario

From there they drove non-stop through Three Rivers and Montreal to Hawkesbury, Ontario, stopping for supper at 10 p.m. on Thursday. The balance of the journey was done non-stop via Ottawa, reaching home at 3 a.m. on Friday, tired but full of enthusiasm about their trip and with souvenirs for their families.

Drop Charges Against Five Baptists

MONTREAL, July 29 —(CP)—Charges against five arrested Baptist evangelists in northwestern Quebec have been dropped, John R. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer of the Union of Regular Baptist Churches in Quebec and Ontario, said here Friday night.

The five were arrested last Saturday night at La Sarre, Que., during a street-corner meeting and were charged with illegal assembly and causing a disturbance.

Mr. Armstrong said he had been advised by Dr. Murray Heron, pastor of the Noranda, Que., Baptist Church and a member of the Union's Board, that the La Sarre Town Council Friday agreed to free the men, pay all court costs and guarantee police protection for future open air evangelical meetings.

Five Arrested

The five arrested were Leslie G. Barnhart, 37, pastor of the Bonne Nouvelle Baptist Church near La Sarre; Maurice Boiliat, 24, professor of French at the Central Baptist Seminary in Toronto; Lloyd Carr, 20, a student at the seminary; Alphonse Cloutier, 40, a La Sarre farmer; and Noel Rasignol, a La Sarre welder.

Ten were arrested when La Sarre residents broke up the street corner gathering by shoving the group from the street. Five were released without charges.

The five still under charges were held in the Amos, Que., jail near La Sarre.

Mayor F. X. Martel of La Sarre was unable to attend the council meeting, held in nearby Noranda, Que., because he is dangerously ill.

The Diminishers At Work

In an editorial which we published last Monday about the death of Mackenzie King we said that his reputation as a statesman would probably suffer a rapid decline, and that it would be fifty years before it would be possible to see him in proper perspective in the history of this country. This was an easy prediction to make, for it is true of almost all great men in every sphere; as soon as they are dead the diminishers get to work, discovering where they failed, what they left undone, what they neglected to foresee and forestall, and how their personal shortcomings affected their public work. By the time the diminishers have done with him, a great public figure looks pretty small. We knew that the diminishers would not be long in getting to work on Mackenzie King.

* * *

We hardly expected, however, that they would be busy before the man was in his grave. To The New Statesman and Nation of London, England, belongs the honour of getting in first with its discovery that Mr. King, though leader of a party called Liberal, was not really a "liberal" in the sense in which the N. S. & N. understands that word. They admit that he was an important Commonwealth statesman, but not a man who cared much for civil liberties or labour organization.

* * *

The article in the N. S. & N. is not an attack on Mr. King; it is one of those "appraisals" which are so much more deadly. It is not the modern fashion to attack a man bodily; it is so much more effective to disparage him. It is the technique of disparagement which is chiefly used by the diminishers nowadays in dealing with eminent persons. It may be said that in his long career as a statesman Mr. King did much to procure the complete liberty of this country; the Statute of Westminster owed a lot to his advice and thought. It may also be said that as Prime Minister he saw many great social advances brought about in this country, of which Family Allowances was only one. But these things would not make him a "liberal" to the N. S. & N., in which the word "Liberal" must mean "socialist intellectual", or it means nothing.

* * *

We do not attach much importance to the article in the N. S. & N. for that paper is habitually ill-informed about Canadian affairs. Twice or thrice a year it publishes an article from an anonymous Canadian correspondent which reveals a strangely slanted and selective view on our national politics. But we think it is interesting that the diminishers have set about their work so quickly, in order to prove to us that we were mistaken all the time and that Mackenzie King, who seemed to us to bulk so largely in Canadian affairs, was really an inconsiderable person, lacking in that majestic vision and true liberalism which of course distinguishes the diminishers themselves.

Great, Yes,—But "Incomparably"?

On July 24 five thousand Welshmen gathered at Newtown, in Montgomeryshire, to do honour to Robert Owen, the great Welsh socialist reformer who was born there in 1771, and who returned there to die in 1858. The guest of honour was the Colonial Secretary in the Labour Government, Mr. James Griffiths, who described Owen as "incomparably the greatest Welshman ever born".

Such a statement deserves examination. There have been many remarkable Welshmen, and to say that one of them stands head and shoulders above the rest is to court disagreement. Who was the greatest Welshman ever born? Owen Glendower has some claim to that title, though others might think that King Henry VII of England deserved it; we have even heard Henry VIII acclaimed as a great Welshman. And there are many others who would put up a good case for Oliver Cromwell, or for Henry Vaughan the poet, or for David Lloyd George. And there are many others, not so well known to the English-speaking world, whose claim to greatness is sound—Prince David, Prince Llewellyn, Owain ap Gwenwynwyn and a throng of poets, from Taliesin of old to Dylan Thomas of our day. Was Robert Owen "incomparably" greater than the best of these?

Owen was indisputably a great man, and an idealist who laid out a fortune in the hope that he might make his ideal come true. He was a great industrialist, who was manager of a large cotton-spinning plant when he was 19. There were about 2,000 people working under him, of whom 500 were children. Owen arranged that they should live well, save money, and get some education. Later, when he was manager of a works of his own, he expanded his scheme, giving the children of his workers, and the children who worked for him, an education as good, in all important respects, as children receive today. Later he experimented by establishing a large number of workers in a model community in New Harmony, in Indiana, but this costly experiment failed to succeed. Owen was the father of the co-operative movement, and many of his ideas for social reform are embodied in socialist doctrine today. It must be pointed out, however, that he was a great lover of freedom, and certainly did not foresee the limitations of freedom which appear to be part of socialism at present. Nor would he have liked the restrictions which modern socialism puts upon individual enterprise.

Part of the failure of Owen's plans to succeed in his own day may be attributed to the fact that he held, and expressed, unconventional ideas about religion, and was accused of being an atheist. His friends were among the workers and the aristocracy; Queen Victoria's father was among his warmest supporters; the middle class was against him, almost to a man. But Owen was a person of uncommon charm of manner, and few who met him personally could resist him.

The Price Of Meat

We have not said much in these columns about the rise in the price of meat during recent months, for there seemed to be nothing to say. The price of beef is up because Canadian beef can be sold very profitably in the U.S.A., and if we want it, we must pay something like the U.S. price. This is a state of affairs long familiar to newspapers, for if we want Canadian newsprint we have to pay the New York price for it, although the newsprint we use never goes near New York. Canada is far from being a self-sufficient country, and everybody knows that many of the prices which we pay for our own produce are dictated by the U.S. demand.

It is a curious situation, however, when veal costs more than chicken. Veal used to be called "poor man's chicken". If the present situation continues—and there seems little reason to think that it will abate—chicken may be known as the poor man's veal.

Don't Give Way to Polio Panic

This is the time of year when poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, generally makes its appearance and parents of small children and young people who are responsible for their own health do well to give heed to any of the petty ailments which precede it, if these do not yield to ordinary treatment. But we would caution particularly against undue dread of polio; we would caution particularly against any curtailment of healthy outdoor sports. Summer is the time for play, and healthy play will probably do as much as anything else to keep polio at a distance. Public health authorities will give prompt warning if any swimming pool seems to be a source of infection, and until such warning is given the best plan is to forget about polio altogether.

Polio is a spectacular disease which often leaves lifelong disabilities behind it. No cure for it has yet been discovered, but diagnosis is quicker than it used to be, and treatment is better. A fact which is not given enough consideration is that many children have polio and recover from it little the worse. Some very able men are at work on this problem, and we must have faith that they will find a cure for polio sooner or later, as they have found cures for so many other ailments which were, within living memory, terrifying scourges of childhood.

Nothing is gained by being frightened of a disease, and by living as though the disease were imminent. Fear is perhaps the worst and most destructive disease of all.

Court-House Corner Stone Laid 1838

(From the History by Dr. Poole, 1867)

ON the 21st day of August, 1838, John Reid, Esq., P.L.S., reported to the (Building) Committee (of the new Colborne District) in reference to a survey of the Government appropriation of ground for a Court house, &c., which consisted in all of seven acres, lots Nos. 5, 6 and 7 of which would be required for the intended buildings. The foundation had not been excavated, and the grounds were still covered with brush and fallen trees, when it became known that His Excellency, Sir George Arthur, Lieut.-Governor of Upper Canada, was about to visit Peterborough.

As it was desirable that the foundation-stone should be laid by so distinguished a personage, Mr. Scobell was requested, by resolution, "to open about six feet of ground," and "have placed on the spot one load of stone," to admit of this ceremony being performed. The chairman was instructed to solicit this favour through His Excellency's secretary on his arrival, and "should he consent," the Rev. Mr. Wade was "to be requested to offer a short blessing on the success of the undertaking."

HIS Excellency cheerfully consented, but his time being limited, the Committee met at their room at 6.30 o'clock on the morning of the 25th August, 1838, waited upon the Governor at 7, and at 7.30 o'clock a.m., His Excellency and suite, accompanied by the Building Committee, proceeded to the ground, and in the presence of numerous spectators laid the corner stone of the new buildings. The official ceremony over, the Rev. C. T. Wade, M.A., offered up an impressive and appropriate prayer.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE following articles were placed by His Excellency beneath the stone, in the foundation of the south-west corner.

A Parchment Scroll

ON THE 25TH DAY OF AUGUST, AD. 1838
HIS EXCELLENCY,
MAJOR-GENERAL SIR GEORGE ARTHUR, K.C.H.,
Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada,
LAID THE FIRST STONE OF THESE BUILDINGS.

◇ ◇ ◇

THEN follows the names of the Building Committee, already mentioned in full. The following coins were also deposited:

A British shilling of reign of George IV., 1829
do sixpence do William IV, 1834 do penny do do 1831
do half-penny do do 1831

The lettering of the scroll was executed in elegant style by our townsman, Ivan O'Beirne, Esq.

◇ ◇ ◇

TENDERS were afterwards received from time to time for the erection and completion of the several parts of the Court House building and Jail, the entire cost of which, including alterations and extra work, amounted to £7190 15 7.

◇ ◇ ◇

DURING the progress of the work, meetings of the magistrates of the proposed district were several times held, to advise with and assist the Committee. Towards the close of the work, Ephraim Sanford, Esq., was appointed treasurer of the Committee in place of Mr. Duffy, who had removed from the Province; and D. Griffith, Esq., was appointed a member of the Building Committee.

THE walls and roofs of the Court House and Jail were completed in 1839, and the work on the interior of the Court House finished, and that building handed over to the Committee by C. Chamberlen, Esq., on the 16th day of November, 1840, but not finally accepted by them until the May following. The jail was not entirely finished until the summer of 1842, owing to a defect in the written agreement, by which the contractor, Mr. Edward Lee, claimed that the plastering was not included in his contract; and the season of 1841 was so far advanced when this became known, that the plastering of the Jail had to be deferred until the following spring.

AT length, on the 27th day of December, 1841, after upwards of three years of arduous duty, the Building Committee were finally relieved of their task. At a meeting of magistrates held that day, their accounts were examined and declared correct, and a vote of thanks was tendered "to the gentlemen composing the Building Committee, to their Treasurer and Secretary, for their indefatigable exertions in carrying the object of their appointment to completion."

A Matter Of Memory

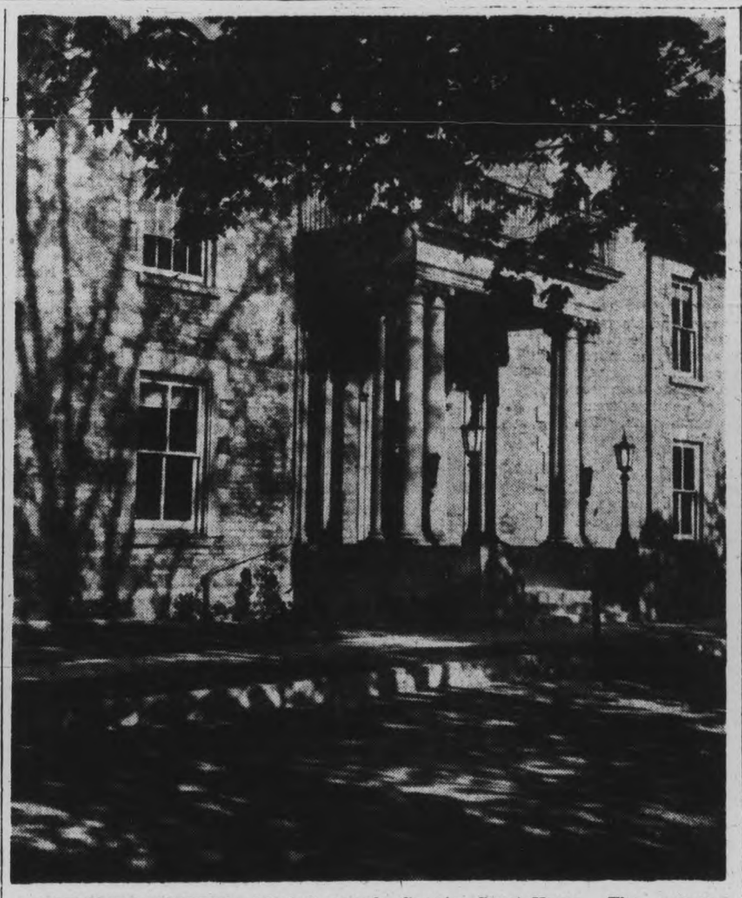
(Harold Nicolson in London Spectator)

The reason why, if I were again seven years of age, I should wish to devote my life to the study of human memory is that I want to discover what it is that makes some people so very good at remembering faces and other people so very bad.

Members of the ruling dynasties of Europe, who possess a congenital gift of visual recollection, can recall that a man who is presented to them in 1933 explained to them the working of the Stokes gun one morning at Chatham in 1916. I have known retired diplomatists who, without one moment's hesitation, will recognize a stout and bearded Argentine as the man who, twenty-five years ago, was a stripling attache in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs at Buenos Aires.

Yet I am capable of failing to recognize the person who was my neighbour at dinner on the night before. I pretend, of course, that this my inefficiency is due to the astigmatism from which I have suffered since childhood, an affliction which even the strongest glasses fail to mitigate. In my heart, however, I know that this is a lie. My affliction is caused, not by defective eyesight, but by some lesion in my brain.

Even as the habitual alcoholic will assume, in his rare interludes of sobriety, the slurred diction of the intoxicated—hoping that if he seems drunk when sober we shall think him sober when drunk—so also do I almost cut my intimates, hoping that if I assume an offhand manner when I do recognize them, they will conclude, when I fail to recognize them, that I am only being off-hand.



DIGNIFIED PORTICO of Peterborough County Court-House. The corner-stone of this well-proportioned stone building was laid at 7:30 o'clock on the morning of August 25th, 1838, by the Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, Major-General Sir George Arthur, K.C.H. (See Third Column).

Strange Forms of the King's English

(CALGARY HERALD)

THE other day, King George VI made an official tour of Cornwall. During the course of his travels, he was introduced to a young lady who was identified to him as the "county rodent operator".

"Rodent operator?" asked the King, reasonably. "What's that?"

"Oh, your Majesty," replied a county dignitary, "they used to be called rat-catchers."

The dispatches say that the King threw up his hands, saying "What will they think of next?"

His Majesty might well ask. "Rodent operator" is one of the later examples of the new tongue which bureaucrats throughout the English-speaking world are busily creating. In Toronto, garbage-men are "collectors of municipal waste."

We noticed another example the other day in a Manchester Guardian article describing the present status of that old, familiar figure, the British tramp.

It used to be, in the bad old days, that the English countryside was liberally sprinkled with edifices known as work-houses. That is precisely what they were; they were places where the indigent were put to work in return for their keep.

But as time went on, the world began to offend the susceptibilities of the uplifters, and they became known as Poor Law Institutions. The character of the places themselves was not changed; tramps still arrived at the gates every night, having negotiated the comfortable day's walk from the one they had left that morning. (Workhouses were usually seven to 10 miles apart.) They were taken in; sometimes, under protest, they were made to take a shower. The next day, they worked in the garden or at some other useful job and, after one more night in the place they had to leave. Thereupon, they walked to the next one.

But then the old Poor Law, which had been on the Statute Books since the reign of Queen Elizabeth, was replaced by a new Poor Law; only this time, because "Poor Law" was in some way offensive, it was called the Public Assistance Act. And the workhouses could no longer be called Poor Law Institutions. They became Public Assistance Institutions. Another victory was chalked up for Progress.

But all this time the dormitories where the tramps spent their nights were called "casual wards." The tramps never seemed to object to the nomenclature. (They objected to the shower-baths and the disinfectant far more.) But the self-appointed friends of the tramp decided that the term was an affront to human dignity.

They still have tramps in England. But they are no longer called tramps. Nor are the casual wards called casual wards. Instead, they are "Reception Centres for Persons Without a Settled Way of Living."

This means a change in the lyrics of at least one favourite folk-song. Henceforth, we shall have to sing: "Hallelujah! I'm a Person-Without-a-Settled-Way-of-Living."

Mr. Churchill Enjoys Himself

(Montreal Star)

Mr. Churchill's ceaseless campaign to maintain the English language in its classic form broke out in the midst of his speech last month on the Schuman Plan. He remarked:

"In this debate we have had the usual jargon about the infra-structure of a supranational authority. The original authorship is obscure. It may well be that these words infra and supra have been introduced into our current political parlance by the hand of intellectual highbrows who are naturally anxious to impress the British Labour movement with the fact that they learned Latin at Winchester. No one will wish to deny this old-school-tie contingent their modest indulgence in class self-consciousness."

It was not lost upon his audience that the school to which Sir Stafford Cripps owes his affection is Winchester.

Paging Mr. Smith

A card index containing 18,000,000 names—probably the biggest in the world — has been compiled by Britain's General Post Office to keep track of holders of National Savings Certificates. Included in the listings are 6,000 William Smiths, 5,500 John Smiths, 3,500 William Jones and 3,500 John Jones. But in spite of this, given a certificate holders' number, he can be traced in less than one minute.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgement is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me . . . And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape . . .

Search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me. (John 5: 30, 37, 39.)

◇ ◇ ◇

All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works. (II Tim. 3: 16, 17.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. (II Tim. 2: 15.)

Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine . . . But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry.

I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith . . . At my first answer no man stood with me, but all men forsook me: I pray God that it may not be laid to their charge. Notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear. (II Tim. 4: 2, 5, 7, 16, 17.)

Letter To The Editor

PETERBOROUGH TRAFFIC LIGHTS OUTMODED

Sir: Solution of the intersectional-pedestrian-motorist problem should present no great difficulty. Peterborough has simply outgrown its traffic lights.

Lights used in many cities have a "stop" and "go"—and three additional lights. One says "walk"—one a right turn arrow and the other a left turn arrow.

Turns are prohibited except when the arrow indicates permission.

The yellow "caution" light is eliminated as the "stop" is so synchronized that it is not needed.

Many motorists will avoid main interesections thus relieving congestion.

Present lights may be moved to other less congested intersections than where now located.

Thus everybody would be happy.

Yours truly,
J. H. VERNOR.

A BRITISH OPINION

"Suppose we ALL said we weren't going to do any more weeding until we saw who Won the War. What then?"

Progress of Peterborough: XXIX

Progress In The Townships Villages Sprout From Mills

(Ed. Note: Mr. Pammett will be in Peterborough in August for some time and would like to get in touch with any persons who have material particularly on the years 1850-1900, which would be of value to the history of Peterborough. Such persons might leave their names and addresses at the Examiner office.)

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Cavan in 1835 had 2,173 people, six schools and as many mills. Its Anglican missions were served by Rev. Thompson, and from 1833 by Rev. S. Armour, formerly of Peterborough, who also rode circuit into Emily and Ops. Rev. J. M. Roger of Peterborough from 1833 regularly held Presbyterian services in a log school on 10th concession until a church was built in 1847. Rev. A. Green of Cobourg recorded in his diary a Methodist Service he held at Gardner's Church in Cavan, Oct. 6-9, 1836: "This country is wonderfully improved since I travelled here 12 years ago . . Now rich farms appear in every direction, and in some instances the old log houses have given place to more comfortable dwellings." In 1933 over 150 descendants of Robert and Mary Willan, who arrived from England 1833, held a reunion on the homestead; this is only one of the families with pioneer roots.

Emily in 1835 had 1,095 people, and Ops 545. At Williamstown (later called Metcalfe and then Omemee) a post office was set up in 1835 by Josiah Hughes, a school begun under James Laidley, and an Anglican church built. In Ops, the Lindsay townsite was surveyed in 1834 near Purdy's Mills. The Purdy dam flooded 60,000 acres along the upper Scugog, destroying farms and causing a fever epidemic which killed a third of the people; in the summer of 1838 hundreds of farmers gathered with arms and axes, marched to the mill-dam, and hacked away part of it to release the water. A new government dam was then begun farther down the river, completed in 1844, with a lock having an eight-foot lift. Around Major Murphy's store and Britton's Tavern, started 1835, grew up a new village, which by 1840 had a score of homes.

Eldon in 1835 had 406 people, but the other townships on the upper lakes, Bexley, Fenelon, Verulam, Harvey, Burleigh and Methuen, were just beginning to attract settlers and lumbermen. A "New and Accurate Map of Upper Canada" in 1837 contained scores of errors in the Kawartha

When all is done, human life is, at the greatest and best, but like a froward child, that must be played with and humoured a little to keep it quiet till it falls asleep, and then the care is over.

SIR WILLIAM TEMPLE (1628-1699): Of Poetry and Music

region, and was quite blank north of the lakes, with the notation thereon "Imperfectly Known Except to Traders". Articles by 'Atticus' in a Cobourg paper 1831 described the wonderful scenery, fruits, fishing and hunting among the lakes, rapids, islands and rivers from Clear Lake to Sturgeon Lake; the letters of early gentry settlers publicized the Kawarthas also, and travellers from 1835 on were taken north by boat to picnic on the lakes as a 'tourist' attraction, faithfully recorded in their books. These writers knew that a chapter about a canoe-trip into "the Indian-infested wilds" would be of thrilling interest to British readers! Admiral Vansittart's settlement in Bexley on Balsam Lake 1834 has been mentioned, and Langton's on Sturgeon Lake in Fenelon township: other early Fenelon settlers were Wm. Jordan, James Cook, E. Palmer and D. S. Willock.

After 1840 came Moynes, McNabs, Browns, Gilchrists, Murchisons, and McNevins, of north Irish and Scottish Protestant stock. Hon. D. Cameron of Toronto, Family Compact politician and banker, was given large grants in Eldon, and in Fenelon the area around Cameron Lake; he sold lots to John Bellsford, John McIntyre, Jas. Humphrey, H. and S. Boyce, and Robt. Dennistoun (who in 1839 moved to Peterborough, married a daughter of Major Hamilton, studied law, and in 1868 was a Peterborough County Judge). In 1837 James Wallis and Robt. Jameson built a sawmill at Fenelon Falls (then called Cameron Falls), at which Need lamented "one of the loveliest scenes in the province would be destroyed"; four years later they bought land from Cameron on the left side of the falls and built a gristmill. Major McLaren helped Wallis run the mills, and took over when Wallis in 1840 moved to Peterborough.

In 1837 the Fenelon Falls store was described by Anne Langton "as good or better than any in Peterborough," and the same year a post office was opened at the store. Two years later a blacksmith settled there, a steamer was building, and an Anglican church was completed, served by Rev. C. T. Wade 1838-9 and Rev T. Fidler 1839-48.

Bobcaygeon grew in the same way: John Read surveyed a townsite for Need on the island, and the government had a townsite on the north bank of the rapids. Next year Need opened a store and post office on the site of a trading post used by an old Indian trader, Billy McKeough (or McQue) for many years; when Lt Governor Sir John Colborne visited Need in 1834, he named the new town Rokeby, but the name Bobcaygeon fortunately prevailed; Need feasted him on maskinonge, beaver-tails, partridges, squirrels, melons, plums, strawberries, apples and grapes. Need's sawmill completed in 1835 had a single upright saw, and his gristmill, added later, a single run of stones. In 1836 an Anglican church was built, where J. H. Taylor held Sunday classes, and the same year James McConnel built a frame tavern on the north bank, "The Travellers' Home"; five years later another inn was built on the site of the Rockland House. Need sold his store in 1842 to Campbell Sawers, and his mills in 1844 to Mossom Boyd, both of whom had been farming nearby for ten years.

In Verulam township, after it was surveyed in 1832, speculators seized much of the best land; the same year John Hunter, Wm. Bell, John McFeeters, Alex. McAndrew and Mr. and Mrs. Fraser settled, near Sturgeon Lake. In 1833 came Wm. Junkin, Matt. Ingram, John Stewart, the Grays, Murdochs, McConnells, Vissards, and Wickams. Rev. James Dunsford who came in 1838 with five daughters moved 1844 to Peterborough and edited the "Gazette," leaving his sons James and Hartley behind to set up a mill near Red Rock. South of Sturgeon Lake were the Darcases, Frasers, Johns and Thompsons, and in 1838 Anne Langton mentioned also Alex Daniel, Wm. Jones, Mr. Allen, Wm. Jordon, John Menzies and Ferguson Duke, as well as "the gentry." On the "Scotch Line" from Sturgeon to Emily Lakes were Capt. A. Fraser, the McDonald brothers, McPhails, Robertsons and other Scots.

West of Emily Creek were four families of Thurstons three families of Bells, also Kennedys, McCollums, Iretons, Flyns, Sherriffs and others. In Harvey, Abraham Nelles had 5,900 acres; we have noted Strickland's and Langton's comments on Dennistoun, Wallis and other young men who played at settling there. In Belmont, Charles Hayes, owner of the Marmora Iron Works, was granted 8,434 acres, thus hampering settlement. The first actual settler in Belmont was Robert Stewart, and in 1842 there were only 33 householders, the same year, Verulam and Harvey together had 68 householders. Methuen township was kept off the market by lumberman and had no actual settlers before 1850. Rubidge testified later that the northern townships, Bexley to Methuen, had 2,000 settlers in 1834, but actually even by 1840 they had not more than 500.

Smith in 1832 had 753 people in 116 households, 2,181 acres cultivated, 23 horses, 160 oxen, 375 cattle, assessed value $40,000, and taxes $155. A school under Francis Page was begun on I. Milburn's lot in 1831. Young built a dam to improve his Young's Point mills in 1835. Mrs. Thomas Robinson was celebrated through Smith as a midwife. Most of the people went to Peterborough churches or held home services, and the first church built was a Baptist chapel about 1840 on the Communication Road. The site of Bridgenorth was dense forest until William Valley built a tavern there in 1838, which changed hands four times in as many years.

Ennismore in early years did not progress due to difficult communication. In 1832 there were 160 people in 32 households, 188 acres cultivated, assessessed value $7,088, taxes only $34. Among its leading citizens were Pat Gallivan, postmaster, Cunningham a weaver, and Tom Cahill who fiddled for the dances.

Douro in 1832 had 571 people in 126 households, 990 acres cultivated, 9 horses, 82 oxen, 149 cattle, assessed value $21,312, taxes $102. Abel Perry kept a tavern on the Peterborough road; close by in 1832 Edward Kenedy began a cooper's shop. That same year Emma Kenedy, employed in Port Hope at $3 a month and board, walked home to Douro 42 miles carrying 14 lbs. wheat and 14 lbs. potatoes to be sown on her father's farm. Strickland in 1831 bought Lot 18 in Concession 7 and broken Lot 18 in Concession 8, getting title in 1836. His brother-in-law Rowlandson settled nearby, and Sam Copping, a blacksmith, bought 120 acres at 5s an acre two miles north. The Traills arrived 1832 and the Moodies 1833 as noted.

Need visited Strickland in July, 1833, mentioning that a sawmill was being built and a townsite laid out. "The site was well chosen and very beautiful, but no more so than my own." Strickland & Reid ran the sawmill, then it was Strickland & Hall. Mrs. Traill wrote in 1834: "A gristmill has just been raised at the new village that is springing up by an adventurous young Scotchman," and that a bridge had been put across the river to join the Smith road to Peterborough. The new village was called Nelson's Falls, then Herriot's Falls, then Selby. Rev. H. Wolseley settled there 1833 and held services in his house just below Grove Hill until his death in 1841. The mills burned down in the early '40s, and the village declined, until Z. Burnham bought a block of land from Mr. Bates, rebuilt the mill, laid

A sure sign of age, or something, is to keep harping on the good old days in our waterland playgrounds. But I would like to say a good word or two for the community campfires that used to be held several times each summer. They were impromptu things and would start off simply by someone in camp saying "How about a fire tonight?" That was enough to send the energetic young men off in empty skiffs to collect driftwood, cords of it, all day long, to pile it in a slender pyramid on some rocky point.

Every camper passing the pylon, and those away off who saw the signal in their field glasses knew that it was an invitation to attend. Word was passed along until by dusk, canoes, skiffs and even sailboats loaded to the gunwales gathered around the point. Small fry gathered long before sundown poised with boxes of marshmallows, pointed sticks and matches.

Older people generally went ashore to sit on driftwood logs and visit while the romantic types floated about on the darkening water. It was no woodsman's trick for the smallest gaffer to light the dry tinder of pine cones when given the okay. In a few minutes orange flames coiled through the dry roots and shot 20 feet into the night air on their own draft—making acres of light in the night.

Someone strumming on a ukele would start a chorus of singing—good old songs that come only from the heart, lasting until the flashy fire dwindled to a large bed of glowing coals. At this stage the youngsters started the ritual of burning marshmallows. Roasting is not the right word. They smeared their hands and faces and their elders picnic clothes with sticky goo and got slightly ill. August campfire confection was corn-on-the-cob with lashings of melted butter (at two-bits per pound). A dip in the lake at bedtime washed all their troubles away.

In these days of roaring outboards, sleek runabouts and canned music, those cottagers' community campfires are cold dead ashes.

Overstocked bass lakes in the Haliburton area, chiefly Little Gull Lake, are being depopulated by Lands and Forests experts with nets and tank-equipped trucks. They have worked out a formula to determine the number of stunted fish that should be left in the waters, by net count. When hauls drop down to about 20 fish per day, biologists feel that the remaining fish will have a better chance to feed and grow and netting stops.

I will subscribe to the printing errors in a headline story of the Lynx Weekly Leader: STOLE FROM BASS, GIVEN SIX MOUTHS. Hope they were all filled with broken teeth, too.

On-The-Spot News

Many fishermen are talking about the black spots on pickerel, perch and bass. Experts say that in present proportions it is harmless. It goes by the name of Helisoma. The cycle of this parasite is amazing, according to biologists findings. The chain starts in the inestine of the Belted Kingfisher and its eggs are passed in the birds droppings and swallowed by small turretted snails that are largely distributed on the bottoms of our waterways. Eggs hatch inside the snail and after a period of budding, and a free life of 24 hours, must come in contact with fish and bore into the skin. The spots appear a month later. The cycle is completed by Kingfishers eating infected Black Spot fry and the chain starts all over again in the bird's tummy. There is no cause for alarm over a few black spots on our Kawartha fish but in some areas of the province it is said that game fish are so highly infested that their skins feel as rough as sandpaper to the touch.

A man who was city editor of the Examiner several years ago, Bert Huston, now an expert on the merchandising of groceries with a Toronto publishing house, finds it impossible to get Kawartha fishing out of his blood. He has rarely missed a season at Buckhorn and dropped into the office a few days ago to bring us up to date on the current muskie picture. Bert tells of guide Rolly Montgomery boating a 22-pounder for the Tracy family of Dayton, O. one day and of the same party taking a 15 and 10-pounder the next. A Pittsburgh fishing pal of Bert's made a good showing with Large Mouth bass types, a 5½ and 4½ on the same outing. Bert says the fishing is better than ever and he ought to know; he has been observing and catching them for a long time in these parts.

Setback To Tourism

It's more than a bit of a jolt to the tourist industry to have the weather making like May instead of flaming July this year in addition to the Korean War jitters. Deputy Travel Minister Tom McCall estimates a 30 per cent drop in tourist traffic throughout the province in July. By the end of June, figures were away over the top from the same period last year and then, flop. Tom pointed out Muskoka as being especially hard hit but I am glad to report after an extensive survey on Tuesday of the Kawarthas, accommodations are practically solid all over the district. Resortowners report a few cancellations, to be sure, but say that fishing talk has pushed war talk right out of the picture. You will be glad to hear, Tom; that one lady says she is having to put up cots in her hotel hallways at Stony Lake.

Wonder how many dried-up summer creeks are harbouring game fish fry in stagnant pools. Lakefield minnowmen Cy Hopkins and Heck Edwards found proof of this in Kemp's Creek that meanders north of the village into the Katchiwanooka marshes. They have been scooping out muskie fingerlings, 4 to 5 inches long, occasionally 30 in an evening, and releasing them in the free running Otonabee. No one has to tell THESE boys about conservation. Their business depends on unheralded efforts of this nature. Good show, all the same.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

This Man Hath All

How happy is he born or taught
Who serveth not another's will;
Whose armour is his honest thought,
And simple truth his highest skill;

Whose passions not his masters are;
Whose soul is still prepared for death—
Not tied unto the world with care
Of prince's ear or vulgar breath;

Who hath his eare from rumours free;
Whose conscience is his strong retreat;
Whose state can neither flatterers feed,
Nor ruin make oppressors great;

Who envies none whom chance doth raise,
Or vice; who never understood
How deepest wounds are given with praise,
Nor rules of state but rules of good;

Who God doth late and early pray
More of His grace than gifts to lend
And entertains the harmless day
With a well-chosen book or friend—

This man is free from servile bands
Of hope to rise or fear to fall:
Lord of himself, though not of lands,
And, having nothing, yet hath all.

The Emotional Life of Young Children

FROM A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT

By ALISON SETTLE

Ed. Note—This is the third of three articles by Alison Settle, based on visits to Child Guidance Clinics and talks with members of their staffs. The illustrations are by Haro Hodson.

3.—The Withdrawn Child

MOTHERS who attend parent guidance clinics and are interested in these articles on the emotional development of young children have given me instances of troubles on which they have been able to get much-needed advice.

The Tavistock Clinic in London is especially praised not only by parents but by nursery school teachers. So, too, are the clinics of various hospitals: in London in particular the Great Ormond Street, Middlesex, and St. George's Hospitals.

One clinic asks me to stress a type of child badly in need of help who is often overlooked. This is the "withdrawn" child, easy to manage, quiet, seldom interfering with the household routine, and therefore seldom looked on as being in any sense a problem child. Yet this child, say the experts, stands often in far greater need of consideration than the obstreperous and difficult youngster whose problem is being brought to them all the time.

The child who withdraws and almost seems to wilt is the thumb-sucking child, the child who clings silently to the pram containing the new baby, the toddler who hangs on to its mother's skirts, hiding behind them while she shops or gossips with her friends. Many a mother, indeed, is flattered by the child's clinging ways and refusal to speak to others, which make her feel all the more wanted.

Yet this is the child, the clinics warn, who is in greater danger of a later breakdown than the boisterously furious children, and its situation should not go unnoticed, for inhibitions, if left alone, may have incalculable consequences.

". . . tends to live in fantasy world"

The over-silent child tends to live in a fantasy world, and in later life finds it difficult to take part in group activities or to form friendships.

How is a mother to know when natural shyness becomes an inhibition? The age of the child gives the clue: it is natural for a baby up to the end of its first or even second year to be quiet and appear shy, and this may well be the expression of a child at peace with its surroundings. It is from the second to the end of the fourth year that the abnormally quiet child wants careful handling. The child is often hiding a longing for companionship which it is quite unable to express. Troubling feelings of inferiority and a lack of self reliance may result in later life in some form of social failure.

Activities inside the families are more likely to show whether this trouble is serious because many small children up to their fourth year are quite undesirous of adapting themselves to group activities and yet develop quite normally from their fifth year onwards.

The thumb-sucking child anxious to isolate itself is often of poor appetite, underweight, and it is essential to get at the causes of this loss of vitality before a permanent apathy develops. The child may also show bad habits because it seeks to give itself the feelings of reassurance and pleasure which it needs and cannot get from outside.

Here again the doctors and psychiatric workers stress how needful it is to try to get the child to talk. But before he will "externalise" his troubles he has to gain confidence in the world around him, for it requires a big measure of the self-reliance in which he is lacking to bring his distresses to light. And what causes distress in the small child is seldom clear to those in daily touch with him: toddlers absorb more knowledge through casual talk and through things seen than their elders usually credit. The cause of withdrawal may lie in some mental fear or distress which is wholly a misconception, but if the child does not know that it is misconception its fears only grow.

Parents are begged not to talk as if children were absent or without comprehension. Family tensions and pressures, money troubles, or marital disputes only vaguely sensed, may send a child into the depths of despair, hidden under apathy. The arrival of a new baby, or the visit of a grandparent with conflicting notions of authority may aggravate a state of disturbance.

Build up self-confidence in the child, say the clinics. Do not be impatient with his timidities and fears. Foster what the child primarily requires, assurance and a sense of security. Then tensions will ease and the child's bodily health and energy improve. Above all, says one doctor whose success in unravelling the troubles of children has been remarkable, "remember that children, like the rest of us, flourish on compliments."

'Mr. Midshipman Easy' Famous Novelist Visited District

By GERALD MARRYAT Hastings

My great-uncle, Captain Marryat, R.N., English sailor and novelist, author of such classics as "Western Ready" and "Mr. Midshipman Easy," was among the early travellers, who visited Canada and the United States in 1837-8, and described his visit in "My Diary in America."

Peterborough was noted by him as an instance of the rapid growth of many Canadian towns . . .

"Peterborough in 1825 contained but one miserable dwelling; now, in 1838, may be seen nearly 400 houses, many of them large and handsome, inhabited by about 1,500 persons; a very neat stone church, capable of accommodating 800 or 900 persons; a Presbyterian Church of stone; two dissenting places of worship; and a Roman Catholic church in progress. The town has in, or near it, two grist mills and seven sawmills, five distilleries, two breweries, two tanneries, 18 or 20 shops (called stores), carriage, sleigh, wagon, chair, harness and cabinet makers and most other useful trades."

"Stages run all the year, bringing mail five times a week; and steam boats whilst navigation is open; there is one good tavern (White's) and two inferior ones. Families may now find houses of any size to suit them, at moderate rents. The roads in this neighborhood are being greatly improved. The towns of Cobourg, Port Hope, Colborne, Grafton and Brighton, River Trent (Trenton) and Beaumont (Bowmanville?) in the Newcastle district are all equally prosperous, and like Peterborough, are surrounded by genteel families from the United Kingdom: in short, the advancement of this district is almost incredible."

"The building of the church was undertaken by the inhabitants of Peterborough and its vicinity, belonging to the Church of England. In 1835 it was commenced, and by great exertions opened for Divine Worship in December 1836, though not altogether finished. Nine hundred pounds was raised by voluntary contributions, not one farthing having been given by any public body to it. The gentlemen composing the building committee are responsible for the remainder due, being Five Hundred Pounds. An advertisement for subscriptions to liquidate this debt has been for some weeks past inserted in a London newspaper."

Described At Length

The fact that of all the towns mentioned above, Peterborough is the only one described at length leads one to suppose that he must have had friends among the early settlers, many of whom were half-pay officers of the army and navy; though the only mention of his name in local chronicles to my knowledge) is to be found on Page 58 of the Journals of Anne Langton, "A Gentlewoman in Upper Canada," where the remark is made that a local man might have sat to Captain Marryat for the character of Dick Short in "Snarley-Yow."

While in Upper Canada Captain Marryat visited many old and new friends, among the latter being the Lovekins who had settled in Clarke township in 1796. This visit resulted in his one all-Canadian story—"The Settlers in Canada" a tale of early days—of the kidnapping by the Indians of a little boy—his subsequent rescue and his return to his home near Frontenac (Kingston). This children's story, written in 1844, contains a great deal of actual history, and the plot was suggested to him by a true story told him by the Lovekin family; the original piece of birchbark covered with Indian characters, then in the possession of one of the daughters, the wife (I think) of Asa Burnham, was copied by him and reproduced as an illustration in the book.

Although the shore of Lake Ontario furnished the background for "Settlers in Canada", no doubt details and descriptions of other places were interwoven. If he had any particular reason for including Peterborough in his itinerary, proof is lacking, but there is no question but that at one time he did consider becoming a settler in Canada, himself.

I would desire no greater step towards the reformation of manners for the next twenty years, than that our people should have no vices but THEIR OWN.

EARL OF CHESTERFIELD (1694-1773)

His father, Joseph Marryat, as a member of the British House of Commons, had been known to Upper Canadians since the beginning of the century, and in a letter from Thomas G. Ridout to his father at York, written in October, 1811, he mentioned that . . . "Uncle and I went in the carriage to Sydenham, and dined with Mr. Mariot (Marryat), a member of parliament, a great merchant and agent for the Island of Trinidad."

Ten years later, the Assembly of Lower Canada, at loggerheads with the Legislative Council, nominated Joseph Marryat, MP, as agent of the province in Britain, accompanying the appointment with a paper of very voluminous instructions for his guidance when dealing with the Home authorities, and while communicating with his Canadian employers. F. X. Garneau, in his "History of Canada" goes on to tell how the Council opposed this appointment, and how Marryat, when he learned that a conflict of opinions had thus followed his appointment, refused to act.

Antagonized Americans

Captain Marryat had stayed for some time in Toronto, and while there had attended a dinner in honor of Lieut. Drew, who had commanded the party in the "cutting out of the Caroline". He had spoken in praise of this exploit and had thereby antagonized the Americans. I have sometimes wondered if, when in Peterborough, he had talked to R. D. Rogers, a member of the party that night, in order, perhaps, to get more first-hand information about the affair.

Mixed Comment On Louis' Comeback Plan

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, July29—(AP)—Joe Louis' decision to make a comeback at the age of 36 drew comment today in boxing circles.

"Say it ain't so, Joe," was the reaction of many with treasured memories of the Brown Bomber of the late 1930s. They didn't want to see another disillusioning performance by the Louis of the two Jersey Joe Walcott fights.

"Joe isn't in bad shape as has been reported," said Marshall Miles, his manager. "He's also in the fight frame of mind and we feel that he will be able to give a good account of himself."

"I thought he looked real good when he was in there two weeks ago," said Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club. Norris announced Louis' comeback decision Friday after a phone conversation with the former champ.

Friends For Years

"The champ and I have been friends for years," said Ezzard Charles, the NBA-recognized heavyweight king whom Louis will fight. "I never had any particular desire to box Louis but always wanted to be undisputed champion.

"I say I am the heavyweight champion now and whomever I fight will be in there to hold the title and fight to the best of my ability. I won't say I can take Louis, but I never enter a match without confidence. I welcome the opportunity."

Abe Greene, National Boxing Association commissioner, said he was 'sorry to see Louis coming back—because I still remember him as the superb fighter he was."

"But if Joe decides that he does want to come back," Greene continued, "anything he does is perfectly satisfactory to me, as it will be to all men in boxing. I wish him well."

Tigers Trim Petes Close Scoring Game

Tigers in the peewee league at Miller Bowl came from behind three times in their game with the Petes to win 9-6. The Petes took a 3-0 lead in the first and the score was tied 4-all in the second. Tigers took the lead in the third 7-5 and went on to build to the lead in the fourth.

Coombs, Davis and Ferguson tallied for the Petes in the first frame. Jay, first alone, then with Ketcheson, slapped in two goals for the Tigers to start the second, followed by a third goal by Griffin to tie the score. Petes went one up on another goal by Davis only to have it tied again 4-all when Jay scored his third goal with help from Ketcheson.

Walker opened the scoring of the third for the Petes assisted by O'Neil. For the third time in the game the Tigers tied the score, Ketcheson scoring on a pass from Jay. Ketcheson and Jay added Tiger goals to make the score 7-5. Ketcheson scored his third and fourth goals in the fourth while Petes scored only one, that by Ferguson with O'Neil.

Lineups:

Petes—D. Kent, T. Davis, C. Coombs, B. Rogers, D. Walker, L. Ferguson, B. O'Neil.

Tigers—W. McCarthy, K. Dixon, T. Kelly, G .DeNoble, D. Barrie, P. Ketcheson, R. Jay, K. Murduff.

Ball Stars of Half Century Meet On One Baseball Team

By FRED MAYBEE

What is the strongest possible baseball team that could be assembled of players up to 1950?

Fans young and old love to recall the individual feats of men like Christy Mathewson, Ed Walsh, "Smoky" Joe Wood, Ruth, Cobb, Eddie Collins, Sisler, Zack Wheat, Hornsby, Walter Johnson, Gehrig and the rest. The relative merits of various players at their respective positions will remain a subject of endless controversy.

Younger fans point with pride to the feats of Bob Feller, Newhouser, DiMaggio, Kiner, Ted Williams, Musial and others and will ask—Had Feller the speed of Joe Wood , Johnsan or Grove? Could DiMaggio replace Speaker on an all-time outfield- Had Hubbell the craft of Matty? Was Gehringer the peer of Collins? Could Jackson hit as hard as Ruth?

Thousand Angles

These and a thousand other angles of the game are discussed wherever fans convene, with many friendships made or broken over unsettled debates.

Why? Because baseball is the king of games. It has contributed more entertainment and possibly fostered finer relationships among more men during the first half of this century than any other sport. And, we might add, there have been many fine contributions made in the field of sport toward the promotion of better feelings among men, over the years.

Saw Top Stars

We were fortunate to see many of baseball's top stars during the past 35 years, either in exhibition games or regular league fixtures around the country. The careers of others we have studied closely, since we sold newspapers in Toronto as a kid back in 1918 and so feel qualified to pass a fair estimate on the abilities of stars we saw or were unable to see personally. At any rate, here is a brief summary of our all-time, all-star ball team that should, barring accidents, play 154 games without defeat.

Naturally, it will be hard to please every one and some fans of both generations may no doubt favour their selections at various positions over ours. Further choices will be welcomed, from enthusiastic readers.

For the catching assignment, many great names come to mind such as Jimmy Archer, the great Cub catcher from 1909 to 1917, with the squat throw to second base; Ray Schalk, the White Sox star, who caught Ed Walsh, the spitball king, "Gabby" Hartnett, Wally Shang, "Mickey" Cochrane, Roger Bresnahan and Bill Dickey. All were fine receivers. Nevertheless, we feel the choice narrows down to two men, namely: "Iron Mike" Cochrane, and Bill Dickey, the star of 15 years who wound up his career in 1947.

Chooses Dickey

Both men were .300 hitters and good handlers of pitchers. Cochrane's career as a player was ended by a "bean" ball in 1935. His best days were with Connie Mack, where he handled Grove, Earnshaw and Rube Walberg. We saw both men play and are going to choose Bill Dickey because of his great long distance hitting ability. Dickey played a big part in the Bomber's victories of the 'thirties and 'forties, took part in several world series triumphs and won the last in 1947 with a homer, if memory serves, against Brooklyn. So it's Dickey behind the plate.

First base recalls Hal Chase (Babe Ruth's choice) a fielding wizard and fair hitter too, George Sisler, Gehrig, Foxx, Terry, Mize, Blue, Grimm, Judge and others. Despite the great feats of all we are choosing "Columbia Lou" Gehrig the great Yankee star whose untimely death at 38 brought sorrow to the nation after 14 years of matchless play.

Gehrig At First

Gehrig's record of over 2,000 consecutive games, his great slugging ability and efficient, if not brilliant fielding gives him the palm over Chase, his nearest rival. It is felt by many that Ruth would never have hit 60 homers in 1927 had he not been spurred by Gehrig who pasted 47. So it's Lou at first.

Second base is the most difficult choice of all with four men—Nap Lajoie, the Cleveland star, die Collins, untainted White Sox who piloted Toronto in 1917. Ed and Athletic hero, Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal ace, who piloted his team to its first championship in 1926 when Big Alex walked in—remember?

Then there was peerless Charlie Gehringer of Detroit. Here again we must give the nod to the American League. Despite the magnificent records of the first three, we must choose Gehringer. And why? Because he could do anything any of the others could do and do it better, in our opinion. He was perfection personified. He led the league at bat in 1937, was a consistent .300 hitter and had a quiet, ideal temperament, a great team player. Hornsby led his league six times in a row and was never Charlie's equal as a fielder. Collins perhaps comes closest. But we must name Gehringer, all things considered.

Wagner At Short

At short, there is no argument. It's Hans Wagner all the way with no dissenting vote. McGraw named him greatest of all and many agree.

At third it's the National League again with "Pie" Traynor, another Pirate star, our nominee. True, there was Jimmy Collins, "Jumping" Joe Dugan and Red Rolfe we'll admit. But Traynor gets the palm for consistency.

Now for the outfield. Babe Ruth wins the right field post unanimously. There were great fielders like Harry Hooper, Paul Waner, Cuyler, Musial and many more, but Ruth has no close rival.

The Georgia Peach

Likewise Ty Cobb places in left without a dissenting vote. He too is rated the greatest all-time star by many. We place him second only to the Babe. At centre we have Tris Speaker and Joe DiMaggio as first choices. There are others we could place there such as Joe Jackson, Bob Meusel, Lloyd Waner, Zack Wheat or Heilmann among others. Despite Joe DiMaggio's great showing, we still name Tris Speaker greatest of all at centre. DiMaggio is more colorful and makes more money than Spoke ever knew but the Eagle hit more consistently over a longer period (his favorite was the two-base hit) and knew no peer as a fielder. Speaker is still supreme.

The pitching staff? Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Grover Cleveland Alexander and Lefty Grove. We find it hard to omit Cy Young with his 511 wins, divided in two leagues but feel satisfied the first three were superior to Cy and for a left-hander for the club we are convinced Grove has no close rival.

Grove the Pitcher

In fact, for one great game-even against the '27 Yanks—we'll take Grove, thank you. This quartette won over 1,400 games in all.

So there it is: Dickey, c; Gehrig, 1b; Gehringer, 2b; Traynor, 3b; Wagner, ss; Ruth, rf; Speaker, cf; Cobb, lf; Mathewson, p; Johnson, p; Alexander, p; Grove, p.

Now, back to sleep again. Our dream team can never play together because four have died We saw seven of them play.

Proximity Breaks Money Records In Harness Class

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP). — Proximity, eight-year-old trotting mare, Friday night broke the money winning record for harness horses that stood for 73 years with a first heat victory in the $15,000 sportsman's trot at Sportsman's Park.

Proximity's take boosted her earnings to $208,629, topping the former record of $206,462 set by Goldsmith Maid between 1865 and 1877.

She was clocked in a track record time of 2:05.2 for the mile.

Proximity, driven by Clint Hodgins of Clandboye, Ont., won the first heat, worth $3,750. by a head over Demon Hanover, 1948 Hambletonian winner, who staged a terrific stretch duel with the money winning champion. Moses was third.

Proximity, owned by Ralph and Gordon Verhurst, Victory, N. Y., entered Friday night's race unbeaten in 12 separate dashes this year. Her time was considerably slower than her mile record for a half mile track, 2:01 1-5. She also holds world records at 1 1-16 miles, 2:06 2-5; 1⅛ miles, 2:14 3-5; and 1¼ miles, 2:31 1-5, all on a mile track.

Proximity's big victories this season came in the $50,000 Golden West trot, the Chatham at Buffalo, and the Titan at Goshen, N. Y.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

That was a sweet game Friday night between H. Freeman and R. Hopkins vs R. Gamble and W. Jeffries. Close most of the way and with three ends to go Jeffries and Gamble were up 9. But a 4 and a 5 tied up the old ball game, and on the final end it was tough luck for Jeffries-Gamble had a kitty touched close to the ditch but Bill played too heavy and removed Bob's bowl giving Hopkins shot it remained that way for the rest of the end, Hopkins and Freeman winning by one shot.

Tonight, the Family Hour tourney.

Friday night's winning skips were P. Moore and G. Fee.

Detroit Pitching Folding Tigers Bow To Athletics

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The panic is on in the American League. Detroit's lead, down to half a game, is melting before the charge of New York and Cleveland.

With Tiger pitching folding and the Yankees and Indians slashing home runs, the American jumble now is tighter than the National.

Detroit still is on top, but how much longer can they hold on? Although they braced against Boston Thursday, they bowed to Philadelphia 7-6 Friday night. Now they have lost six of their last eight.

Vic Wertz hit his 17th and 18th homers against the Athletics but even that wasn't enough. A two-run spurt in the ninth on Elmer Valo's single. Sam Chapman's triple and an infield out gave the A's victory.

The Yankees hammered out a 4-1 edge over Chicago on homers by Hank Bauer and Phil Rizzuto and tight six-hit pitching by Allie Reynolds.

Al Rosen, never considered a threat to home-run honors, hit his 28th and 29th for Cleveland in the Tribe's 13-1 ramble over Boston. Rosen now leads the majors.

Homer Each

Larry Doby, Luke Easter and Joe Gordon smacked one homer each as the Indians climbed all over starter Maurice McDermott. It was Doby's first appearance since he was hit by a pitched ball Monday night in an exhibition at Brooklyn.

St. Louis pulled one out of the fire in the ninth, edging Washington, 5-4, on Ken Wood's single with two out.

The National League race was shoved into the background by the rain-interrupted struggle between Chicago and Brooklyn. It was not finished until 1.23 a.m. EDT, almost five hours after it started. Chicago won, 12-5, leaving the Brooks in fourth place, five games out of first.

Bonus Bob Miller, the Phils' rookie sensation, boosted the National League leaders' margin to 2½ games with a 4-1 victory, over Pittsaburgh. It was Miller's ninth success.

Larry Jansen whipped the second-place St. Louis Cards, 8-3, for his 11th win. The Giants' righthander scattered nine hits and led the attack on loser Al Brazle with his first major league home run in the second inning. It was the Giants' eighth straight triumph.

Ewell Blackwell, with fine relief help from Frank Smith, beat Boston for the first time this season, 8-5. Blacky had a shutout until the eighth when Earl Torgeson sparked a four-run rally with a homer with two on.

Riverdales Beaten 22-12 In Wide-Open Scoring

Everyone wanted to get into the act and that's what everyone, at least all the Peterborough players, did Friday night in Miller Bowl as they smothered the cellar-dwelling Toronto Riverdales 22-12. Even goalie Ralph Speck managed to pick up an assist on a breakaway goal as every member of the team was on the scoresheet at the end of 60 minutes of play. Gerry Fitzgerald led the parade of points with seven, four goals and three assists. Arn Dugan jumped to the Senior A league scoring lead with his five points, a goal and four assists, two points ahead of Brampton Excelsiors' Archie Browning.

Sid Wright, last year with Cornwall and a native of St. Catharines, made his debut felt. He rapped home two counters and assisted on a third. No sooner had his name been announced over the public address system when it was heard again. He earnt a five-minute sojourn in the sin bin for slashing in the first 52 seconds of play.

Juniors Play

Gary Robinson and Bob Batley, members of Lou Vitarelli's juniors helped fill several vacancies in the local's lineup successfully. Both players notched their first goals of Senior A play early in the game.

The Jewellers managed to edge the Toronto squad in the first quarter 3-2 in a rather listless type of lacrosse. Riverdales tied the score early in the second—three-all, but their defence cracked under steady pressure of fast-breaking Peterborough attacks. Nine goals were poured into the twine past goalie George Johnston before the half ended.

The Jewellers kept up the high pressure for the first 10 minutes of the third but their passing became weird. Immediately Riverdales started a comeback but were edged on the scoring in the quarter 5-3, making the score 17-6. The Toronto team played open lacrosse in the fourth quarter leaving several players well up the field for quick breaks. This resulted in Peterborough being edged on the scoring 6-5.

Goalie George Johnston had much to do with the Petes' failure to make all their chances good in the fourth. Time and time again he turned away what seemed to be sure goals. He made his most sensational stops after Lou Vitarelli, standing on his doorstep, hit him with the ball on the side of the head on a close-in scoring attempt. He was stunned temporarily.

Johnston also made the scoresheet on a similar play to that of Speck's. In the fourth quarter he passed to Bob Needham in the clear for a goal.

Colorful Plays

Two colorful scoring plays were by Emmett Creighton in the second and Sid Wright in the fourth. Creighton cut across the goal-mouth and while in the air after a check sent the ball into the net with a nifty backhander.

Wright's scoring play was not as colorful due to its simplicity and quickness. The Petes were jockeying for a scoring position in the fourth when he sneaked out in front of the net in time to catch a pass from Ashbee and throw it into the net at the same time, a feat which few lacrosse players are able to perform.

J. J. Hill and Bruce Webster shared the scoring honors for Riverdales with three goals and an assist each. Bob Needham had two goals while singles were scored by Bill Fairley, Bill Campbell, Eddie Barber and Frank Facto.

Lineups

Peterborough: Goal, Speck; defence, Wright, D. Vitarelli; centre, E. Creighton, wings, Ashbee, Dugan; rover, Thorpe; alt., Fitzgerald, Nolan, Magee, J. Breakspeare, L. Vitarelli, Batley, Robinson.

TRIPLE WINNER — Jack Guest, Jr., 17-year-old son of Diamond Sculls winner Jack Guest, became the first triple winner of the 68th annual Royal Canadian Henley Regatta when he won the association singles final in a record-breaking time of seven minutes, 25 seconds. The previous mark was 7:46.2. Guest also won the high school singles and quarter-mile open. He is a member of the Toronto Dons Rowing Club.

Athletics Whip Mounties 19-12

By The Canadian Press

A last-half team—that's what they're calling St. Catharines Athletics.

It was the same old story Friday night, as the Mimico Mounties found out when their eight-game Ontario Lacrosse Association winning streak came to an abrupt end.

Mounties led St. Kitts 6-3 at one stage during the game, but Athletics came storming back to pile up a 17-8 edge at the three-quarter mark. Final score was 19-12, with Jim McMahon scoring four for the winners and Williams netting a like amount for Mounties.

In a rough-and-ready game at Owen Sound, the league-leading Crescents walloped the hapless Weston Giants 26-13, after building up an early lead and adding to it as the game progressed.

The game was a slow-moving affair, 27 penalties being handed out. Jack Foote with five, Doug Gillespie and Harry Kazarian with four each led the winners. Gunn had four for Weston.

Giants Chalk Up 4-3 Win Over Rochester

By The Associated Press

Marv Blaylock, 20-year-old first baseman of Jersey City Giants, is turning out to be quite a clutch hitter.

Blaylock, up from Trenton of the Inter-State League, Friday night blasted his third pinch-hit home run of the season to give the Giants a 4-3 victory over the league-leading Rochester Red Wings in the opener of a doubleheader. The second game was called because of rain after 13 innings, with the teams tied at 4-4.

George Copeland had the Giants beaten, 4-2, going into the seventh and final round. Blaylock, batting for shortstop Ziggy Jasinski, smashed one out of the lot with pinch-hitter Red Hardy on base and two out to win the game.

The Giants piled up a 4-2 lead in the finale, but the Wings tied the count with two runs in the ninth.

Split Twin Bill

Baltimore's runner-up Orioles and the third-place Montreal Royals moved within 4½ games of the Red Wings. The Orioles split a twin bill with the last-place Buffalo Bisons, winning the nightcap, 6-5, after suffering a humiliating 15-0 defeat in the opener. The Royals pounded the Syracuse Chiefs 10-5.

Lefty Jake Wade blanked the Orioles on three hits as the Bisons pounded four Oriole pitchers for 17 hits in the opener. Orioles trailed, 5-1, entering the eighth inning of the nightcap, then tied the score with a four-run rally. They won in the ninth when Bison pitcher Al Carrasquel walked three hitters in a row after a single by Babe Barna.

The scheduled game between Springfield and Toronto was rained out.

Sculling Star Takes A Rest

PORT DALHOUSIE, July 29 — (CP)—The championship singles, always a final-day drawing card in the Royal Canadian Henley, has lost some of its appeal this year. It has Diamond Sculls winner Jack Kelly, Jr., of Philadelphia in the leading role—but no Jack Guest Jr., the pride and joy of Canada's sculling world.

It would have been a natural for Philadelphia Jack to meet Toronto Jack this afternoon but the 17-year-old Canadian — on advice from his one-time-sculler father—has decided to let it slide. He is too young and has had seven singles races in a week —all of them winners, by the way.

"It would be too much to ask of a youngster," the elder Guest said in an interview after watching his son win the Association singles Friday. It was his third victory of this 68th annual regatta. But young Guest will team up with his 15-year-old kid brother, Ron, in the high school doubles today.

Jack Jr.'s victory, which he accomplished in record-breaking time, had a familiar ring for the Guest family. His dad, a Diamond Sculls winner, won the event 23 years ago this week over the same one-mile, 550-yard old Welland Canal course.

Leading Field

SUDBURY, July 29 — (CP) — Kitchener's Tony Matlock, Ontario amateur golf finalist, fired a four-over-par 72 over the Sudbury Golf Club Friday to lead a record field of 125 in the qualifying round for the Seagram Cup.

CLOSE FINISH—One of the closest finishes in the Canadian Henley Regatta at Port Dalhousie, near St. Catharines, Ont., this year came in the 145-pound eight junior event. Wyandotte Boat Club won by a nose over Toronto Argonauts, in foreground, who took second place. Toronto Dohs, in background, were eliminated by inches. Dons' last stroke on the finish line pulled them ahead of Argos—but too late.

Port Hope Coach Pointer Suspended

COBOURG, July 29.—Tommy Pointer, veteran coach of Port Hope Ontarios, was suspended for one month Thursday night at a meeting of the Lakeshore Baseball League.

Pointer is alleged to have struck Umpire Norman Allin of Oshawa at a game between Port Hope and Bowmanville on July 12. First meeting of the league executive sirce produced contradictory evidence but all witnesses agreed Pointer had to be restrained by seven of his own players in the mixup which occurred when Allin ordered pitcher Iron Arm Woods of Port Hope to stop rubbing a new ball in the dirt.

Keefer Family Descendants Of Two Teen-age Boys, Wanted To Remain British

A descendant in the fifth generation of two brothers who owned 600 acres of the townsite of Thorold 160 years ago, Mr. I Harland Keefer, 611 Walkerfield Ave., was a centennial year visitor last week to the industrial community on the Welland Canal with which his family and its name is historically associated.

Thorold is celebrating the 100th anniversary of its municipal incorporation as a village, in 1850. Sixty years earlier, George and Jacob Keefer, just emerging from boyhood, the one 17 and the other 15, left their home in the State of New Jersey to continue in Canada living in allegiance to the British Crown.

Fought In Revolution

These resolute youths were reaffirming the decision of their father, George Keefer, who had taken up arms for the King in New England's revolt against the Mother Country, and died of fever in a military camp on Staten Island. They struck out for the border, following a rough and arduous trail that led toward the Niagara peninsula.

That is a brief preface to the story of the Keefers and their coming to Canada.

Mr. Keefer's brief reference to his visit, accompanied by his wife, opened on request the pages of the remarkable account of the idealism and sturdy character of the two teenage boys who arrived at the present location of Thorold in 1790.

They had turned their backs on the republicanism of the New England colony, deliberately separating from kinfolk and neighbors.

In the border war early in the new century, Jacob Keefer was mortally wounded at the battle of Lundy's Lane, June 24, 1814, and died several days later. He was the great great grandfather of Harland Keefer. A memorial service in Thorold this week recalled his sacrifice so long ago.

The Keefers in those pioneer days were a prolific family, and as the years went by their sons and daughters spread out from the Niagara country across Ontario and into the new provinces of [illegible]

Some of them retraced the paths of their forbears across the border when the frictions of clashing loyalists had dissolved in neighborly respect and goodwill between the two young countries, and time had healed the scars of war.

George and Jacob Keefer of 1790 must have been the very youngest of the United Empire Loyalists who by their own choice and conviction forfeited their patrimony and set out on the long trek to Canada. That decision affords a clue to their strength of character and sturdy principles for which they sacrificed so much.

Fled From Paris

The Keefer family traces back to France, and to flight to Alsace then a German dukedom, at the time of the persecution of the Huguenots. Its background is sketched in a booklet published in 1935 by Rev. Robert Keefer of Burlington who mentions the forsaking of family possessions in Paris in that troubled period of French history.

More recognizably it begins with a reference to Samuel Keefer who died near Strasburg in 1744, leaving two sons, George born in 1739 and Jacob in 1741. A few years later they came with their mother to New England. Jacob settled in Harrisburg, Pa., and gave his sympathies to the colonial cause in the war of independence.

Many years afterwards, the Keefers from both sides of the border met in reunions that restored the family harmony and broad relationhip which divergent political ideas had shattered in two periods of armed and fraternal strife.

George Keefer, who was born in 1739, married in Philadelphia in 1767. He was the head of the family that adhered to the British connection. He is described as a man of conservative temperament, warmth of feeling and high sense of duty. In his religious training he had zealously accepted the injunction: "Fear the Lord, honor the King, and meddle not with them that are given to change."

George Keefer joined the royal troops when the New England colonies broke away from the Motherland. He fought under Colonel Barton and Sir William Howe. While encamped on Staten Island, he contracted typhoid fever and died. His properties were confiscated by the State at the close of the war, but his widow was left in occupation until her two sons, George and Jacob, grew up to the age of judgement and decision. It was thought that they would renounce the political views and the allegiance of their father, and become citizens of the new republic. But, youthful as they were, they followed the example of their father, and chose the hard way of finding a new haven in Canada. The narrative of Rev. Robt. Keefer proceeds from that resolution of the two teenage lads whose father had died bearing arms for the King, on Staten Island.

Followed Indian Trail

"In 1790 when George was 17 and Jacob 15, the two lads set out on foot for Lake Erie, accompanied by the Lampmans, Bales, Hoovers and others. They followed an Indian trail over the mountains and through dense forests, fording turbulent streams and encountering all kinds of wild life until they came upon a few fishermen's huts, where the present city of Buffalo is now located.

Crossing the Niagara River to Fort Erie, they continued to thread their way inland, until they came to a lone squatter where the town of Thorold is now situated. The squatter had cut down a few trees and built a hut. He gladly sold out to the boys who remained for two years clearing the land and building a commodious log house for their mother and family.

In 1792 the two boys walked back to New Jersey and brought their sister Mary, their mother and family, together with several neighbors to their new Canadian home. The mother had previously married Michael Teeter, also a loyalist, by whom she had seven sons and one daughter.

We cannot ascertain the date of this marriage, but it is recorded that their son, Aaron, aged 23 years, was mortally wounded at the battle of Lundy's Lane on July 24, 1814. He must therefore have been an infant in 1792 when his mother came to Canada.

It is difficult for us to realize the hazards of this journey. They were frequently forced to hide during the day to avoid hostile Indians and soldiers of the Republic, who did all in their power to prevent their migration. The men walked while the women and children rode on the backs of the animals they were able to smuggle out of the country. Babies and small children were balanced on each side of a saddle in improvised panniers. To mislead those who endeavored to intercept them they resorted to several expedients such as fastening the heels of their shoes to the toes of their boots.

What little currency the newcomers had was chiefly American and Mexican silver dollars. These they cut in two or four pieces for smaller coins. Hence the expression "half dollar" and "[illegible]lar".

George Keefer (1773-1858) who came to Canada in 1790 was a cabinet-maker by trade. He took up 600 acres of land at and adjacent to the present site of the town of Thorold. He did the work of a surveyor conducted a general store, built two saw mills, built and operated a flour mill, shipping his product to Montreal and England.

Promoted Welland Canal

He was also a Magistrate and was appointed Ensign of the Militia in 1799, Lieutenant in 1806 and Captain in 1815. He served in the war of 1812, taking part in the battles of Chippewa and Lundy's Lane. He was one of the original promoters of the Welland Canal, and president of the company that was organized for its construction.

He turned the first sod on November 30, 1824. One hundred years afterward—November 30, 1924—the government of Canada erected a cairn to his memory on the banks of the canal at Allanburg. The inscription on the tablet reads as follows:

"Near this spot on Nov. 30, 1824, the first sod of the old Welland Canal was cut by George Keefer President of the Welland Canal Company, in the presence of William Hamilton Merritt, M.P., chief promoter of the enterprise and about 200 other persons.

The great work, connecting Lakes Erie and Ontario for ship navigation, was planned and carried out by a private company."

George Keefer first married Catharine Lampman on Feb. 6, 1797, daughter of Peter Lampman, also a U.E.L. who came from Long Island, N. Y., and settled in Grantham township, Lincoln county. By this marriage he had five sons and four daughters. His youngest son, John, was born Jan. 13, 1813, when his father, then Lieutenant, was at the front with his company, which was made up of young men from Thorold and the surrounding country. His house was seized and converted into a hospital by U. S. soldiers. . . His wife died of Army fever July 14, 1813 at the early age of 35.

Her eldest child Elizabeth, who was only 16 at her mother's death, was obliged to take full charge of the home the hospital, two sisters and five small brothers, the youngest only six months old.

The manner in which she discharged her many and onerous duties won for her the respect, admiration and love of a young American Army Surgeon, named Coltrin, who returned after the war and married her under a flag of truce at Queenston, in 1815. The young couple went to Erie, Pa. where he practised medicine.

George Keefer, then holding the rank of Captain married in June 1815, the widow of John Emory, a sister of Edward McBride, member of the Provincial Legislature for Niagara.

John Emory was also a U.E.L. He served in the war of 1812, dying of Army fever in 1813, leaving his young widow with five small children.

Suggested a Canal

After the war George Keefer gave his attention to the work of restoration and development of the enterprises in which he was interested. W. H. Merritt, George Keefer and John De Cew owned mills on Twelve Mile Creek. Water supply was uncertain in dry weather. In consequence the mills were frequently idle. Mr. Merritt conceived the idea of connecting with the Chippewa Creek to insure an ample supply of water. With this end in view the three mill owners undertook a survey. On their return, Mr. Merritt is reported to have had a suden inspiration and to have said: "Keefer, wouldn't it be a good thing to have a canal from lake to lake? Then every one could have an ample supply of water."

Mr. Keefer assented. The government was approached on the matter, but objected to Merritt's plan as it was, in their estimation, too near the frontier. They voted £2,000 to have a survey made from the Grand River to Burlington Bay, a distance of 50 miles, whereas Merritt's survey was only 28 miles.

In 1823 a number of citizens subscribed money to have a competent engineer survey the route suggested by Mr. Merritt. Hiram Tibbets was engaged. Following his report, the necessary legislation was passed Jan. 19, 1824, incoporating George Keefer, George Adams, Thomas Merritt, Wm. Chisholm, W. H. Merritt and others as the Welland Canal Company with George Keefer as president. On Nov. 24th of that year (1824) the first sod was turned near the present village of Allanburg."

In an atmosphere of popular doubt that the canal would be completed, Mr. Keefer built the first flour mill on its route, and had it finished when the water was turned into it from Lake Erie.

Jacob Keefer, brother of George, married in 1801 Jerusha, daughter of Joseph Vannater who came to Canada in 1798. He was mortally wounded in the battle of Lundy's Lane, and died in a few days. His widow and family, assisted financially by George Keefer, moved to Brant county. Later, she married James Bennett, a U.E.L. of Dereham in Oxford county.

Descendants of Jacob Keefer moved into Brant and Gray counties, as pioneers from the U.E.L. settlements of the Niagara peninsula. Among them was Jacob George Keefer, for years publisher of the Norwood Register and a leading citizen of East Peterborough. He was a great grandson of the Jacob Keefer who was killed in the 1812-14 war.

So, the Keefers multiplied and flourished. Branches of the family scattered far and near in Canada and in the U.S.A. Their names appear in the professions, in business, in municipal posts, and they were also churchmen.

One of the men was the supervising engineer on the construction of the first parliament buildings at Ottawa. In 1846, Jacob Keefer (the second) built the Welland milling plant at Thorold. It was the largest cereal mill in Canada at that time, with an output of 250 bbls. of flour daily.

The original George Keefer at Thorold was the first warden of the Anglican Church of St. John the Evangelist, and the records show that the first baptismal in the church was for Julia Boswell, daughter of Peter and Jane Keefer, Jan. 3, 1841.

George Keefer sold for five shillings in 1832 the site of the first Methodist Church in Thorold. Today it is occupied by Trinity United Church. In the same spirit of promoting religion in that early community he made a gift in 1842 of the land for the Church of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary, the first Roman Catholic Church in the community. When the congregation of 1892 built a new church it was consecrated by Bishop R. A. O'Connor of Peterborough.

Evidence of the family's traditional sense of duty to the Christian church is reflected in the present generation by the fact that Mr. Harland Keefer is a member of the board of finance and the board of pensions of the United Church of Canada. In its campaign to raise a pension fund for its ministers, with an objective of $3,500,000, Mr. Keefer is recalled as chairman of the eastern Ontario division of the national committee. The total amount raised was more than $5,000,000.

Thorold's hospital of 25 beds was converted out of the splendid residence "Maplehurst" built by Hugh Keefer.

Niece of Laura Secord

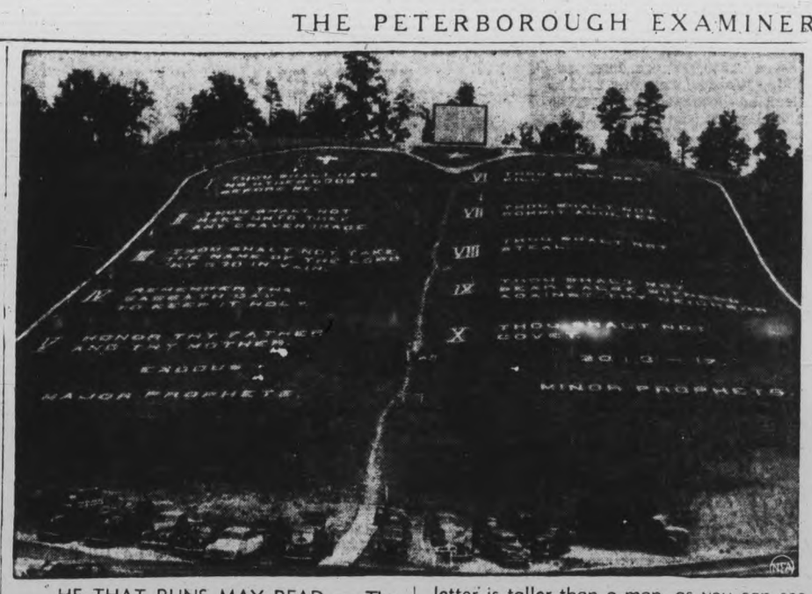
The second wife of the first George Keefer at Thorold was a niece of Laura Secord, the Canadian heroine of the War of 1812-15.

The first census of Thorold was taken by the second Jacob Keefer, and the original survey of the town was made by the first George. Men of the family were municipal treasurers from 1850 to 1861. Several of them were postmasters for many years.

The story of the family is replete with such personal incidents, all fitting into a pattern of social service and responsibility to their communities.

Friends of the late J. G. Keefer of Norwood will recognize in memory that same sensibility and disposition in his character.

One branch of the U.E.L. Keefer line may be summarized as follows: George, born in Alsace, 1739; his son Jacob, born in New England 1775, died at Lundy's Lane in 1814; his son Jacob, born in 1824, died in Grey county 1899; his son Jacob George born in 1866, died at Norwood; and his son, I. Harland Keefer, now living in Peterborough.



HE THAT RUNS MAY READ — The biggest Ten Commandments in the world are laid out in huge white stones on a mountainside near Murphy, Tenn. Each letter is taller than a man, as you can see by comparison to the people at left of the Tenth Commandment. More than 15,000 persons are expected to visit the unusual shrine during late summer and fall.

Buying Of Sugar By Tourists Reported Heavy

Purchases of sugar during the past three weeks have been abnormally large, a local wholesaler reports.

At this time of year there is always a heavy demand for sugar but hoarding is suspected as the main cause of the increased demand. United States' tourists are said to be buying up large quantities of sugar when they start on the homeward leg of their vacations.

Rumors that the federal governments has already moved in to control its distribution were discounted by the same source.

"As far as we are concerned we've heard nothing about any government regulations for sugar, and we are continuing to supply our trade," said a company official.

"There's lots of raw sugar in the world and there's no reason for predicting a shortage," he continued.

The same official observed, sarcastically: "As soon as a gun is fired off anywhere in the world somebody want to start buying up sugar."

An excellent crop of cherries, now being preserved by industrious housewives, is one of the main drains on existing sugar supplies.

FOREIGN EXPERT SPEAKER

Hector J. M. M. Allard, MA, former Rhodes Scholar and now a member of the Department of External Affairs will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Monday. Members of the Port Hope Rotary Club will also be on hand to hear Mr. Allard.

Lands Two Bass

Two bass weighing over four pounds each were pulled Friday from Belmont lake within a minute of each other by Jack Robertson, of Leamington.

One bass was four and a quarter pounds and the other four and a half pounds. Mr. Robertson was fishing with crabs.

He is staying at Roger Young's Sylvan Lodge on Belmont lake. Mr. Young said the fishing this year has been the best he has seen in the lake in 15 years.

Plenty of muskies are being pulled out, but they are mostly an inch or two undersize. He reports that fishermen are throwing them back in. The bass fishing also has been good and a few pickerel are being caught.

21-Pound Muskie On Home-Made Spoon

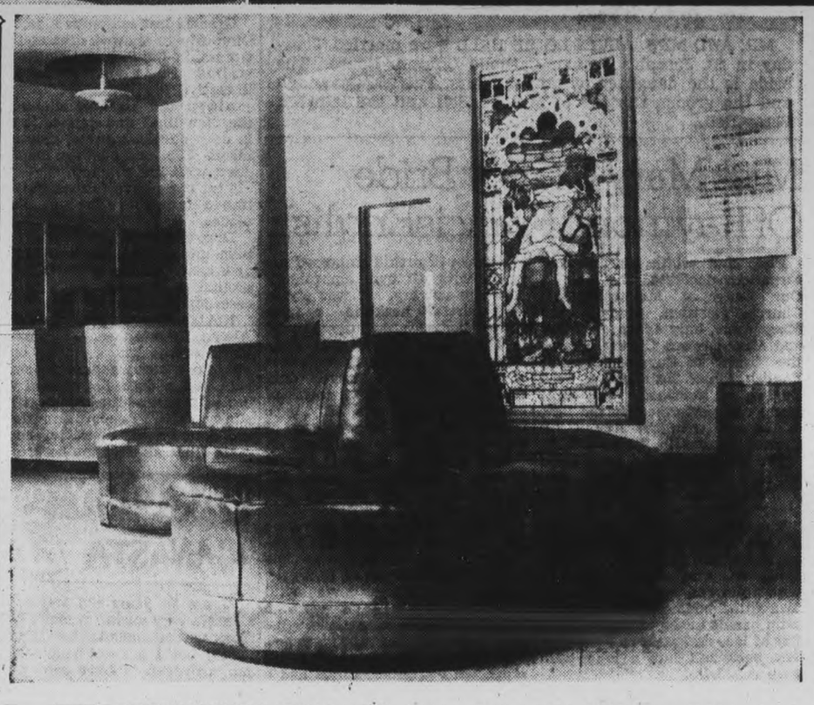
Twenty-one pounds of muskie can be chalked up for Charles Sharp of Detroit, who picked up the big one trolling on the north side of the Chemong causeway with a home-made spoon.

Mr. Sharp, who worked 30 years ago in the office of The Examiner during the ownership of R. M. Glover, was fishing with a friend, Horace Lewis, Toronto.

The fish fought an underwater battle all the way, and 15 minutes passed before it was boated.

BUS CHANGE

No extra buses will be run for the week-end inspection, today and Sunday, of the new Civic Hospital. Only change will be on Sunday, when the Jackson Park buses will travel west on Charlotte St. to Dobbin Ave., following the route of the Charlotte west buses, which do not run Sundays.



NEW PETERBOROUGH CIVIC HOSPITAL will be open for public inspection on Sunday and commence receiving maternity patients Wednesday. Above are some pictures of the interior. Hospital Rates Undergo Little Change

A rumor that unusually high rates would be in force at the new Civic Hospital has been squelched by superintendent John Hornal.

Mr. Hornal told The Examiner Friday that at the most, rates would show no greater increase than 50 cents over rates in the old Civic Hospital. Nine rooms, however, will be exceptions. They are luxury rooms and will cost $12 a day.

Other private rooms in the new hospital will be $9 a day. Most expensive in the old Civic were two rooms which were $9. The remainder of the old hospital's private rooms were $8.50 a day.

Semi-private rates in the new Civic will be for the most part $7, although some, slightly smaller, will be $6.50 daily. Rates for semi-private rooms at the old Civic were $7.

No change will be noticed in the rates for public, four-bed wards. Charge for them will remain at $5 a day.

Babies cost less than adults to keep in hospital. Nursery rates are $2.50 a day for babies of patients in private and semi-private wards, and $2 a day for babies of patients from public wards.

The expensive private rooms at $12 a day, are, according to Mr. Hornal, "not high compared with rates in hospitals in other cities for comparable quarters."

Visitors to the hospital this week-end will be given mimeographed copies of the rates obtaining.

Maternity Section Opens Wednesday At New Hospital

First of the departments in the new Civic Hospital to be opened will be the maternity department, which is expected to open Wednesday, August 2. It will be open for business at 8 a.m. that day. The new hospital is nearly finished. Bulldozers and trucks are working on the landscaping at the front of the building, and workers inside are cleaning floors, preparing it for public inspection Saturday and Sunday.

One feature of the maternity rooms in the hospital is the psychological paint job that has been done.

Architects' specifications demanded colors recommended by color experts as the best for patients in particular rooms. The wall nearest the patient is a light pink, in contrast with a light green on the other walls. It is designed to make the patient look and feel better.

The cafeteria is nearly finished and from the windows, has a magnificent view overlooking the city. Colors in the cafeteria are bright and tables and chairs match the walls and pillars. Chairs are upholstered in leatherette.

Furnishings Complete

The rooms — private, semi-private, and public wards — are complete with beds, chairs, chests and lockers, as well as the tables which fit over beds to hold trays and books.

The beds themselves are a relatively new development for Canadian hospital furniture. For baths, examinations and such like, they can be cranked up to 27 inches above the floor. At night, for the ease of patients who may want to get out, they are moved down to 18 inches above the floor.

Each room has one large easy chair in wood and leatherette, a footstool, two plain chairs, venetian blinds and bright drapes.

Luxury For $12

The luxury private rooms, which rent at $12 daily, have private baths, telephones and other luxuries not usually asked for. Ordinary private rooms, at $9 a day, have fewer luxuries, but just as much comfort.

The chapel, which is located on the second floor, is completed, and holds three pews. The carpet is a soft green sculptured wall-to-wall affair. The pews are upholstered in cream leatherette, and the large stained glass window is at the west side of the room.

Although the front doors are not yet open, the lobby is complete. Entering by one of four front doors, visitors walk up either of two sets of stairs set at the right and left, coming onto the main lobby where there is a large, green-upholstered, kidney-shaped couch with seats on either side and the back-rest in the middle.

In the kitchen, all has been set up for several days, and meals have been served, though not in quantity.

Find Dead Woman Lying On Stairs

LINDSAY, July 29.—Mrs. Emma Knight was found dead lying half way up a flight of stairs in her home Friday morning, when Gerald Phelp and Constable J. Hunter visited her home, 21 Lindsay St. south, during the morning.

Police Chief Webster explained that Mr. Phelp had gone to transact some business with Mrs. Knight, but received no answer at the house. He became alarmed and called the police.

Neighbors said they had seen nothing of Mrs. Knight for the past four days. She was in her early sixties.

Tourists Flock To Jaycees Booth On Charlotte St.

Information and plenty of it is what the Junior Chamber of Commerce Booth on Charlotte St. near the CNR station, is handing out this year to American, Canadian and even Peterborough tourists.

Brought into the centre of the city after spending last summer on Highway 28 west of the Kawartha Golf Club, the booth is doing a much bigger business.

Seen from the booth ,the tourist picture this year is pretty good although there was a definite dip two weeks ago with many cancellations of reservations. But the first war scare seems to be over and American tourists have started coming across the border again. Generally cool weather, however, has apparently cut down the tourist traffic some.

Some lodges and camps in the Kawartha district have several vacancies, but others are full.

Bill Duigan, who runs the information booth daily for the Jaycees, reported that more and more tourists are asking for housekeeping cabins where they can do their own cooking. So far there are not many of these cabins available.

Tourists are also for cabins with built-in showers and toilets. There just aren't any in the Peterborough district.

Most enquiries are for directions to towns, lakes and lodges through the area. Many ask where they can get rooms or cabins for their holidays. There are plenty asking the way to the life lock and want to know the time table of when it is operating.

Many also drop in on their way back to report they found good accommodation at various lodges. Mr. Duigan said there are few complaints, but there is some objection to having to pay 6.50 for year-round individual fishing licenses by men fishing only for a week or two.

One tourist said he would not fish at all rather than pay the license fee.

Fishermen who have been successful, drop in to ask how they can get them (including pan fish) back home. They are directed to the companies who pack them in dry ice for shipment.

The city of Peterborough has come in for its share of praise from the visitors. They comment that the city is clean and attractive and they like the well-kept parks. They also like the shopping district, saying that although grocery prices are all right, other prices are a little higher than they are used to.

The booth's staff gets all sorts of enquiries. Today a young man looking for work came around for help. He was given such aid as there was.

An American told Mr. Duigan he knew of a way to make millions of dollars in Canada. He pointed out there were no beer advertisements in Canada. The man who started putting up signs advertising beer would make a fortune.

"It's a good idea, but there's a provincial law against it," he was to. .

Banker Breaks Leg In Omemee Game

OMEMEE, July 29 (ENS)—A 20-year-old bank teller, John Marsh of Omemee, suffered a fractured left leg Friday night in a church baseball game between youth groups from Bethel and Omemee.

Marsh was playing first base for Omemee when a Bethel runner headed for first, hitting the bag and Marsh's leg at the same time. The leg was broken just above the ankle.

Marsh was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

U.S. Tourist Fears Wild Indians; Won't Go North

Bill Duigan, who runs the Junior Chamber of Commerce Information booth on Charlotte St. is used to all sorts of odd questions, but Thursday he got a question that floored him.

A visitor from Indiana came to the booth and said he was looking for good fishing and beautiful scenery.

Mr. Duigan suggested he go north to Haliburton and then spread out a map to show the tourist how to get there and what was there when he arrived. At the top of the map there was a section of Algonquin Park shown.

When the American saw Algonquin Park, he shied away, saying, "No, I don't want to go all that way."

Mr. Duigan said, "It's not so far, and the country is really beautiful."

"Yes," said the American, "but are the Indians friendly!"?

Spruce Up Frocks With Fresh Flowers

By ALICIA HART

You don't have to restrict your wearing of fresh flowers to those special occasions when the florist knocks on your door. Corsages are nice, both for building morale and for adding that extra fillip to important affairs. But you are limiting yourself if you depend upon them alone for your flower accents.

The role flowers can play in supplying that important dash of color to your costume was pointed up in the spring when artificial flowers hit new heights of popularity. Now that summer's here, fresh flowers are coming into the spotlight.

With blossoms abundant everywhere from country gardens to city vendors' baskets, it's neither necessary nor clever to wait wistfully for beau or husband to send you flowers. Too often they choose the wrong color anyway.

Select them yourself, to enliven your clothes, to enhance your personality and to underline your moods. Big boldly-colored flowers such as dahlias or tulips give a dramatic effect when worn singly on shoulder or waist or handbag They are particularly effective against dark cottons or linens.

Small-petalled pastels add daintiness to summer sheers Weave them as a cluster into your pearls. Or string them into garlands to wear as wristlet, necklace or even as a border on the peplum or neck-line of your pockets as if they were baskets.

For formal wear, try cascading carnations down your skirt. Or let sweetheart roses fall down your shoulder at the end of varying lengths of satin ribbon.

For evening hair adornment, pompom flowers like chrysanthemums are attractive worn Oriental style above your ears These are best with severe, swept-back hair-dos. For fluffier styles, sprinkle tiny flowers among your curls.

NATURE UNSPOILED

YOURS TO PROTECT

The GOLDFINCH is the common "canary" we see all-year round. The male is solid yellow, with black cap, wings and tail. The yellow warbler is all yellow. In winter he's much duller in color. He lives on seeds, beetles and insects, and should be protected.

Scottish Angoras Hit High In Sales

LONDON—(Reuters)— Export sales at the autumn fashion showings are better than last year.

Overseas buyers like the short skirts—some are as much as 17 inches off the ground—and the Scottish angora coats and many other new high-fashion fabrics from Scotland.

But they do not seem to like such 1912 touches as tweeds trimmed with braid., and some aspects of the 1920 look, including the sacque coats, are not going down too well.

Muffs—survival of even earlier years — have found favor. Peter Russell has suits in velour or velvet, with matching muffs, lined with the same silk as is used for the blouses worn with the suits.

Buyers also like Peter Russell's tailored jersey dresses in both silk and wool, to be worn under tweed or fur coats.

The same house shows tall hats with close brims, and some of these are also going overseas.

The Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, who makes a specialty of shimmery gossamer-like materials, is showing dresses in tulle embroidered in passementerie, in what may best be rescribed as Siamese-cat colors—ranging from pale cream through biscuit to the deepest brown.

Another popular model, from Mattli, is a gold-meshed dinner dress. Heavyweight Scottish angora coats from Ronald Patterson are another favorite.

British Dolls Very Versatile

LONDON, —(CP)—British doll manufacturers are producing a variety of animated dolls which should capture their share of export dollars.

One model, the "crawling baby," with a clockwork motor can be made to crawl along the floor. Made with a warm, flesh color, it is accompanied with patterns for etxra clothes

A talking doll, named "baby Lou," is a lifelike model, with skin that can be bathed and powdered. "Lou" will probably be sounding off nearly all the time, as she sob.. when pinched, cries when spanked and coos when cuddled.

One of the top designs incorporates an ingenious sound-track which reproduces a human voice With a repertoire of singing, speaking, laughing and gurgling, it can say "mummy pick me up" and various other phrases. It has even been made to sing a Spanish nursery rhyme.

Stocking Racket Halted In England

LONDON, July 29 (Reuters).—The government has taken steps to block the latest dodge by British women to overcome the shortage of nylon stockings.

Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, announced Friday in the Commons measures to stop nylon-starved women from obtaining British-made stockings by mail order from Gibraltar.

The board had asked manufacturers not to export nylons to Gibraltar except "for the genuine domestic requirements of the people there."

"United Kingdom manufacturers have been warned that their performance in this respect will be taken into account when yarn allocations are being worked out and they are, in fact, co-operating," Wilson added.

What's Right?

When a guest in another's home you are offered a cocktail.

WRONG: Say, "I don't drink."

RIGHT: Say: "No thank you," as the other reply is likely to sound disapproving.

✧ ✧ ✧

You receive a wedding present from a friend who says, "If you have duplicates, please exchange my gift"—and you do have a duplicate of it.

WRONG: Feel you can't exchange her gift, even though you have her permission to do so without seeming unappreciative.

RIGHT: Realize that she wants you to have what you need or she wouldn't have told you to feel free to exchange the gift.

Declared Dead She Celebrates 60 Years Later

MAIDENHEAD, England — (Reuters) — Members of three generations of the Seymour family will shortly meet in this Thameside town to commemorate the "death," 60 years ago, of Mrs Francis Seymour.

When they sit down to diner their hostess will be — Mrs. Frances Seymour.

At 88, Mrs. Seymour (she stands less than five feet tall, turns the scales at only 86 pounds) is something of a medical miracle. In 1890 she "died" on the operating table at a London hospital.

At least two of the three surgeons who operated on her for acute septic poisoning pronounced her dead. She stopped breathing for two minutes, and her temperature dropped below the point regarded as the minimum at which a human being can live.

These two surgeons, satisfied that their fight to save the young woman's life had failed, stood back, removed their masks and looked questioningly at the third surgeon.

Has Idea

But their colleague did not join them in defeat; instead, acting on a sudden idea, he took the limp body in his arms and carried it from the theatre.

Running along the corridors, he shouted directions, and in a few seconds the corpse of Frances Seymour was stretched out on a huge block of ice.

And—the corpse came back to life.

Looking back, Mrs. Seymour says the worst part was not waking up to find she had been "put on ice," but the hectic six weeks which followed. She was the hospital's prize exhibit, and leading physicians queued to examine the woman who literally "froze to life."

"The ice made me shiver so much that the movement — and maybe the shock, too — brought back my circulation, and with it my breathing," she says

Mrs Seymour will celebrate the diamond jubilee of her "death" by entertaining the family and friends to a home-cooked dinner.

And there will probably be ice cream for dessert—Mrs Seymour is a great believer in refrigeration.

MR. AND MRS. ALVIN LOUIS BELL were married Tuesday in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Douro. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cavanagh and the groom, the son of Mrs. H. Bell and the late Mr. Percy Bell.

Miss Mary Clancy Bride Of Raymond Francis English

Pink and white gladioli and carnations decorated the altar of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Hastings, today, when Mary Anne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clancy became the bride of Raymond Francis English, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred English of Norwood. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Garvey, with the Rev. C. J. Carroll present in the sanctuary.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. E. Pettigrew, and Mrs. F. Daley sang "Ave Maria" and other wedding hymns.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white baronet satin. It was made with a nylon yoke, finished with a net and satin ruffle joined to a fitted bodice with a skirt of satin panels in the centre and ruffles of lace and satin on each side. The back fell into a long train with lace trim.

She wore a circular finger tip veil of silk illusion with deep edging of chantilly lace caught to a tufted hand-beaded tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of red bettertime roses.

Miss Marian English, the groom's sister ,attended the bride in a gown of orchid embossed organdy with all over embroidery of white velvery. It was styled with portrait neckline, a form fitting bodice gracefully shirred to a full skirt with draped hemline caught up with tiny clusters of violets above a shirred frill. Her crownless picture hat was of orchid net with chantilly lace trim and she carried a cascade of yellow Queen Elizabeth roses.

The groomsman was Gerald Clancy, brother of the bride, and ushers were John Clancy and Fred English Jr.

A reception was held following the marriage ceremony at Edgewater Park, Campbellford. The bride's mother received in a grey figured silk jersey gown with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore dawn grey silk crepe with grey accesories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For a motor trip to the Niagara district and United States the bride wore a dress of rosebud pink sheer with grey topcoat and white accessories.

On their return the couple will live in Peterborough.

Fashion Displays Differ In Paris and New York

NEW YORK, —(Reuters)—The striking difference between a Paris and a New York show is felt from and moment you enter the doorway.

At Jacques Fath's Paris establishment the usual procedure represents a 15 minute struggle before you are seated; the first step being to fight your way through a mob of uninvited guests at the door way, trying to talk their way in.

This accomplished, you must find the little gilded chair bearing your name, which is usually occupied by a back row stranger. This calls for some polite conversation. An hour's waiting ensues; a Paris show never starts on time.

Jacques Fath's New York show at the Waldorf Astoria recently was a striking contrast. There was no rush, no jam, and even a few unoccupied seats. The orchestra played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the show started on the dot.

The courtesy on the part of a foreign designer in starting his show with only the national anthem of this country created a favorable atmosphere. But, from the moment the show begins you are in no special country but at Jacques Faths. Even the beautiful American models have assimilated that look which typifies Fath among all other designers. At a quick glance they could easily be taken for one of their Paris colleagues.

The overall impression created by a day of New York shows is a big bravo to the American models who always come on with a pleasant smile and look happy to display their clothes.

Paris Translation

The Fath line is an excellent translation of his Paris gowns They are adapted to leave Mrs America all her freedom while maintaining the chic Parisian look of the narrow silhouette

The dresses are most often sheath to just above knee height where either a deep pleated hem line or a side pleat give freedom of action. The Paris version of these same gowns necessitates a slow mincing step; whereas the American version permits a healthy stride. Evening gowns are all floor sweeping. This should be a style setting forecast for next winter. Skirt length are shorter than at any other American collection but slightly longer than in Paris, where Jacques Fath has shown some daring just below knee length.

The colors most strongly endorsed were caramel, tangerine, orange peel with bankers grey, a favorite in the basic types.

American, the country of specialists, has carried this theory right into the fashion field.

The Martini Dress Corporation showed a collection designed exclusively for "the not so tall woman." Contrary to the universal idea 76 per cent of the American woman are in the 5 foot four and under group, These women are fashion conscious and want the "new look" of today, but so often it is unwearable for them if not adopted.

Alterations are expensive and the effects is never as harmonious as if the gown was built for the "petite" woman. Proportions of lapels, pockets, pleats and fullness that need abbreviations are among the numerous problems that must be solved The same theory is applied to hats which are scaled to put in value diminutive faces.

Grandmothers Get Hospital Holiday

TIVERTON, Devon, England — (CP).—Two weeks a year in hospital is one doctor's idea of a break for grandmother—and the family.

At a hospital here, Dr. Thomas Rudd noticed that many elderly persons, sent to hospital because relatives could not look after them during illness, never returned home.

Under a present arrangement, grandmother is sent home on the understanding that she can return to hospital for two weeks during the summer.

"Relatives will go on looking after the old lady with more confidence if they know that they will get a holiday break and avoid cracking up themselves," said Dr. Rudd.

The Ministry of Health will encourage other hospitals to do the same.

Night Weddings Favored by Brides

JOHANNESBURG, (CP). — Night weddings are becoming more popular in the Union of South Africa.

One reason is that many brides find it more convenient for their working friends to attend if the ceremony is held at night.

Another reason, clergymen say, is that brides believe they look more glamorous and ethereal under electric light.

See Long Hair Paris Vogue This Winter

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, July 29 (AP)—It looks as though long hair will be the vogue in Paris next winter.

Mannequins wearing the new fall models at the fashions shows are letting their hair grow.

Jacques Fath's mannequins whose hair is always dressed by Gorgel, famous Paris hair stylist, have pompadour styles finishing well below the ears at the back.

Christian Dior girls, who get their new coiffures from Georgel's rival, Guillaume, are wearing wispy buns of short hair on their necks, plus "Dior Chignons" on top of their heads. The chignons are cone-shaped topknots made of plaited hair.

All though the short-hair craze, Spanish designer Balenciaga has made his mannequins stick to large chignons worn low on the neck.

Fall fashions that looked as though they were out of a musical comedy were shown Friday by the youngest designed in Paris, 24-year-old Alwyn.

Figure-Revealing

Greeted last season as a second Dior, Alwyn showed dresses that were skin-tight and figure-revealing. Fur trimming was used liberally.

Alwyn call his new silhouette the "fan line" and carries it out in deep purple, mauves, grey and black. Hips and bust are emphasized with fan drapery.

Tent coats have fullness falling like a fan from the shoulder blades.

Dresses have necklets of silver-blue mink, black lamb or ocelot and bands of the same fur laid around the hips or rimming the cascades of drapery.

Hobble dresses are shown by Alwyn for evening. A dress in black velvet had a halter built up into a neckband of leopard-skin and a deep flounces of the same fur around the bottom of the slinky skirt. Lepoardskin flowers dotted with black jet beads were stuck all over the bodice.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"I am 79 years old and enjoy Canasta very much," writes a New York correspondent.

"I'll bet I am not your oldest fan, however. I have seen some people playing the game, and they seem to be twice as old as I am!

"In a game the other night, the opponent at my right picked up the last card of the stock pile and discarded an eight. It happened that I had a meld of six eights on the table. I wanted to pick up that eight to complete my canasta. The discard pile was fairly large, and I thought that I was entitled to that also.

"My opponent claimed that her discard ended the hand and that I was not allowed to take the discard pile.

"Who is right in this matter?"

I am sorry to say that my young correspondent was prefectly right. She was entitled to pick up the eight to complete her canasta; and she was also entitled to the rest of the discard pile.

When a player draws the last card of the stock, the hand does not necessarily come to an end. If he discards without having melded out, the next player has a chance at that discard.

As a matter of fact, if you can take that discard with cards that you have on the table you are compelled to take the discard (and the rest of the discard pile). If you can take that discard only by means of cards that you hold in your hand, you may decide whether or not to take it. (This will be the case if the deck is frozen or if you are given a chance to make a completely new meld.)

There is one exception to this rule. If the player who draws the last card of the stock finds that the last card is a red three, he may meld, but is not permitted to discard. After he has finished melding the hand comes to an end then and there.

Q—Are you allowed to put your red threes on the table before your first turn to play?

A—There is no penalty for doing so. It is confusing, and sometimes causes players to forget to draw enough cards. The proper procedure is to wait until your turn to play. Then you put down all the red threes you have in your hand.

Your next step is to draw from the stock pile to replace those red threes. When your hand once more contains 11 cards, you are a free agent. Your hand has been replenished, and you are at liberty to draw either from the discard pile (assuming you can make the initial meld legally) or from the stock pile.

Q—Are you compelled to ask your partner's permission to meld out when you are in a position to do so?

A—No. You are allowed to meld out without asking anybody's permission. If you wish to hear your partner's opinion in the matter, you may ask him; but there is no compulsion to do so. In a great many typical Canasta situations, the best play is to meld right out without saying a word to anybody. However, of course, there are many other situations in which it is wise to ask your partner for permission to meld out.

Miss Doris Irene Brown Bride of Arthur Peterson

At the home of the Rev. E. W. Rowland, Miss Doris Irene Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown, was married on Thursday to Mr. Arthur Edward Peterson, son of Mrs. E. Peterson and the late Mr. Henry Peterson. Mr. Rowland officiated.

Wearing a street length dress of blue sheer with white picture hat and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses, the bride was attended by Mrs. Tom Hartman, who wore a yellow sheer dress with white accessories, flowered headdress and yellow roses.

Mr. Tom Hartman was best man.

At the bride's home Mrs. Brown received the guests, wearing navy with white. The groom's mother, who assisted, was dressed in grey.

The bride and groom left for a trip to the U.S. and for travelling, the bride wore a navy and white sun dress with white accessories.

On their return they will live at 748 Orpington Rd.

2 Purpose Jewelry Becoming Very Popular in Britain

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON. (CP)— Two-purpose jewelry is becoming as popular in Britain as the many-purpose "separates" so fashionable in women's wear.

The queen has had several pieces of jewelry adapted along these lines, one of the most notable being the beautiful diamond crown which holds the Koh-I-Noor and the second and third Stars of Africa.

The crown now can be opened and worn tiara-style, while the Koh-I-Noor is detachable for wear as a brooch.

The Koh-I-Noor, or "Mountain of Light" diamond, can be traced to the 14th century. It passed into British possession from the Punjab in the reign of Queen Victoria. Originally it weighed 186 1/16 carats, but was cut in 1851 to 106 1/16.

Tiaras again take front rank among jewelry chosen for grand occasions. Most of these now are broken into brooch and dress clips for wear at lesser functions. Chandelier earrings are adapted by removal of the chandelier drop.

Diamonds popular

Diamonds are popular again and diamond stars are the choice for lapels of tailored suits and coats.

The Edwardian "dog-collar" is the latest choice for "will-power" necklines, and, for those who can afford it, a diamond dog-collar is most popular. Less expensive are the old Venetian styles made in topaz, garnet and amethyst.

Women are advised to have choker styles made to measure. Says an official of the National Jewellers' Association: "Very careful measurements have to be taken to produce the correct tight effect round the neck."

For those who prefer precious metals to precious stones, there are collars of gold or platinum, three strands deep, plain, engraved or studded with stones.

Newly popular is a jewelled wing collar of tiny pearls, 1½ inches deep. It is fastened at the base of the winged "V" by tiny jewelled clasps.

Cat Avalanche Expected Soon

OTTAWA, (CP). — The trouble with a cute kitten in the spring is that it's likely to become a stray cat by summer. That's why come August the Ottawa Humane Society will be expecting its "annual avalanche of cats."

It's nothing for the organization to collect as many as 500 cats in a month during the summer season, says K. G. Switzer who is in charge of the society's animal shelter in South Ottawa.

Cats and dogs are the most popular guests in this vine-covered rambling building which for the last 17 years has done double duty as shelter and city pound.

But on occasion birds, a couple of bears, even a deer, have turned up among the star boarders.

And for a couple of days this spring temporary lodging was given a sad looking ground-hog freed by Humane Society inspectors from the cold-air system of a house in fashionable Rockcliffe.

How the ground-hog got in there only he knows.

Miniature Battle Fought At Petawawa

PETAWAWA, July 29—(CP)—Units of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, the Princess Louise Dragoons and the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa took part in a miniature battle in an isolated valley along the Ottawa River Friday.

More than 2,000 civilians and military personnel from Petawawa Summer Training Camp lined a bluff overlooking the scene. Vampire jets, diving from great heights, peppered the ground targets with fire. Machine guns stuttered, rifles barked and mortars tossed their deadly missiles.

Paratroopers from the Royal Canadian Regiment came swinging down in a parachute jump from an RCAF Dakota, formed swiftly, and in a sudden attack shattered a radar location shed into thousands of flying fragments.

Spectators jumped when the Piat, Canada's ace anti-tank weapon, sent its missile far out in the terrain to explode with an ear-splitting crash. Sten, Bren and other machine guns sent tracers leaping in long lines of fire across the battle ground, only a few feet above the heads of dug-in troops. Trees crashed to the ground under a withering ground fire.

No Dummy Shells

There are no dummy shells at Petawawa. Everything is loaded and everything is operable.

In all, more than 1,100 reserve troops now are in camp, bringing the total strength to some 2,500 men. The camp is the home of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

More than 8,000 reserves will pass through the camp during the eight-week training period. Reserve units are reported to be at greater strength than at any time since the last war.

Jeep Trotters Safe

HALIFAX, July 29 (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carlin, attempting to circle the globe in an amphibious jeep, were reported safe Friday. An amateur radio operator reported the two adventurers are safe about 450 miles east of Halifax.

Spinster Needs Less Pity Than Many Married Women

Not long ago I attended a wedding at which the youngest of four sisters were being married.

Dorothy Dix

The oldest sister was approaching spinsterhood and little murmurs of sympathy for her ran around the room. "Poor Sally, all the girls married but her!" "This must be hard on her!" "I feel so sorry for her! "Such a nice girl and she would make some man such a fine wife. I wonder why she never got a husband." And so on, and so on.

I looked at Sally, handsome, well-groomed, well-dressed, vigorous and vital, alert and wide-awake, gay and smiling. I thought of the good job she held and her interesting and useful and prosperous life and it seemed to me that she was no object of pity, and that there was no cause for any one to shed tears over her.

Then I looked at her sisters. At Mary, who had married a good enough sort of chap, only he was one of the futile kind who never knew how to get along No money-maker. Out of a job half the time, and Mary had grown old before her time trying to make ends meet and agonizing over where the rent was to come from and food for the hungry little mouths of her children.

Her Husband Drinks

And I looked at Katie, who had married a handsome youth with a "way" with him with women, who drank too much and who soon tired of do esticity. And I thought of the long nights in which she had waited and watched for the drag of a drunken footstep; of the jealousy that seared her soul as she pictured him having affairs with other women; of the shame that bowed her head into the dust as she knew herself that most forlorn and hopeless of women—a neglected wife.

And I looked at the bride marrying a boy with no especial ability, with only a small salary and no money laid up, letting herself in for a life of poverty and hardships and privations.

And I wondered as I looked at the married sisters and at the unmarried one, at the sentimental obsession that makes us still pity the modern old maid. It is easy to understand why the spinster was considered a subject for compassion in the past, when marriage was the only respectable gainful occupation open to women, when they had to hang on to their husbands' coat-tails to get into society, and when whatever pleasure and interest they had in life had to come through the men to whom they were married.

In those days the old maid had no life of her own whatever. She had to annex herself to some relative who didn't want her. She had no outlet for her energies and her family looked upon her as a failure because she did not succeed in the great feminine objective of inveigling some man to the altar.

But the position of the unmarried woman is so changed now that it is hard to understand why we still have this hangover about the desirability of every woman having a husband, no matter what sort of man he is, or what he has to offer her.

And still more curious is the fact that many women feel that way about it themselves. They are not in love. They have no cosmic urge toward matrimony. But they are held by the old tradition that it is a sort of disgrace for a woman to be an old maid and that it marks her as a failure as a woman and shows that she somehow lacked ttractions.

Can Do As She Pleases

This in the face of the fact that to the unmarried woman every door of opportunity is open and the limit of what she can do is bounded by her own ability. She can have her own home if she chooses. She has her own money that she can spend as she pleases. She doesn't have to work half so hard as the average married woman and she has more pleasures and indulgences and better clothes. She doesn't have to put up with a grouchy husband nor stand for the criticism of one nor ask one's permission for what she does. And so it is hard to see why being an old maid is regarded as a calamity.

Of course, no one will deny that a happy marriage is the most blessed estate in the world and the nearest we ever get to an earthly paradise. Nor is any woman so fortunate as she who gets a husband who is faithful and true, kind and considerate and tender and sympathetic, and who keeps her safe and sheltered from the storms of life.

If every woman who married was sure of getting such a mate, then indeed might we pity the fate of the old maid. But such husbands are as rare as hen's teeth and the woman who marries one is the favorite daughter of Lady Luck. The average girl who marries the average man finds marriage a life sentence at hard labor with more kicks than ha'pence in it, and it is work while only if she loves her husband enough to make her glad to sacrifice herself for him.

This is the common experience of wives and it is what makes it so queer that they pity old maids.

Mr. Midshipman

He must have had many friends among the UE Loyalists, through his mother's family, the Von Geyers of Boston, whose descendants, to this day, have the right to be burried on Boston Common.

Frederick Marryat was born in 1792 and went to sea as a Midshipman in 1806 in the "Imperieuse' under Lord Cochrane, serving first in the Mediterranean and then in various European theatres of war till 1815, when, at the age of 23, he held the rank of Commander. He was then sent to Burma and India, and in 1824 became the senior naval officer of the station. For his service in this theatre of war he was made a Commander of the Bath. He also received the Legion of Honor from the French King Louis Philippe for his work in the invention of the Code of Signals. He died August 8, 1848.

In his "Diary in America" he favored a Government sponsored policy of emigration for Upper Canada, rather than the poorly organized schemes whereby poor people were induced to emigrate by the overly optimistic propaganda of land companies.

He was a prolific letter-writter and the correspondence, some of which might be found in the Dominion Archives, would be useful for such a local historian as Howard Pammett.

Recalls Women Worked As Cheesmakers

MARMORA, July 29 (ENS) — Mrs. Daniel Miller of Belair, Maryland, U.S.A., is spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Bateman.

Mrs. Miller is a native of Madoc township, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Devolin.

The Devolin family is among the pioneer families who came from Ireland to settle in Madoc township.

Before her marriage Mrs. Miller was a cheesemaker. At that same period, women were not uncommon in this industry.

Mrs. Miller learned to make cheese in the Alexander factory east of Madoc. Later she was the assistant at the Spring Hill factory near O'Hara's School House and last of all, made cheese for James Spry in the factory in the Spry Settlement.

Progress In Township

out a townsite in 1851, and called it Lakefield. The post office was opened as North Douro, 1847, by Robert Casement.

Otonabee in 1832 had 862 people in 213 houses, assessed value $46,724, taxes $224, including the "Scotch Village." Road Commissioners Rubidge, Whitlaw, Carr, and Hope sent $1,000 in the 1830s on the roads, especially the one from Rice Lake to Peterborough. Within a few miles of Peterborough, farms of 200 acres with 20-30 acres cleared cost $2,000 to $4,000, and wild land $22 an acre. At Keene, Gilchrist's store competed with a branch of Campbell's of Cobourg, and a store run by Thomas Carr, first postmaster, with his partner Thomas Short. In 1832 the Fourth Concession School under William Coulter had 21 children, and the Keene School under Thomas Dennehy 20 children; in this school Rev. A. Colquhoun held Presbyterian services from 1833 on. Helson started a tannery nearby.

Asphodel in 1832 had 265 people in 55 households, 767 acres cultivated, assessed value $15,500 and taxes $80; by 1835 there were 428 people, and four frame houses. The first school, built 1830 at Keeler's Mills, had 22 pupils under J. Wilkins two years later; in 1833 Pinegrove School was started near the Humphries farm, Lot 1, Concession 3, taught by Major Sharpe; in 1834 near Walker's Bridge and Westwood, Lot 9, Concession 4 was another school taught by John Irwin; and in 1835 a fourth school, Lot 12, Concession 4, taught by William Hudson. At Keeler's Mills, the gristmill was improved in 1836, and the same year a Methodist church was erected with Rev. William Young officiating. Next year, Peter Pierce married Keeler's daughter and took charge of the mills, and James Foley, who had a distillery, started a store and post office near the mills. Soon after, Thomas Mullens, shoemaker, and Thomas Kirk, carpenter, began to ply their trades, but only in 1842 was the first tavern opened by Robert Hartley.

At Westwood, Wm. Owston of Cobourg in 1830 built a sawmill run by "Squire" Thomas Walker, Justice of the Peace and first postmaster. John Beckett had a distillery nearby. In 1836 Henry Fowlds, settled nearby, started the manufacture of potash and pearlash as subcontractor for Dr. Gilchrist of Keene. At Crooks' Rapids on the Trent, the government granted £400 to repair the bridge 1833-34, and 1837 built a dam across the river. This necessitated moving the Crooks mill 100 yards north, for which Crooks won £600 compensation in 1850. The miller, Henry Trout, in 1838 built a raceway to get his gristmill going again, and the same year built a small sawmill. Next year, Birdsall surveyed a townsite for Crooks near the mill.

Dummer: Z. Burnham had 3,000 acres of the best southern land; thus when Rubidge in 1831 had to settle 150 paupers sent out by the Marquis of Bath, 100 military pensioners who had commuted their pensions, and 1,700 others who came at their own expense, mostly from Wiltshire, England, he had to put most of them on stony lots in North Dummer, and in nearby townships. Although Rubidge had been severely critical of the Robinson settlement in 1825, he made the same mistakes six years later, admitting "No preparation had been made to receive so large a body, and some delay and expense took place in consequence, as I had after their arrival to get a road cut, cleared out and bridged to convey them to the township; to erect temporary shanties to shelter the people in Peterborough; to build shanties on their lots in the forests, and to procure supplies of provisions, teams, guides, etc." Each man was given a location ticket for 100 acres, and a few dollars with which to put up his own shanty; after four years each was expected to begin paying 1s. per acre each year for four years; after paying $80 he would get his patent. The food given was pork, flour and oatmeal, in smaller portions than in 1825; the newcomers received no oxen, supplies, or tools, and could make little headway in dense bush on poor soil.

Shiftless And Pensioners

September 2, 1831, Bethune, the Peterborough storekeeper, protested to the governor about the pensioners in Dummer, who were already deserting their families, spending their money in dissipation, and running up food bills on credit; a lot of the more shiftless of these gathered in "the squatters' ground" in western Peterborough; after much trouble the government restored their military pensions, and gave relief to the more needy from 1838 on. In 1832 the Glasgow Emigration Society sent out a group of Scottish paupers who were settled in Dummer on 50 acres each, with an option to buy 50 more acres nearby; most of these also moved within a year or two to more fertile soil, or went to work elsewhere. In 1839, after a trip to London during which he published an Emigrants' Guide full of errors and exaggerations about the Newcastle District, Rubidge came back leading 183 paupers from Colonel Wyndham's estate in south Ireland, consisting of 27 families and 28 young people and two babies born enroute; when they arrived at Cobourg, they were hired by farmers at £2 to 10 a month with board for men, and £1 a month for women. Government correspondence of the 1830's is full of reports about "the failure of the Dummer settlements . . . the improvident habits of the people," yet Rubidge boasted in 1847 "There is not a more flourishing township than Dummer in the district."

In 1832 Huston was paid £46, 5s. for resurveying part of Harvey and Dummer for new settlers, and two years later Burham built a sawmill and gristmill on Indian River where Warsaw now stands. Captain George Hill, who settled nearby in 1833, a year later published in Dublin a "Guide to Emigrants" warning them against speculators and poor soil; he later was District Warden and held other public offices. In spite of the government remitting payments on the lands, many settlers moved away, and in 1835 Dummer had only 693 people. Thomas Hartwell was manager of Burnham's mills and store, until 1835 when Thomas Choate, Burnham's nephew, took over as manager, and started also a cabinet shop and a cording-mill, as well as being postmaster, from 1839, at "Dummer Mills." In 1838 Rev. Colquhoun came to Warsaw from Keene, and held Presbyterian services in James McDonnell's house. A leading Dummer family were the Kidds, of whom Alex Senior and Alex. Junior, William, James, John, Robert, and Walter took up 200 acres each between 1831 and 1839, on concessions 1, 2, and 3. The first school was started about 1835 near John Kidd's farm, lot 5, con. 3, with Charles Murphy as teacher.

Committed For Trial On Theft Of Apples

COBOURG, July 29. (ENS) — John Argier of Toronto was committed for trial by Magistrate R. B. Baxter Friday on a charge of theft of apples over the value of $25 from Joe Persofsky of Colborne on March 22. Crown witnesses said that Argier took a load valued at $1,586.65 for delivery to a Montreal warehouse. On the way he was involved in an accident when his truck slid off the road.

Persofsky told the court that Argier came back after the accident and asked for a bill made out in his name so that he could collect the insurance for the damaged load. Persofsky said he learned later that the load had not been insured but was sold in Montreal and when Argier failed to make good the loss, he laid a charge against him.

Want Baby Asleep Don't Rock, Spank

VAL D'OR, Que. — (CP) — Indians at Great Lake Mistassini, in Northern Quebec, put their children to sleep by spanking them, says R.C.M.P. constable Paul Champagne.

Const. Champagne who recently visited the Indians, said that children are propped up in their papoose carrier while an older brother spanks them gently with a paddle.

A few whacks and the baby is asleep, tired out squirming away from the smacks.

BC Scout Hopes See King, Pope

MONTREAL, July 29 —(CP)— Bhagwa Sing, Duncan, B.C., had high hopes Friday as he started out on a round-the-world trip alone. He said he plans to see the King, visit the Pope and wander through war-torn Korea.

Bhagwa, who sailed on the Empress of France for Liverpool, is going overseas mainly to represent his family at his brother's wedding in Delhi, India, next month. Then he plans to spend nine months travelling.

He admitted he has no invitation from either the King or the Pope, but he is sure he will get to see them.

"I'll just knock on the door and ask if they'll see me," he said. "I know they'll let me in when they find out I'm a Boy Scout."

He figures it may be more difficult to get to Korea, where his only real worry would be falling into the hands of the Communists. "It would be dangerous at my age."

Bhagwa, a second class scout, is making his first trip away from home.

Ladies Association Enjoys Pot Luck Dinner

HASTINGS, July 29 (ENS)— Group two of the Ladies' Association of Trinity United Church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Cecil Oliver.

There were 16 members present and a pot luck dinner and tea was served by the hostess and the committee in charge.

The president, Mrs. F. C. Foster, presided for the business. Plans were made for the afternoon tea to be held on the lawn of Elon-Mere, the home of Mrs. F. C. Foster on August 15.

The worship was in charge of Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. W. Buck. The program was a reading by Mrs. Rymerson and a piano solo by Mrs. J. M. Baker. Mrs. Arnold Poole invited the members to her home for the September meeting.

New Course Record Set By Cobourg Pro

COBOURG, July 29—(ENS)— Lionel Ross, pro at the Cobourg Golf Club, yesterday established a course record of 67. Ross, who has been playing excellent golf this year, had six birdies, 11 pars and one bogie.

Last year both Ross and amateur Johnny Hayden shot a 68. Two years ago in the pro tourney here, Bill Kerr, of Toronto, also shot a 68. Ross was playing with Frank Pickford, of Cobourg, and two Toronto visitors, Ray Murray and Andy Sinclair.

Par for the Cobourg course is 72.

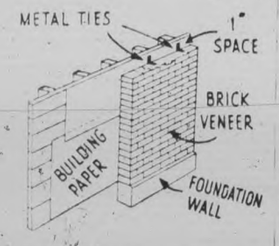
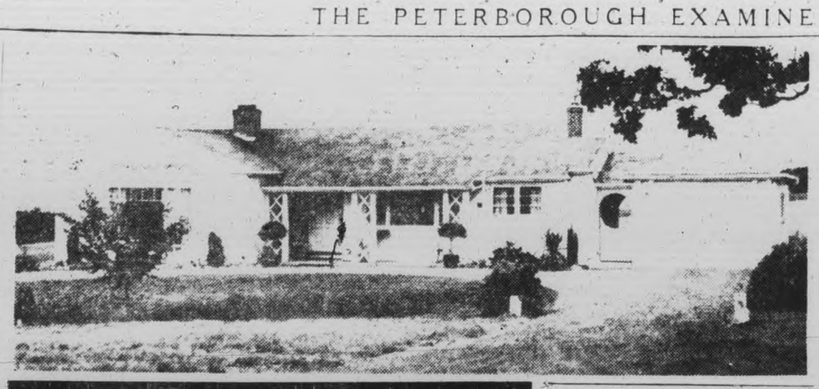
Use Good Materials For Brick Veneer Finish

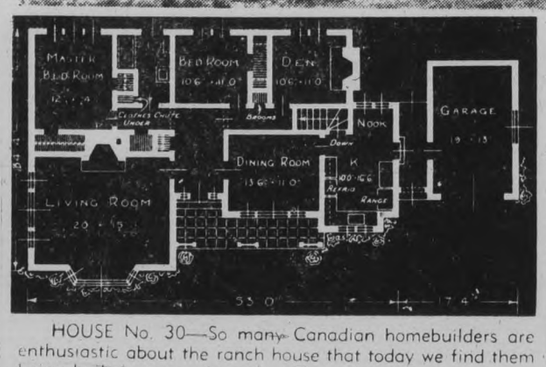
Brick veneer can make a satisfactory and pleasing exterior for your new home if good material is used and properly applied. Second-hand bricks may be used if the finish is to be painted but these should be of sound quality, with no chipped corners. Good brickwork requires that sufficient mortar be used to cover the full surface of the top and ends of each brick. Meagre use of mortar or other poor workmanship can reduce strength and create an easier passage for moisture through the walls.



Non-corrodible metal ties usually give the wall greater strength. One end of the tie is embedded in the mortar between the bricks, while the other end should be nailed securely to the sheathing. Spacing of the ties should not be more than 16 inches in any direction. A one-inch air space is customary between the inside surface of the brick and the building paper.

Construction of a stone veneer wall is basically similar to the procedure set out for brick veneer. An important factor to remember, for either type of finish, is that the veneer should rest on top of the foundation. For this reason, the width of the foundation wall should be designed to accommodate the brick or stone. A general guide explaining minimum requirements for materials and construction may be found in the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation Building Standards.





HOUSE No. 30—So many Canadian homebuilders are enthusiastic about the ranch house that today we find them being built in every province. The informal air, plus one-floor convenience, makes this type a favorite. Naturally, you do need a wide lot, and preferably one with a fine vista as well. This lovely home has everything a suburban ranch house ought to have. There are six rooms altogether, living room, dining room, two bedrooms, den, and kitchen with a breakfast nook. You'll notice that both the living room and the little den have open fireplaces, an unusual feature in a house of this size. Every member of the family will appreciate the all-weather route to and from the car. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Rockfeller Grants For Canadian Bodies

NEW YORK — (CP) — Grants to two Canadian organizations were noted this week in the quarterly report of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The Montreal General Hospital received a $30,000 grant during the second quarter of 1950 for Biochemical Research under the direction of Dr. Juda H. Quastel.

The Canadian Social Science Research Council received a $20,000 grant, $15,000 for fellowships and $5,000 for professorial leaves.

RELIABILITY & EXPERIENCE

Design Your New Home To Suit You Personally

No one ever thinks of buying a dress or suit that doesn't fit . . . yet countless Canadians each year make the unfortunate mistake of choosing a house that while a model of design, is completely ill-fitted for their mode of living. This is true even though a home is the biggest purchase of their lives, with a financial outlay that's around two hundred times as much as the same people pay for that suit which is so carefully chosen to fit.

There are countless examples that might be mentioned. John Brown and his happy-go-lucky wife, for instance. John's quite pudgy and jolly as can be . . . his only vice is a pair of carpet slippers that date back from Christmas 1938 and he wears them constantly at home. Mary makes the most delicious apple pies over and loves to spend a good deal of time nuttering around in her garden. They have a big English setter that's continually romping through the house, and their strictly informal parties are as likely as not to see a dart board set up in their pine-panelled kitchen, or corn popped over the living room fireplace.

But now . . . well, something seems wrong about their new home. You see, they decided on a Georgian style, demanding flawless murniture arrangements and perfect colour schemes, rich materials and elegant accessories . . . fitted for formal living, maid service and perfect appointments. It's not adjusted to John's slippers, informal entertaining or corn-popping.

A Formal House For Formal Living

It's simply a case of their house not fitting their personalities . . . it's pathetically wrong for their tastes and architecturally wrong for their way of living. John and Mary would have been far better off with jolly colors, liveable furniture arrangements, gay accessories and rooms informally combined. How much better Mary would feel with a pleasant decorated dining alcove rather than in the now formal Georgian dining room.

The reason for so many families finding themselves with attractive yet unliveable homes is not hard to find. Too many families simply don't take the time to take their family measurements. A little thought and time can make it possible to gauge your measurements accurately for the present and estimate them quite reliably for the future.

Fitting your home to you is first a matter of size. From the number of people in the family we may compute not only the amount of sleeping and living space necessary but even the number of kitchen cupboards that should be provided. But the individually and as they fit into the family scheme, you'll find housing needs will come quickly natural cycle of the family . . . from the time children are added until they leave the family circle . . . makes demands variable.

With this in mind we must plan for inevitably changing family requirements . . . not only considering the possibility of adding or subtracting rooms but also of rooms the use of which is changed as family demands are altered.

Ask yourself these questions before becoming too "sold" on any particular design. Would you live formally or informally . . . socially or in seclusion? Do you prefer traditional, modern or both? Do you like furnishings "smart" or "pretty"? Have you a strong preference for certain colours? What are the most important home attributes that contribute to your comfort, both physical and spiritual?

In a nutshell, determine how you spend your time . . . or how you would like to spend it when the homework of life is made easier. This question may be your key to the whole thing, for in plotting the daily activities of each member of the family into sharp focus. You won't choose a house because it looks good then . . . but we'll bet it will look good all the same.

Wool Industry Having Supply Trouble

NEW YORK, July 29—(AP)—The American Woollen Company, world's largest manufacturer of woollen and worsted fabrics, Friday withdrew all of its lines from new sales until further notice.

The company said the confused situation on raw wool supplies and costs and uncertain demands led to the action.

American Woollen, like many large textile manufacturers, has orders enough to keep its mills busy for some months to come.

At Montreal, Canadian manufacturers of woollen and worsted fabrics have not withdrawn their lines from sale but are still selling because of pressure from British manufacturers, a woollen representatives said Friday night.

The representative, who did not wish to be named, was commenting on a report from New York.

British manufacturers had lower wages, among other things in their favor, in competing for Canadian Sales.

"The fact is, of course, that the prices of raw wool are today at an all-time high," the spokesman said. "Despite this, Canadian manufacturers have had to follow a very cautious price policy and as a result of this pressure from British manufacturers, they are forced to consider increases in raw wool costs as another problem to be met rather than an opportunity to increase urices."

Must Be Happy To Rate With This Star

By GLORIA YARBROUGH

HOLLYWOOD, July 29 (AP) — "If you wanta be popular, you've got to be happy and gay." This from Gloria De Haven, who should know.

Gloria is one of the most sought-after girls in Hollywood, a community loaded with beautiful females. Her date list includes cinemaland's most eligible and desirable males.

Just back from a personal appearance in New York, Gloria said she dated Joe Dimaggio there. She arranged their meeting because she is a fan of his.

Sourpuss N. G.

"Nobody likes a sourpuss," she went on. "A sparkling personality is the best asset a girl can have.

"Everybody likes people who can smile easily and can bring them a little happiness. That doesn't mean you have to be a comedian. It just means being understanding and having a sense of humor. . .

'Of course, everyone likes to have someone they can tell their troubles to once in a whil ," she smiled. "But it is folly to go around crying on everybody's shoulder."

Personality Counts

"The same thing goes for men," she added. "I don't care about the physical appearance of a man. His personality is much more important to me.

"It's easy to be popular. But I don't go out quite as often as it gets printed.

"I seldom have a date while I'm working on a picture."

Dread Diphtheria Strikes Labrador Point

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 29 (CP)—A diphtheria outbreak has occurred at Hopedale in Northern Labrador, the Newfoundland Health Department said Friday.

A six-year-old boy died Wednesday of the disease, and the RCAF has flown a 15year-old girl to the Grenfell Mission Hospital, 40 miles north of Goose Bay, Labrador, for treatment.

Dr. Tony Paddon of the Mission Hospital was to be flown to the northern outpost today with toxoid and anti-toxin in an effort to stem the outbreak.

(At Halifax, an RCAF search and rescue said the six-year-old died en route by air to the hospital.

Word reaching St. John's is that at least two persons at Hopedale are in critical condition and others are suspected of having the disease.

Say McManus Just Selfish

MONTREAL, July 29 —(CP)—Two top officers of the Canadian Seamen's Union said Friday that Thomas Gerald (Gerry) McManus quit the C.S.U. for "selfish, individualistic reasons."

McManus, 50-year-old secretary-treasurer of the union, announced in Toronto Thursday that he was quitting that post and also the Communist Labor-Progressive Party. He said he could not support a party or organization which "supports a war of aggression on the one hand and advocates world peace on the other."

C.S.U. president Harry Davis and vice-president Conrad Sauras said in a prepared statement that McManus' announcement was "made solely for the benefit of anti-union forces wishing to split and disrupt the labor movement and in particular the coming convention of the Trades and Labor Congress."

The joint C.S.U. statement said McManus has not been functioning as an officer of the union since the end of March "because of conduct harmful to the best interests of the seamen."

CCF Must Adjust Policy World Conditions—Ruling

By DAVE STOCKHAND

VANCOUVER, July 29 (CP) — Belief that Socialism cannot be bound by an iron-clad pattern but must be molded to present day conditions dominated the CCF biennial national convention which ended here Friday night.

The party's national council has instructions, endorsed by rank-and-file delegates, to "prepare a statement of the application of democratic Socialist principles to Canada and the world today."

The convention, which opened Monday, hammered out a policy on national and international affairs to guide it for the next two years.

Friday night delegates reaffirmed their faith in the basic principles of the Regina manifesto, but decided it has not entirely escaped the tides of time.

The decision was in line with a statement earlier this week by M. J. Coldwell, who Friday was returned as national leader.

Lengthy Debate

There was lengthy debate on the manifesto, a statement of policy and principles formulated in 1933 by the nucleus of the CCF movement. It has been called the bible of Canadian Socialism.

David Lewis, retiring national secretary, said the principle behind the manifesto is "what we want to safeguard." Delegates "should not shudder" at the thought that times have changed and the CCF must search for a modern interpretation.

An opponent was Ernest Winch, old campaigner who helped draft the manifesto.

"So long as the Regina manifesto stands, we are safe," said the veteran member of the British Columbia legislature. "Marxism is the basis of the CCF and, if Marxism ceases to be, the CCF will cease to be."

International policy discussion was completed Friday when a resolution was endorsed urging formation of a true international police force. This force should replace troops now in countries other than their own, the C.C.F. added.

Would Outlaw A-Bomb

Outlawing of the atomic bomb was endorsed. The C.C.F. asked continuous international inspection as a necessary precaution.

The convention, first national C.C.F. convention to be held in B.C., criticized the Federal government. The Liberal administration was accused of betraying those who elected it, riding to victory on hollow promises.

Mr. Coldwell, national president and parliamentary leader since 1942, was re-elected by acclamation for a two-year term.

Percy Wright, M.P. for Melfort, Sask., was elected national chairman. He succeeds Frank Scott, Montreal professor of constitutional law who announced his retirement from the post.

Heads Vets Committee

TORONTO, July 29 (CP). — Walter S. Woods, retiring Federal Deputy Minister of Veterans Affairs, will be the first national chairman of veterans services of the Canadian Red Cross, it was announced Friday. As a volunteer, Mr. Woods will head a new committee combining all Red Cross veterans work, including soldiers' clubs, hospital visiting, hospital libraries, arts and crafts, welfare lodges and entertainment and film services.

Plea Withdrawn

OSHAWA, July 29 (CP). — What price legal talent?

William G. Harris, 18 whose father and two uncles are lawyers, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge Friday because he didn't want his family to know about the charge. Magistrate F. S. Ebbs ordered the plea withdrawn and remanded the youth to Aug. 25 when he admitted he wasn't prepared to pay a possible $100 fine.

Warning To Women

TORONTO, July 29 (CP). — Toronto police Friday warned women not to walk alone at night and to refuse rides from strangers. Warning followed a brutal attack early Friday on 18-year-old Mary Turner. She told police an attempt was made to rape her after a motorist picked her up as she waited for a streetcar.

Smash 2-Year Racket

MONTREAL, July 29 (CP).— A railway express detective from Boston and two Montreal city detectives Friday claimed to have smashed a two-year racket of thefts from railway express agency consignments reaching or leaving Montreal with the arrest of two REA employees here.

Douk Leader Suffers Haemorrhage In Jail

VANCOUVER, July 29 (CP)— Michael (the Archangel) Verigin, 70, spiritual leader of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor colony at Hilliers on Vancouver island, suffered a cerebral haemorrhage early this week in Oakalla prison farm, it was learned today.

He is in poor condition. He was sentenced last June to two years in prison for seditious conspiracy following trials of scores of his followers and rivals from the interior of the province.

Verigin's 200-member colony broke from the rest of the Radical Sons of Freedom four years ago. Friction has existed since.

A government official said today: "Nobody knows what Michael's death would do. It could easily cause a fresh outbreak of violence and it could cause an internal battle over a new leader."

Junior Farmers Send Fruit To Sick Member

ROSENEATH, July 29—(ENS)—Alnwick Junior Farmers Wednesday decided to send a box of fruit to Martin Muller, a member, ill in Kingston hospital.

Delegates were appointed to attend the Junior Farmers district camp at Lake Simcoe the last week in August.

Plans were also made for the members to attend the tractor driving contest at Baltimore on Saturday.

Expect Forces Ask For More Funds

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP) — Representative Carl Vinson (Dem., Ga.) said today he "would not be surprised" if the United States armed forces ask more monye in the next 12 months, on top of the $25,000,000,000 request already on file with Congress.

Vinson, chairman of the House of Representatives Armed Services Committee, made clear that after hearing the mobilization plans of the three military services he feels they are not building fast enough.

He described the present plan to have 2,089,000 men in uniform by June 30, 1951, as merely "the first increment" in the country's rearmament program. There now are about 1,500,000 men in the U.S. armed forces.

To help finance this build-up, President Truman has asked Congress to add $10,500,000 to the armed services 1951 budget of $13,294,000,000 in cash and $1,383,000,000 in contract authority which was tentatively approved by the Senate yesterday.

25 Billion

That brings the amount the military services say they need to run them until June 30 to about $25,179,000,000.

It was only seven months ago that President Truman told Congress he could run the entire federal government until next midsummer on about $42,439,000,000.

Vinson was cautious in discussing what his committee learned in its week-long closed-door inquiry, just concluded, into military needs, plans and progress. He did say:

"I would not be surprised to have hte military services request increases."

Adjusted figures of planned increases in military strength, made public after the committee hearings, show that the target for the army is 834,000, an increase of 240,000; navy 579,000, an increase of 204,000; marines 128,000, an increase of 53,000; and air force 548,000, an increase of 136,000.

Hospital Inquiry By Top Officials

TORONTO, July 29 —(CP)—A full-dress investigation into conditions at the Ontario Hospital for the Criminally Insane will be made by four top officials, it was learned Friday.

Taking part in the inquiry Tuesday will be Acting Health Minister Goodfellow, W. E. Hamilton, Minister of Reform Institutions, and their respective deputies, Dr. J. T. Phair and C. F. Neelands.

The investigation was prompted by the escape of two murderers from the hospital more than two weeks ago—George Wilcox, since surrendered, and Melville Wilkie, still at large—and by the charge of Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound that the hospital is a "circus."

Killed By Truck

TORONTO, July 29 (CP). — Susan Chamberlain, 3, was killed Friday when a delivery truck ran over her. Harold McCaskill, 41, said he felt a bump when he drove the truck away after making a delivery and found the child beneath the rear wheels.

Marmora Calf Club Sees Two Movie Films

MARMORA, July 29—(ENS)—Marmora Calf Club met on Wednesday in the Town Hall. The president, John Cook, opened the meeting and a quiz contest was held.

Two films "Safety on the Farm" and "Early Start" were shown.

Frank Stone, Assistant Agricultural Representative of Hastings County, gave an address. Reeve Irwin McCoy, Calf Club Leader, was present for the meeting.

Accounting Conference

OTTAWA, July 29 (CP).—The 56th annual meeting of the Accounting Division, Association of American Railroads, will open here Monday with 350 Canadian and United States delegates in attendance. Transport Minister Chevrier, Ottawa Mayor E. A. Bourque and President Donald Gordon of the Canadian National Railways System will be speakers.

Cattle Rustlers Take $15,000 Worth Beef

SARNIA, July 29. (CP)—Modern cattle rustlers who have stolen $15,000 worth of beef cattle in the Lambton-Kent area are being sought by police. It is believed the meat is being shipped to the United States.

Police said they think the rustlers are herding the cattle in farmers' fields into waiting trucks and shipping them by weight to the US at Windsor or slaughtering them somewhere in southwestern Ontario.

Latest raid was made on the old Prescott farm in Dawn township. Some 20 head of cattle, valued at $8,000, were stolen.

LEOPOLD READY TO LET SON TAKE OVER

Will Deport Fred West From Texas

Held Five Months On Illegal Entry, 2nd Hearing Delayed

HOUSTON, Tex., July 31 — (CP)—Fred West, 19-year-old Canadian, was held in Texas from March 3 to Thursday of last week for illegal entry into the United States, immigration officials here said Saturday.

They said West, from Havelock, was ordered deported two days ago. He is the son of Mrs. Robt. Hanlon, Havelock.

The case came to light when two Toronto youths, George Burnell and Charles Worth, both 21, arrived in their home city from Houston and said West has been held in prison for five months awaiting deportation.

In Ottawa, Canadian immigration authorities said they have authorized returned to the Dominion of West.

Hearing Delayed

The immigration officials here said the delay in hearing of West's case was caused when a new hearing became necessary after a supreme court ruling invalidated the original hearing.

Then West had to undergo an appendicitis operation, causing further delay.

Commenting on charges by Burnell and Worth that West had been weakened by bad food and beatings, the sheriff's department here and immigration officials say they received no complaints from West that guards or other prisoners beat the Havelock youth.

FRENCH MARINE COMMANDO forces are shown here as they wade ashore from a landing craft grounded off the Annam coast of Indo-China. Following them came French and Vietnamese troops in yet one more operation against the Communist-led forces of the Vietminh. Crowded out of the news by the war in Korea, the French continue their long struggle against Communist fighters.

Dairy Bandits Get Pen Terms

TORONTO, July 31 —(CP)— Penitentiary terms were handed out today to three youths who admitted robbing the Acme Farmers Dairy of $20,890 July 7.

For armed robbery and wounding, Peter Marino, 23, was given eight years. He said he shot and wounded Charles Tavignot, a dairy employee who chased the thieves after the robbery.

Kenneth Grimley, 20, night shipper at the dairy and tipoff man for the robbery, was sentenced to six years for armed robbery and for stealing an automobile.

Patrick Italiano, 21, received four years for armed robbery. Most of the money was recovered.

West Germany Gets 12,500 Extra Police

BONN, Germany, July 31 (AP) —The western Allies have approved creation of a limited federal police force for West Germany, an informed source said Saturday.

The allied high commission has authorized the Bonn Government to form a federal police force of 500 men for duty in the capital and a special reserve force of perhaps 12,000 men for use under federal command in a grave emergency, this informant said.

As outlined by the allied informant, and German sources:

The reserve force would be divided among police units in the 11 states and would not come under the direction of the federal government until it was needed.

Can't Detect A-Bomb Smuggled In By Ship

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) —If an atomic bomb were smuggled into the United States crated in the hold of an enemy ship it could not be detected except by opening the crate, an atomic scientist said today.

Dr. Karl Z. Morgan of the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory told a press conference he knows of no detection instrument that would disclose a bomb hidden in a crate.

He and other scientists declined to comment on the detection possibilities in the case of a smuggled-in-hydrogen bomb.

Expect Russia To Launch Peace Campaign

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, July 31. (Reuters)—Russia is expected to launch a powerful three-point peace campaign to end the Korean War when her delegates return to the United Nations Security Council Tuesday.

This is the opinion of some of the most experienced diplomats here.

They point out that the Soviet Union is at present spearheading a world-wide campaign around its so-called peace appeal.

The Russian attitude toward Korea, they add, should be judged in the light of the Kremlin's overall internal and external policy: To post the Soviet Government as the champion of peace against the "warmongers" of Britain and the United States.

Has 3-Point Plan

It is believed that chief Soviet representative Jacob Malik will present the following three-point plan to the security council Tuesday when he ends the boycott started last January:

1. An immediate cease-fire in Korea.

2. Appointment of a UN armistice commission, including a Soviet member, to supervise the withdrawal of all military forces and their demilitarization.

3. Free elections throughout the whole of Korea under UN supervision.

In terms of hard realism, this proposal would give the Korean Communists several advantages.

It is known that they have consolidated their military gains, which now extend to 90 per cent of the whole country, by seizing the property of landlords and distributing it to land-hungry peasants.

Their political agents in the wake of the armies have had several weeks to indoctrinate South Koreans with a hatred of the "white invaders."

Ask Britons Tighten Belts As UK Boosts Defences

LONDON, July 31—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee called on Britons Sunday night to tighten their belts once again while their country arms against Red aggression. In a blunt-spoken radio chat from his official country residence at Chequers,, Attlee warned his countrymen that this rearmament will mean sacrifices in their standard of living, which has just begun recovering from the ravages of the Second World War.

The Prime Minister, whose speech was carried to the Commonwealth countries overseas, warned that "the fire which has been started in distant Korea may burn down your house."

He blasted Communism as a "world-wide conspiracy against the way of life of the free democracies," and accused Russia of talking peace while maintaining huge armed forces.

Sabotage Vigilance

He called for vigilance against domestic sabotage and urged greater enlistments in Britain's armed forces and civil defence organizations.

"Aggression has started again in the Far East," Attlee said. "The attack by the armed forces of North Korea on South Korea has been denounced as an act of aggression by the United Nations. No excuse, no propaganda by Communists, no introduction of other questions can get over this fact Here is a case of aggression.

"If the aggressor gets away with it, aggressors all over the world will be encouraged. The same results which led to the second world war will follow and another world war may result."

Attlee said he hoped some day Russia would "change its policy and . . . join wholeheartedly with the rest of the world in the great tasks of preserving peace and promoting the happiness of all peoples."

"But," he added, "because of the growth of evil forces in the world we now have no option but to increase our defences."

Castle Buyer Finds Treasure

CLAYTON, N. Y., July 31 (AP) —Buyers of Calumet Castle, once a millionaire's summer mansion on one of the St. Lawrence River's Thousand Islands near here, received an unexpected dividend.

Workmen fixing wiring in the basement of the stone building, discovered several hundred cases of imported wines dated from 1895 to 1900. The wine was hidden in a cave dug in solid rock.

Calumet Castle was built at a reported cost of $250,000 by Charles Goodwin Emery, who made a fortune in the tobacco business.

This spring a local business group bought the structure and the small island it occupies and opened it to the public.

A spokesman for the Calumet Castle Corporation said 500 bottles of good wine had been uncovered thus far, with another 1,000 unfit for use. He estimated another 1,500 bottles remained in the cave.

He said he and friends sampled a bottle and declared:

"It's the kind that will make you talk."

MacArthur Pays Visits To Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa, July 31 (AP) —Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his top commanders flew into Formosa today for a war council with Chiang Kai-shek on Nationalist China's role in the Asian conflicts.

They began talking immediately after lunch at Chiang's mountain retreat outside of Taipei. Nature of the conversation was not disclosed.

An informed source, however, said Chiang was expected to renew his offer of 33,000 Chinese Nationalist troops to fight in Korea.

Chiang also was expected to press for a more active role in his war against the Chinese Reds.

Chiang was expected to tell MacArthur of Nationalist China's needs for arms and ammunition, spare parts and new planes for his air force and stronger naval units.

Senator Nabbed

Find Evidence Russ Officers Guiding Korean Battles

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH THE U.S. 8TH ARMY IN KOREA, July 31. (AP)—There is mounting evidence that Russian officers are in the field giving tactical advice to the North Korean Communists.

This has been suspected by military men since the war started. The conduct of the entire Communist campaign has had the stamp of expert direction.

What evidence the army has of Russian military advisers comes from North Korean prisoners.

Capt. Walter C. Clarke of Fort Worth, Tex., is the chief of an American team that questions prisoners af war.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Russians are advising the North Koreans on their tactics against the American troops," Clarke said. "Prisoner after prisoner has told us of seeing Russians. Our information is that there are four or five Russians with each division — ranging in rank from captains to lieutenant-colonels."

Clarke named the North Korea 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th Infantry Divisions ahe the cream of the Red Army.

"They are the veterans who have had one or two years of combat experience in Manchuria," he said. "They are well trained and well equipped."

Clarke said prisoners had given this story of how the North Koreans recruit manpower from the South Koreans:

When a village is overrun, the men of fighting age are called to a meeting where they are lectured on the glories of the Communist cause. Then the Communist military police give each man a gun. They are sent into combat groups where they either fire or are shot by their officers.

Makes Offer On Condition Dispute End

King Says Delegation Of Power Temporary, Abdication Uncertain

BRUSSELS, July 31—(CP) —King Leopold today said he is prepared to delegate temporarily his Royal powers to his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudoin.

The announcement was made through Prime Minister Jean Duvieusart after his third conference on the day with the Monarch.

The King's offer was made on condition that the dispute between Flanders and Wallonia over his family's return ceased.

The king specified that, as a condition of his proposal, the opposition Socialists must withdraw their political and economic demands and make them later through parliamentary channels.

Torn By Strife

Belgium has been torn by civil dissension, strikes and riots since Leopold III returned July 22 from his exile in Switzerland.

The violence was capped Sunday night with the death of three anti-Leopoldists in Liege.

The premier declined to say whether the hoped-for solution will be the king's formal abdication or a milder delegation of his powers to Crown Prince Baudouin.

Negotiations were proceeding in a powder-keg atmosphere. Approximately 2,500 anti-Leopoldists were marching in Brussels from Southern Belgium—vanguard of a gigantic demonstration planned in the capital for tomorrow.

The pro-Leopold government admitted that crippling country-wide strikes were spreading. It said more workers left their jobs in Antwerp, Ghent and Brussels.

Prior to the premier's talk with the king, a spokesman had said:

"We seem to be approaching an easing of the situation, probably today."

Duvieusart and three cabinet ministers interrupted a cabinet meeting to visit Leopold before dawn today and reportedly asked him to make a definite decision on the abdication demand.

Most of the cabinet is understood to favor Leopold's abdication. But some ministers are reported to feel the king should make the decision himself.

Tension which has been rising since Leopold's return from exile nine days ago reached a peak on Sunday night with the killing of three anti-Leopoldists by police who fired on demonstrators at historic Liege.

Following the violence Socialist leaders warned civil war would break out unless the king abdicated.

Touches Off Trouble

Leopold's return from exile in Switzerland touched off a widespread wave of sabotage and strikes. Opponents of the monarch planned a mass motorized march on Brussels from the southern strikebound Walloon section of the country tomorrow.

In Liege, where the anti-Leopoid tide has surged strongest, demonstrators ripped down the national tri-color and hoisted the

Never Satisfied

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 31—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw has taken the Brattle Theatre Company to task for not producing all his plays. The Company, which is presenting two of his plays at the Cambridge playhouse, wrote him on his 94th birthday a week ago that this will be the 12th time in three years it has presented one of his plays. He was grateful. Shaw replied, but — "I've written over 56 plays. Why haven't you produced the rest of them?"

Truman Asks 4 Billion Aid Anti-Reds

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)— President Truman told congressional leaders today he is sending up a message asking $4,000,000 000 additional for military aid to anti-Communist countries.

Chairman Clarence Cannon (Dem. Mo.) of the appropriations committee of the House of Representatives said there was "unanimous agreement" among Democratic and Republican leaders to expedite action on the request.

Cannon said there is agreement on procedure, he explained, under which the bill can be brought to the floor quickly.

He said the president said there is "an emergency" which requires immediate action to arm allies of the United States.

Support for the president's request was assured in advance

Chairman Kenneth McKellar (Dem. Tenn.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee, one of the White House conferees, told reporters he thinks Congress is in the mood to "give the government anything it needs to win this war."

He said an increase in the $1,-222,500,000 Congress already has voted to help rearm countries standing against the threat of Communist aggression appears to be one of those needs.

Keep Europe Strong

Another of the conferees, Chairman Millard Tydings (Dem. Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Sunday that crucial as the Korean fighting is, the important thing is to keep the nations of Western Europe strong.

"I strongly believe," he said, "we should keep after them to constantly increase their defences in Western Europe and that we should give them arms aid wherever it is desirable."

Despite this show of unanimity in the Senate, there were signs that House members were not entirely satisfied with the conduct of at least one European member of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Four House Democrats and four Republicans said in a letter to President Truman yesterday that Britain put "dollars over principle" by ordering its Far Eastern fleet to remain neutral if Chinese Reds attacked Formosa.

Expect Baby Soon

LONDON, July 31 (AP) — Court circles speculated today that Princess Elizabeth's second child may be born about the end of next week—probably around Aug. 12. The King and Queen, who usually go to Balmoral in Scotland for a summer vacation about Aug. 9, are not expected to leave London before Aug. 15.

Fresh U.S. Troops Landed With Tanks To Help Brace Sagging Allied Lines

Chinju Captured By Waves of Reds, Last-Ditch Port Of Pusan Threatened By Latest Enemy Advances

TOKYO, Aug. 1—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Fresh United States troops landed with tanks in South Korea Monday and sped forward to help brace sagging Allied defence lines. General MacArthur's headquarters said the North Korean Reds in force are shifting their pressure from the central sector to the west and southwest. The Communists captured Chinju, 55 miles west of Pusan, vital United States base. An Associated Press correspondent, Hal Boyle, reported from outside Chinju that the Americans withdrew from the coastal anchor to new positions less than 50 miles from Pusan.

The newly-landed forces were of the United States 2nd Infantry Division, under Maj.-Gen. Laurence B. Keiser.

To Plug Holes

Arriving direct from the United States, many of the new troops headed out in trucks to plug holes punched by North Korean Reds along a rectangular front before Pusan, on the southeast coast.

Up to 200,000 men were reported in the big Re dsurge against the shrinking defence area.

In the central front new pressure was put on Kumchow. But a U.S. 1st cavalry spokesman there said the city "will be held at all costs."

He said the troops had been forced back slightly to the east, however. Kumchow is 32 miles northwest of Taegu, rail city northwest of Pusan.

The Korean fighting now is spread over a rough rectangle. It extends 80 miles north along the east coast from Pusan to Yongdok, thence west 70 miles to Hamchang to the vicinity of Chinu.

Spread thinly through the mountains and valleys are three U.S. divisions—the 1st cavalry and the 24th and 25th infantry divisions, the U.S. 5th air force and South Korean units.

Dispatches from the front said many Communist dead were strewn on the battlefield. Their own trucks raced over the bodies, trying to reach new positions against the defending forces.

U.S. Has Produced Record A-Explosive

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP) —The United States Atomic Energy Commission said today that since January it has produced a record amount of the explosive which goes into A-bombs.

It also disclosed that it is studying the possibility of making an atomic poison weapon.

In a semi-annual report to Congress, the atomic agency told of a stepped-up program during the first six months of this year, involving "all forms" of atomic weapons, including the hydrogen bomb.

It hinted that this may have resulted in greater production of atomic bombs by saying that during the six-month period "the rate of current operations" on the entire atomic project had "accelerated."

Ottawa Pitcher Killed In Truck Crash

WATERTOWN, N.Y., July 31— (AP)—Pitcher Bob Larkin of the Ottawa Nationals baseball team died today of injuries suffered in a collision between an automobile and an army truck.

Four other members of the Class C Border League team were injured in the accident.

Larkin, 23, died in Mercy hospital two hours after the accident. He suffered head and chest injuries.

The others injured were Otto Kossuth, 23, James St. Clair, 23, Pete Karpuk, 21, and Frank Schwarz, 23. The hospital said Kossuth probably would be admitted, but that the others were expected to be released after treatment.

The car and the two-ton army truck carrying National Guard troops to the United States army base at Pine Camp, N.Y., collided about midnight on Route 12, two miles north of here.

The Ottawa team was en route home after winning a doubleheader at Watertown Sunday night.

One National Guardsman, Pte. Harold Barow of the 172nd infantry, from Germont, was treated for cuts. He was the only Guardsman injured.

Canadian Planes Arrive In Tokyo

TOKYO, July 31 (CP)—Canadian ships and planes have arrived in the Korean war zone to strengthen the Allied naval and air forces in the battle against the Communist aggressors of North Korea.

The three destroyers, the Athabaskan, Cayuga and Sioux, sailed the forces operating under Vice- into Korea waters today to join Admiral Charles T. Joy, commander of Allied naval units in the Far East.

A few hours before, a flight of three RCAF North Stars of the 426th Thunderbird Squadron had landed at a Tokyo airfield. It was the first shuttle trip for the Canadian planes which will fly the supply route from McChord Field, near Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo.

Two more North Stars will be added to the air lift run, and another two will commute between McChord Field and Montreal, the unit's home base, to carry suplies for the squadron.

Texas Champion From Pecos County Dead

Made Costliest Beefsteaks In Livestock History For U.S.

By LAWRENCE N ELDRED

CHICAGO, July 31 — (AP) — The champion is dead.

Before he went, though, he chalked up some records which will take some beating.

It was up from a ranch in Pecos county, Tex., that he started his big surge to fame. His name was "Judge Roy Bean."

He became grand champion steer of the 1949 International Livestock Exposition. And then he became 'the costliest beefsteaks and roasts in history — about $30 for a pound of roundsteak, for instance, or $25 for a pound of chuck.

On the way up, the white-faced Hereford has bested rivals in several lesser meets

Then, from the show ring in which he gained the highest title possible, he did as many another champion has done. He went on a personal appearance tour.

He covered 30 states in seven months, flying some 8,000 miles in a special plane. He was seen by an estimated 4,000,000 persons.

Makes Beef Dinner

When the tour ended back in Chicago where he earned his peak success, he was slaughtered to become beef dinners for an automobile concern

Dearborn Motors Corporation, Detroit, paid a record $11.50 a pound for him—all 1,240 pounds. Total outlay for the animal was $14,260.

This was quite a penny for 20 months of life. The Judge had been calved on a 47,000-acre ranch in Pecos County, Tex., Feb. 10, 1948. He was sired by a registered hereford range bull, mothered by a registered Hereford cow.

He was named after Roy Bean, a Justice of the Peace who was "the law" west of the Pecos River a century ago.

Early in his career the Hereford was sold to two Odessa bankers at $1.50 a pound, but instead of being slaughtered he was resold to two unnamed "public-spirited ranchers" who in turn sold him to a county farm club as a likely entry for the International.

The club consisted of 43 boys and seven girls. They placed their prize animal on a feed farm and they gave up taking a long-planned trip to Yellowstone National Park, and instead stayed to feed their entry for the big show and payoff.

Two Young Brothers Badly Burned In Car

GATINEAU, Que., July 31. (CP) —Two young brothers are in hospital today, slowly recovering from serious painful burns suffered when their father's automobile burst into flames in this village, four miles northeast of Ottawa Saturday night.

In hospital are Ronald Charbonneau, 16, suffering burns throughout the left side of his body, and his brother, Bernard, 8, with burns to his face and left arm.

The accident occurred when the family car stalled and Mr. Charbonneau asked the older boy to pour some gasoline from a can into the engine carburetor.

The action touched off a sharp explosion, which set the engine and the car on fire.

Mr. Charbonneau, sitting at the wheel, escaped injury.

Top Scientist To Co-ordinate Research Work

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP)—Appointment of one of Canada's top atomic scientists and chemists to co-ordinate all research by the National Research Council—including atomic fission—was announced today.

He is Dr. E. W. R. Steacie, 50, director of the division of chemistry at N.R.C. who was deputy director of the British-Canadian atomic research project during the war. He will have the title of vice-president (scientific) of the National Research Council.

The announcement was made by Trade Minister Howe in his capacity as chairman of the committee of the Privy Council on Scientific and Industrial Research. Dr. Steacie would "ensure that the work of the several divisions proceeds according to a general over-all plan and that the closest integration of research is maintained throughout the laboratories," Mr. Howe said.

One of these divisions is the atomic energy project at Chalk River, where Canada has an atomic pile and is carrying on research for peaceful purposes.

No Hint of Changes

It was not indicated what, if any, changes might be made in atomic research plans as a result of the appointment.

Dr. Steacie will continue as director of the division of chemistry, a post he has held since 1939. In this division, the announcement said, he has "built up a research group in chemical kinetics that has won world acclaim."
claim."

During the war he was closely associated with Dr. Otto Maass of McGill University, Montreal, in the organization of Canadian Chemistry for war purposes, especially in the field of chemical warfare and in the development of explosives.

Miss Lillian Burton Dies In 86th Year

MILLBROOK, July 31—(ENS)—One of Millbrook's best known residents, Miss Lillian Maude Burton, died Saturday in her 86th year.

Miss Burton was born in Omemee, the daughter of the late William Burton and Mary Ann Harding. While Miss Burton was still a young child, she moved with her family to Millbrook where she received her education in the public and high school.

She was a music teacher and for many years had a large class learning piano and taking dancing lessons.

All her immediate family predeceased her. Miss Burton herself had been in failing health for about three years.

She is survived by two nephews, Austin Smith, Kingsville, and Rev. Lynden Smith of Toronto.

She was a member of St. Thomas Anglican Church.

The funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Bernard Heywood of Bailieboro United Church in the MacPherson Funeral Home today at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Gardiner's Cemetery.

The pallbearers will be J. E. Allen, W. A. O'Brien, H. A. Kerr, J. A. Porter, T. A. Campbell and A. R Payne

Leading Industrials Brightening Slowly

TORONTO, July 31 —(CP)—Leading industrials brightened slowly in the dullest session in recent months on the Toronto stock exchange today. Key issues chalked up small fractional advances to continue last week's moderate gains. Volume for the first three hours was 399,000 shares.

Papers and utilities paced the mild upturn in industrials. Several liquors and textiles also brightened while refining oils tended lower. Abitibi Paper attracted attention following release of a semi-annual report showing increased warnings.

Base metals were dull and slightly weaker. Waite Amulet was a bright spot for a gain of 45 cents at $9.50.

Golds slipped from early firmness. Junior producers showed losses ranging up to about 10 cents and seniors were steady.

Western oils barely moved. Piccadilly, a penny issue, was comparatively active for a slight change.

Nude Lady Popular Says Tatoo Artist

EDMONTON—(CP)—The nude lady is runner-up to the inscription "Deather Before Dishonor" among his clients, says tattoo artist R. V. Hughson of Barrie.

Here for the Edmonton exhibition, Mr. Hughson has been following the tattoo trail since he learned the art in England in 1937.

He has picked up a lot of the tricks of the trade—creating his own designs and inventing his own needles—but hasn't yet adopted one he saw in Japan.

In this one the artist paints the design on a studded board, puts the board on the subject's back and "pounds" the design in, he says.

200 Factories Get Plane Orders

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—In a move to speed building of an air armada, the U.S. government Saturday ordered work to start on $4,300,000,000 worth of planes without waiting on Congress approval.

Certain the money will be voted the air force sought to save weeks of production time by telling 200 manufacturers to get going.

It may be late August before Congress completes the appropriations.

An official said the entire air force plane-ordering program asked of Congress for the fiscal year that began July 1 is covered by the order. The number of planes involved was not stated, although it is in the thousands.

What manufacturers are getting is a letter of intention to place orders. This is "something they can start getting employees with" an official explained. Detailed contracts will be signed later. The letters went to virtually every manufacturer of planes and parts in the country.

At least two North Korean divisions led the flanking movement around Chinju Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker ,commander of the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea, two days ago ordered his men to fight or die in their present positions.

The Far East air force announced late Monday that 85 per cent of the big Chosen Nitrogen Chemical Company lant at Hungnam in North Korea was efectively damaged in a raid by B-29 bombers Sunday. It described the results from the 500-ton bombing as "excellent."

The newly-arrived U.S. ground forces came ashore at a big, busy port in South Korea. (This could only be Pusan, but security considerations prevented naming it.)

They piled into trucks after their unopposed landing and headed for the fighting lines.

They walked ashore at a moment when the outnumbered 8th army and South Korean divisions were fighting for their lives. They were trying to turn back a giant Red flanking movement in the south powered by at least two divisions and headed straight for Pusan.

The allied defenders were outnumbered everywhere. The threat against them on the south coast appeared even more serious now than the big Red smash at the centre of the line.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters has estimated the North Korean fighting strength at 200,000 men. The United Nations force, even with the reinforcements, is far below that number.

The battle for Chinju opened Sunday night when North Koreans hurled themselves at defence positions on the mountain west of the town.

They forced the defenders to leave prepared emplacements.

The Americans withdrew across the river to another mountainside where they hastily dug in under fire from snipers.

The Northerners kept up pressure elsewhere along the American line to prevent reinforcements being brought up to their main target.

Use Heavy Smokescreen

Using a heavy phosphorous smokescreen, North Korean patrols infiltrated near the mountain stronghold, creeping up in front of and around American emplacements.

Keeping the Americans pinned down with heavy sniper and automatic fire, they rushed up more and more reinforcements.

By four o'clock this morning they had the besieged Americans heavily outnumbered and began closing in from the flank, breaking the defence line and driving the U.S. defenders from their positions.

The withdrawing Americans fought every inch of the way, continuously harassed by fire from North Koreans abreast of their flank.

Withering fire inflicted further casualties on the retreating Yanks and forced them to abandon some equipment.

With a large gap torn in the American defence line, North Koreans poured through and encircled the town.

They then threw in an attack from the rear, and the order went through the American ranks again: "Withdraw."

New Troops Land

Fresh American troops from the United States have landed in South Korea.

Size of the reinforcing unit and the point of its landing cannot be identified.

The new troops are part of the reinforcements Americans had been expecting to help relieve the pressure of outnumbering North Koreans.

The new arrivals proceeded directly to South Korea from the United States without stopping in Japan.

They walked ashore in South Korea without making an assault landing.

Crop Damage Light In Storm

LONDON, Ont., July 31 (CP)—Thunderstorms, accompanied by lightning, rain and hail, swept over Western Ontario during the weekend, destroying a barn near St. Mary's and causing some hail crop damage in the Palmerston area.

Crop damage generally was light, hail being restricted to a few areas. However, heavy rains fell in the Brantford, St. Thomas, Tillsonburg, Drumbo and Strathroy areas.

Lightning caused a break in the hydro in the Drumbo area Saturday afternoon.

The rural area Hydro Electrical Power Commission office in London reported a line down Saturday on the Springbank road and numerous reports of transformer fuses blown in the rural areas around London. All damage was believed caused by lightning

Given Cornea Woman Can See

TORONTO, July 31—(CP)—An operation in which a man gave a cornea to a sightless woman has turned out successfully, a hospital official said today.

The operation was performed at Toronto General Hospital about two weeks ago. The cornea, a transparent "window" which covers the eye, was removed from Cyril Mosher's eye an dtransferred to the eye of the woman, whose identity was not revealed.

"The woman can see now," the official said. "The operation was a success but how great a success cannot be determined for several weeks?"

Mosher, son of A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, had faulty vision in the eye from which he gave the cornea. The cornea, however, was in perfect condition. Mosher was released from hospital a short time after the operation. Both Mosher and the woman are about 40.

WINDSOR, July 31—(CP)—A silver plaque for Walter Reuther in recognition of the contribution the president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) has made to the progress of negroes was presented Sunday during Emancipation day celebrations.

It was accepted by Mr. Reuthers' brother, Victor, UAW Director of Education. The inscription said Mr. Reuther helped to achieve "true Christian democracy, tolerance and human understanding among all peoples."

Professor Stabbed Young Guest Held

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP) — Police charged 20-year-old John Bigelow Saturday with attempted murder in the stabbing of John McRae, 38, a professor at the University of Western Ontario.

McRae, stabbed several times in the stomach and chest, is expected to recover.

Bigelow and McRae met in a downtown hotel earlier Saturday, police said. They went to McRae's summer home for "a few drinks."

Police said an argument developed and Bigelow seized a knife from the kitchen and stabbed McRae several times.

Longhand Quicker Than Typing For Poor Secretaries In Korea

By PAUL SETT

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Korean language is the only one in the world which has to be typed horizontally and read vertically.

There are Chinese and Japanese typewriters which type those languages both horizontally and vertically. But the only Korean keyboard developed so far insists you type across the page, from right to left, although you read its words up and down.

This information comes from Martin K. Tytell, a 36-year-old New Yorker who can tear apart a typewriter and make it perform in any one of 147 languages and dialects, including Dinka, Sanskrit and Urdu. He has more than 2,000,000 foreign type faces in his shop and, if you coax him, he'll whip you up a Koreah job. But he doesn't recommend it

"After you get through making one," he complains, "nobody knows how to use it. It'd probably be much faster to write the language in longhand."

Only Half A Dozen

Tytell guesses there aren't more than half a dozen Korean typewriters in the world. He made one for the Army in 1944. He's glad he never had to use it.

The Chinese language is complicated enough. But Korean uses Chinese ideographic characters, plus a native character called "en-mun," plus a combination of the two. Some years ago, Tytell says, a Korean scholar named Dr. Song devised a keyboard which employs, among other things, 42 dead keys. That is, you hit one of them and the carriage doesn't move. In some cases, you have to hit eight or 10 different keys to form one character.

"By the time you get a secretary to learn this, even a Korean secretary," says Tytell "she'll up and leave you to get married."

Language Differences

You learn a lot about language differences talking to Tytell.

It didn't surprise me to discover how difficult it is to convert an American typewriter to Persian or Arabic since they require different symbols which have to be joined together and written backwards from right to left. And I wasn't surprised to learn that Siamese is "very beautiful to look at but you can't tell when it's upside down." Once, unknowingly, Tytell made a Siamese keyboard inverted he couldn't tell the difference.

What did surprise me was that keyboards used in countries which have the same Latin alphabet in common have so many differences. English and American typewriters differ. It's not just a case of pounds versus dollars. On most of our keyboards, we have just two fractions — the quarter and half. The British have one-eighth, three-eighths, five-eights and seven-eights

Another Difference

A Portuguese keyboard used in Brazil is like an American keyboard except that it has eight type changes and two dead keys used for accents. A Portuguese keyboard in Portugal has 42 type changes.

If somebody asks Tytell for a French typewriter, he has to ask, "French for France or French for the United States?"

In France, the A, Q, W, Z and M are in different positions than where they are here On the top row, you have to shift for the numerals because the accent marks are on the bottom of the keys. In this country, a French keyboard is made by removing the fractions, the commercial "at" and the cents signs and substituting the grave, acute, circumflex and cedilla symbols

And then there are the Spanish keyboards. There's the. Oh, the heck with it, maybe you have something in the oven.

African Bushmen Meet Cameraman With Amity

PRETORIA, Transvaal, (CP) —Bushmen have little love for white men and few Europeans have seen this primitive, dying race in its natural surroundings—the arid, bush-covered Kalahari desert.

On a recent photographic trip to the Kalahari, George Michael, a Pretoria camera enthusiast, was fortunate enought to find a family of eight bushmen friendly enough to allow him to spend two hours with them and to take a color motion picture.

He heard of the family from a native guide and travelled by jeep far into the desert in search of them. After five hours they found a few crude igloo-shaped grass huts.

An aged bushman met the visitors with a sturdy 30-inch bow and a number of sharp metal and bobe-tipped arrows in his hands.

Through the native interpreter, who had to use sign language, Michael intimated that he had come in peace.

"The bushman stood less than four feet six inches, and his only clothing was a tattered leather moochie," said Michael "He must have been about 60, but his lithe sinewy body was that of a man [illegible] in excellent physical condition."

Soon after, two women and five children appeared from the bush. The children had distended bellies, but the women were slim and wiry and even shorter than the male.

After exchanging greetings, Michael gave the children candy. To indicate that it could be eaten he put a piece in his mouth and chewed it. The children did the same and seemed delighted

The bushmen hunt small game with snares made from leather thongs or plaited grass, but larger game is hunted and killed with poison arrows. A farmer in the district said the bushmen are incredibly fast runners and have enough stamina to chase a buck all day until the animal is so fatigued that the hunter can come in close enough to kill it with a poisoned arrow or spear.

Water in the desert is precious and is used only for drinking purposes. No bushman would dream of washing his body.

Before he left, Michael gave the old bushman a hunter's pocket knife. As a gesture of gratitude which he would not express in words, the bushman broke into a fast-tempo dance, stamping his feet in short sharp hops, slapping his thighs and clicking his tongue with pleasure.

Princess' Cousin Married In London

LONDON, July 31 (AP) — Margaret Elphinstone, 25-year-old cousin of Princess Margaret and Princess Elizabeth, was married today. Princess Margaret was one of four bridesmaids

The bridegroom is Denys Rhodes, 31, son of a former major in the Grenadier Guards. Miss Elphinstone is the daughter of Queen Elizabeth's elder sister.

The King, the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, Princess Elizabeth's husband, were among the 400 guests. Princess Elizabeth, expecting her second child next month, was not present.

Mrs. V. Massey Dies Suddenly At Port Hope

PORT HOPE, July 31 (CP) — Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the Chancellor of the University of Toronto, died at the Massey home here Saturday after a short illness.

Mrs. Massey, the former Alice Parkin, was daughter of the late Sir George Parkin, former Principal of Upper Canada College and first organizing secretary of the Rhodes scholarship trust.

During Mr. Massey's term as Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, Mrs. Massey was widely-known for her work on behalf of Canadian servicemen overseas and their families.

Mrs. Massey was born in Fredericton. She received her education in Canada, England and Switzerland, and married Mr. Massey in 1915 when he was on the staff of the University of Toronto.

During the Second World War, Mrs. Massey was chatelaine of the Canadian Officers' Club in London, and directed its services for six years. She also turned Garnons, the Massey country home in England, into a convalescent home for Canadians.

During the war, Mrs. Massey wrote letters of sympathy to the families of many service men killed in action. She was also keenly interested in the Beaver Club and maintained an office in Canadian military headquarters in London.

Shriners Take Over City Of Hamilton

HAMILTON, July 31—(CP)—One of them drove down the main street with a hen and a bottle of wine under his shirt. Another borrowed a policeman's motorcycle.

All of them — some 2,000 Shriners who descended on Hamilton Saturday for the city's first International Shriner's Day — appeared to have enjoyed themselves.

Leading the group were Mayor Frank Van Lare, of Rochester, and other Rochester civic officials. Delegates came from Detroit, Rochester, Buffalo, Oshawa and Toronto. In other years, the annual gathering had been held in Cobourg.

Toronto Funeral Held For Roy Kelly

WARKORTH, July 31 (ENS)— Funeral service was held in Toronto on Monday for the late Roy Kelly, formerly of Warkworth, who died at his home in Toronto after a short illness.

Mr. Kelly was the youngest son of the late John Kelly and his wife the former Jemima Mitchel of Warkworth.

The late Robt. Kelly of Warkworth, who was at one time constable here, was here, was a brother.

He leaves his widow and family of three children. Charles William Arthur and Edwin Mitchell of this locality are uncles and the late Mrs. Annie Newman, who died recently, was an aunt.

Huckleberries Bring 50 Cents A Quart

Home grown field tomatoes made their first appearance on the market square for the year selling at three pounds for 40 cents Saturday.

One lone box of strawberries had been put out for sale and soon disappeared. Large quantities of huckleberries, or blueberries, were selling for 50 cents a quart. Many people were taking home six-quart baskets.

A few gooseberries were on sale at about 75 cents a quart.

The sale of vegetables was largely restricted to beets and carrots which both sold at 10 cents a bunch or two bunches for 15.

Many people crowded the sidewalks looking for fruit for canning or fresh early vegetables.

FLOOD RELIEF

Contributions to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, which officially closed its appeal July 15, totalled $7,537,000 on that date, with donations still coming in.

White Russians Still Fight Red Enemies After Centuries

TORONTO — (CP) — In the southeast corner of the Baltic States, deep in the heartland of Russia's western sphere, lies a country that has been fighting the Russian yoke for 11 centuries —and now it is battling harder than ever.

Byelo-Russia is an Oppenheim-like state, strife-ridden, with a government that has operated in exile for 32 years.

Head of the banished regime is M. Mikola Abramtchik, now touring North America on a mission of organization to keep the flame of resistance burning in the hearts of 10,000 Byelo-Russian exiles throughout the world.

Patriot's Zeal

In Toronto recently, M. Abramtchik spoke with a patriot's zeal of the fight his iron-curtain country is putting up against Russian oppression.

"For 32 years — yes, and for centuries before that—we Byelo-Russians have resisted Moscow's rule," he said. "Today, more than ever, we feel there is hope for the future."

Abramtchik is head of the Rada —the executive committee, operating out of Paris, which is the only free government Byelo-Russia has had since 1795. Many westerners know his country, he said, as White Russia.

Not Russians

"We Byelo-Russians are not Russians. We have our own culture, just as old, and far more developed than the Russians. We never suffered the tartar or mongol domination which the Muscovites did. As a result, when the Russians threw off their foreign overlords, they turned to us for guidance."

Byelo-Russian resistance to the Moscow yoke began in the ninth century A.D.—when the Polotsk princedom fought the Kiev princedom—and is still going on today in the thick forests of the north.

Harrying Russians

Led by a guerrilla warfare veteran, General Vituska, some 50,000 partisans are living in the thick forests, harrying the Russians.

"Before the Germans came, we had 300,000—but, unlike some anti-Communist partisans, our brave fellows fought the Germans. They could not see the difference between Germans and Communists; both were foreign overlords. As a result, we lost many men."

Abramtchik, 48, has not seen the forest and wintry plains of his native land since 1934, but he is hopeful someday of returning.

"But it must be a free country when I do," he said. "I am sure that day will come."

Says Mr. King Once Considered Being Minister

OTTAWA, July 31 (CP)—As a young man, the late W. L. Mackenzie King contemplated entering the Christian ministry, the Rev. Ian Burnett disclosed Sunday in a memorial service for the former prime minister in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Memorial services for the statesman, who died July 22, and for whom a state funeral was held last Wednesday, also took place in St. Stephen's Presbyterian Church, St. John's Anglican Church,, and St. Matthew's Anglican Church.

Mr. Burnett, who officiated at the state funeral service in St. Andrew's on Wednesday, recalled that Mr. King had been a member of the church for almost 50 years, coming from St. Andrew's in Toronto in 1901.

He was a faithful attendant and Mr. Burnett said "as a minister I used to find it a little disturbing to have such a hearer in my congregation But no one could have been more appreciative of what his minister did."

As a young man, Mr. King considered entering the ministry himself. Later in life he said that if he had, his favorite text would have been St. Paul's words: "Let this mind be in you that was also in Christ Jesus."

"Although lonely, he was surrounded by an inner circle of loyal friends and companions and when he gave his friendship he gave it royally," Mr. Burnett said.

Plan Entire Valley Will Be X-Rayed

LONDON, July 31—(AP)— The entire population of a Welsh coal mining valley is going to be X-rayed soon to see if science can halt, then rout, tuberculosis in the smoky, dusty mining villages.

The Medical Research Council, financed by the government, announced today that it will start its wholesale X-raying among the 80,000 people in the Rhondda fach (little Rhondda valley) in south Wales in September.

Doctors in south Wales said they believed pneumonoconiosis —a disease of the lungs prevalent among miners who inhale much dust—could be reduced if the experiments succeed.

Lake Choppy For Crowe Regatta

MARMORA, July 31—(ENS)) —Crowe lake became so choppy towards the end of the regatta at Glen Allan Park on Saturday that the course was shortened for the second heats.

Spectators scurried to shelter from the rain four times during the afternoon, but despite high waves and showers, the regatta was one of the best to take place in those waters. It was organized by Marmora District Chamber of Commerce.

Hector McMillan, who has been winning races in this area all this summer, suffered his first defeat of the season when he came in third in the free-for-all. Don Prentice, RCAF, Trenton, was the winner and Charles Abbott, Peterborough, runner-up.

Vern Caverly had three refreshment booths in operation and Marmora Chapter IODE had a children's souvenir stall. Close to 1,000 people attended the regatta.

The Rev. G. D. Young supervised swimming races while Forrest Dennis of Campbellford and Clayton Neal of Oshawa, former Marmora boys, were in charge of the bait casting competition.

Results were as follows: Outboard races: class 'A' utility: P. Luxton, Bowmanville; R. Vesna, Bowmanville; G. Eastwood, Toronto.

Class 'A' hydroplane: R. McCoy, Madoc; W. Derry, Madoc; Gerry Richardson, Kingston.

Class 'B' hydroplane: T. W. Hackney, Oshawa; Bryce Garrison, Oshawa; Doc Webster, Oshawa.

Class 'B' utility: Bryce Garrison, Oshawa; Doc Webster, Oshawa; John Stacey, Bowmanville.

Class C hydroplane: Hec McMillan, Campbellford; Mero Tuck, Oshawa; F. Palmer, Bowmanville.

Class 'C' utility: Hec McMillan, Campbellford; F. Palmer, Bowmanville; Mero Tuck, Oshawa:

Free-for-all: Don Prentice, RCAF, Trenton; Charles Abbott, Peterborough; Hec McMillan, Campbellford; Bryce Garrison, Oshawa.

No entries were received in the canoe and diving contests.

Bait casting competition:

Ladies': Mrs. Ruth Bettke, Preston.

Men's: Nick Bettke, Preston; Clayton Neal, Oshawa; C. Shoemaker, Preston.

Swimming: Girls: Barbara Bailey; Mary Nicholson, Donna McTaggart.

Boys under 12: Nicholas Price, Dale McTaggart, Jack Clemenger.

Boys over 12: Martin Nicholson, Charles Clemens, Graeme Leonard.

Vern Caverley was chairman of the regatta committee.

Emergency Action—And Business As Usual

United States federal legislators have been presenting their nation, and others, with a striking mixture of decisive action in an emergency and political "business as usual". The threat to the free nations inherent in the Korean war brought swift response in the U.S. Congress in all matters directly related to national defence. President Truman was given everything he asked for in that respect in record time, by an almost unanimous vote. In neither House of Representatives nor Senate, however, was there any apparent indication that President Truman's remarks on finance and taxation had produced a trend toward economizing in other government departments.

* * *

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois continued his one-man crusade to reduce the giant appropriation bill of $32.5 billions, which includes virtually all public projects classed as patronage. It was a hopeless fight, as Senator after Senator vigorously explained the needs of their various states. Yet—in the midst of this determined budget—there was genuine uneasiness among Senators and Congressman over the prospect of an added expenditure of ten billion dollars during an election year. They apparently fear the voters' disapproval if they oppose added expenditure for national defence, and they also fear the voters' disapproval of the added taxation forecast to meet that expenditure.

* * * *

It is a situation which will almost certainly confront the great majority of non-Communist nations sooner or later. Senator Robert Taft of Ohio warned his fellow Senators the other day that the United States might be facing ten to fifteen years of higher military expenditures, either fighting against Communist aggression or preparing for a possible world conflict. That warning could well be heeded in other nations, including Canada.

Are You In A Fog?

We have been reading with interest an article which appears in a recent issue of Printer and Publisher—a trade paper for the people mentioned in its name—which accuses newspaper reporters of using long words which confuse their readers. "Vocabulary Used In Dailies Shrouds Readers In Fog" says the heading; the writer of the article is D. M. White, who is research professor of journalism at Boston University. The papers which Mr. White and his assistants have looked over before preparing this article were one New York and four Boston dailies. But we are curious to know whether our readers suffer from confusion because The Examiner uses words which are troublesome. Dear reader, are you in a fog?

Newspaper reporters and editors try to write simply, but it is uphill work, and very often they fail. The truth is that it is much harder to write simply than it is to write in a high-flown and confused style. Nor is perfect simplicity always easy reading. A well-composed legal document is simple, but that does not mean that a man without legal training can easily discover its meaning. But a well-composed legal document is written in such a way that there can be no serious dispute as to what it means, even after it has met with the most careful examination. Simple writing for newspapers is often out of the question, because the writer has not the time to be simple; he must write quickly, and in doing so he may confuse some of his readers.

What we have said above is not offered as an excuse for bad newspaper writing, but as an explanation for some of it. Another cause of bad writing in newspapers is the advice which we have heard given even by august professors of journalism: "Remember you're writing for the man in the street, and be sure to use his language". Now this is the worst possible advice for a young writer to follow. In the first place, he is not the man in the street himself; he is a newspaper reporter and is expected to write a little better than an amateur. In the second place, the man in the street is not trained to express himself clearly, and he very often speaks an inaccurate, misleading, highly-coloured language, as is his privilege. But if a reporter really used the language of the man in the street he would quickly be thrown back into the street for good by his city editor. The language of the man in the street is no model of concision, accuracy or elegance.

A newspaper writer should write, if he can, as much as possible like one of the earliest and best of journalists, Daniel Defoe. He produced, amid a multitude of other works, that model of clarity and good reporting, Robinson Crusoe. And what wonderful reporting it is! Remember that splendid climax: "One day, about noon, going towards my boat, I was exceedingly surprised with the print of a man's naked foot on the shore, which was very plain to be seen on the sand". And see how plainly it is achieved! But reporters like Defoe are rare.

If the language used in The Examiner confuses anybody, we are sorry and will try to do better. But we cannot promise a style of chaste simplicity at all times. It is easy and quick to be elaborate, and there are times when all of us slip into methods which are easy and quick.

Nature Meant Us To Smell

That indefatigable popularizer of science, Paul deKruif, reports that a group of U.S. investigators have discovered that chlorophyll, taken in pill form, is a "perfect" cure for halitosis and B.O. We put the word "perfect" in inverted commas because one pill is effective for only 18 hours, and presumably the pills must be taken constantly if the humiliating disorder is not to manifest itself again. Chlorophyll is the substance which makes the foliage of plants their characteristic green colour.

Mr. deKruif hails this as a great boon to mankind. Perhaps it is. We don't know. And because we don't know we should like to raise a question.

Is it wise to seek means to kill the smells of the body, and the smells of the breath? Clean people may smell rather strongly of themselves, but is that odour so disagreeable? Is it not a fact that a certain amount of bodily scent is one of the powerful attractions between the sexes? And is it not a fact that some physicians find out from the smell of a patient what is wrong with him? This extreme concern with ridding a clean body of all its natural smells seems to us to be nonsense.

What is true of body smells may be even truer of the breath. Healthy people do not usually have bad breaths; those who have bad breaths should be told about it, and should take pains to find out why this symptom exists. To kill the smell of a bad breath is to destroy a symptom, and not a cause.

The sense of smell is the stepchild of the senses. The sense of sight is the object of a vast amount of sentimental praise. Touch and hearing are widely valued, and taste is cultivated almost beyond reason. But the sense of smell is too often regarded as funny or vaguely indelicate. We should enjoy this sense as much as the others, and when a man has a smell that we do not like we should take just as much care as if we mistrusted his face. Let us not give him chlorophyll as a disguise for his probable wickedness.

The Pleasures Of Pretence

We notice with interest and pleasure that a dress-up party was held on one of the local playgrounds last Thursday, and that several little girls turned up in finery provided, we presume, from their mothers' store of discarded clothes. They all had a good time.

"Pretence is always envigorating", says Sir Osbert Sitwell. Children love to dress up and pretend to be somebody else. And so do adults. We have wondered, now and then, why masquerade parties are so infrequent nowadays. Before the first great war they flourished, and almost every community had at least one masquerade dance every winter. Sometimes the costumes were elaborate affairs, specially made or hired from costumiers; more often they were made from materials which lay ready to hand, and a great deal of ingenuity was shown in the uses to which old clothes, kitchenware, bits of wire, bedsheets and sofa cushions were put. Often the dances were masquerades in the true sense, for the guests wore masks and were, for the evening, relieved of the burden of being themselves. After the first great war masquerade dances were revived for a short time in England, but they did not return to favour on this continent.

Is it not time that this sort of amusement came into fashion again? We have a chance in Peterborough this year for a centennial dance or two, either in fancy dress, or in the costume of a century ago. Certainly it would give pleasure, and it may be that there is an organization willing to undertake the task of promoting such a dance.

This Man Saw Communist Atrocities

(A LETTER TO THE EDITOR)

SIR: Recently Hon. Sen. John T. Haig proposed in the Senate a more active counter-propaganda against Communist preachings in Canada. He called for an offensive to counteract Communists who want to "wreck our system". The Prime Minister, Right Hon. Louis St. Laurent, declared in his speech at Fort Qu'Appelle, that Canada will fight together with the Western World against Communism where and when necessary. At the same time Communist leaflets were distributed from a plane. Dr. Endicott travels in the name of peace throughout Canada giving in all his speeches to the listeners a dose of Communist "medicine". All this is being accepted by the listeners without protest. Only in Hamilton was his speech answered with tomatoes and in Vancouver he was not able to answer questions which were asked by an Estonian woman, a new Canadian, who herself has gone through the Communist terrors. Communism is rooted so deeply, that recently six authors had to be jailed in Hollywood for Communist propaganda. In Korea, U.S. soldiers have been found, their hands tied, a bullet-hole in the head, killed by Communists.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE words and facts have to be taken seriously. Nobody should pass them silently. Unfortunatel, the grave danger that threatens mankind is as yet not fully understood by all Canadians. We, new Canadians, who have escaped from behind the Iron Curtain and have seen the destructive power of Communism, we are really worried.

✧ ✧ ✧

I WILL confine myself only to personal experiences and not dwell upon rumours. With the secret aid of Russian arms the government of the Estonian Republic on shores of the Baltic Sea, was overthrown in a Communist putsch. Factories, stores, houses, farms were taken from their owners. Farmers and labourers changed into slaves of the state. There are no independent farmers or labourers in Estonia. Everything is subjected to the ruling Communist power which is being directed from Moscow. Religion is destroyed, Christ being profaned, children educated according to Communist ideals, because as Marx put it: "Religion is opium for the people". All politically active personalities —conservatives, liberals and socialists—are either killed or deported to forced labour from where nobody escapes alive. The only Party allowed is the Communist Party. In this way nearly twenty per cent. of the Estonian people has been liquidated. Thousands and thousands of all professions, from factory-directors to labourers, professors to students, officers to soldiers, farmers to artisans have been deported to forced labour. The Central Prison of Tallinn, which harboured all the persons who were sentenced for deportation, and where I was held till my escape, was the scene of mass-deportations, where during one night once, 1,038 people were wedged into cattle-cars and sent away, nobody knows where. No trace of these unfortunates has ever been found.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAD been the manager of the greatest publishing company in Estonia, being for more than ten years member of the Estonian Parliament as a liberal. The director of our company, the lord-mayor of the Estonian capital, Tallinn, Mr. A. Uesson was deported together with his wife, our three last editors-in-chief, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Prof. A. Piip, Minister of the Interior, A. Anderkopp and Mr. E. Laaman, the best journalist in Estonia, have without a trace vanished in the forests of Siberia.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Minister of Agriculture, O. Kostner, died in a neighbouring prison cell. After his death he was robbed of his gold teeth by the guards who afterwards broke into a fight over the booty among themselves. The body was thrown into a wooden box without even being washed.

✧ ✧ ✧

TOGETHER with others I have helped on Christmas Day to break the ice which formed the coffin of six people near the town of Paide. Three farmers, a school-teacher, a rural storekeeper and a farmhand, killed by the Red Army with crushing blows of their butt-ends of their guns which smashed the skulls of the victims, robbed to their underwear, had been poured over with water till the six bodies and the frozen water formed a solid block of ice.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE seen myself, how a whole truckful of young girl-students and their teachers from the Kehtna School of Domestic Economics was brought to prison in pouring rain, the girls without coats or caps. In every corner of the truck there was an NKVD-man with a gun ready to shoot. These girls, aged from sixteen to twenty, were arrested at school during a lesson. Two days later these same girls were sent in groups to forced labour.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is no end to this register of human terror. I think, that these examples will help the readers of your paper realize the dangers of Communism which stops at nothing. I am not a hot-headed young man who would not know the meaning of his words. I am a man of sixty-three, with strong nerves, who has gone through three wars, seen terror and is able to analyze life.

✧ ✧ ✧

MY belief is, that the anti-Communist propaganda in Canada could be much more successful and effective, if the Canadian Government would open the doors of immigration wider not only to British subjects but also to those who escaping from behind the Iron Curtain have stood with the bloody regime face to face. These people: Scientists, artisans, farmers, labourers, are living witnesses whose words it is impossible to annul by any Communist propaganda. There is some hope in connection with that due to the new immigration regulations effective July 1st, which were presented to the House of Commons by the minister, Hon. W. Harris.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE way to a satisfactory solution of the problem set up by Prime Minister St. Laurent and the senator, Hon. John Haig, is: Open the doors of Canada also to these thousands of Estonians who at present live as refugees in Germany, Sweden, Belgium, England and other parts of Europe. Their eyes are turned toward Canada where they hope to start a new home. Escaped from their homes with nothing, they have brought with them to the West great human values; a strong anti-Communist orientation, knowledge and skill in all professions, experiences and a Christian spirit. These new Canadians would make a valuable addition to Canadian culture and economy.

A. WEILER,
President of the Estonian Federation of Canada.

RULE OR RUIN

Would This Deter The Modern Beach Lass?

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

ONE of the troubles of the Irish police was discussed amusingly in a recent editorial in The Milwaukee Journal. It seems that these policemen are patrolling Eire's beaches to clear them of colleens in modern bathing suits. The crusade is also being pushed by self-appointed vigilante committees, which note briefly clad beauties and report them to the police and the public.

This attempt to force fashionably dressed young women to wear more clothes is undertaken in the prudish belief that they spoil the view. It's not a new crusade. Ireland has been warring on modern bathing suits, sun bathing and even mixed bathing on beaches for years. Trouble is, according to The Journal, the crusade is getting nowhere. While the Irish are partial to policing as a career they don't like policemen. As fast as police run a scantily clad colleen from the beach, a dozen take her place. Authorities are weary with the shame of it.

The police seem to lack the ability to learn from history. They forget the case of Molly Donahue, as told by Peter Finley Dunne, and the lesson it teaches.

Molly was a pretty Irish lass, with spirit and eyes that twinkled like the blue sparks from a peat fire. She was "idjucated," too. She "cud pass th' butter in Frinch an' paint all th' Chiny dishes in th' Cubb-rd." Time and again her father "ate a green ha-arp along with his cabbage an' they had to sind f'r Docther Hinnissy f'r to pump th' a-art wurk out iv him."

With all her accomplishments, Molly wasn't satisfied. She had a fierce determination to be modern. She bought a bicycle and a divided skirt, in the days when women wore nothing less than six petticoats. When she rode home on her new bike in her new outfit, old man Murphy saw her coming. He gasped, sicked his dog on her and ran into the house with his hands over his eyes. Her father, red with shame, screamed to his wife: "Honoria, bring a barrel. Molly has come away without anything on but Sarsfield's pants...."

The neighbourhood was in a tumult over the shame of it. But Father Kelly, who was passing by, didn't bat an eyelash.

"Tut, tut," he said, "ye look well on that bicycle. But 'tis th' first time I iver knowed ye was bowlegged."

Molly dashed into the house, her defiance gone. Next day Doheny's express wagon was seen hauling the bicycle away. The divided skirt was knit into a rag rug, and old man Donahue rests his feet on it in righteous satisfaction.

The Milwaukee Journal thinks there is a lesson in this for the Irish police, and that psychology and vanity might put clothes on colleens where force would fail. We're not so sure; we have noticed women, with figures emphatically not designed for encasement in shorts or slacks, wearing such garments with every outward appearance of nonchalance. Yet their mirrors must have told them what was apparent to the casual onlooker, without producing the effect noted in the tale about Molly Donahue.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven: and he said, Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart.... But will God indeed dwell on the earth? behold, the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house that I have builded. (I Kings 8: 22, 23, 27.)

✧ ✧ ✧

God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things. (Acts 17: 24, 25.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me....

Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there.

If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me. (Ps. 139: 1, 7-10.)

Thief-Proof

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

Locks are placed on car doors for a purpose. They are not particularly things of beauty, enhancing the appearance of the vehicle. Hence motorists should use them. When leaving their vehicles unattended they should lock them — particularly during the hours of darkness when the thief is not so likely to be apprehended.

To leave a vehicle unattended and unlocked in circumstances in which it can easily be stolen is to invite such action. And there are plenty of car thieves waiting to receive and accept such an invitation.

Many motorists also find it advisable to immobilize the motor in their cars when leaving them parked in more or less isolated places or at times when there are not likely to be many persons who would see someone taking them. This can be done very simply. Any garage mechanic will be glad to explain how.

A BRITISH OPINION

Setback For Political Savagery

Find W. Europe Less Prepared Than In 1939

LONDON, July 31 (AP). — Western Europe, more united economically than ever before, is far from ready to fight as a smooth working team in a third world war.

on the United States in its efforts

It is leaning to a great extent to build up defensive forces. So far the U.S. help has been a mere trickle.

Some progress, however, has been made in revitalizing defenses sapped by the Second World War or left to wither in the reconstruction emergencies of the post-war period.

The military picture has changed so drastically during the 11 years since Hitler sent his armies into Poland that comparisons with 1939 are invalid. But a survey taken in 11 Western Europe capitals indicates that a general outbreak of war would find the West less prepared than it was then.

Yet To Come

The U.S. has sent over some small arms, bazookas and communications equipment. Britain has received a B-29 Superfortresses and eventually will get more. But as a whole, the big stuff is still to come.

The U.S. is training Western European officers and men in war-tested battle tactics. It is also helping build factories.

This is the network of the Mutual Defence Assistance Program of the North Atlantic Treaty.

"We were slow getting started because of the delay in setting up the North Atlantic treaty organization," an MDAP spokesman said.

"But military supplies taken from U.S. surplus are starting to flow in. This phase of American aid should be rolling full speed by the end of this year."

The most optimistic observers say it will be two years before the program pays off in a defensively strong, militarily united Western Europe.

Village Suspects Prowling Bear

MARMORA, July 31—(ENS—What was suspected to be a prowling bear, visited the neighborhood of Pearce St. and the upper end of North Hastings Ave. in the early hours of Saturday.

Half a dozen dogs got together and roused residents with their loud marking.

The residents did not seem inclined to investigate, feeling the dogs could best handle the intruder.

Berry bushes trampled down on land within easy distance seem to indicate that bruin is making the rounds.

Smash Embassy Glass

LONDON, July 31 (AP)—Several windows in the Russian embassy were smashed Saturday night by a group of demonstrators. About 150 persons gathered outside the embassy and bricks were thrown at the building after a deputation of two men and a woman argued with Soviet officials on the embassy steps, the Press Association said.

Dowling To Wed

VANCOUVER, July 31 (CP)—It wasn't all politics at the CCF biennial convention here. At the windup Saturday, delegate Fred Dowling of Toronto, national director of the United Packinghouse Workers (CIO-CCL) said he will marry Margare Sargant, of Toronto, another delegate, in September. Miss Sargant is an employee of the Rubber Workers Union.

Use Latin, Greek Languages In Film On Jesus

COPENHAGEN —(CP)— Carl Th. Dreyer, world-famous Danish film producer, is planning a $5,000,000 picture of the life of Christ, using Greek, Latin and Hebrew dialogue.

Dreyer, who produced such silent film classics as "Jeanne D'Arc (1928) and "Vampire" (1930), said in an interview here he plans to shoot the epic in Israel with the political background of Christ's life stressed.

"The aim of the film, first and foremost, is to describe Christ's life against the background of the political and social circumstances of the time," he said.

"Palestine was an occupied country. The occupation troops were Roman and the natives, Jews. One of the Jews was Jesus. In order to combat the anti-Semitism which has again broken out in the world I think it is useful for all Christian people to have it clear in their minds that the man in whom they believe, and His apostles, were all Jews."

Original Tongues

Dreyer said the actors will speak the languages which were spoken at that time. In the court scenes Latin will be spoken; the educated classes will speak Greek; and the ordinary people, Hebrew.

"To make it understood it will be necessary, when the film is shown, to put in a commentary in the language of the country in which it is being shown. But the plot and the lines are already well known by most people."

He said the North American producer, Blevins Davis, has formed an independent film company for this one film. It will be shot in black and white "woodcut style" and will take about two years to make.

Honored At Dinner

TORONTO, July 31 (CP) — S. H. He joined the company 38 years ago in Windsor and worked in Toronto, North Bay and Montreal.

Falls Off Roof

KINGSTON, July 31 (CP) — A steeplejack died in hospital here Saturday after falling 70 feet from a church roof Thursday. William Vacheresse, 26, of St. Catharines, was working on the roof of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church at nearby Centreville with Robert Ingram of St. Catharines when both fell from the roof. Ingram still is in serious condition in hospital.

Italy's Crack Driver Badly Hurt In Crash

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 31 —(AP)—Luigi Villoresi, Italy's crack automobile race driver, was injured severely and three spectators were killed Sunday when his car crashed into the crowd during the Grand Prix motor race.

More than a score of spectators were hurt in the crash.

Protest Visits

LONDON, July 31 (Reuters)—Bulgaria has protested to Yugoslavia against alleged visits to prohibited zones by the Yugoslav military attache and other embassy officials in Sofia. A Bulgarian news gency message received in London Sunday night said a note handed to the Yugoslav embassy warned that "the Bulgarian government will be forced to take most energetic measures" if the Yugoslav officials committed any similar "infringements."

Expel 7 Members

JAKARTA, Indonesia, July 31 —(Reuters)—The executive of the Indonesian Nationalist party Sunday announced the expulsion of seven prominent party members who last week formed a splinter group called the Nationalist Merdeka (Freedom) party. The expelled men were said to be right-wingers dissatisfied with plans for an impending coalition government, in which the Nationalists would join with the Mashumi, Indonesia's other leading party.

Ask Precautions

DAMASCUS, July 31—(Reuters)—Syria asked the United Nations Security Council to take "necessary measures" against alleged increased "aggression" by Israel. A government cable to United Nations Secretary-general Trygve Lie said "Jewish armed aggression" aimed at Syria, Lebanon, Egypt and Jordan, culminated in an air incident last week, in which it was alleged a Lebanese plane was attacked by an Israel fighter.

Trapped By Wires

TORONTO July 31 (CP)—Two persons were trapped for 35 minutes Saturday night when high voltage wires fell during an electrical storm and imprisoned them in their light panel truck. The pair—Bert Oldroyd and his daughter Reta 8—were shaken but uninjured. They were rescued after Hydro workers shut off all power in the district.

Traders Given Encouragement In Bank Letter

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

An encouraging note for traders is given in the current monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It says:

"There are indications that improvement in the gold and dollar reserves of the sterling area may permit some relaxation of British rules concerning the 25 per cent cut in dollar imports announced last September. In addition, it appears that Canadian exporters may look forward to some lessening of restrictions in the British West Indies."

This might do something to remedy the situation of the first half of the year when exports to Britain dropped substantially. Fortunately, this drop was contrasted by higher exports to the United States and greater consumption at home.

At the same time the bank notes that imports from Britain have not risen to levels which might have been expected to result from the cheaper prices of post-devaluation merchandise.

Announcements

Public bond financing for July totalled $10,202,031, about half July's figure last year, says Wood, Gundy and Co., Ltd. The decline was accounted for primarily by the absence of provincial issues.

Total public financing in the first seven months of 1950 was $1,139,185,648, compared with $239,635,510 in the same period last year. Bulk of the increase was the Government of Canada $745,000,000 refunding loan in May.

Confederation Life Association announced the retirement of C. D. Devline, vice-president and general manager. He will continue as vice-president of the board of directors. Four new vice-presidents are: B. T. Holmes, actuary; J. L. McLachlan, secretary; A. E. Wall, in charge of agencies; W. J. Farmery, in charge of investments. C. R. B. Lloyd has been appointed treasurer, in addition to being superintendent of mortgage investments.

Imperial Bank of Canada has been given the "highest merit award of Financial World, American publication, for Imperial's 1949 annual report to shareholders.

28 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Weekend mishaps — including the deaths of three persons in a train-car collision near Sault Ste. Marie—killed 28 persons in Eastern Canada.

Reported to The Canadian Press during the weekend were 11 deaths from traffic accidents, nine from drownings, three from falls and five more from varied causes.

Fifteen of the deaths were in Ontario, nine were in Quebec, three in Nova Scotia and one in New Brunswick.

In Ontario, seven were killed in highway accidents, five were drowned, one committed suicide, one was killed by a fall and one was asphyxiated.

In Quebec three were drowned, two each killed by falls and traffic accidents, one was electrocuted and one hit by a train.

Hold Driver

The three killed near Sault Ste. Marie died when a car struck a freight train near Northland, 30 miles north of the city. The driver of the car, Robert Archibald, was held by police but was not injured. The dead are his daughter, Isabelle, 6, Lawrence Giroux, 4, and Howard Wright, 54.

Michael Thompson, 2, died in hospital in Sarnia, and Clarence Hall, 56, died in hospital in Oakville, both from traffic accidents. Eldon Lonsdale, 33, of Buckingham, Que., was killed in Niagara Falls, Ont., when his motorcycle crashed into the back of a truck and Vytautas Ivanauskas, 26, was killed in Toronto when he lost control of his car and it crashed into a telephone pole.

The drowning victims in Ontario were: Napoleon Dusome, 25, at Penetanguishene; Donald De Saulnier, 25, in Burlington Beach canal near Hamilton; Mrs. John Cooley, 38, of Buffalo, near Port Colborne; William Haslett, 17, of Toronto; and an unidentified woman who was found in Lake Ontario near Toronto.

At Kingston William Vacheresse, 26, of St. Catharines, fell from the roof of a church and was killed, and near Uxbridge an unidentified youth apparently killed himself by piping carbon monoxide into his car. Mrs. Cecile Cairnduff, 29, was asphyxiated by a gas stove in her kitchen.

Mitchell In Hospital

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell was admitted to the Civic Hospital in Ottawa Saturday for a general medical check-up. Hospital authorities declined to disclose if Mr. Mitchell was suffering any particular illness and indicated that he had entered hospital to undergo a complete medical examination. Mr. Mitchell, who is 56, has been in indifferent health for the last year.

Noisy Crowd Drowns Out Service

LA SARRE, Que July 31 (CP) The Baptist evangelists held their meeting as they said they would but the tiny street-corner service Saturday was drowned out by a crowd of some 300 persons shouting and blowing car horns.

The meeting was held by five evangelists who were arrested last Saturday and charged with disturbing the peace after a meeting was broke up by a shoving shouting crowd.

There was no violence. The town constable and a Quebec Provincial Police officer stood by during the half-hour meeting. Later, police escorted the group of 13 away from this Northwestern Quebec mining town.

Charges against the five were dropped on instructions from the town council Friday night after the arrest was protested by Baptist officials and the Association For Civil Liberties.

It was the fourth consecutive Saturday that disturbances had marked the attempts of the tiny Baptist group to hold open-air service in this predominantly Roman-Catholic community.

After the brief service, L. G. Barnhart, past of the Baptist Church here, said the meetings will continue.

A loud-speaker van, playing "Home on the Range" and "Ave Maria" drowned out the hymns of the group.

Gas Station Blast

WELLAND, July 31 (CP)—A mysterious explosion Sunday demolished a service station at Chambers Corners, nine miles west of here. Mr. and Mrs. William Farr, the owners, had left Saturday night for their holidays The explosion blew in the walls and roof of the building but gasoline tanks 10 feet away were not damaged.

U.S. Official Killed In Tibet, All A Mistake

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP) —The State Department reported Saturday that Douglas S. MacKiernan, a U.S. consular officer was killed by Tibetan border guards while trying to escape from Communist-held northwest China across the Himalaya mountains.

The incident occurred last April 13 but today's announcement was the first public word of it.

MacKiernan and his camel caravan apparently were mistaken for bandits or Communist raiders. The shooting was described as an accident.

The news was brought out of the isolated area by a native runner who took 27 days to reach Lhasa, Tibetan capital, officials said. It was relayed thence by radio to the state department by way of New Delhi.

Send Apologies

Meantime the Tibetan government has expressed apologies.

The sketchy report received here said two "natives" in the caravan were also killed and one was wounded. The only other American in the group, Frank Bessac, Lodi, Calif., escaped injury and now is en route to New Delhi.

MacKiernan closed down the U.S. consulate Tihwa, in isolated Sinkiang Province, last Sept. 27, just before the city was turned over to the advancing Communists.

Accompanied by Bessac, who was on the scene as a research scholar, MacKiernan and three servants then set out on a 1,200-mile trip across the Himalayas to India.

Whitehill Holds Staffords To Four Hits, Petes Win 9-1

Eddie Murphy's seniors made it five in a row Sunday at Miller Memorial Stadium, Toronto, as they handed Staffords a 9-1 defeat before upwards of 2,000 rabid Toronto rooters, in a regular Viaduct major league baseball fixture. Victory put the Peterborough Outboard Marine squad in a virtual tie for second place with Toronto Aces in the league standing with a record of 14 wins to date in 23 games while Aces have copped but 16 in 27 starts. This week may see the fighting Marines in undisputed possession of this coveted second spot.

Ed "Gunner" Whitehill, grand veteran of many campaigns of close to 20 years of baseball in central Ontario company, emerged the individual star of the game in a very fine display as he scattered four hits, struck out 10 and walked but one in seven innings of toil. It was the veteran's first complete game of the season and he never looked better, mixing a well-placed curve with a zinging fast ball to completely baffle his rivals throughout.

Meanwhile his mates took kindly to the offerings of "Lefty" John Alquist and sent him to the showers in the fourth, as Estlick singled Stewart was hit, Whitehill sacrificed and Lowery walked. Big Pete Wright, former international League twirler, came in but Garvey was safe on a fielder's choice to score Estlick. Brown singled to scord Stewart and as Wilson reached first on Weir's error. Lowery scored. Harrison cleared the sacks with a double and Menzies singled to bring him in. The seven-run rally ended as Stewart and Whitehill flied to Johnson.

Home Run

Stafford's lone tally came in the sixth as Bill Weir, smart first sacker, hit one of Whitehill's fast balls far over the right field wall to spoil a shutout. Two smart double plays featured in this contest, one by each team. Marines' play started by Brown to Garvey was a honey and both these boys starred afield.

Toronto Dovers Held By Edger, Petes Win 7-4

Bill Edger limited Toronto Dovers to five hits Saturday at Riverside Park as Ed Murphy's seniors rang up their fourth straight victory 7-4, in the Viaduct Major Baseball League. He struck out eight. Save in the sixth when two errors and successive hits by Cornack and Gormick enabled the visitors to score three runs and take a temporary two run lead, he held command.

Marines came strong in the last of the sixth to score four and regain their early advantage though as hits by Brown and Wilson, Harrison's fielders choice, a walk to Estlick and Lowrey's walk put the locals in the van.

It was a hard fought game throughout before a fair crowd who enjoyed watching their favorites prove their mettle by coming from behind in the pinch to salt away a well-earned triumph. Peterborough took an early lead in the second as Frank Glazier, the 16-year-old Boston boy, banged a hard single over short to score Estlick and Stewart on by virtue of a fielder's choice and an error.

Dovers roared back in the fifth as Shadlesky drove Gormick in with a base hit and followed with their rally in the sixth. Marines however, were not to be denied as they climbed closer to the second place Toronto Aces who dropped two more last week.

Bud Harrison, who is beginning to hit his baseball stride since his transition from softball, featured afield for his team, handling six hard chances at the hot corner with but one miscue, while Glazier, who can also twirl, drove home three runs with two timely bingles in his debut here. Frank is a college boy whom the Browns are watching.

Collect Two Hits

Danny Brown, Paul Estlick and Stewart also each collected two safeties in this struggle while for Dovers, Norm Cornack cracked out two safe hits, one a double, drove in two runs and played a fine game. Down's running catch in centre off Brown in the third was a fielding feature.

THIS LOOKS LIKE A HAPPY VACATION GROUP, but it is actually a picture of a group of airmen, and one air woman, at work. Allan Barker 14, Crowe's Landing Regatta Champ

Alan Barker, 14, carried away the championship cup at Crowe's Landing regatta on Saturday for the third year in succession, winning the highest total number of points during the afternoon program of boating and swimming events.

Organized by the Upper Stony Lake Association, the regatta was one of the first to take place in the Kawarthas this season. It was the beginning of a series of regattas which will attract thousands of cottagers and boating and swimming enthusiasts to the lakes during the next two weeks.

A group of some 750 men, women and children were part of a gay, colorful scene at Crowe's Landing. That part of Stony Lake was dotted with about 20 sailing boats, countless canoes and several motor launches. The lake was alive with boats and there was great activity on the shore as youngsters, besides themselves with excitement, ran back and forth asking questions, pointing out the boats making spectacular performances and popping into the store every so often for an ice cream or a soft drink.

Among the boats were three ingeniously decorated craft which competed for the prize awarded the best decorated float. Johnny and Caroline Hawke's boat in which Sally Murdoch was also a passenger, was acclaimed the winner. The boat was attractively decorated with flowers made of paper. Another was labelled

Excelsiors Blitz Hamilton 19-8

BRAMPTON, July 31 (CP).—Brampton Excelsiors took over second place in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse Association Saturday with a 19-8 victory over Hamilton Tigers. A crowd of 1,000 witnessed the game, held in Brampton's new memorial arena because of bad weather.

Paced by Blain McDonald, Jack Derney and Norm Shortridge, Tigers took an early lead but wilted before the all-out Brampton offensive. McDonald finished with three goals to his credit, while Dorney, Shortridge, Merv McKenzie, Alex Edmonds and Bill Hogan had singles.

For the winners, Gord Cruickshank had four and Nick Ferri three. Harry Graham, Archie Browning and Whitey Severson had two apiece.

Wooler Wins 20-12 From Hastings Team

HASTINGS, July 31 (ENS)—Hastings Legion failed to pull out of their softball slump Friday night as Wooler clipped them 20-12 at Wooler before a large crowd.

Legion was without the services of their two best pitchers, Crowley and West. Scott, the regular receiver, was pressed into service on the mound and Moe Fife, the regular first baseman, changed to catcher. Fife hurled the last two innings changing places with Scott.

Barney McColl twirled for Wooler and Legion jumped him for two runs in the top of the first. Wooler tied the score in their half. They continued with three in the second, four in the fifth while holding Legion to a single. Legion crumpled in the sixth as Scott's control started to slip. McColl slammed a homer into right field with the bases loaded.

Legion bounced back with six in the seventh and added three more in the ninth.

Kelly Captures Henley Singles

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 31—(CP)—Watch out for the 1951 Royal Canadian Henley.

That's the advice of experts. It may be a bit premature but they could be right—North America's two greatest scullers are scheduled to meet then for the first time.

If everything goes according to the books, Toronto's Jack Guest, Jr., son of a Diamond winner, will be in one lane. In the other will be Philadelphia's Jack Kelly, Jr., a two-time winner of the game's greatest prize.

The event will be the championship singles, co-feature with the Hanlan Memorial Senior Eights, on the four-day program.

Kelly, winner of the championship singles Saturday final day of the 1950 Henley, expects to be back to defend the title. Guest, who automatically jumped into senior company after his Association singles triumph last week, plans to challenge.

Mack's Oldest Sons Take Athletics Option

PHILADELPHIA, July 31 (AP)—Connie Mack's two oldest sons, Roy and Earle were reported today to have obtained a 30-day option on the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Philadelphia Inquirer in a special dispatch from Detroit said the option has an additional 45-day period of grace in which to pay off the Shibe-MacFarland interests, along with those of Mrs. Mack and Connie Mack, Jr., representing 56.5 per cent of the stock of the Philadelphia American League baseball club.

The option carries a stipulation, the inquirer reported, that if Roy and Earle are not prepared to take possession of the club at the time of the final settlement, the Shibe-MacFarland-Mack combination will step into control.

Huntsville Whips Juniors 20-4 In Rugged Tilt

Peterborough Petes went down to the tune of 20-4 in a juvenile lacrosse game at Huntsville on Saturday night. In a hard, rugged game, played at a cracking pace, the Huntsville Hawks clamped down on the Petes with keen checking and even better positional marking, and took full advantage of every opportunity

Forcing the pace from the start, the Hawks were in the lead within five minutes and built up a 5-2 edge at the end of the first period. The Petes came back in the second and slowed down the Huntsville attacks, keeping them to three goals.

Huntsville piled on the pressure in the second half and added eight more goals. The Petes put up the red light once in this period. The final quarter saw Huntsville still dominating the game and outscoring Peterborough by four goals to one.

Caravaggie scored twice and Fontaine and Crouch notched the other two. Fitzgerald and Foster claimed assists.

Charlie Justice Strikes Out 14 To Beat Pedlars

Toronto Tip Tops' Charlie Justice cruised through the Oshawa Pedlars Saturday night at the Bowl, striking out 14, as Peterborough Mutuals clipped the Pedlars 6-1.

Justice had little trouble with the Oshawa nine. Whenever a Pedlar reached third base, Justice would bear down to retire the side on strikes. Keller scored the only Oshawa run in the fourth. Immediately Justice tossed out the next three men on strikes. He allowed eight well-scattered hits during the nine-inning exhibition.

Norm Bagnell bettered Justice in the strikeouts department with 15 while he allowed 10 hits, including Reg Leether's home run, the first man to face the Oshawa hurler.

After Leether's homer to start the first inning for the Mutuals, Crowe connected for a hit followed by another by Shelley Miley, Tip Tops' catcher. On an error two batters later the second Mutuals' run crossed the plate.

Bagnell whiffed three straight in the second and fell into difficulty again in the third when Miley reached first on an error. He later scored for the Mutuals' third run. A walk to Crowe, a single by Miley, and an error, backed by a hit by Carpenter provided the Mutuals with two additional runs in the bottom of the fifth to make the score 5-1.

Miley again started a Peterborough rally this time in the eighth for the sixth run. He singled to be followed by Justice receiving a free trip. Carpenter also walked to fill the bases. Mackness then singled for the final run.

Yourkevich, the Oshawa centre-fielder, led the hit department with four for five while third baseman Stark had two for four. Shelley Miley, besides handling Justice's hot pitching, managed to cool Norm Bagnell's offerings for three hits in five times up. Other Peterborough hits were Jack Mackness, two for four; Bob Crowe and Reg Leether, both two for five.

The Oshawa team were one hour and a half late for the game. The crowd estimated at 1,800, stayed to see the exhibition which ended close to midnight.

Rainstorm Helps Pt. Hope Win Game

PORT HOPE, July 31—A sudden rainstorm worked in favor of the Port Hope Ontarios Saturday when it forced stoppage of a Lakeshore League contest at the end of six innings with Port Hope leading Cobourg 4 to 2. The locals scored the winning counters in the last half of the sixth just before the rain storm.

Harold Woods hurled nice ball to win the game, allowing but four hits, striking out seven and walking two. Soup Campbell was the pitcher for Cobourg. He gave up six hits, struck out four and walked four.

White for Port Hope and McMillan for Cobourg were the big hitters, each getting a triple and a single.

Makes First Error

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP) — Red Schoendienst, flashy second-baseman of St. Louis Cardinals, was charged with his first error in 58 games Sunday when the Cards whipped New York Giants 6-3. He had handled 320 consecutive chances before making the miscue, bettering his own former National League record of 285 chances and 44 games. The major league mark was set by Bobby Doerr in 1948 when the Red Sox second-sacker handled 414 chances before committing an error.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Trouble again jinxed Miss Canada IV Saturday.

The temperamental powerboat, taken for a test run over Lake Muskoka by driver Harold Wilson and mechanic Charlie Volker hit 13 miles an hour.

She refused to go faster. Wilson said her new steel propellor seemed too heavy and may have to be shaved down before she can make any attempt to crack the world's water record of 160.3 mph.

The propellor was made in Owen Sound, during the winter after test with bronze props showed they tended to buckle and lose pitch under the terrific power generated by Miss Canada's engine.

The tests are to determine whether the Canadian boat is capable of smashing the world mark, set recently by Stan Sayres of Seattle in his Slo-Mo-Shun. If Wilson is satisfied he can crack the record, he plans to make official time trials, possibly at Picton, Aug. 7, where a measured mile course has been laid out for a regatta there.

Calumet Farm's stretch-running Ponder bounded out of 10th place Saturday to win the $75,000-added Arlington handicap by three-quarters of a length at Arlington Park before a sweltering crowd of 26,000.

Aegina, owned by Hal Price Headley, Lexington, Ky., finished second. Inseparable was third and Cochise, one of two eastern invaders in the race, fourth in a field of ten.

A record-smashing performance by a 16-year-old Toronto girl highlighted the Ontario women's track and field championships at Pantry Park in Toronto Saturday.

Mildred Grosse set an Ontario mark of 7.7 seconds in the junior 60-metres sprint while her club Toronto Malvernettes A. C., edged out East York Track Club for the club championship, by three points with a total 48. Hamilton Olympic Club, winners last year, placed third with 33 points.

Miss Grosse's record is 1-10 of a second faster than the old mark of 7.8 set by Adelaide Adams of Toronto in 1935 and is only 1-10 of a second slower than the Canadian mark of 7.6 held by Isabel McKean of Toronto.

Jresident J. G. McLeod of the Ontario Lacrosse Association yesterday slapped an indefinite suspension on Bob Hilson, Brampton junior, for hitting a referee.

Hilson struck referee Bill Fitzgerald of St. Catharines during a Brampton-Mimico game in Mimico Friday night. Hilson hit the referee when he was given a five-minute misconduct penalty after jostling the official during a dispute over a Brampton goal.

My Sweetie, still Detroit's top-ranking powerboat, won her second major triumph of the speed-boating season Saturday by taking all three heats of the Memorial Trophy Y race on the Detroit River.

Such Crust I placed second to My Sweetie, and Tempo VI, driven by bandleader Guy Lombardo, ran third in the 45-mile race.

Favorites advanced without serious trouble Saturday in first-round matches of the Ontario tennis championships at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club.

The firing was largely confined to Toronto entrants. The big guns—first-seeded Bren Macken of Montreal and brother Jimmy, seeded second—swing into action today.

All seeded and out-of-town players will see action today. Play also begins in the junior events, with players from Ontario, Quebec and the United States competing.

Likes His Homers!

PITTSBURGH, July 31 (AP)—Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh Pirates slugger, has hit a home run in each National League park this season. He has belted 18 in Forbes Field, home of the Pirates. On the road Kiner hit three in Brooklyn, two in Cincinnati and one each in Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

St. Kitts Boys Beaten 10-8 At Miller Bowl

Coach Lou Vitarelli's OLA juniors on Saturday night defeated St. Catharines juniors, last year's junior finalists 10-8 in Miller Bowl.

St. Catharines jumped to an early three-goal lead as they caught the Petes with a wide-open brand of lacrosse. Gradually the Vitarelli-coached squad, backed by Nicholls in the nets, made the St. Kitts team settle down to Peterborough's type of lacrosse and had the play pretty well their own way, especially in the third quarter.

Nicholls stood out in the Peterborough net as he turned St. Kitts away on brilliant saves. His stellar work seemed to urge on the Peterborough players who turned in their top performance in this their first season of junior play.

Uhynruk opened the scoring in the first 15 seconds as he went in alone. Wolley two minutes later notched the second St. Kitts tally with help from Convery. Bradshaw gave the Niagara district crew a three-goal lead a minute later when he soloed. Peterborough then began to awaken and slowed the St. Kitts squad to a walk with closechecking Batley at the seven minute mark opened the scoring. Batley with Beavis tied the score only to have Uhynruk put St. Kitts one up with 50 seconds left 4-3.

St. Kitts Two Up

Woolley sent St. Kitts two up after two minutes and a half play in the second. O'Reilly scored his second goal three minutes later as the locals once more began to have most of the play. Heffernan with Robinson tied the score for the second time at the seven-minute mark and four minutes later Killingbeck put Peterborough up for the first time in the game.

Entering the final half with the score 6-5 in Peterborough's favor the locals continued to play slow, cautious brand of lacrosse. At one time they held the ball away from St. Kitts for three minutes. Besides playing the delayed offensive lacrosse the Petes added two goals. The first was scored by Whitnell early in the period on a pass from Robinson. Whitnell later passed to Heffernan for the eighth goal.

Batley with Robinson and then Robinson with Whitnell were the Peterborough scorers in the final quarter as the Petes continued to hold the St. Kitts team to a slow pace. Three times St. Kitts managed to squeeze through for counters, Frick, Moore and Bradshaw, but failed to catch the Petes.

Red Wings Beat Jersey City In Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

If the St. Louis Cardinals desire another starting pitcher for the stretch run in the National League, they need only to look to Rochester, where 20-year-old Tom Poholsky is setting the 'International League afire with his blazing righhanded curve balls. Poholisky, who failed with the Cardinals last spring, is the leading pitcher in the loop with 14 victories and only three losses. He has started 17 games for the Red Wings—and completed all but one.

Poholsky registered win No. 14 Sunday, as the league-leading Red Wings swept double-header from Jersey City ,7-5 and 5-0.

Rochester supported Poholsky's seven-hit hurling with four home runs, all off loser Red Hardy. Don Bollweg, Hal Rice, Ed Mierkowicz and Russ Derry hit the homers.

Larry Claffone led Rochester's 11-hit attack in the opener with a single and two home runs. Neal Watlington and Pete Pavlick hit homers for the losers.

In Second Place

Baltimore climbed into second place by one-half percentage point, shading Buffalo 6-5. Catcher Clyde Kluttz clubbed a home run for Baltimore, while Herb Adams hit an inside-the-park homer for Buffalo.

Montreal, which split a double-header with Syracuse, slipped to third place. The Royals, however, are five games behind Rochester, while Baltimore is 5½.

Kent Peterson stopped Montreal with three hits in the opener to win 2-1.

Jack Banta pitched five-hit ball in the nightcap as Montreal rebounded 10-3.

Toronto scored eight times in the sixth inning in a 13-4 romp over Springfield Cubs.

Del Ennis Philly Sparkplug Team Sweeps Doubleheader

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

When the time comes to vote for the National League's most valuable player don't overlook Del Ennis.

You'll never get manager Eddie Sawyer to admit it, but the muscular Philly outfielder has been the most vital performer among the host of good looking kids on the hustling Philadelphia club that is on top of the heap today by three games.

Every Philly has done his bit. The three bonus pitchers—Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons and Bob Miller—own 36 victories.. Roberts won his 13th game Sunday as the Phils swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-0 and 4-2.

But in the final analysis, it has been Ennis and his big bat that has put the Phils in first place — and is keeping them up there.

In the Phils' last eight games, of which they've won seven. Ennis has clubbed enemy pitching for 13 hits in 30 times at bat. He's driven in 21 runs. His base knocks included five home runs—two with the bases loaded in three days.

Leads League

Although his average is only .293, he leads the league with 89 runs batted in and is tied for second with team-mate Willie Jones in home runs with 22.

Except for driving in seven runs with a pair of home runs, a double and single, Ennis had a somewhat mild afternoon Sunday. His grand-slam homer in the eighth inning of the opener was added dressing as Roberts coasted to his third successive shutout with a four-hitter.

But Del's other four-base clout —also in the eighth inning—decided the second game. It climaxed a four-run rally that overcame a 2-0 lead. Jim Konstanty, who relieved Ken Heintzelman in the seventh, was the winner.

Yankees Win

While the Phils were increasing their National League lead, New York Yankees moved to within two percentage points of the American League's pace-setting Detroit Tigers. The Yankees swept both ends of a doubleheader from Chicago's White Sox, 15-7 and 4-3.

The Tigers came from behind to outlast Philadelphia Athletics, 12-10. They spotted the A's a 7-2 lead, then came up with eight runs in the fifth. Vic Wertz banged his 20th homer for Detroit.

Cleveland's third-place Indians fell two games off the pace, splitting a doubleheader with Boston Red Sox. The Indians won the opener 6-5 in the 10th. Home runs by Bobby Doerr and Walt Dropo helped rookie Willard Nixon and the Sox win the nightcap 6-3.

Washington swept a twin bill from St. Louis Browns, 9-5 and 13-8. Home runs by Sam Mele and Irv Noren featured the Nats' first-game triumph. An eight-run uprising in the ninth won the nightcap.

Three Winners

Three National League contenders, St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers all won. The Cards snapped New York's nine-game winning streak whipping the Giants 6-3.

The Braves wrested third place from the Dodgers by three percentage points with a double victory over Cincinnati, 4-2 and 10-0. Home runs by Earl Torgeson, Luis Olmo and Bob Elliott helped Vern Bickford rack up his 12th triumph in the opener.

Brooklyn beat Bob Rush for the ninth stranght time as Don Newcombe hurled a five-hitter over the Cubs with a 7-2 victory. Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella homered for Brooks.

Trenton Triumphs

FRANKFORD, July 31—Veteran Harry Farr pitched a brilliant no-hit, no-run game here Saturday night as Trenton Chevies down Frankford 8-0. The win strengthened Trenton's grip on first place in the Trent Valley Softball League.

Matlock Takes Sudbury Trophy

SUDBURY, July 31 (CP) — Tony Matlock of Kitchener posted rounds of 72, 72 and 74 for a 54-hole total of 218 here Saturday to capture the Seagram Cup in the 14th annual Sudbury Golf Club invitation tournament.

Bernie Johnson of Hamilton finished with 219 for second place, and Bobby Fair of Toronto winner of the Seagram last year, took third place with 220.

Trailing the leaders in the championship flight were Bill and Dave Morland of North Bay, who posted scores of 223 and 225 respectively. Milt Piomske of Kitchener and Merve Stoughton of North Bay both shot 226.

Screen Kisses Turn Out Pain In Neck

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, July 31 (AP)—We had an opportunity last night to hear about movie kissing from Hollywood's foremost authority on the history of that subject, Carlisle Jones.

The oustanding fact that impresses Jones after 20 years of osculatory investigation in the studios is that screen love has been slowed down while everything else in pictures has been speeded up. In th early days, he recalls, the leading lady bounced in and out of the hero's arms at a dizzy rate. It was Valentino, the lingering Latin, Jones says, who introduced the more deliberate technique of screen kissing. John Gilbert followed the pattern with Greta Garbo, as did John Barrymore with Dolores Costello. Those were men who took their time with kisses.

Kiss No Thrill

Something that still astounds Jones is that the screen kiss holds little thrill for the kissers. Too many people are involved in getting that kiss onto film—dozens of technicians and aides as well as the players themselves.

This led to the discovery, which Jones kept a secret for many years, that screen lovers often came out of a clinch with pains in their necks due to the cramped positions they hold for the cameras.

Kiss Statistics

When I asked the kiss historian how many kisses are exchanged annually in pictures, he replied quickly: "About 10,000. But only 10 per cent of them appear in the final footage." Only the script clerks keep a record of the actual number of kisses between players. The players themselves forget. As to their final length and ardor on the screen, the film cutter has the final say. He ends them when he chooses.

Claxton Writes Tribute To King

LONDON, July 31 (Reuters) — Defence Minister Brooke Claxton of Canada, writing in The Sunday Times, says the death of former prime minister Mackenzie King removed "the greatest Canadian of the century, a man who the people had somehow come to feel was their greatest friend."

In a lengthy article headed "William Lyon Mackenzie King, An Appreciation," his colleague credits him with keeping the Dominion united during the Second World War.

"The task of Canadian statesmanship as he saw it," the cabinet minister writes, was "to weld Canada into a free nation that could speak with a strong and united voice at the council tables of the world.

"His opponents under-rated him, thought him soft, indecisive, a master of delay, an evader of issues. Yet Canadian public life is strewn with the corpses of the adversaries he defeated."

Union Members Reject Offer

DETROIT, July 31 — (AP) — Union members Sunday rejected a five-year contract that had been agreed upon by the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and the Hudson Motor Car Company. The rejection was unprecedented in post-war auto industry bargaining.

The pact was patterned closely after the one negotiated with General Motors Corporation and was considered one of the best in the industry. It provided 20,000 Hudson workers maximum monthly pensions of $117.50, including federal social security, at age 65 after 25 years' service.

A union official said the company would be notified of the vote tomorrow and new negotiations would begin soon. He gave no details of what the union would ask. The company had no comment.

Has Spine Fracture

HYANNIS, Mass., July 31 (AP) —X-rays disclosed Friday that actress Gertrude Lawrence suffered a minor spine fracture in a three-foot fall from a bridge into shallow water last Wednesday. Her husband, producer Richard Aldrich, said his wife's back was strapped by a physician and she is able to continue summer theatre performances.

15 WEEKLY PRIZES
RULES — READ CAREFULLY

The "Radio Ad-O-Gram" Page will appear in The Peterborough Examiner every Monday. In the spaces, in the heading of this page there appear phrases and slogans which have been taken from the advertisements appearing on this page.

TO QUALIFY FOR PRIZES

The reader must find among the advertisements appearing on this page, the ones from which the phrases and slogans have been taken. In making up solution, first write down the number as it appears in the heading. Then opposite the number, write the name and address of the Advertiser from whose advertisement it has been taken, listing them in order of number. To make your solution eligible for entry, attach to it a receipt or label showing that goods or service have been purchased from any one of the Advertisers on this page.

AWARDING OF PRIZES

From all correct and eligible solutions received during the week, 15 will be drawn and the prizes awarded to each respectively in the order in which they are drawn, 1st, $5.00 —2nd, $3.00—3rd, $1.00—4th, $1.00, the next 10 will receive a Capitol Theatre ticket.

MEYERS STUDIOS are awarding a special weekly Prize. This is an 8 x 10 Black and White Portrait, nicely mounted in a folder. This Award will be made to the person whose reply is judged the neatest.

Mention the "Radio Ad-O-Gram" advertiser on whom you wish your prize order. Address replies to the "Radio Ad-O-Gram" editor and make sure they reach The Peterborough Examiner by Friday.

Awards will be made in the form of merchandise orders, redeemable at any Advertiser on this page. State on your solution, at which of these "Radio Ad-O-Gram" establishments you wish to redeem your prize order.

RADIO Every Monday the Radio Ad-O-Grams will be announced over CHEX and attention directed to the page in that day's Peterborough Examiner.

Toronto Yachts Cruise Trent To Lake Simcoe

Seven boats of the Toronto Power Boat Squadron, due to arrive Wednesday morning in Peterborough, passed through Trenton today.

Purpose of the squadron's trip up the Trent waterway from Toronto is to advance popular knowledge of piloting, navigation and seamanship.

In Peterborough the visitors will be given a civic reception and provided with entertainment. Details of the program have not yet been completed.

One sidelight on the thoroughness of the arrangements is that even baby sitters will be available should the older people in the family wish to attend the Summer Theatre or some other entertainment.

The squadron will pull into George St. wharf at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Most of the yachts will continue on through to Lake Simcoe after leaving Peterborough.

Boy Pinned By Heavy Truck

When he tripped after jumping off his uncle's heavy truck Saturday afternoon in the village of Lang, Milton Myers, 10, of Mountain, was injured by the front wheel of the truck.

He is in St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition today is described as "fair." The front wheel pinned him to the ground causing internal injuries.

The lad was visiting his uncle, Charles Elliott, Lang trucker, and took a short ride on the slowly moving vehicle as it was driven into the laneway.

He jumped to the ground just before the truck came to a stop, but he tripped and fell and was unable to avoid the oncoming wheel.

Dr. Wilson Ford of Keene was called and the injured lad was taken to hospital.

3,000 Inspect New Hospital

Approximately 3,000 people inspected the new Civic Hospital Saturday and Sunday. Many others, discouraged by long lines of people waiting, left the grounds without venturing inside.

Those who did inspect the hospital were sent through in groups, handled by about 60 guides. During the weekend the hospital was open for six hours—from 2 to 5 Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Lines of hopeful visitors at one time stretched from the front doors of the hospital to the laundry.

Two Minor Crashes Probed By Police

Two minor accidents—both of them involving a truck and a car—were reported today to provincial police headquarters. Nobody was injured and damage to the four vehicles was light.

A car driven by Melville Hunter, Sherbourne St. collided with a truck driven by Joseph Sheehan, R.R. 2 Indian River, on the Canal Bridge on the Warsaw Rd.

Another truck driven by Mrs. Hilda Siegel, R.R. 2, Peterborough, collided with the car of Martin Bender, Cleveland, Ohio, as Mrs. Siegel was backing. The accident occurred on the Ennismore approach to the Chemong causeway.

Provincial Constable A. T. Eady investigated both collisions.

REGATTA SEASON STARTED ON SATURDAY in the Kawarthas. Several hundred spectators were on hand at Kawartha Park's waterfront to watch a long list of events as shown in the Upper picture. At Crowe's Landing regatta, decorated water floats prompted great applause. Winners of this event, LOWER, were John and Caroline Hawke and Sally Murdoch.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

MAIN ST. TOPICS

IMMING REMANDED

Hugh Imming, 30, of Toronto, was today further remanded on $1,000 bail to August 21. He is charged with fraud in connection with the $100,000 fraud of a Toronto finance company.

THIEVES FAIL

Thieves failed in a weekend effort to crack the office safe at Kelly's fuel office, Aylmer St. After jimmying the front door, they opened the outside door of the safe, but could not open the inner door. Nothing was taken.

WARRANT ISSUED

A bench warrant for Roland Pike, charged with his third offence of drunkenness, was ordered issued today by Magistrate E. A. Gee. Pike has had several adjournments and was supposed to appear today, but did not.

MANY TRAVELLING

The number of visitors in and through Peterborough at the weekend was reflected at the Churchill restaurant. They had to close for several hours Sunday afternoon to catch up on their service accommodation. Additional coaches on CPR passenger trains was further evidence of the volume of vacationing travel.

LITTLE STORM DAMAGE

Heavy showers, accompanied in some cases by hail, apparently did little damage in the Peterborough area Saturday. A couple of trees were felled in Otonabee. No breakages in the electrical power lines have been reported. The story that the Oshawa softball team was delayed in coming here because of broken power lines on the Port Hope highway, is incorrect.

RAIN HALTS HARVEST

Heavy rain north and south of the city during the weekend with showers locally today is delaying the grain harvest. Many farmers of the district have already cut their wheat, and some on Saturday working in fields of oats which have matured before the wheat crop was off. Some hail was reported north of Fowler's Corners.

Tackle Too Light To Handle Bruin

QUESNEL, B.C.—(CP)—Fisherman Harry Bourne figured his tackle was too light for the biggest catch he ever lost—a 400-pound bear.

The Vancouver angler was fishing on nearby Quesnel Lake when bruin—enjoying a swim—got fouled up in Bourne's light trout line. The shaggy beast swam to shore and bounded into the woods still entangled.

Finally the bear broke the line after it was wound around a tree. Bourne and his party retrieved the line and returned to their fishing.

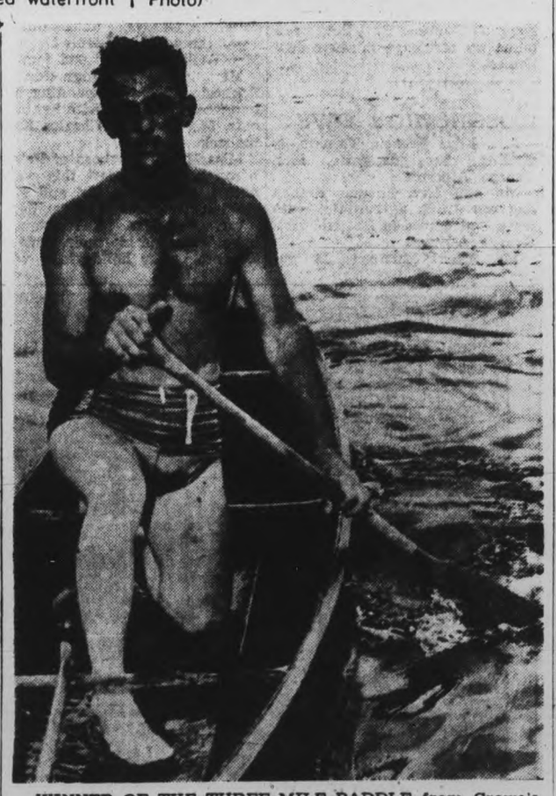
Shortly after Bourne saw bruin sitting on his haunches on shore, curiously watching the anglers.

Ready To Go

WINNIPEG — (CP) —Visitors at the Canadian Pacific Railway station here were surprised to see smoke curling from the funnel of the Countess of Dufferin, Western Canada's pioneer locomotive, on permanent display here. Police said some child pranksters had been burning rubbish in the fire box.

Gratefully Yours

LAMARSH, Essex, England — (CP)—Members of the women's institute of Alphamstone and Lamarsh have autographed a tea tray, which wil be sent to the Women's Institute of Riverside, Ont., in recognition of gift parcels. The signatures are under glass at the base of the tray.



WINNER OF THE THREE-MILE PADDLE from Crowe's Landing to Gull Rock and return was Les Crowe. He led the nearest competitor by several canoe lengths. The regatta was held at Crowe's Landing on Stony Lake on Saturday and was reported to be one of the most successful in years. Following the events a dance was held in the evening and the champion awards presented.

Little Lake Job Awaits Sewage Plant

"We can't clean up Little Lake until the sewage disposal plant job is completed," Mayor M. J. Swanston remarked today to the Examiner.

"I don't think any ratepayer is being impatient about it. This is one of quite a few city jobs that were left for some council to tackle. I don't need to go over them, Civic Hospital, city hall, Park St. drain, fixing up the sewage disposal plant. And that's not all.

Little Lake belongs in that group. Before we could divert the Ashburnham sewage to the trunk sewer on the west side of the river we had to increase the capacity of the disposal plant.

The completion of that job by Hardy Construction Co. is in sight, and after that we can go ahead with the sewer line to Burnham's Point any time the council decides."

Mayor Swanston recalled that the river was crossed with a sewer pipe a year ago, in the work of the Utilities Commission, with a connection from the Point St. Charles end of the big pipe at Perry St.

"The final part of this job will be the laying of sewer pipe along Maria St. in Ashburnham, then along the C.P.R. and the water front of the housing area, from opposite the foot of Burnham St. to the point. That will mean the end of the old disposal plant near Maria St."

Mayor Swanston said he did not think there were many communities in the country that had done more of civic improvement proportionately since the end of the war than Peterborough. Some of the results of the expenditure were just beginning to be seen, especially in the beginning of actual use of Civic Hospital.

"When you count in the work of the Utilities Commission and the Board of Education, it certainly mounts up into quite a figure. On the other hand if we hadn't been booming in population during the last ten years we wouldn't have had those problems pressing on us so much."

Mrs. L. Langton Dies At Yarmouth Heights

ST. THOMAS, July 31.—Mrs. Lyla Calder Langton, wife of A. V. Langton, agricultural representative for the Ontario Department of Agriculture in Elgin County, died at her home in Yarmouth Heights Saturday.

Born in Warsaw, Ont., Mrs Langton spent her childhood and youth in Peterborough. She qualified for the teaching profession and taught in Brooklin and also at the Bishop Strachan School for Girls for a few years before entering MacDonald Hall at Guelph to train in household science.

She was with the Women's Institute branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture as home economist before her marriage. Before going to St. Thomas about six years ago, Mrs. Langton lived in Kemptville and Brantford.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Ann, Margaret and Susan; two sisters, Mrs. Gordon McConnell, Peterborough, and Mrs. Allan McMillen, Portland, Mich., and two brothers, Evan Calder, Warsaw, and Gordon Calder, Warkworth.

JOHN BOORMAN, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boorman of 378 Downie St., won two international swimming championships on Saturday at Watertown, N.Y. — Examiner Staff Photo.

John Boorman Captures Two Swim Titles

Two international swimming championships were won over the week-end by John Boorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boorman, 378 Downie St.

Boorman, with swimmers Donald Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wood, Court House, and Jim Heffernan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heffernan, 93 Hunter St., were entered in the third annual international invitation swimming meet in Watertown, New York. The boys were sponsored by the Peterborough Lions Club.

Placing first in his qualifying heats Saturday Boorman swept the finals easily Sunday to win the under 14 years 50 yards backstroke and the 50 yards free style championships from 18 other boys from United States and Canada.

Winning the free style championship Boorman recorded his fastest time for the 50 yards, 28.2 seconds. He alone placed Peterborough second in the Minnow class competition with 10 points. Toronto West End YMCA won the class honors with 13 points.

Wood was placed third in the finals of the junior men's 50-yard backstroke event. Saturday afternoon in the qualifying heat he placed second. Jim Heffernan placed third in the under 16 yrs. 50-yard breast stroke event but failed to place in finals. The three swimmers combined in the 105-yard medley relay event for swimmers under 16 years to place fourth in the finals.

Bill Lech, Lions club pool swimming instructor, said today the three swimmers did well taking 14 points in the meet. He added that they competed against swimmers from London, Montreal, St. Petersburg, Detroit, Washington, New York and Toronto. Columbia University had several swimmers entered.

During his four years with the YMCA Swimming club Boorman has won six championships, not including this week-end's. Two years ago he captured the Ontario open 50-yard free style and the 50-yard backstroke championships and the Ontario YMCA championships in both events. At the CNE two years ago he won the under 12 years free style swim and last year the under 14 years free style event.

Water Extension Program To Cost $200,000

The August program of water main extension which has been authorized by the Utilities Commission is confined to Cameron St. and Orpington Road. It has been laid down for the accommodation of new housing areas on both sides of Monaghan Road.

Prospective work, most of it approved by the Ontario Department of Health totals $199,805.70, or in round numbers $200,000.

Extensions of main on 35 streets were tabulated in the project report which R. L. Dobbin, manager, submitted to the Commission Friday. As reported on Saturday, the Commission has suspended for a month further endorsement of the Dobbin projects which represent in most instances applications for mains and connections.

Included in these projects is a bulky estimate of $89,316 for the southerly extension of the trunk main on Bethune St., from Sherbrooke to Aylmer and thence to Lansdowne St. This major work was begun around the time of the outbreak of world war II, was partly completed northward on Bethune St. during the war, and was finished in the post-war period northerly to the pumping station.

Postponement of decision on further work in September was prompted by the serious conditions of the present time, and also by the fact that vacations have depleted the Commission's working force.

Exceptions

There are some exceptions to the list of projects that are backed by applications. One of them, for example, is on Monaghan Road from Lansdowne St. to Edison Ave., with estimated cost of $4,270, but without additional revenue. Its purpose would be to improve the general water service to the new southwest section of the city.

Another without additional revenue in sight is Albertus Ave., from Charlotte St. to Sherbrooke St., costing $3,300. Presumably that kind of job will be dropped to the bottom of the list. Another in the same category is the proposed crossing of the river at Locks Bridge. It would extend from Lansdowne St. at Haggart to Whitlaw St. at Otonabee St. and on Otonabee St. to Club Aragon and north 400 ft. on Armour Road.

The approximate cost is $42,910.45. It is understood that whenever that job is authorized, the two municipalities of the city and Otonabee would have to make up a difference between revenue and cost. Estimated revenue is only $342.50.

The decision of the Commission for the present is to carry on the Orpington Road and Cameron St. work, and then decide on the autumn program, particularly for September.

Ontario Given Portrait Of Lt. Governor Who Laid Court House Cornerstone In 1838

A print of the portrait of Sir George Arthur, Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada who laid the corner stone of the Peterborough County Court House at 7:30 in the morning of August 25, 1838, has been sent to Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario by the National Library of Australia at Canberra.

A small spot had been cleared among the brush and trees of the court house hill for the ceremony. A start had not been made on the court house when the lieutenant-governor paid his visit. But citizens of the day decided it was too good an opportunity to miss and went ahead as best they could.

As well as being lieutenant-governor of Upper Canada from 1838 to 1841, when Upper and Lower Canada were united, Sir George was Governor of Tasmania from 1824 to 1836.

In Canada, Sir George had to deal with the aftermath of the Upper Canada rebellion, headed by William Lyon Mackenzie and with the raids into Ontario organized in the border states of the union.

Of the raiders taken prisoner, mostly United States citizens but including some Canadians, 90 were transported to Tasmania. Those who survived were later pardoned.

Says Men Like Their Wives In Black Lacy Lingerie

By GLORIA YARBROUGH

HOLLYWOOD, July 31 (AP) —"Men like their women in black lacy lingerie" says Juel Park, whose lingerie shop has more male customers than women.

"The few guys who don't like black, go for red. I suppose it's because those colors have somehow got the reputation for sexiness."

One of Juel's best male customers is Van Johnson who likes to buy his wife, Evie, fancy under-duds.

"It's true that movie actresses buy several thousand dollars worth of lingerie," said Juel "But that's because they buy a whole year's supply at once.

"Mae West was in here just recently and bought $2,700 worth of lingerie. But I probably won't see her again until next year.

"Most of the stars like ultra feminine underwear. Even though you might see them in chic tailored suits, you can bet your boots they are dressed frilly underneath."

She held up a garter belt, a wisp of a creation in silk and lace. "We make these special for Marlene Dietrich. She likes very lacy things, and she likes them in black or boudoir beige." (She pays $35 for the garter belt).

Softer Colors

Blonde glamor girls Lana Turner and Betty Grable like blue and pink and white undies. Betty sleeps in blue finger-tip gowns. Ava Gardner wears exotic —in any unusual color—lingerie.

The biggest seller in the shop is panties, and the men buy most of them. Juel sells about $25 000 worth each year. They range in price from $16 to $75 a pair.

"Men don't like girdles on women," she explained. "They like them to look natural!"

She also makes lingerie for the movies. But "we have to take special precautions," she said. "We don't cut the nightgown quite so low, and we line it with heavy crepe."

CLASSIC TOPCOAT for fall and winter has notched cuffs on sleeves and pockets (left). The other coat by the same designer features star-shaped tucking at yoke, buttoned patch pockets and tabbed cuffs.

Walker-Stinson Vows Taken At Yelverton

Madonna lilies, delphinia and peonies provided a beautiful setting in Yelverton United Church Saturday, for the marriage of Kathaleen Stinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Stinson, Yelverton, to Morris W. (Bud) Walker, Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker, Janetville. The Rev. James Hampson of Bethany, officiated and Mrs. David Wilson played the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Mr. John Burns sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace over satin, styled with keyhole neckline, outlined with seed pearls and long fitted sleeves. The bride wore her sister's, Mrs. W. Wright, veil embroidered net of triangular shape and caught with a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The wedding attendants were Mrs. Walter Wright, sister of the bride and Mrs. Al Lamonte, sister of the groom. They were frocked in identical floor-length gowns of blue and pink nylon sheer, styled with full skirts, short puff sleeves and matching elbow length gloves of nylon net. Their headdresses were of matching flowers caught with net veiling, and they carried bouquets of yellow and pink gladioli.

The grooms man was Mr. Allan Lamonte and the ushers were Owen Walker, brother of the groom, and Floyd Stinson, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received in a gown of light blue crepe with a hat of matching felt and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a gown of navy crepe and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Later the bride and groom left on their wedding trip. For travelling the bride chose a navy lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will reside at 230 Jane St., Oshawa.

Fur Necklets Prominent In Paris Styles

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, July 31—(AP)—If you buy yourself a necklet of fur—mink or rabbit will do equally well—you don't need to buy yourself any new clothes next fall.

For the simple, slim-lined dress with a neckhole rimmed in fur is the main feature of the fall fashions paraded by the French couturiers here.

They have lowered hemlines a little and brought back the curved silhouette so we are right back where we started last fall.

The slim skirt is still favorite but it's either cut a little wider, made wrap-around or treated to tiny kick pleats or flounces near the hemline.

There are more full skirts than last year but except for cocktail and evening wear all fullness is restrained and unevenly placed.

Bodices are simple or swatched into a cross-over effect which often develops into a loose hanging panel threaded through the waist-belt to dangle to hem level at one side.

Neckholes whether high and round or deep-cut, are trimmed with fur. Sleeves are set-in, long and tight-fitting and usually cuffed with fur to match.

Black And White

The black - and - white color scheme is widely used, particularly with white ermine or mink collars, set on black dresses and suits. Apart from this, colors mainly used are cigar or nut brown, shades from amber to burnt orange and lot of olive and drab green.

Collars are not important this season. They are either non-existent or brief turn-down affairs. Dior, however, shows a few that stand up in a draped effect to the ears.

The short evening dress is still being shown but the full-length dress seems more popular. Hobble numbers slit up the front have vast overskirts, sometimes puffed with a bustle.

The graduated hem-line—ankle length in front—dipping down at the back—is widely shown.

What's Right?

You have a blind date with a young man that you would like to see again.

WRONG: Try to arrange for another date by asking him when you will see him again.

RIGHT: Tell him you enjoyed the evening and ask him to come by your house sometime. This can be done in a way that expresses friendliness and liking, without making you appear too eager.

Miss Marguerite McGarrity Becomes Wife of James Sharp

The marriage of Marguerite Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGarrity, and James Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp, was solemnized in Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Saturday. The church was decorated with roses and lilies.

The Rev. J. Maskey officiated and the wedding music was played by Mr. J. Armstrong. Mrs. Mark Collins sang the wedding mass which included "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore eyelet swiss organdy gown with a floor-length veil trimmed with French lace and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

The bridal attendants were, Patricia McGarrity, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor and Jean Collins and Alma Shaughnessy, who were bridesmaids. Miss McGarrity wore a mauve moira taffeta gown with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow and mauve taffeta with matching headdress and carried bouquets of red gladioli and white carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. William Wade and the ushers were Mr. Lawrence McGarrity and Mr. Ted Sharp.

A reception was held at the Club Aragon, where the bride's mother received, wearing a beige dress with a brown hat and brown accessories and a corsage of orange gladioli. The groom's mother assisted in a navy dress, navy hat and a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip to Deer Lodge, Haliburton. For travelling, the bride wore a navy blue dress, white hat, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Sharp will live in Lindsay.

DOROTHY DIX

Parents Demand Girl Repay An Uncontracted Debt

DEAR MISS DIX: Should children pay back their parents for their raising and their education? I am a girl 19 years old and ever since I got my first job my father and mother have taken possession of my pay envelope on the ground that I owed it to them for the money they spent on bringing me up It makes me feel as if I had been sold into peonage, and the worst of it is I don't know how much they have charged up against me, nor how long I'll have to slave to buy my freedom. Do you think they are giving me a square deal?

NINA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Considering that men and women bring children into the world entirely for their own pleasure and without any regard for the child's wish to be born, it is most unjust for them to force children to reimburse them for their upbringing It is like being made to pay for a present that you don't want and that is a burden that some one thrusts upon you.

Regard Children As Slaves

There are still other parents who regard their children as nothing but slaves sent by a beneficent Providence to save them from the necessity of laboring They put their offspring to work just as soon as they are capable of performing any task they collect their meager wages, and by the time the youngsters are grown they knock off work for good and spend the remainder of their lives living on their children

The parents' excuse for this always is that they took care of their children when they were little and now it is the children's turn to take care of them though at this Father and Mother get the best of the bargain, since generally the child has to pay off for some 15 years during which they cared for him by supporting them for 30 or 40 years At this rate, bringing up children pays a bigger percentage in profit than rearing any other kind of livestock.

The question of what children owe their parents depends very much on what the parents have done for the children. If the parents have given their children love and tenderness and understanding: if they have done everything they could to make them happy, then the children owe them the same debt of affection and they are in honor bound to pay it back in the same coin.

But if the parents have given their children nothing but their board and keep, and kept a running account of that and charged them usurious interests, then I don't blame the children for reneging at paying a debt they did not voluntarily contract.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married three months. He wishes to get a larger place this spring so that his mother can live with us for a while, but it seems so soon after being married to have anyone live with us. My mother-in-law rents out her old home and is living with one of her married daughters My husband has been most generous about sending her money for the last 15 years and I see no reason for the great rush until after we are more settled, which will probably be this fall. Maybe I am just selfish.

BRIDE.

ANSWER: I think you are being selfish and that if you wait to have your mother-in-law come to stay with you until you are pining for her society she will never come at all. You want to put it off now until fall. When fall comes you will want to put it off until spring. Then you will think it will be more convenient in the summer, and when that comes you will defer it indefinitely.

Of course, every young couple would rather be by themselves. That is perfectly natural and no reflection whatever upon mother-in-law. You would feel the same way about your own mother. It is just that a husband and wife who love each other very much are sufficient unto themselves and any third party is in the way

But the more you indulge in this sweet selfishness, the more it grows upon you until it turns a virtue into a vice. For, after all, we cannot live to ourselves alone. We have obligations to others, and especially we have family obligations that are debts of honor that we cannot shirk.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What is the difference between an inferiority complex and a superiority complex?

TWO GIRLS

ANSWER: An inferiority complex is when you think too little of yourself. A superiority complex is when you overvalue yourself. Both are to be deplored.

Question: Have you a recipe for macaroni salad on file? I would appreciate it very much if you would send it to me, and also recipe for Spanish rice.—Margaret B

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer. I take a dim view of macaroni salad, because I do not think macaroni is a salad ingredient, but the only salad containing macaroni that I like is

Macaroni and Olive Salad

One cup boiled and chilled macaroni (which was flooded with cold water when it was boiled tender, to separate the pieces), one cup finely chopped parsley, ½ cup chopped stuffed olives, (and ½ cu boiled green peas or chopped new beans are optional), one tablespoon finely chopped green onions or chives, one tablespoon finely chopped parsley, about ½ cup mayonnaise. Some chopped hard-cooked eggs are optional too. Mix well, and chill thoroughly before using.

Spanish Rice

One-half cup long grain white or brown rice well washed, four tablespoons butter, three tablespoons each chopped green pepper and onion, ¼ to ½ teaspoon salt, about 1½ cups canned tomatoes (or ½ cup Italian tomato paste and 1 cup water). This is a dish in which Spanish saffron is good, but must be used sparingly by those who are experimenting with it.

Saute the washed rice to a light brown in 1 tablespoon of the butter. Add 1½ cups hot water and boil gently until dry. Cover and remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Put remaining butter, onion, pepper and salt in another pan and brown lightly.

Add tomatoes or tomato pulp and water and simmer about 10 minutes and pour over the rice. Let steam over heat turned as low as possible or place in low oven for about 20 minutes until sauce has desired consistency.

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: Some short time ago I saw in your column a recipe for making maraschino cherries from the cherries that are on the market now. You had, I think, a recipe for homemakers and also the commercial method. I was interested in the home canning method and of course the paper was mislaid. Would you please send it to me?—Mrs. S. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer:

Maraschino Cherries

(The commercial method involves bleaching the cherries and this is too complicated and risky with home equipment.)

Three pounds Royal Ann cherries (weighed after pitting), 3 lbs. granulated sugar, 1 oz. liquid red coloring, 1 oz. almond flavoring, 1 cup water.

Method: Soak the cherries in cold water for 2 hours then pit them, keeping them as whole as possible. Weigh. Put sugar and water in kettle and boil until sugar is dissolved (being very careful not to let it scorch.) Add the coloring and cherries and cook slowly until cherries are red and the syrup is fairly thick. They should be cooked as slowly as it is possible for you to adjust your burner—if you use gas put asbestos mat under kettle. Remove from heat, cool somewhat, add flavoring, let stand until cool, then pour into sterile jars and seal to make airtigfht. K peeclod to make airtight. Keep cold if possible.

New Potatoes Never Baked Contain Too Much Moisture

By MARY MOORE

The camp life of which I was a part for two glorious days, certainly is out of this mundane world.

I am writing this on the chef's pastry table and he is very busily stirring a chocolate pudding (for 90 people) while he adds raisins to it.

The delectable odours pervading the huge dining room and kitchen are a mixture of beef, onions and carrots which "Cooky" is making into hash—and when Tom makes hash the campers drool in anticipation, they do not groan.

I am afraid I am a mixed blessing, for he knows that I want to know what he is doing so that I can write a story about it, but he is so busy manoeuvring his pots and pans and his huge wood stove that he has no time for anything as tame as an interview.

However, when noon dinner is eaten and the campers take over to do the dishes, he may relax to a certain extent and tell me some of his secrets.

Behind me at the far end of the dining room a mixed quartet is practising "Come Let Us Worship" for Sunday morning service.

Outside the cookhouse door my Pete, whose official title is Kitchen Helper, is peeling potatoes for tomorrow, and throwing his personality around to get involuntary help from his female friends, however, he doesn't want help enough to let me be seen doing it.

At the other end of the kitchen, my Marianne CAC (Chief Assistand Cook) is merrily filling sugar bowls, and keeping her eye on Ray, SE (Sanitary Engineer—a misleading title) who is splitting wood outside the window.

Probably Tom the cook is one in 100,000 Canadians. He was an army cook and I would like to watch him cook, and to listen to his reasons for doing certain cookery tricks, for a whole summer.

For instance, I asked him why he did not bake the new potatoes once in a while to save that three hours of scraping time. He flashed a look at me then said new potatoes shrink too much because they are full of water and it would require twice as many to feed the crowd as it would baked old potatoes or boiled new ones.

Another trick he related to me is to be added to your steak file:

He is a chef for a group of eight American lawyers and doctors who have a camp in far northern Quebec which is so isolated that they all travel the last 30 miles by wagon and on foot. They fish for four weeks and bring in provisions from New York for the duration. These include chickens and choice steaks and oysters and frozen fruits—but no fish—they catch that.

One doctor specializes in broiling the steaks which are required hung at least 21 days, and cut two inches thick with maximum undercut.

The doctor covers both sides of all the steaks (how many two-inch steaks 13 men including four guides and "cookie" can eat I did not ask) with wet, heavy brown paper to fit steaks. This is covered with a ¾-inch thick cast of coarse table salt made into a very thick paste with water. This is so heavy that it can be applied to both sides of the paper-covered steak without falling away.

Tom said he queried the doctor about it salting the steak too much He said "no—it merely kept the steak from drying out—but did permit the intense heat of the hardwood fire to penetrate the steak enough to cook it medium rare in 20 minutes." It was broiled on a grill.

I have not tried this but the minute I get the chance I will and then report on it.

To get back to Tom's camp-cook tenure in this province, I wanted to say that it is uncanny the way he can guess, almost to a serving, the amount of food to prepare for those 92 people.

His recipe for

Baked Scrambled Eggs

Is an entirely new version to me and impressed me as a time-saver, as it will you, I am sure.

(His recipe was for 90; I have reduced this to serve six people).

Six eggs, 1½ cups hot whole milk, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon baking powder, pepper and salt to taste. Beat eggs very well without separating yolks and whites, add the hot milk, beating all of the time, then the salt and pepper. Have your pan (which is a very large deep square pan to fit the bottom of a camp wood stove) which could be an ordinary baking dish, ready with the butter melted in it. Add the baking powder to eggs, beat fast, pour into hot pan and put in oven of 375 deg. Fahr. for about 15 to 20 minutes or until set and top is golden. Serve as soon as possible and as hot as possible.

Tom's Salmon and Cabbage Salad

(These amounts will serve 8 people).

One medium-sized cabbage, one 1-pound can red salmon, drained, 1 cup drained canned peas, 1 or 2 chopped or sliced hard-cooked eggs, 1 or 3 tablespoons white vinegar, salt and pepper to taste, and about 1 cup best "boughten" mayonnaise. Mix all just before serving. (The whole camp gobbles this up and loves Sunday night when he serves it).

Next time you make hash with leftover beef and leftover cold new potatoes, try adding leftover cooked cabbage, and moistening the whole thing with cream and bacon fat, and baking it in the oven until crusty and golden.

Tom reminded me that the way to serve that succulent steak is to slice it across the steak (as I have suggested you do in days gone by) and serving it on butter-soaked slices of white bread.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

A Long Island reader writes: "In my town practically all the bridge players play Canasta also. I note that Hard Luck Joe seems to have as much trouble with Canasta as with bridge. Does Larceny Lou ever try his great talents at Canasta, It seems to me that the game should afford him considerable scope for operating on his opponents."

As a matter of fact, Lou has just taken up Canasta and likes the game a lot. He was in to see me recently and here is his own description of one of his larcenous triumphs:

"My opponents were one of those pairs that like to freeze the deck if their adversaries meld first. Both sides needed 120 and on the third round my partner was able to meld two jokers and two nines. I had a well matched hand that included three nines. I could have made the canasta immediately, if I wished, and played for a fast out but why pick a couple of apples off the ground when you have a ladder and plenty of time. I said to myself, 'They like to freeze. I'll encourage them.'

"Accordingly I carefully added one nine to my partner's meld, discarded and awaited developments. They came quickly and pleasurably. My left hand opponent discarded safely as did my partner and my right hand opponent promptly freeze the pack. On his next play he threw me a nine-spot—what could be safer—and the discard pile was mine. So was a big game together with a few choice words from my opponents."

Larceny Lou's play is an example of an almost perfect deceptive Canasta play. It could not hurt him in the event that his partner should suddenly add another nine and wild card to make the canasta in nines. It might not work. His right hand opponent might not freeze the pack. Or he might freeze it and not have a nine to throw later. However, in those instances, Lou could make a canasta a round or two later and still play for a quick out and small profit.

Incidentally, Canasta furnishes plenty of opportunity for all sorts of brilliant deceptive play. However, the player who tries something brilliant every hand is apt to wind up in the asncan. Many brilliant plays are brilliant only if they work. When they blow up in your face, they are just dumb.

Third Cookbook Describes 250 Ways to Bake Cakes

There is no more appealing end to a good meal than a high, light, and handsome cake. All kinds of cakes are described in this third book of the Examiner's Cookbook series—fluffy party cakes, individual cakes, cakes with fruit, richly iced cakes, egg cakes, eggless cakes, butter cakes, butterless cakes, wedding cakes, and simple everyday cakes.

As a special treat for the family or next time you have company why not try this unusual marble cake ,which is one of many tempters in the series?

Chocolate Marble Cake

Part 1

2½ cups sifted cake flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, ¾ cup milk, 2¼ teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup shortening, 1 egg well beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Part 2

2½ ounces (squares) melted chocolate, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 2 tablespoons shortening, 3 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup hot water.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening with sugar until fluffy. Combine egg and egg yolks, beat well, add to creamed mixture with vanilla and beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately in small amounts, beating well after each addition. Combine ingredients in part 2. Blend thoroughly. Divide batter as follows: Leave 1-3 of the batter white and to the other 2-3 add chocolate mixture (part 2). Blend well. Drop batter by tablespoons into greased pan, alternating white and chocolate batters. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 1 hour. Makes 1 8-inch cake.

Seven pages of icings and filling besides innumerable illustrations provide suggestions for the finishing touches of this delectable treat. You may obtain your copy of this Cookbook for only 25c and one coupon from page 2 of this newspaper at the Examiner office, from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets.

Conservation Plan Prepared

GRAVENHURST, July 31 (CP) —Premier Frost said today that Ontario and the federal government have agreed on a $200,000 conservation program in the Upper Grand River Valley.

The province and the dominion will each contribute $75,000 and the municipalities concerned are to make up the other $50,000, he told the annual summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association.

"The Grand Valley project is actually a small one, as these things go," Mr. Frost said. "But it is the first conservation program entered by the federal government in 15 years and I hope it is the start of a province-wide dam in the Upper Grand above program."

It involves construction of a Fergus. The Grand, considered one of Ontario's worst flood watersheds, overflowed last spring at Brantford, Paris, Galt and other communities along its banks.

More than 100 young Progressive Conservatives from the 90 Ontario ridings have assembled here for the five-day conference.

Old Car Rams Tree Comes Out 2nd Best

An old-model car was damaged extensively Sunday evening in Nicholls Oval when it rammed a tre. Driver of the car, Elwood Cannon, 336 Patterson St., told police his attention was drawn from the road when one corner of the windshield dropped.

The grill, radiator, fan, hood, springs, frame, tie-rods and axle of the car were damagd.

Damage of $26 was done to one car Saturday afternoon when it was in an accident on Aylmer St. near Charlotte St.

Mrs. Cora Paterson, Dover Center, Ont., was driving south on Aylmer St. and passed another south-bound car. She cut her car in too quickly and her right rear bumper caught the left front bumper of a car driven by Albert Armstrong, South Monaghan. Mrs. Paterson's auto was not damaged.

Major Hill To Shoot Niagara Rapids Again

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 31—(CP)—Major Lloyd Hill, unsuccessful in a planned barrel trip over Niagara Falls July 16, announced today that he will make a trip through the Niagara river rapids this Sunday.

Hill says he will use the battered barrel that was sent over the falls earlier this month after he was removed above the brink when his twin-hulled cylinder became trapped in a whirlpool.

He made a trip through the rapids last year and is repeating it to prove that "a trip through the rapids is nothing but a joke."

MONTREAL, July 31—(CP)—Canadian National Railways have placed an order for 22 Diesel locomotives, to cost approximately $2,500,000, with General Motors Diesel Limited, London, Ont., it was announced today.

Dons Dog Collar Child Trips, Fractures Neck

DETROIT, July 31—(CP)—A lively puppy played a part as tragedy cut into James Cooney's little family for the second time in a year.

It was last September that the Cooneys' 10-year-old son, Wayne, was knocked from his bicycle and killed by a car.

To keep daughter Ilene, three, out of the street, Cooney bought her the pup a week ago. He put it on a leash and tied it in the back yard.

While playing with the dog last Wednesday night, Ilene thought up a new game. She freed the pup and put the collar around her own neck—then stumbled and fell while romping.

Her parents found her hanging from the clothes-line to which the leash was attached. Nearby the pup whimpered.

Ilene died Saturday of a fractured vertebrae and pneumonia that followed.

The Cooneys have one other child, five-year-old Brian.

9 Hours Of Meditation Fail In Regina Dispute

REGINA, July 31 (CP)—Nine hours of mediation proceedings Saturday failed to bring settlement between Regina and its str.king power workers.

City and union leaders met in morning, afternoon and evening sessions under the mediation of Mr. Justice S. E. Richards.

The men, members of the Electrical Utilities Employees' Union (CIO-CCL) walked off the job a week ago. They wanted a contract with substantial wage increases and new terms of job classification.

Regina's exhibition starts today but officials said it will be subject to power cuts wherever possible. An emergency crew mans the power house.

Allow No Latin In Commons Bills

LONDON (CP) — Schoolboy memories of laborious Latin lessons diverted the House of Commons on an amendment to insert the words "Radio Decidendi" in a bill.

Sir Ian Fraser, Conservative, started it by saying he didn't think Welsh or Gaelic words were allowed in a parliamentary act, so why should Latin?

Sir Frank Soskice, solicitor-general, agreed that an act of George II says Latin words must not be used. But there was "vice versa" and perhaps other transgressions.

Oliver Lyttleton, Conservative, warned the debate might lead to a "reductio ad absurdum," Having heard the solicitor-general's speech, he would be inclined to say "quod erat demonstrandum." The matter should be deferred "ad interim."

B. Nield, Conservative, withdrew the amendment. He said the solicitor-general had made out a prima facie case.

Foundation Grants $100,000 For Nurses

TORONTO, July 31—(CP)—The Atkinson Charitable Foundation has made a $100,000 grant to help launch a two-year nursing couse at Toronto Western Hospital, it was announced oday.

The first 80 students start the course in September. They will work in a new building fitted with classrooms and laboratories. After two years as student nurses, they will spend 12 months as interne nurses at about $100 a month.

The Atkinson Foundation, set up by the will of the late Joseph E. Atkinson, publisher of the Toronto Daily Star, will contribute $20,000 a year for five years. Training grants will be made also by the federal and Ontario Health Departments.

Welsh Steel Program

CARDIFF, Wales — (CP) — A £60,000,000 ($186,000,000) reconstruction program to expand tinplate production and export is under development by a Welsh Steel Company. Included in the program are a gold reduction mill and a modern tinplate plant, costing about £10,000,000

Crop Increase

BLOEMFONTEIN, Orange Free State — (CP) — The Free State, one of the most important maize - growing provinces in South Africa, expects to reap a 30-per-cent larger crop this year than in 1949, an estimated 9,509,000 bags compared with 6,734,000 bags.

TANK STOPPER — Pfc. Richard Mahanes, Ferndale, Mich., points to a hole (arrow) in a tank made by a bazooka-type projectile on the Korean front. The shot killed the gunner and injured three others, but the driver and the other crew member managed to return the tank to its base.

Bleeding Corpse In Lebanon Draws Thousands See Miracle

By CORLEY SMITH.

CONVENT OF ANNAYA, Lebanon (Reuters).—The body of a saintly hermit named Father Charbel, so remarkably preserved after 82 years' burial that it is said to still perspire and bleed, is drawing tens of thousands of pilgrims to this lonely convent.

In the last few weeks, hundreds of people are said to have been cured here of diseases which had baffled surgeons and physicians.

Up the narrow mountain track leading to the building perched 3,600 feet up in the Lebanese hills a long procession of buses, taxis and cars now winds where previously there was almost no traffic except donkey carts.

Many of the pilgrims, making the 40-mile trek from Beirut and other centres all over the Middle East, are Moslems and Druses.

Although Father Charbel was a member of the Catholic Maronite community, his fame as a miracle worker has spread far and wide in this part of the world.

Buried In Convent

A man of an austere and devout life, Father Charbel died on Christmas Eve, 1898, and was buried in the convent here where he had led a solitary life mediation and prayer.

Even before his death, he was credited with the performance of miracles. On one occasion, he is said to have saved the monastery corps from a plague of grasshoppers by sprinkling the fields with holy water.

Perfectly Preserved

After the hermit's death, legends of his remarkable life became so current that his body was disinterred for burial in a more honored place. It was found to be perfectly preserved.

At subsequent intervals, the body was re-examined but despite the passage of time it never appeared to have been dead for more than a short time. Doctors who examined Father Charbel's remains confessed they were mystified.

In 1926, the body was sealed in its present tomb, which was left intact until February 1950 when water was seen to be trickling from it.

Anxious to see that no damage was done to the hermit's remains the Monks then reopened the tomb. They found that the only water in the tomb was the sweat on the holy man's brow.

Moreover, the body was still in a perfect state of preservation.

When the perspiration was wiped off Father Charbel's face more appeared in its place. When the skin was scratched, there was a flow of blood, it is reported.

As news of this remarkable phenomenon reached the nearby villages, sick people flocked to visit the tomb and pray for help. Many of them were reported cured of longstanding and grave disabilities. Cripples threw away their crutches and walked, paralytics regained control of their limbs and the blind were able to see.

Judy Garland, Child On Long Vacation

SUN VALLEY, Ida., July 31—(AP)—Actress Judy Garland, her four-year-old daughter and a nurse are staying at this mountain resort for what her studio calls "an extended vacation and rest."

The 29-year-old singing star made the trip on advice of MGM President Louis B. Mayer, although she is still under suspension by the studio. She arrived here Sunday as a studio spokesman said she is over the despondency which caused her to scratch her throat with a broken glass June 19.

Her husband, Director Vincent Minelli, remained in Hollywood.

Diphtheria Outbreak Now Under Control

ST. OHN'S, Nfld., July 31 (CP) —A diphtheria outbreak in northern Labrador which has taken one life and stricken four other persons is under control, the Newfoundland health department said today.

A six-year-old boy died of the disease Wednesday and two other children have been flown from the hamlet of Hopedale to the General Mission Hospital at North West River, 40 miles north of Goose Bay.

Bad Advertising

VICTORIA, B. C. — (CP) — Salesman and manufacturers of expensive fishing lures shudder at reports like this. Ilmars Osilite took the only tackle he owns, a hook on a length of twine, and tossed it into the breakwater. His catch: two salmon, 20 and 15 pounds.

No Comment

VANCOUVER — (CP) — No comment department. A headline in a sports paper here asked: "What will the H-bomb do to our fishing?"

Farseeing Ducks Plan For Future

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Wild ducks seem to foresee and make provision for future dangers and difficulties, says B. W. Cartwright, chief naturalist of Ducks Unlimited. (Canada).

In a four-year study of duck-nesting in potholes southwest of Moose Jaw, Sask., it was found that whereas nesting density was 64 broods a square mile when pothole water was sufficient, numbers dropped to four broods a square mile in the year when water supply was unsafe.

He said some of Manitoba's mallards seem to have laid smaller clutches this year in order to catch up on time lost through unseasonable cold weather and flood conditions.

Even With Reinforcements US Troops Outnumbered

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) —Even with reinforcements now ashore or on the way, the United States South Korean force still will number only about half that of the enemy's total.

This is counting everything the United States has in Korea or has announced as earmarked for the fighting. And it is based also on the estimate of one of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's intelligence officers that the North Korean invader, by "frantic" mobilization, has brought his strength up to an army of 200,000 men.

The numerical disadvantage must be overcome by firepower, air power and sea power.

The three U.S. Army divisions, which with the South Korean Army were carrying on the battle as reinforcements from the United States neared the war zone, probably numbered no more than 40,000 men.

The South Korean Army, when the Communists struck on June 25 was reported to have a force of about 96,000 out of which eight divisions of about 10,000-man size were formed. There are reasons to believe heavy casualties have cut this original force to about half.

Much of the loss occurred in the first phase of the fighting. The South Koreans were armed only with defensive weapons—no tanks, some anti-tank artillery of too small calibre, some old model bazookas that were ineffective against enemy armor.

MacArthur's Talk With Chiang Seen Significant

TAIPEI, Formosa, July 31 — (Reuters).—Observers today said Gen. MacArthur's visit to Formosa for talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek might indicate:

1. A warning to Chinese Communists that the United States is prepared to consider the defence of Formosa as important as that of Korea;

2. MacArthur's advisers may have definite knowledge of Communist plans to invade Formosa; or

3. MacArthur is considering the use of Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea. Chiang Kai-shek has offered to send 33,000 highly-trained troops.

MacArthur's first reaction was believed to be that the troops were of more use in Formosa.

Visit Significant

Some regarded his visit, on the eve of the opening of the United Nations Security Council session at Lake Success, N. Y., Tuesday, as significant.

They expressed belief that if there is to be any unseating of the Nationalist Chinese delegate in favor of a Communist delegate it will be delayed while the U.N. commander is conferring with Chiang.

Meanwhile, a Chinese Nationalist radio official said 1,600,000 Nationalist guerrillas are operating "behind the iron curtain."

Gen. MacArthur's visit to Chiang Kai-shek will, he said, "boost their morale more than any single event since the evacuation of our forces from the mainland."

OBITUARIES

ALBERT EDWARD PRICE

A resident of Peterborough for 23 years, Albert Edward Price, 643 Gilchrist St., died today in hospital after a long illness. He was in his 65th year.

Mr. Price was born in Stroud, England, son of the late Eliza and Albert Price. He was educated in England and came to Canada 37 years ago. Before coming to Peterborough he lived in Otonabee township.

Until ill health forced him to retire about six months ago, Mr. Price worked in the maintenance department of CGE.

He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, an honorary member of the Sons of England, and he belonged to the Ancient Order of Foresters.

He leaves his wife, the former Alice Wright; a daughter, Mrs. W. J. Hudson, Lakefield; two brothers and six sisters—all living in England.

The funeral service will be at the Comstock Funeral Home at 3 p.m. Tuesday, the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, St. John's Anglican church, officiating.

Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

JAMES ALBERT EDWARDS

A resident of Peterborough for 36 years, James Albert Edwards, 502 Park St, died in hospital Sunday after a short illness in his 80th year. He was the husband of the former Emma Brown.

Born and educated in Lakefield, Mr. Edwards was a retired cook. He was the son of the late John Edwards and Emily Roache, and was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, Court 43, Lakefield.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. John Roache (Charlotte) of Port Hope, and two brothers, Francis of Lakefield and Samuel of Peterborough. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Kaye Funeral Home, the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiating. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

U.K. Miners To Strike

CARDIFF, Wales, July 31 — (Reuters)—Notice was given today that all the 100,000 coal miners in South Wales, one of Britain's most important mining areas will strike Aug. 14. The miners object to increases in the fares charged on the buses that carry them to work. The Ministry of Labor has announced it will set up a committee to investigate the dispute.

Sockeye Season Opens Today, Big Catch Likely

VANCOUVER, July 31 (CP)—More than 2,000 west-coast fishing boats converged like seagulls near the mouth of the Fraser river today for opening of the salmon sockeye season. The fishing continues until ordered stopped by the International Salmon Fisheries Commission.

Fishermen expect a huge catch. Some day the take may top that from the 1946 sockeye run which, in the Fraser alone was valued at more than $8,000,000 to canneries.

The same conditions that brought the sleek, silver sockeye charging up the Fraser four years ago prevail today.

This is a cycle year—one in four—when runs are greatly increased as the salmon return upstream to spawn after four years in the sea.

And the class of 1950 are the offspring of the first cycle run ever to use the Hell's Gate fishways, built in 1945.

The giant fish ladder, built in the tempestuous water of the lower Fraser canyon at Hope, 100 miles east of here, helped 28,000 salmon in 1946 to climb to spawning grounds in northern lakes.

Good Omen

Another good omen for the men who dot the Fraser with chugging seiners and gillnetters was the record salmon run in upcoast inlets.

Record and near-record catches also were reported in the Skeena and Naas areas, some 400 miles to the north, three weeks before the south run was due.

Since 1946 the Fraser River run has dropped in volume and then picked up. Last year the catch was 69,991 cases, valued at about $2,000,000 to the packers.

The fleet will probably increase to 5,000 boats—biggest concentration of fishing boats anywhere in the world—as the season progresses. Fishermen with luck will clean up between $2,000 and $3,000 in the next six weeks.

For the first time since the war, Japanese fishermen will be gillnetting on the Fraser. There will be about 350 of them, compared with around 2,000 before the war.

BEATEN AND BOWED—North Korean prisoners of war bow their heads as they wait shipment to a prison camp after their capture. Action on the battle front was believed the first stages of a major battle.

"Korea or Bust via Crowe's Landing." This boat carried a group of lads who were having a thrilling time in their man of war. The boys were three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Elliott.

Although the aquatic events ended in the early evening the regatta continued into the night. A ball game between the Upper Stony Lake Association and a team from the Nepheline Mines was played before darkness fell and a dance followed.

President of the association is Vaughan Findlay. Among those who contributed towards the organization of the regatta were Gordon Minty, C. Barker and R. Wilkinson. H. U. Lush, Mr. Murdoch and Victor Smith were adjudicators.

Winners were as follows:

Outboards: Five hp and under—1, Andre Dorfman; 2, Tedford; 10 hp and under—1 George Findlay, 2 B. Schwarz; open outboard (Fermac Trophy)—Clyde Findlay.

Swimming: Boys 12 and under — Allen Whalen, 2 J. McMurty; 14 and under—1 Alan Barker, 2 Roger Fairbairn; 16 and under—1 Don Chapman, 2 Alan Barker. Girls: 16 and under—1 Nancy Doubt, 2 Gail Wilkinson; Open 200 yards—1 Art Tramerson, 2 Colin Tait.

Canoe skiff events: Canoe boys' tandem, 14 and under—1 Alan Barker and Joe Norwich, 2 Jim Elliott and E. S. Robertson. Skiff, girls' tandem, 14 and under—1 Gail Wilkinson and Gerry, 2 Sally Murdoch and C. Hawke. Canoe, boy's single, 16 and under— 1 Alan Barker and George Findlay. Canoe, ladies' open tandem—1 Mrs. N. Bidwell and Miss B. McIlmoyl, 2 Miss Nancy Doubt and Mrs. C. P. Barker. Canoe, men's open tandem—1 L. Crowe and C. McIlmoyle, 2 Roy Roy and Bill McMurty. War canoe, four in canoe—1 Les Crowe, Herb Knox, Jack Rork and Clarence McIlmoyl, 2 Clyde and George Findlay, G. Gibson and J. Wilkinson.

Canoe aquaplane tandem, one standing on each end of plank balanced across canoe—1 Clyde Findlay and J. Wilkinson, 2 George Findlay and D. Gibson. Canoe, medley swim with canoe to rope, paddle to finish on gunwales—C. Findlay, Alan Barker and Don Chapman.

Seven in a skiff: 1 Alan Chapman, D. Kennedy, J. Norwich, D. Richardson, G. Findlay, D. Chapman and Alan Barker; 2 L. Crowe, C. Findlay, R. and J. McMurty, J. Fisher and J. Wilkinson.

Sailing, canoe for Roxborough cup—Jim Blomfield; dinghy for Chapman cup and open for Crowe's Landing cup—1 Derry Smith, 2 George Cook.

An addition to the Association's many silver trophies and prizes was a figure of a swim start donated by D. Huxley of the YMCA boys' camp, for the 14 and under swimming class. Alan Barker was the winner and will, therefore, be the first to have his name inscribed on it.

200 Splash, Sail, Paddle In Kawartha Park Regatta

At least 500 spectators and residents crowded the water's edge at Kawartha Park on Clear Lake Saturday afternoon for the annual Kawartha Park Regatta.

The consensus was that it was the best regatta ever held there. For about 50 years now summer cottagers and their guests in the Kawartha Park-Clear Lake district have staged this competition of aquatic skills that also doubles as the top social event of the summer season.

Ten-year-old Barry Hunter, of Toronto, walked off with top honors. He won the Allen trophy for the highest number of points, scoring 22 points (five for a first, three for a second and one for a third). He also walked off with the Ed Shipp trophy for the highest score of a girl or boy under 16 years.

Dr. R. H. Lowry, Toronto, a surgeon with the RCAF, came second with 15 points. He won the Kawartha championship for men's open canoe race; also the open entry for skiffs, and teamed with his wife to win the mixed tandem skiff race.

Altogether there were 46 events with at least 200 participants. In the crab and gunwale races there were each 26 entries. And there were 18 entries in the canoe race for the Kawartha Lakes championship.

One of the most exciting events of the day was the men's tandem canoe race won by David Rogers, Peterborough, and Kenneth Morris, Lakefield. There were 12 canoes that kept in close alignment down the course and at the finish line it took a keen judge's eye to spot the winner.

Ashore, the refreshment booth did a whopping business as the spectators bought large quantities of soft drinks and other refreshments. The regatta committee were lucky to pick one of the best days of the year for the regatta as the temperature hovered around the 90 mark.

Following is a list of the winners in the 46 listed events:

Holiday Trip Ends In Accident

STRATHBURN, Ont., July 31 —(CP)—What was to have been a holiday trip to New York ended in disaster on a front lawn here today.

Three Windsor men were injured when they turned out to pass an oil truck on No. 2 highway. Their car left the highway, headed up Tom Wylie's driveway and rolled over at Wylie's front door.

Injured were Giovani de Gigilio, driver; Glen Jessop and walter Pashechka.

The driver went through the windshield and Jessop received cuts on his face and chest injuries.

Nehru Not Backing Korean Aggression

NEW DELHI, India, July 31—(CP) President Rajendra Prasad declared today that Prime Minister Nehru's peace overtures to Russia and the United States were not intended to condone aggression in Korea.

In an address opening a special session of parliament, Prasad said Nehru's letters to Prime Minister Stalin and State Secretary Dean Acheson were meant to bolster the strength and moral force of the United Nations "and to facilitate an early termination of the dangerous situation."

"Had it been acceptable to all concerned," Prasad said, "my government would have actively cooperated in bringing about a settlement through the agency of the United Nations."

The Korean conflict made it even more necessary than before that independent Asian countries co-operate for peace and the preservation of their own freedom.

Attlee Warning Welcomed By UK Papers

LONDON, July 31 — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee's grave warning of the danger facing Britons over the Korean fighting today received widespread support in British newspapers.

The Liberal News Chronicle says Attlee's speech "brought home once again the fact that the war in Korea is part of a world-wide conspiracy against the life of the free democracies."

"It was a pity that after his eloquent warning on the dangers that beset us, Mr. Attlee did not give greater urgency to his plea for sacrifice to build up our defences," the News Chronicle added.

The Conservative Daily Mail agrees wtih the Prime Minister that it is essential for Britain to rearm, but observes: "There is plenty to criticize about the things that have been left undone over recent years and months."

Matches Needs

The Times, Independent, says Attlee's broadcast "Matched the needs of the hour. He expressed all the steadiness and resolution of the nation. . ."

The Daily Graphic, Conservative, urges Britons to hed Attlee's words.

"We may think that the government are not yet setting the pace sufficiently, and that they ought to do more," The Daily Graphic says. "But that is no reason for dragging our own steps."

Only the Communist Daily Worker objects.

The Daily Worker says it thinks he was too urgent, adding that he "wants a world war against Communism."

Fines Of $15 Paid Illegal Possession

If women take men's jobs, they can pay a man's fine, declared Magistrate E. A. Gee today, as he fined Mrs. Pearl Alderman, 799 George St., $15 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession of liquor.

Evidence revealed the woman "calmly got out of a car stopped by police and walked away with a half-bottle of beer in her hand."

Also fined for illegal possession of liquor was Alex Thompson, 43, of Port Hope, who paid $15 and $2.50.

For having liquor not acquired on his permit, John Stewart, 28, 6 Bruce St., was fined $100 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate Gee.

Consuming liquor illegally cost Vincent Rourke, 35, $15 and $2.50 costs, and John Harrin, 36, 234 George St., $50 and $2.50 costs. It was Harrin's second offence. Both pleaded guilty.

Joseph Grady of Lindsay, paid a $10 fine and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to beink drunk.

Tree-dotted Oasis On Prairie Due To CN Well

EATONIA, Sask. — (CP) — Citizens of this town 160 miles southwest of Saskatoon have turned their community into a tree-dotted oasis on the bald prairie.

A plentiful water supply made the change possible. And for that Eatonia can thank a chance decision by Canadian National Railways to move its roundhouse from Eatonia to Kindersley.

To supply the roundhouse, water had been pumped from a flowing well two miles northwest of the town. In 1927, when the roundhouse was moved, town officials promptly leased the water supply.

Water lines were laid through the town and Eatonia residents had running water when possibly no other place of its size in Saskatchewan had such service. Gradually the town became a place of lawns and gardens and tree-lined streets.

WATCH THE DRINKING WATER

It is wiser not to drink water from any well, lake or stream if you aren't satisfied that it has been tested. But if you must, boil it first. Water that appears to be crystal clear may be polluted. Avoid the possibility of contracting one of the many diseases that can result from drinking unsafe water. Guard your health by practicing Safety First! It's "Good Citizenship".

Saskatchewan Roads Give Canadian Sense of Shame

By JACK SCOTT.

YORKTON, Sask.—Some scattered notes today on prairie impressions, witty sayings of children and Saskatchewan road warnings:

• • •

When we inquired this morning at the Regina tourist bureau about the best way to get to Riding Mountain Park, in Manitoba the woman behind the desk smiled apologetically and said "Fly."

After 10 hours through a ceaseless rain on roads of deep wet mud I'm wishing we'd taken the advice.

Which brings us to the witty saying of our 10-year-old who peered through our spattered windshield and warned, "Here comes another truck, Daddy. Watch out for the wave."

But I'm afraid I'm boring you with stories about Canadian roads. Let me just add this: Stay clear of Saskatchewan in any wheeled vehicle.

Country Beautiful

Really is too bad the highways are this way. The country east and north of Regina which we wallowed through today is truly beautiful, green and wooded with the wheat fields fresh and cool.

When the Trans-Canada Highway is a reality a great many Canadians will feel a new sense of identity with their native land on contemplating such sights.

Unhappily, at the moment it's possible to feel nothing but a sense of shame that we don't seem to know how to build a decent highway.

Refreshing Expense

For people like us who've never motored on the prairies before, coming upon a city is a new and refreshing experience.

Our drive into Regina the other day, for example, was a delight to our kids because the city was visible from many, many miles away.

With the late afternoon sun on it, Regina seemed a fairy town growing out of the rippling green sea of wheat.

I am reaching the conclusion as reluctantly as a coast-dweller should, that a man could learn to love this long country.

Second Blow-out

Apart from the indescribable roads, this day was pretty well ruined for us by a long period of unnecessary anxiety.

Shortly before noon we had our second blow-out on the trailer. Again the tire and tube were ground into shreds. We were able to get the car's spare wheel on the caravan, working in ankle-deep gumbo and between cloudbursts, and set off again. The trailer was all tilted over because of the smaller wheel on the left hand side and we were very conscious of the fact that another flat would leave us stranded.

At this point a car pulled up alongside and the driver informed us that the Yorkton radio station had been broadcasting a message for us to contact our office in Vancouver immediately.

We were all very hearty for the next several miles trying to convince each other that it wasn't bad news. But, naturally, every gloomy possibility was being considered behind the false front of optimism.

At a wayside farm house we put in the long distance call while the good lady of the place described in great detail where and how she's received all the morbid tidings of a long and apparently sad life.

And what was this emergency message all about? Well, the office just wanted to know where to forward our mail!

Regina Tornado

Oh, and speaking of all this grand fun I must tell you about the Regina tornado.

The warnings began on the radio stations in the early afternoon. A "small" tornado was reported approaching Regina from the south and all citizens were warned to "take necessary precautions."

Within a couple of hours the sky to the south was black and our trailer was swaying under the impact of a fierce wind.

We got the kids into the car and headed north. The city itself was strangely deserted and there was a weird blue light over everything.

The tornado, itself, never materialized, but we had a thunder-and-lightning storm and then some rain that sounded like hammers on the roof. The paper reported next day that the hail storms to the south were the worst of the year.

Ah, Saskatchewan!

Plenty of Good Water

That much-discussed Canadian "inferiority complex" seems to be true in some respects, but certainly not when it comes to a question of water.

We've yet to be in a town where the citizens didn't consider that they had the finest drinking water on the continent. And, frankly, in some the water tasted like turpentine.

Regina was no exception. The water there is the hardest of any we've yet encountered. Most people have "softening" machines in their basement and in summer the supply, which comes from artesian wells, 10 miles from the city, is so limited there's a rationing system.

But every Reginan stoutly claims that for drinking it has no peer. At a tea party we were at the other day the local folks all agreed that Regina water is the only truly thirst-quenching variety in Canada. I suppose it's all in what you're used to.

Use Live Gun Fire For Trainees

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) —The army said today that, to toughen all trainees to battlefield conditions, it had intensified its training with realistic combat-exercise—including the use of live ammunition in machine guns

In such training courses, used in the Second World War but banned since, troops crawl under barbed wire while machine-gun fire streaks low above them.

The army's announcement said its experience showed accidents were not excessive in such training during the last war. It added that the number of lives saved as a result of realistic training far outweighed the hazards. Safety officers supervise such courses.

Commenting on the announcement, Gen. Mark W. Clark, Chief of Army Field Forces said it was imperative to prepare American soldiers psychologically to meet battlefield conditions.

Former Army PR Director Col. Frank Jennings Dies

MONTREAL, July 31.—(CP).—Col. F. X. (Frank) Jennings, 59, newspaperman and wartime director of public relations for the Canadian army, died Sunday.

The slim, grey-haired veteran of two wars and countless deadlines, was stricken while relaxing on a holiday week-end. With his widow and daughter Edith, he was visiting friends at nearby Riviere Beaudette when he suffered a stroke in mid-afternon.

With Sunday night off, he had been due back at his desk at the Montreal Gazette, where as telegraph editor for the last two years he selected and edited the world news report that pours into a metropolitan daily.

Col. Jennings divided his career between newspaper work and war service. Just two years after starting as a reporter in his native Saint John, N.B., he enlisted in 1914 with the Canadian field artillery, winning his commission overseas in 1917.

He returned to the Saint John Evening Times-Globe and its morning counterpart, the Telegraph-Journal, after the war. He was successively news editor, assistant editor, managing editor and editor-in-chief of the two daily papers, holding the latter position for 10 years.

Enters P. R. Field

In 1943, he left to become director of public relations for the army. There he worked under J. W. G. (Joe)) Clark, director-in-chief of the tri-service public relations, in the exacting job of helping the Canadian people get all the war news that would not prejudice security. He later was chief of the war assets corporation's public relations before joining the Gazette.

A meticulous reporter and editor, he first became known to thousands of New Brunswick newspaper readers when he originated the "man on the street" column—still a daily feataure in the Evening Times-Globe. In the periods between wars, he kept in close touch with all military developments and was active in the reserve army.

He was one of nine children members of a prominent family in Saint John where his mother still resides. A brother, Most Rev. E. Q. Jennings, is Roman Catholic bishop of Kamloops, B.C., and another brother, M. Wallace Jennings, is president of the Alberta wheat pool. Three other brothers and three sisters live in Saint John.

Funeral services will be held at Saint John. Arrangements have not yet been completed.

Say Arms Orders Not Interfering With Car Supply

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, July 31 — (AP) — The American automobile industry still hasn't any arms orders that would interfere with passenger car production. It doesn't expect any of that type for some time to come.

But nobody in the industry doubts that defence planning eventually will cut down the record-smashing car production that has marked this year's first seven months.

Domestic output from Jan. 1 through July is certain to fall only slightly below 4,500,000 cars and trucks.

Some armament orders, of course, have been placed with the auto industry, such as the Cadillac light tank contract, but they will not interfere with normal production.

Considerable Hysteria

There has been considerable hysteria in auomotive circles, chiefly in the merchandising division, since the Korean outbreak. Many persons who had no intention of buying a new car this year suddenly have decided they need one immediately. As a result scores of new car dealers have begun to decline new orders.

This, in turn, makes the situation appear much worse to the would-be car buyer than it really is.

Actually the auto industry's over-all picture is much better than it has been for many years. The number of persons who want new cars is far greater today than it was three or four years ago But the number urgently in need of new cars is much smaller than when the United States entered the second world war.

Any true appraisal of the industry situation today must note that production has been at the heaviest level in car industry history. If the current rate of passenger car output were maintained through to the year's end the 1950 total of car production alone would top 7,320,000.

Unusual Aid

BLIND RIVER, Ont., July 31 (CP)—Mrs. H. Bell cooking dinner in her kitchen Saturday, wondered why a lands department airplane kept droning over her house. She went outside for a look. A note fluttered down into the backyard. It said Mrs. Bell's house was on fire. Volunteer firemen, called by Mrs. Bell, put out the blaze. Damage was slight.

All Shy Bachelors Need Is Flexible Larynx Get Girl

By VERNON BUTLER

ATLANTA, July 31 — (AP) — You shy bachelors who haven't been making much headway with the gals should acquire a "flexible larynx."

Nothing so drastic as throat surgery is required. You can get your adjusted by three lovely instructors who supervise the "techniques for attracting women" course at the Atlanta Academy of Charm.

Doris Waters, Dotty Ledford and Ruth Harris—a blonde, brunette and redhead, respectively—have a lot of other ideas besides the larynx business. Enough, in fact, for 15 lessons.

For instance: A really smooth worker doesn't say, "you look wonderful today," to his girl friend. The charming charm school teachers say that implies that she looked terrible other days. Instead, he says, "you're always so lovely, dear," in a low, caressing voice.

Nothing To It

It's also a good idea, the girls advise, to make a woman feel that she is something of an enigma. Even if you have a whale of an ego, don't let your one and only think you can read her like a book.

Just sneak up on her with a softly spoken bell-ringer like this: "there's something mysterious about you, sweetheart, something that's hard to understand—."

See what we mean about the flexible larynx?

When they have satisfied themselves that his subtle compliments are properly modulated, the girls guide the awkward male gently through such complex matters as proper dress (fat men should avoid the rougher fabrics), posture (women don't like men who slouch), color harmony, style sense, poise, personality, charm and — whoops!—use of "dangerous" and "alluring" masculine perfumes.

Another point emphasized by the charm school specialists is the "keep-a-woman-wondering" technique. They maintain it's better to make a girl wonder why you DIDN'T kiss her. On this point there is some disagreement between students and teachers. Some of the more advanced pupils feel that the woman can wonder just as well about something else.

Fire On Main Street

TATAMAGOUCHE, N.S., July 31—(CP)—Fire raged along the main street of this village of 1,000 Sunday night and destroyed five business houses before being brought under control. The blaze whose origin was unknown burned out of control before midnight and fire-fighting equipment and personnel rushed to the scene from Truro, Pictou and Springhill.

Two By-Elections

MONTREAL, July 31 (CP) — Liberal party sources said Sunday two federal by elections will be held in Quebec province in September. The constituencies are Joliette-Montcalm Assumption, made vacant by resignation of Georges Emile Lapalme to take over Quebec Liberal party leadership, and Rimouski, held by Gleason Belzile who died last week.

Destroyers Arrive

TOKYO, July 31 — (CP) — Three Canadian destroyers have joined United Nations forces operating against North Korean Communists, Vice-Admiral T. Joy reported today.

Labor Congress Warns Workers Can't Be Asked To Accept Wage Controls

Must Curb Soaring Prices Ottawa Told Before Situation Out Of Hand Important To Have Good Economic Measures

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor has given a sharp warning to the government that workers cannot be asked to submit to wage controls so long as prices continue to outstrip wages. The view of the 350,000-member labor organization was expressed in a letter made public today, from Secretary-Treasurer Pat Conroy to Prime Minister St. Laurent. It said primary concern of the C.C.L. was "that the situation should not be allowed to get out of hand before action is taken."

The letter urged "a clear declaration of policy that neither unwarranted price-increases nor profiteering will be countenanced by the government of Canada."

Text of the letter follows:

"The officers of the Canadian Congress of Labor have been viewing with increasing concern the continuing trend toward higher prices. This development, which is becoming daily more acute, is not only reducing today's living standard of Canadian families, but it is creating a condition that may have serious repercussions in the future, particularly in view of the grave international situation's.

Expenses Climbing

"Family expenses, as measured by the official cost-of-living index, are at an all-time high, and are steadily climbing. Increases in the prices of staples, such as meat, sugar and coffee, have been pronounced within the last few weeks. Housewives are finding hidden increases in the form of canned goods appearing in smaller cans, with no proportionate reductions in prices. The mark-ups on goods in stock in retail stores are frequently being revised upwards overnight.

"The cost of living in Canada has now been shown statistically to be practically equivalent to that in the United States, although Canadian earnings are still far below those received by United States' workers. In view of the international situation, there have already been warnings of the possibility of price-control

DIES IN OTTAWA — Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell, in poor health for a year, died in the capital early today.

Brussels Pact Nations Speed Arming

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Aug. 1—(AP)—Foreign Ministers of four Brussels Treaty nations acted today to speed armament production and manpower training in their countries.

The ministers of Britain, France, Holland and Luxembourg decided to press their parliaments for the speed-up and to urge higher defence expeditures. Belgium, fifth member of the alliance, was not represented. Her foreign minister, Paul Van Zeeland, was held at home by the royal crisis.

After a closed meeting lasting 3½ hours it was reported that the consensus among the four ministers was that defence problems of the Brussels Pact countries must be integrated into over-all decisions of the Atlantic Pact nations.

The decisions were made as the 12-nation Atlantic Pact Military Board discussed similar defence problems in London.

U.S. Request

A high Dutch official said the United States had asked the five countries to increase military expenditures and enlarge their armed forces. This source said the United States had asked for an answer to its request before Aug. 5.

The spokesman said the ministers were certain to discuss further aid to United Nations forces in Korea following Monday's U.S. Senate action giving President Truman power to cut off Marshall Aid to those countries which fail to support Korean action.

Sending of ground forces to Korea will be discussed and possibly decided upon, he said.

Port Hope Man Seeks Aircrew

LONDON, Aug. 1 —(CP)— Busy signals blocked incoming calls today at London's Pathfinder club.

The telephone lines worked overtime handling calls from ex-RAF men about a United States plan to recruit British aircrew for an airlift ferrying war supplies to Korea.

The Pathfinder club is an "informal" headquarters established by John Chislett of Port Hope, Ont., and Montreal, a wartime squadron leader with the RAF Pathfinder force.

Chislett told The Canadian Press here Monday that the airlift needs skilled navigators and that he hopes to round up some of the men he flew with during the war.

The salary for the airlift fliers is £250 ($775) a month plus expenses.

Baby Drowns 3 Hours After Reaching Lodge

NORTH BAY, Aug. 1 (CP).—A three-year-old Windsor boy was drowned near here Monday night about three hours after he and his parents arrived at a tourist lodge near here for a holiday.

Raymond Leonard Bulley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bulley, finished his supper and ran down to the lake edge to play. He slipped off a dock and drowned.

Walter Hessman, owner of the lodge, recovered the body about 15 minutes later but the child failed to respond to artificial respiration.

Must Like The Place

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Aug. 1—(AP)—Somebody say something about joining the Army and seeing the world? Master Sgt. Ralph E. Hawkins, 51, retired Monday after serving 30 years, five months and 18 days in the United States Army—all of it at this post. He was in charge of surgical service at the station hospital here. But even his retirement won't take him away from the hospital. After a vacation he's going back to work at the same job as a civilian employee.

Labor Minister Mitchell Dies In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP).—Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, 55, the genial, burly Briton who has been Canada's Labor Minister for almost eight years, died unexpectedly early today.

Mr. Mitchell, Minister of Labor longer than any holder of that portfolio in commonwealth history, died at 2:25 a.m. EDT, little more than two days after entering hospital here for a checkup.

A series of internal haemorrhages caused the minister's death the first of them developed Saturday morning, and shortly after that Mr. Mitchell went to hospital for an examination.

He had been in indifferent health for several months and had been forced to miss the opening part of the last parliament session because he was on a health-seeking trip to the south.

Despite this, his death struck the capital with sudden shock, for only last Wednesday and Thursday the bronzed trade unionist parliamentarian had acted as an honorary pallbearer at funeral services for Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King here and in Toronto.

State Funeral

There will be a state funeral for former Mr. Mitchell, government sources said today.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, once again interrupting his holiday, is coming back to Ottawa from St. Patrice, Que., tomorrow and will attend the regular weekly cabinet meeting in the afternoon. He will remain for the funeral.

At the time of Mr. King's death, he was noticeably not in the best of health. However, his condition did not appear to have deteriorated materially since close of the session, at which he carried out his annual job of piloting his department's estimates past the fire of the opposition.

The minister, a labor man for most of his years, guided Canada's Labor Department through the bulk of the second world war and through the turmoil of post-war readjustment accompanied by major strikes, other disputes and far-reaching changes in labor relations matters.

Report 10-Mile Gain As Reds Push Hard Before Help Comes

TOKYO, Aug. 1—(CP)—North Korean forces moved tonight to within 40 miles of Pusan, vital American seaport base in southeastern Korea.

The Communist gain was made as more fresh United States troops poured ashore to bolster the Allied defences.

A dispatch from Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent in Korea, said the Communists were 15 miles west of Masan, which is 25 air miles west of Pusan.

This represented a gain of about 10 miles since Monday.

Other Red thrusts were developing around Kochang and flaming Hyopchon in the southern sector and at Adong in the north. But no serious gains had been reported made at these three points.

The spearhead of a probing North Korean column, which appeared to be in division strength or greater, was turned back outside Kochang, field dispatches reported.

Planned Withdrawals

A midnight communique from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said some planned withdrawals had taken place during the day along the defence line, but added that Yongdok on the east coast might again be in allied hands. Communist forces were observed in positions almost a mile north of the city.

The Reds apparently hoped to push united Nations troops off the Korean peninsula before sufficient reinforcements could arrive.

Hour by hour anxiously-awaited American troops stepped ashore at a South Korean port. Some rushed to the front to brace battered American and South Koreans who have been shoved back for days by the Red hordes from the north.

The Red thrusts around Kochang and Hyopchon headed toward Taegu, rail hub on the main central frontline supply route from Pusan. Hyopchon was set ablaze Tuesday morning by American fire bombs. U.S. planes sought out and bombed Red troops in villages, hamlets and rice paddies.

Steady Pressure

Plane pilots reported the Reds kept steady pressure on the northern front where South Korean troops abandoned Yechon Monday. Yechon is an important link on the east-west highway route across the Hamchang-Andong front.

There was fighting in the streets of Andong at sunset but the city was still reported in South Korean hands at that time.

On the central front the first cavalry division reported it was under heavy pressure all Tuesday and made a short withdrawal on its north flank. It claimed the destruction of 16 enemy tanks during the fighting.

The U.S. 25th infantry division also made a planned withdrawal to stabilize its central north sector lines.

TROUBLE IN BELGIUM—Strikers protesting the return of King Leopold threw chairs and bottles through the air during a clash with mounted Brussels police in the city's Place Rogier. Armored Belgian columns were recalled from occupation duty in Germany to cope with the widespread violence. Thousands of anti-Leopold strikers marched on Brussels today before a stop order came following the king's offer to give son power.

Leopold Makes Partial Offer Of Abdication

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 1—(CP)—King Leopold III bowed to the threat of civil war today and offered a slow-motion abdication which threw the thorny royal question back into the lap of parliament.

Leopold, in a broadcast statement early today, said he would ask parliament to vote a delegation of his powers to his son, 19-year-old Prince Baudonin. Leopold would remain king in name only.

This eased the critical tension that has pervaded Belgium for weeks, but the area of Brussels around parliament and the ministries was put into a state of siege this afternoon, 12 hours after Leopold's announcement.

Police from all over Brussels were concentrated there. They put up barbed wire fences and stationed armored cars between the royal palace and parliament.

Most of the city was quiet, however.

Implies Abdiaction

The king implied a promise of abdication with these words:

"This attribution of royal powers to Prince Baudouin seems to me a necessary step towards the solution which ought to clear the way for accession of the crown prince to the throne when he reaches his civil majority (at 21) if, as I hope and desire, the reconcilation promised about my son takes place."

Baudouin will be 21 Sept. 7, 1951.

Some anti-Leopold Socialist leaders termed the king's offer "satisfactory." However, the Trade Union Federation, which its regional committees to meet for a fresh evaluation of the new situation.

Leopold had offered Monday to abdicate, then qualified his offer with conditions the Socialists and Liberal termed unacceptable. His latest move came as Brussels already waited behind closed shutters for a great motorized protest march on the capital today by thousands of strikers.

Adequate Railway Revenues Suggested By Chevrier

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier suggested today that any move to solve the complex problem of freight rates should ensure adequate revenues to make the railway industry self-supporting and provide "regulatory control" for the railways' biggest competitor — highway transport.

The Minister said the general objective in solving the freight rate problem should be to minimize transportation costs and maximize opportunity for national development. There should be a "division of interest" between railway and highway transport.

He prefaced an address prepared for delivery to the 56th annual meeting of the accounting division of the Association of American railroads with references to the part the railways played in wartime and said:

"Because of the uncertainty of the international position, railways of this continent may again be called upon to perform these tremendous tasks."

After a general review of the freight rates situation, Mr. Chevrier asked what should be done and then answered his own question this way:

"Since railways are essential they must be provided with adequate revenue. Total revenues should be sufficient to make the railway industry self-supporting.

Needs Scrutiny

"It may be that a criterion of adequate railway earnings should be a fair return upon prudently-invested capital. If this be so, then the capital on which earnings should be permitted for rate control must be carefully scrutinized, including the improvident investment and the effect of past subsidies—the object being to establish capital at a realistic figure.

"Furthermore the target of a fair return should take into account the security which would come from regulation.

"At the same time, railway should be subjected to regulatory venience and necessity in the control as regards public conational transportation interest."

Have Three Aims

Within such a framework the minister said there should be three main aims:

1. To work out a division of interest between highway and railway transport so that maximum benefits may result. This would not contemplate guaranteeing, either by direct or indirect means, a benefit for one to the

Have Blueprint For War Industry

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP) — A blueprint to create out of Canadian and American arms-producing machinery "a single unit" for the purposes of allocation and propriety rights on raw materials now is in the making, informed quarters disclosed today.

This plan, still in the early stages of completion, may mean that Canadian factories receiving orders to produce American weapons would be able to receive the same priority rights on American steel that the Americans would themselves.

The plans may also mean that economic controls clamped on American industry by the U.S government would be adopted by the Canadian government for imposition on Canadian industry.

Main idea behind the plan said the informants, is to make certain that every available bit of industrial capacity in both countries is fully utilized in the event the capacity is required and in the event that the Korean conflict spreads.

Countries Wanting US Aid Must Fight Against Reds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Allies of the United States, apparently ticketed for another $4,000,000,000 in arms aid, had sharp notice from the Senate today that the time has come to stand up and be counted in the fight against Communism.

With the support of administration leaders, the Senate Monday wrote into the $34,765,000,000 one-package appropriations bill power for President Truman to cut off economic recovery funds from any country that refuses help for the United Nations fight in Korea.

This action was taken shortly after the Senate received word that Truman was preparing to request an additional $4,000,000,000 for rearming Western Europe. It came amid demands for arms and other aid to countries outside the Atlantic Pact as well.

Along that line, Senators prepared for a vote today on an effort by Senator Pat McCarran (Dem.-Nev.) to earmark $100,000,000 in recovery funds for a loan to Spain.

Any help offered Spain would put an official stamp of approval on a drive under way in Congress to enlist new anti-Communist countries—including Germany and Japan—in the military and economic array against the Kremlin.

Senator Henry Cabot (Rep.-Mass.) said former neutrals in the Second World War—as well as former enemies—"must help in this struggle for survival of human freedom."

The Senate adopted on a voice vote the proposal to give the President authority to cut off recovery funds from any nation he thinks has failed to do all it can in supplying men, equipment or materials to support the fight in Korea.

Canada's Korean Force Great Drain On Dollars

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 — (CP) — Canada's Korean contribution is raising a need for United States funds running into thousands of dollars a day.

Financial experts say it could become a big drain on the country's U. S. dollar reserves, but they hope arrangements can be made with Washington to prevent it.

Roughly 1,000 Canadian sailors and airmen are being paid in American funds. Three destroyers — they each cost about $4,000 a day to operate— and eight four-engined North Star transport planes are operating from American bases, using American fuel.

A conservative estimate of daily dollar needs might be at least $20,000 all told.

There are hopes, however, that when the financial side is worked out, some of the cost will be made up by balancing credits arriving from the presence of U.S. troops in Canada.

When the three destroyers left Canada they took thousands of U.S. dollars with them to pay their 800 men.

Consideration is being given to paying them dollar for dollar instead of at the existing 10 per cent discount, officials say. Any such gesture would probably be extended to the 250-odd airmen of No. 426 Transport Squadron based at Tacoma, Wash.

Operations in Korea require American, instead of Canadian, money. When the destroyers refuel, the bill ultimately lands in Ottawa.

The new drain comes at a time when Canada's dollar reserves position is the best it has been since the danver point was reached and the government took emergency action in November, 1947. At last report they totalled more than $1,200,000,000 or well past danger point.

50 Bombers Hit Chemical Centre

TOKYO, Aug. 1 (AP)—About 50 B-29 bombers struck with a new attack today on Hungham, chemical and explosives centre on North Korea's east coast. Explosions rocked the area, a Korean air release said, and "thick, greasy smoke" billowed up to 15,000 feet.

The target was the chemical and metal plant of the Chosen (Korean) Nitro Fertilizer Company, two miles east of the plant hit hard by B-29s two days ago. The planes dropped 400 tons of bombs on the plant on today's run.

The thick smoke and flames kicked up by the first squadron forced later planes to bomb by radar.

Military Board Holds Special Conference

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP) — The 12 Atlantic Pact nations called the pact's fulltime military board here for special talks today.

American, French and British military men flew here from Washington to meet with the Atlantic Pact council deputies.

The deputies are beginning their second week of work on plans to speed rearmament of the west against aggression.

A brief announcement issued by the U.S. Navy Office here said the members of the military experts are "in London at the request of the North Atlantic Treaty organization council deputies to meet briefly with that body during the current session."

Rioting Ends Emancipation Celebrations

Failure of Power Spoils Day, Looters Run Wild

WINDSOR, Aug. 1—(CP)—Windsor's Emancipation Day celebrations broke up early today in rioting and looting when a power failure plunged the grounds at Jackson Park into darkness.

Under cover of darkness, looters ran from one concession booth to another. Fights broke out, one man was seriously injured and a riot call was sent in for police help.

A Detroiter, Raymond Graham, 19, may lose the sight of one eye from injuries received in a brawl before the lights went out. He was badly cut about the face.

Police said extensive damage was caused to booths and minor injuries were suffered in fights.

Emergency Lights

Emergency lights on fire trucks were used in offices where money was being counted and were kept on until power was restored.

At least two men are being held in connection with the rioting and looting. Their names were not released.

Walter L. Perry, secretary-treasurer of the British American Association of Colored Brothers which sponsored the three-day celebrations, said it was the first trouble encountered in the 16-year history of the celebration.

Several thousand persons were on the grounds when the lights went out—the last of a crowd of about 30,000.

Youths 17 Held On Three Counts

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 1 (CP)—Two Toronto youths, charged with rape of a woman taxi driver, will be arraigned in magistrate's court here Thursday for preliminary hearing.

They and a companion also face two joint charges of armed robbery.

Inspector Harold Graham of the Ontario Provincial Police said Douglas Davies and Orval Penrose, both 17, are charged with the rape of Mrs. Jessie Phillips, 36, of Huntsville on a deserted sideroad near here July 19.

Police said the woman was forced at gunpoint into the bush at the side of the road, attacked and robbed.

Davies, Penrose and William Drysdale, 18, of Toronto are charged with armed robbery of Mrs. Phillips. The trio face a second armed robbery charge in connection with the holdup of Klaus Gortmaker, a Dwight, Ont., service-station owner, later the same night.

The three were captured by Provincial Constable J. H. Jones on a tip from a United States tourist that an automobile resembling the one sought was in an accident on a Muskoka sideroad.

The charges were laid following a 10-day investigation by Inspector Graham.

Policeman Recovers 100,000 Cigarettes

AURORA, Aug. 1 (CP).—An alert policeman recovered about 100,000 cigarets Monday night less than an hour after thieves had laboriously hauled them from a wholesale tobacco warehouse.

One man was arrested for questioning; a second was being sought.

The thieves broke a hole in the warehouse roof to reach the cigarets. They lowered them by rope two storeys to the ground.

Constable Bill Langman recovered them when he chased a suspicious automobile. The driver jumped from the vehicle later found to be stolen, and escaped through a vacant lot. The cigarets were in the car.

Another man was taken into custody while driving on highway No 11. His identity was not disclosed.

Nine Killed In Arctic RCAF Crash

Accident Occurred As Aircraft Dropping Supplies

OTTAWA. Aug. 1—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. moved today to investigate the crash of one of its northern ice reconnaissance planes, a big Lancaster, which dived to earth at Canada's most distant Arctic weather station and exploded, killing all nine men aboard.

Word of the crash at weather station Alert, just 600 miles from the pole, came out of the north Monday night by radio. Eight airmen died—one believed American—and a civilian employee of the Department of Transport.

The plane was dropping supplies to the station on the northern tip of Ellesmere Island on the shores of the Arctic Ocean. A radio report from Alert said a supply parachute jammed in its tail assembly and the four-motored aircraft plunged to the ground, then exploded and burned. All aboard were killed instantly.

The air force said identity of those aboard would not be announced until checks have been made and next-of-kin informed.

Enroute To Scene

Two United States icebreakers, now in the Arctic Ocean—the U.S. Navy icebreaker Edisto and the U.S. Coastguard icebreaker Eastwind—are en route to the scene. With favorable ice conditions they hope to reach Alert within three days.

The air force said an RCAF plane might be sent to Alert to bring out the bodies.

Alert, the most northerly of the chain of weather observation posts strung across the Arctic, is staffed by four Canadian and three Americans and was established last April. It was the ultimate objective of the U.S. naval force of two icebreakers and two cargo ships which sailed into the Arctic Ocean early this month carrying supplies.

Bolt Fires Hydro Plant London Area Blacked Out

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—For 7½ hours Monday, Londoners learned what happens when electric power is suddenly cut off. With few exceptions, houses were without current. There were no street or traffic lights, theatres or elevators. Factories were at a virtual standstill.

Meanwhile a heavy rain soaked the city, flooding low-lying streets near the Thames River.

The blackout was caused when lightning started a fire in a hydro substation during an electrical storm that spread over western Ontario.

The power failure extended 30 miles northeast to Stratford, 25 miles northwest to Exeter and 19 miles west to Strathroy. More than 115,000 persons were affected.

Heavy rain and wind caused some crop and road damage in the area. Near Wingham, the barn of Wallace Conn was struck by lightning and burned. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

Damages Tobacco Crop

Near Blenheim, high winds and hail damaged tobacco plants while in other sections limbs were ripped from fruit trees by the wind. South of London, heavy rains washed out some country roads.

Only one section of the city escaped the blackout—where conversion of hydro-electric power from 25 to 60 cycles had been completed.

An explosion in the substation followed the lightning hit and within seconds some oil had been ignited and exploded, scattering the flames over the building. The station was so badly damaged that power had to be cut off in the whole area.

The city transportation system—operating only buses—was not affected.

Power was cut off at 3.15 p.m. EDT. It was restored at 10.50 p.m.

It posed a threat for crops. W. K. Riddell, Middlesex County agricultural representative, predicted heavy losses. The storm was the climax of weeks of intermittent rainfall that might cause wheat still in the fields to "sprout." Some farmers said it would hinder harvest operations.

Gemmell Sees Gold Return To Former Place

GRAVENHURST, Aug. 1 (CP)—Gold will return to the place it formerly held as a medium of international monetary exchange with a consequent price increase, Mines Minister Gemmell, Monday night told the annual summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Association.

Mr. Gemmell said Northern Ontario held the key to new and greater prosperity.

The northland's gold would again provide the stimulus for exploration and development and, when the day came that the price of gold rose, Ontario would benefit enormously, he added.

Northern Ontario also could provide North America with all the iron it would require in the foreseeable future, the Minister said. Asbestos would become a major product of the still virtually untapped north.

He urged the delegates to consider the north as their great area of opportunity, to develop it as their forefathers had developed the southern part of the province.

Col. Arthur Welsh, chief commissioner of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, said authorities are conducting a thorough campaign of research into the problems of alcohol.

From these findings, he said, the government will conduct a campaign of education for moderation in the use of alcoholic beverages.

MORE ABOUT—
Labor Congress

had sponsored widespread strikes demanding abdication, called for being re-introduced in the United States, and presumably the same conditions apply in this country. From June, 1949, to June, 1950, the United States cost-of-living index advanced .6 points, while the cost-of-living index in Canada during the same period went up 4.9 points.

"Our primary concern is that the situation should not be allowed to get out of hand before action is taken. Prices are now far outstripping wages. Recently a substantial number of our unions decided to forgo wage-increases of a direct nature with a view to bringing about stability in our economic relationships. This, of course, cannot be expected to continue, and labor cannot be asked to subject itself to either a voluntary or an official wage-control, if such control measures are introduced with price-controls during a period when high prices continue to increase as they have been doing for many months.

Need Adequate Measures

"The most important consideration, however, in terms of the welfare of Canada is that because of the acute international situation, national security for Canada and Canadians must be ensured by adequate measures in the economic and military spheres. In the present circumstances the two fields are indivisible, and if we expect the Canadian people to stand behind the government in a whole-hearted fashion, it is important that the interests of the people at home be protected, as well as the interests of those who are now being subjected to brutal Communist aggression in Korea and elsewhere.

The officers of the Congress feel that, representing as they do, a large part of the Canadian workers, they have a duty to bring these facts to your attention and to the attention of the Canadia public. There is an urgent need for a clear declaration of policy that neither unwarranted price-increases nor profiteering will be countenanced by the government of Canada."

Daniel McCrimmon Dies At 81 In Madoc

MARMORA, Aug. 1 (ENS).—A former resident of Malone and widely known in the Marmora district, Daniel McCrimmon died at his home in Madoc on Sunday following an illness of two years.

He was in his 82nd year. Born in Belleville, he was for many years a miner working in the Cobalt district. He also was employed for a while by the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company during the many years of his residence in Malone. Later he did farming.

He was married to Eliza Richardson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, who kept the old boarding house in the days of the mining boom there. Surviving are his wife and one son George, at home.

Mr. McCrimmon was a member of St. Peters Presbyterian Church, Madoc.

The funeral was held today at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church and burial was in the Lakeview Cemetery.

Organizers of the march called it off immediately after broadcast of the King's message. But the marchers were already in motion and some had arrived in Brussels.

Brussels radio this morning broadcast a communique from the Socialists' "National Action Committee" directing cancellation of the protest march in which thousands of French-speaking Wallons converged on the capital.

The committee said it "deems the solution attained in the royal question as satisfactory."

Asked To Report

Demonstrators who had reached Brussels were asked to report to Socialist headquarters.

But as the King's proclamation was broadcast in French and Flemish, anti-Leopold strikes spread in Brussels. Insurance workers and bank employees joined the stoppage.

The trade union executive met to study the King's message and decide when to call off strikes which have crippled the country for 10 days.

Cafes and restaurants, closed for the last 24 hours, were allowed by the strike committee to reopen.

Business Trickle On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP)—Business dropped to a trickle as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange and prices settled into a narrow path. A handful of leading industrial and based metal stocks brightened slightly in the very dull deals.

Volume for the first three hours was 332,000 shares.

In industrials, several utilities, agricultures, textiles and refining oils chalked up small gains. Papers weakened slightly from previous session advances and steels and foods were balanced. Ford A, a leading gainer yesterday, slumped 1¼ at 45½.

Advances by Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting, United Keno Hill, Waite Amulet, Quemont and International Nickel pulled base metals into plus territory. Falconbridge and Steep Rock Iron Mines encountered pressure following recent strong gains.

Golds started higher but dipped into minus territory. Western oils also eased from early firmness.

A U.S. eighth army communique issued in Korea at 6 a.m. (EDT) Tuesday said:

"The South Koreans co-ordinated with United States forces in making a planned withdrawal to stronger, more easily defended terrain. The line has been smoothed and consolidated reducing the danger of having salients and of permitting penetration. Contact has been made with the enemy and there has been no pressure from the enemy."

See Twin Thrusts

The eighth army reported a buildup of Communist twin thrusts through narrow valleys toward Taegu from Kochang and Hyopchon.

It said the Americans and South Koreans generally fell back on the north and central fronts.

The Kochang-Hyopchon spearheads joined with a companion movement through Red-held Chirye, south of Kumchong, would imperil the First Cavalry front now established a few miles west of Kunchon.

A general adjustment of American and South Korean lines in an arc from Kunchon through Hamchang and Andong followed the Red capture of Yechon, key highway city on the northern front.

A pilot who flew over the fronts said the Communist drive on Andong seemed to have been stopped after some fighting in the streets.

Pilots claimed the destruction of between 20 and 24 Communist vehicles. In addition B-26 pilots said their set four hangars afire near Pudae, eight miles southwest of Ansong, in the south.

Marines Arrive

Fresh troops arriving included elements of the U.S. Second Infantry division which landed Monday, and two additional army units not otherwise identified. An advance administrative unit of the U.S. First Marine Division has arrived in Korea from the United States to prepare for the division's arrival, still awaited at 8 a.m. EDT.

Enemy dead were reported piling up in front of American positions along the 160-mile land perimeter of the box-like front.

A MacArthur spokesman said Red losses have been "frightful" and added "they are probably greater than we realize."

The last official estimate of enemy casualties given at MacArthur's headquarters Monday was 37,500 dead and wounded.

The spokesman said the North Koreans have not lost their ability or will to keep driving and may keep the offensive even when their losses reach 40 per cent of their original effectives.

The new American arrivals, plus newly-landed troops of the U.S. 2nd infantry division, sped immediately toward frontlines.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said there had been a comparative pause in the fighting along the allied defence box measuring 160 miles around its land perimeter.

Just Waiting

Summarizing the battle situation as of Tuesday afternoon, a spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said it would be premature to say the "tide is beginning to run in the other direction." He added that time is not far away.

The Eighth Army communique issued at 12:40 p.m. (10:40 p.m EDT Monday) said:

"There have been some local attacks but no concerted drives have been reported."

The MacArthur headquarters spokesman said the over-all Red offensive is at peak intensity but the situation is "not critical."

In Tokyo an American intelligence officer at MacArthur's headquarters described the Communist offensive in Korea as being "all out."

He said all identified Red divisions are in the battle line or moving into it.

Communist losses, he said, "are three or four to one," compared to American casualties.

Doing All Right

Although hit hard from the air, the Korean Communists:

1. Rolled beyond their breakthrough at Kochang and thrust 16 miles southwest into Hyopchon, 33 miles southwest of Taegu, a vital hub on the main rail and highway supply routes leading to the central front from Pusan.

2 Pushed into Chirye over American troops on the front just north of Kochang, putting the invaders 32 miles northwest of Taegu at this point.

3. Recaptured Yechon from South Koreans at the northern-most part of the line. Yechon is 52 miles north of Taegu.

4. Moved five miles beyond Chinju, placing this Communist column 50 miles west of Pusan and poising a flanking threat to the north-south UN line.

Given Assurances

Gen. MacArthur, before departing Tuesday from Formosa for his Tokyo headquarters, told Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek:

"Keep your chin up—we are going to win."

He turned down Chiang's offer of 33,000 ground troops for Korea, explaining it was inadvisable in the face of the Chinese Communist threat to invade the Nationalist's island.

Obituary

DONALD JAMES McLEOD

A retired stationery engineer with the Canadian Nashua Paper Co. for 35 years, Donald James McLeod, 257 Lake St., died today in hospital. He was in his 80th year.

Mr. McLeod was born and educated in Newcastle, Ont., son of the late Alexander McLeod and Mary Ann Parker. Forty years ago he came to Peterborough. He was a stationery engineer with the Canadian Nashua Paper for 35 years and retired four years ago.

His death came after a short illness.

He leaves two daughters—Mrs. J. W. Pulkinghorn (Florence), Detroit, and Mrs. Bert Austin (Mary), Peterborough; three sons—James and Angus, Detroit, and Hector of Elizabethville; also a brother, Alex McLeod, Toronto.

Mr. McLeod was a Mason, Peterborough Lodge 155, and also an Oddfellow, Otonabee Lodge 13. He was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church.

The funeral will be Thursday, 2 p.m., from the Nisbett Funeral Home, Charlotte St., Canon J. Douglas Paterson, Toronto, officiating. Burial will be in Centreville cemetery.

Labor Minister

Saps Vitality

That energy-sapping task undoubtedly made inroads on his vitality, though he brought to the ministry a powerful physique and a philosophical outlook that enabled him to shrug off criticisms that fall inevitably upon the minister charged with reconciling the differing outlooks of labor and management.

"This job is the graveyard of politicians," he used to tell friends.

Nevertheless, from the time he entered the cabinet in December, 1941, he remained with it through war and peace to outlast by a wide margin his nearest Commonwealth competitor for length of service in the labor portfolio.

The previous record had been set by Hon. T. W. Crothers, who from 1911 to 1918 served seven years and 28 days as Sir Robert Borden's Conservative Labor Minister.

Mr. Mitchell passed that record Jan. 14, 1949.

Broad Background

Mr. Mitchell brought a broad labor background to parliament when he was first elected at a by-election in 1931. He was chairman of the Ontario executive board of the Trades and Labor Congress from 1925 to 1932 and served as president of the Hamilton and district Trades and Labor Council for two terms, holding the post of secretary for 22 years.

He was defeated in the 1935 general election but in the next few years was appointed to such jobs as secretary of the National Labor Supply Council; chairman of the Industrial Disputes Inquiry Commission and first chairman of the National War Labor Board.

He entered the cabinet Dec. 15, 1941, but it wasn't until February of the next year that he won re-election to parliament. He was returned in the 1945 general election and again last June 27.

Born In England

Born in Old Shoreham, Sussex, England, he came to Canada in 1912. He returned soon after and served with the Royal Navy during the first world war. In 1919 he married Winifred Webb. They had two sons.

Mr. Mitchell's death brings to three the number of vacancies in the House of Commons. Gleason Belzile, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott and Liberal member for Rimouski, died last Tuesday, and Georges LaPalme resigned his seat in Joliette - Montcalm - Assomption, another Quebec constituency, to become provincial Liberal party leader.

The Commons standing now is: Liberals 185; Progressive Conservatives 43; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent 5; Independent-Liberal 3; vacant 3; total 262.

Prime Minister Mourns Death Of Mitchell

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the death of Labor Minister Mitchell is a great loss to the government and to the Canadian people.

The Prime Minister, holidaying at St. Patrice, Que., when Mr. Mitchell died here today, paid tribute in a statement issued through his office.

He said Mr. Mitchell bore the heavy responsibility for the wartime mobilization of manpower and the government's employment policies of the post-war period.

Friends Aware

"For the past year his friends have been aware that the strain was telling upon him and we have all been concerned about his health. It was hoped that the few weeks rest Mr. Mitchell was obliged to take during the winter had put him on the road to recovery, and there was great rejoicing in all quarters of the House of Commons when he returned to resume his seat during the session. Everyone was pleased to see him looking so well at Mr. Mackenzie King's funeral just a few days ago, and his sudden death is therefore a great shock."

Mr. St. Laurent said the labor minister's interest in public affairs was not confined to his department, nor even to those matters of special interest to labor.

"He was concerned that the government should follow policies which would constantly increase the opportunities in life for the ordinary men and women and particularly for young people, the Prime Minister said.

"For me personally, Mr. Mitchell's death is a special loss . . . I know how faithfully he served his country . . . and what a great gap his passing will leave in parliament and the public life of Canada."

Charge Girl 17 Sold In Marriage

Alberta Farmer Pays Brother $700 To Get Bartered Bride

VANCOUVER, Aug. 1 (CP).—The story of the "bartered" 17-year-old bride—sold into marriage for $700—broke Monday. And all because she and her 71-year-old "bridegroom" drove through a red light.

An elderly pig farmer from Edmonton, the girl's 18-year-old brotther and a sister-in-law have been charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency. Police, who withheld the names of those involved, said the marriage was fraudulent because of false statements in the marriage license.

Police said the marriage deal was completed in Edmonton, the farmer agreeing to pay $700. The mother, unaware of the plan, was to receive $500 and the brother $200. The girl was given $100 for travelling expenses.

The brother allegedly acted as bridegroom at the marriage and the sister-in-law as matron of honor. The farmer posed as her father. The brother is said to have arranged the marriage because he wanted to help his mother.

Girl Sold

The girl came here to await her brother and the prospective bridegroom. The marriage was performed last Friday.

It came to light when a traffic officer halted an old model car, driven by the girl, as it went through a red light. The girl and the farmer were in the car.

"Where's your driver's license?" asked the traffic officer.

"I haven't one."

"How about your father?"

"He's not my father," the girl replied. "He's my husband."

The pair were taken to police headquarters, where questioning brought out the marriage story.

Police said the farmer owned a three-acre farm in the Edmonton district. They said further charges may be laid.

Main Street Topics

BROKEN INTO

Four outside telephone booths were broken into late Sunday night or early Monday morning, and a quantity of money taken. Location of the booths ranged from Lock St. to Water St. and Park Hill Rd. Amount of money taken is not known.

HOLDING BICYCLES

Police are at present holding 22 unclaimed bicycles at the station. They ask people who have had bicycles stolen to call at the station and they may be able to identify them.

MORE THROUGH CUSTOMS

There was a slight increase in the amount of goods cleared through the Peterborough Customs House when receipts of $430,992.63 for July were reported today in comparison with $382,196.15 a year ago. The July imports were not as great as in June, when about $452,000 worth of goods passed through the local customs house.

PIPERS TO GLENGARRY

Canadian General Electric Co. Band is one of the 14 bands taking part in the Glengarry Highland Games at Maxville next Saturday. Some of the others are: C.N.R. Pipe Band, Montreal; Detroit Highlanders; 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Argyll and Sutherland of Hamilton; RCAF Band, Montreal and others. This is one of the major Scottish events of the summer in Ontario.

RETURN ON STRATHEDEN

Because the liner Franconia ran aground near Quebec and is temporarily out of service, two touring Peterborough residents have returned to this continent on the Stratheden which docked today in New York. To catch the Stratheden Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Pink, Dublin St., had to cut short their vacation in the United Kingdom by four days.

SHOW SPORTS MOVIE

Five baseball movies, sponsored by the Recreation Commission, will be shown to all boys and girls interested in the sport Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the Public Library auditorium free. The hour and a half of movies include Swing King, Catching Fundamentals, Batting Fundamentals, Gym Baseball and Circling the Bases. Major league stars will be seen in action.

DIED IN OTTAWA

The funeral of Edmund Foster Burritt, K.C., of Ottawa, took place there this afternoon to Beachwood Cemetery. His wife who predeceased him in 1942 was the former Helen Caroline Smith of Peterborough.

NO COURT HELD

No police court was held today, and Justice of the Peace James Fleming remanded two people charged with causing a disturbance to Thursday. There will be no court Wednesday.

Seat Red China Then Talk Peace—Russia

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 1—(AP)—Russia made it clear today she will discuss peace in Korea only after the United Nations has considered her renewed demands for seating Red China.

The Russian position was disclosed as Jakob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, prepared to end his seven-month boycott of the UN and assume presidency of the Security Council when it meets at 3 p.m. today.

The western powers appeared assured, however, of enough council votes to over-rule the Russians and keep the Korean question at the top of the agenda.

Malik revealed the latest Soviet plan in a proposed agenda for today's meeting, submitted late Monday and listing the China recognition issue ahead of the Korean conflict. This dashed the hopes of those who had looked for Russia's return to signal an important change in Soviet foreign policy.

Expect Major Battle

Council delegates generally agreed a major procedural battle would be waged over any Russian attempt to delay debate on the Korean conflict.

The stage was set for such a fight by U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin's proposal Monday calling for a new condemnation of the North Korean invaders and a new appeal to all countries to try to stop the fighting or at least prevent it from spreading.

Wording of the draft agenda submitted by Malik would bar discussion of Austin's proposal.

The Soviet work sheet is worded this way:

1. Adoption of agenda.
2. Recognition of the representative of the Central People's Government of the People's Republic of China as the representative of China.
3. Peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

disadvantage of the other. Neither would it contemplate arbitrary nor restrictive measures for the protection of either means of transport.

2. To maintain the railway industry at a high pitch of efficiency and effectiveness. Railway efficiency was a product of many factors, some of which were beyond the control of its management, and unless more suitable conditions were prodivedd "railway efficiency cannot be had."

3. To produce a rate structure which would extend the lowest practical rates to marginal shippers—those whose products may be rendered uneconomic by the slighest variation in shipping rates.

Transport Opposition

No longer could the railways obtain increased revenues from the higher-valued commodities to offset lesser revenues obtained from low-valued commodities A substantial volume of the higher valued commodities "are now, or have the option of being, moved by highway transport."

Under certain conditions, the minister said, highway transport was an effective competitor of the railways, "provding a better and more economical service." But for the large segment of the economy dependent on long-haul, low-cost transportation, there was "no practical substitute for the railways "which were and would remain the "bulwark of our national welfare and prosperity."

Mr. Chevrier said it would be unwise to regulate highway operators purely to help the railways. It would be equally unwise to force, directly or indirectly, highway operators to charge rates higher than their costs may necessitate.

Rev. J. McKibbon New Rotarian

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1 — (ENS)—President Arthur Loucks of the Campbellford Rotary Club, gave a short report of the Rotary conference held at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, recently, when he addressed the club at its Monday meeting in the parish hall.

Past President P. Denyes introduced the Rev. John McKibbon, a recently accepted member of the club. Mr. McKibbon's classification address was highlighted with the usual humorous anecdotes that characterize his talks, and keeps his audience interested. He told of many of the things that took place during his boyhood days and said that he believed that as people graw up, they tended to use their imagination less frequently.

Many things the world over could be made better, he thought, by the use of imagination. He urged the club members to look around them and to try to visualize things as they should be, and how they would like to see them, then set about to improve those things. He said the Rotary clubs were a splendid example of this in their efforts to better their community.

Rotarian Wm. Hogle moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, and this was expressed by President Loucks.

The Rev. Bill Lennox, who was succeeded at Christ church by Dr. McKibbon, was a visitor at the Monday meeting. He expressed thanks for the thoughtfulness of the club during his recent illness. He said he valued the friendship of the members of the club, and the citizens of the town most highly.

Campbellford Funeral For Mrs. Alex Beattie

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1 — (ENS)—Funeral service was conducted at Bennett's Funeral Home on Monday afternoon for Mrs. Alex Beattie, the former Nettie Flemming. Mrs. Beattie had been ill for about five weeks and died on Friday at the age of 75.

Mrs. Beattie was born in Rawdon township, later moving to Guelph, and taking up residence in Campbellford about 15 years ago.

Besides her husband, she leaves two brothers, George Flemming of Owen Sound and William Flemming of Winnipeg. There were no children.

The Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which Mrs. Beatty was a member, conducted services prior to burial in Burnbrae cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Carl Johnston, Walter Badgley, G. G. Stephens, Ray McCulloch, Eldon Carlaw and Charlies Milne.

FIRST ARRIVALS—Twenty-seven French air cadets, first of 100 aircrew from various European countries, will be trained at London, Ont., by the RCAF as part of Canada's contribution under terms of the Atlantic Pact. Five of them are shown here chatting with M. Morton, French consul at Toronto (in civilian clothes), and Sqdn.-Ldr. J. F. M. Bell, commanding officer at Toronto's manning depot, on his left. From left to right the cadets are: Cpl. I. Simon, Capt. H. De Salaberry, conducting officer; Cpl. A. Evrat, Cpl. M. Leroux, Cpl. M. Segla, and Cpl. J. M. Dubois. The course will last two months.

Hopalong Visits Manitoulin Kids Prefer Him To Autry

LITTLE CURRENT, Aug. 1 — The kids of this Manitoulin Island town will take Hopalong Cassidy in preference to Gene Autry and they've seen both and their minds are made up.

William Boyd, hero of 54 Hopalong westerns, got off a yacht here Monday attired in a grey shirt and slacks, he was also without his horse, but he hadn't progressed 50 yards up the main street before the first pop-eyed youngster recognized him.

Kids came running from all directions. Boyd good naturedly rumpled their hair and poked them in the ribs, he ducked into a shop when they followed, he set them all up with ice cream cones.

Later he stood at the dockside for an hour signing autographs and answering questions, he gave away lucky pieces by the fistful.

In fact he acted as though he actually liked the youngsters who gaped reverently at him.

A Slight Difference

Two weeks ago Gene Autry also arrived here on a yacht but Autry did not come ashore, he sat beneath an awning on the deck and signed autograph books carried up the gang plank by a servant.

In real life Boyd is a bigger man than he appears on the screen, standing an even six feet now, in his fifties, there are deep crowsfeet about his shrewd eyes, his skin is clear and his eyes sparkle, have the vigor and drive of a man in his early forties.

He said he had visited once in British Columbia, but this was his first trip to Eastern Canada. He will stay for two weeks at nearby McGregor Bay at the camp of Manfred Burleigh.

Boyd's 54 pictures are currently appearing over 52 television stations in the U.S., with an averge weekly audience of 14 million people. The radio version of Hopalong Cassidy is carried over 496 stations, including every community of major size in Canada.

Lost Home In Fire Shower Given Woman

BETHANY, Aug. 1 (ENS). — Members of the Bethany Ladies Orange Lodge, and members of the Janetville Lodge held a kitchen shower in the Orange Hall, Bethany, on Friday evening for Mrs. John Biss of Omemee, a fellow member of the Orange Order, who had recently lost her home and contents by fire.

Mrs. Emory Smith read an address, expressing the sympathy of the ladies and Mrs. Mervin Smith assisted in presenting the many lovely gifts, of which Mrs. Biss expressed her sincere appreciation and that of her husband.

A pleasant evening was spent in playing progressive euchre and the Bethany ladies served lunch.

Sentenced To Die

HALIFAX, Va., Aug. 1 (AP)— A judge Monday convicted George Thomas Hailey of murder in the Feb. 3 rape-slaying of 12-year-old Marion Lloyd and sentenced him to theelectric chair. The verdict climaxed a tumultuous day in the courtroom. Earlier, in which a state psychiatrist termed "a deliberate tantrum," Hailey had severely bitten both his wrists.

More Spy Information

Gets 10 Years For Armed Theft

BRANTFORD, Aug. 1 (CP) — Roy Cunningham, 28, was sentenced Monday to 10 years in Kingston penitentiary for armed robbery and for shooting at a service-station attendant.

"You are a potential killer and definitely not safe to be at large," Magistrate R. J. Gillen said.

Testimony was that Cunningham fired at and narrowly missed Jack Parsons, the service-station attendant, while attempting to force Parsons to drive a stolen automobile.

Police said a note found in Cunningham's wallet indicated that he and an accomplice were planning a bank holdup.

Publishing Barred

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 1 — (AP) — El Tiempo, Colombia's largest newspaper, was prohibited from publishing Monday's edition because it ran a commercial advertisement in the space usually devoted to editorials. The order banning the edition was made by the government censorship office, which said El Tiempo had been warned it may not devote the regular editorial space to matter other than editorials.

Former German Ship Now Pride Of French Liners

PARIS, Aug. 1. (Reuters)—The 50,000-ton French liner Liberte, which will replace the Normandie as the pride and flagship of France's passenger fleet, is due to enter service on the Le Havre-New York run in August.

The Liberte, third largest liner in the world with a length of 936 feet and speed of 31 knots, formerly was the German liner Europa. As the Europa, she once held the prize for the fastest crossing of the Atlantic.

Workers at the St. Nazaire shipyard, where she is being converted from a German ship with dark, heavy decoration to a light, gay French liner, are making an all-out effort to ensure her being ready to sail on the scheduled date. Their efforts are spurred by the prospect of an extra month's salary if the Liberte is ready on time.

Dockyard Damaged

Reconstruction of the liner has been held up by the fact that St. Nazaire, in Western France, is one of the dockyards which suffered most from war damage and from strikes and clashes between police and Communists at the port.

Handed over to France as reparations in June, 1946, and due to be back on service a year later, the Liberte has suffered a series of accidents.

In December, 1946, a tidal wave swept over Le Havre, where she was moored at the time, causing her to break loose. She crashed into a wharf and sank on a mudbank, requiring 15 tugs to refloat her.

In 1929, while she was still under construction at Hamburg, she was scuttled in the Elbe River to help put out a disastrous fire.

In 1939 at the outbreak of the Second World War, she made a sensational dash from New York to Bremershaven with her name painted out and the color of her two funnels changed.

During the war, though often bombed, the ship avoided destruction. She was found silted up in Bremershaven when hostilities ended.

Years of work have gone into the remade liner. She has been completely redecorated at a cost of more than $25,000,000. Most of her cabins and public rooms now are air-conditioned.

Woman Suffers Slight Bruises

A New oYrk woman suffered a bruised elbow Monday afternoon when the car her husband was driving collided with an auto driven by Ernest T. Horton, R.R. 3, Peterborough.

The woman is Mrs. John Davidson, 6 Stuyvesant Ave., New York City.

Mr. Horton had stopped on Highway 28 and started to make a left turn on to Western Ave. when Mr. Davidson's auto, which was going west on the highway, hit Mr. Horton's car on the left side.

Mr. Horton said he did not see Mr. Davidson and heard nothing until the New York car's horn blew.

Damage to the Horton car was estimated at $50 and to the Davidson car at $85.

Damage of about $36 was done Sunday morning by a hit-and-run car to an auto owned by Mrs. Ruth McGregor, 213 London St. Mrs. McGregor had parked her car in front of her house and found on Sunday morning that the right rear fender had been struck.

Minor damage was done to two autos when they collided Monday afternoon at Park Hill Rd. and George St. The Rev. E. J. Whan, 227 Westcott St., was driving south on George St. and was crossing Park Hill Rd. when his car was struck on the left front fender by an auto driven by C. Harris, 441 Jarvis St., Toronto.

Shot Near Airport

DAMASCUS, Syria, Aug. 1 — (AP)—Lt.-Col. Mohammad Nasser, commander of the Syrian air force, Monday night was shot and severely wounded by unknown persons as he was driving home from the airport here. A friend with him was killed. Nasser was one of Syria's negotiators of the armistice with Israel last year.

Raspberries Suffer

COBOURG, Aug. 1.—Weekend rains are proving a headache to growers with good raspberry crops ready for picking.

One grower, who had pickers busy last week, wanted to put them at work again Monday to get the crop which was ready for harvest but heavy rain prevented him.

A few more days rain will wipe out his profit, he said.

Here he chats with a Montreal customs officer before sailing for Liverpool.

Parking Meters Voted Out By Campbellford Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1 — (ENS)—By a vote of 5-3 Campbellford town council decided on Monday evening to instruct the Mi-Co Meter Company, of Montreal to remove the parking meters from the streets of the town immediately at the expiration of the one year trial period, terminating on August 4.

Councillors Maier, Nicholas and Deputy Reeve Mason said they favored the idea put forward by the company and by Mayor J. E. Ayrhart, that the meters should be left in on a month-to-month basis, in order that their fate could be decided by the citizens at the municipal election.

The majority of council, however, thought that if this was done the meters were going to cost the town more money and while it was not expressed it was generally believed they might develop into an election issue. Also, the neighboring countryside would have no vote in a municipal election, and these people were affected as much as the citizens of the town itself.

Councillor Kingston made the motion that the meters be taken out at the end of the contract period and that the one hour parking bylaw, which is still valid, be enforced by the police. This would prevent merchants from leaving their cars parked on the street all Saturday afternoon and evening, in order that they may have a vantage point to watch proceedings.

In order that the votes of the members go on record, the vote was polled. This resulted in five "yes" votes (for removal of the meters) and four "no" votes, including the vote of the mayor.

The Mi-Co Company is responsible for the removal of the meters and filling the holes in the sidewalk.

Why You Should See The New Hospital

The opening of the new Civic Hospital for inspection by the public on Saturday and Sunday last was a happy inspiration on the part of the Governors. The hospital, as everyone knows, cost a great deal of money and taxpayers ought to see where their money has gone. We judge from the remarks of several visitors to the hospital that most of them thought that their money had been well spent. There will be others, however, who have not visited the hospital, and who will complain of its expense for years to come. We wish that it were possible to take these malcontents on a conducted tour of the building; we think that most of them would emerge converted.

* * *

There were not many visitors to the hospital on Saturday. On Sunday, however, the crowd was very large, and although excellent provision had been made to show the building to the visitors there were many who were unable to see it in the three hours set aside for that purpose. We suggest, therefore, that if it can be managed, another visitor's day should be set aside, and the public informed of it. It is important that as many people as possible in the city and county should visit the new hospital, explore its wonders and see exactly where their money has gone. We are confident that most of them will be satisfied and will leave with a new pride in their hospital and their community. The hospital represents a great advance for Peterborough as a city, and it should be seen by every citizen who can possibly get to it.

The Late Alice Massey

Thousands of Canadians have heard with regret of the death of Alice Massey, wife of the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, P.C., C.H. She had the large circle of acquaintance which is possible only to someone who has spent a life in public service, and who has been possessed of a remarkably wide range of interests. To know her, even casually, was to admire her, for she had that unfailing characteristic of a great lady: when she was talking to you she gave you her whole attention, making you feel that you were, for the moment, of more interest to her than anyone else present. But it was not social accomplishment alone which made her known to great numbers of Canadians; she was truly interested in people, she had great gifts as an organizer, and she was ready to give any amount of time to any cause which she sought to advance. Canadian servicemen who were in London during the war remember her efforts on their behalf with affectionate pleasure. She fed them, she talked to them, she did errands for them, and she did all these things as though it were no trouble at all. It was one of her pleasing traits that she refused to behave as though anything that she did was a matter of inconvenience or effort.

Her death robs one of Canada's ablest servants of his tireless helper, and the people of Canada of a tireless, high-spirited friend.

Is The Examiner Anti-Catholic?

Elsewhere on this page today we print a letter from a reader who asserts, with some heat, that this newspaper is consistently anti-Catholic. The letter was sent anonymously, and it is against our custom to print anonymous letters; however, as this writer seemed uncommonly anxious to get his views before the public, we have broken our rule in order to oblige him. We feel, however, that it shows a lack of courage to make accusations of this kind over a pen-name, and we do not think that many of our Catholic readers will be proud of the opinions which their anonymous co-religionist has expressed.

We do not intend to present an elaborate refutation of the charges which the letter makes. Fair-minded Catholics in Peterborough will recall many occasions when this newspaper has found itself on the Catholic side in a dispute. We recall an editorial published a few months ago in which we commented on the folly of Protestant missionaries who had established themselves near the Pope's summer home in the hope of converting his servants. We have devoted a good deal of space to news of the present Holy Year, and within the past few years to the celebrations at Midland, the Marian Conference at Ottawa, and similar Catholic functions. We have repeatedly advocated Catholic representation on the City Council. Our recent Centennial Edition carried articles by Catholics and about Catholics. Anti-Catholic prejudice—bunk!

There are always a few people everywhere who enjoy picturing themselves as members of a wronged minority. But we all belong to minorities of some sort—indeed, in a world with a huge insect population we all belong to a victimized minority, namely the human race. But we do not believe that most Catholics think of themselves as a minority, or as victims of prejudice. The sort of nonsense expressed in the letter we print today is, thank Heaven, extremely uncharacteristic of Catholics as a whole.

A Hasty Rebuke From Arizona

We have at hand an interesting editorial from the Arizona Star, in which Canada is rebuked for not working more effectively with the U.S.A. in the present Korean war. The Star refers to Canada as "a strong wealthy neighbour", and after saying that American soldiers are doing "the nasty, dirty fighting on the ground" speaks thus:

But what has Canada done? She has contributed three destroyers and eight (count 'em) four-engine transport planes!

What this record means is that Canada evidently plans to shed none of the blood of her young people in far-off Korea. Her destroyers will be relatively safe and have crews that total 2,400 men. Reports from Ottawa say that Canada is quite willing to make an industrial contribution!

Another report from Ottawa published in The London Observer of July 16 says that when Trygve Lie's request for help came, it "was a complete surprise for the Canadian government. The Cabinet will not consider it before next week. All key ministers were out of town when the request arrived. The only ground force Canada has ready for operations is a brigade of three battalions, specially trained in airborne operations for the defence of Northern Canada."

That is a shocking spectacle. Suppose the United States had acted in as leisurely a manner as Canada has! Suppose the United States excused herself from sending ground forces, because they were needed for the defence of the United States!

But think of it. Canada, a great wealthy, country of 12,000,000 rugged enterprising people, has only 3,000 men (the three battalions) available for her defence!

Here is this great wealthy country with the Soviet Union as a neighbor to the north, doing practically nothing to defend herself in this present day world. She presents the spectacle of not only being unable to defend herself, but unable to make any contribution to that part of the fighting on the ground in Korea where blood is shed.

However, Canada is not so much to blame as Britain and Washington. Both have treated her like a spoiled and pampered child.

It is surely up to the Washington administration, Secretary Johnson, Secretary Acheson and President Truman, to call upon Canada to contribute help, the kind of help where blood is shed. They have a right and a duty to call upon Canada to pull her fair share of the load.

This has a ring of righteous indignation, but we do not see that Canada is called upon to get red in the face about it. She has made a contribution to the fighting in Korea which seems appropriate to the size of the conflict. Canada was taken by surprise, certainly, but her surprise was as nothing compared to that of the U.S.A., which had removed troops from South Korea in spite of intelligence that the North was getting ready for trouble.

Canada, it appears is a month late in the Korean fight, and the Arizona Star is very cross about it. But in the two great wars of this century it was not Canada, by any means, who was last to enter the fight. It was the U.S.A. which took a couple of years to make up its mind. The Star's indignation is somewhat premature.

Fate Of Annexed Balkan States

By KAZIMIERZ SMOGORZEWSKI

AT a time when the tenth anniversary of the annexation by Soviet Russia—on August 3, 5 and 6 respectively—of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia is being celebrated, with typical propagandist fervour, in Moscow and in Vilnius (Wilno), Riga and Tallinn, the capitals of the three former independent States, it is timely to present something of the true conditions existing under Soviet rule.

◇ ◇ ◇

"THE Soviet regime", writes Izvestia, "gave the Baltic nations real freedom, independence, and possibilities of rapid economic, political and cultural development."

What is the real picture? The Baltic peoples lost not only their treasured freedom and independence, but also their economic prosperity of which the main features were the following: with the exception of wheat, crops per head of population in the three States were double in cereals and treble in potatoes when compared with those of the Soviet Union; the numbers of livestock per inhabitant were double those in the Soviet Union; with a total population of six million the Baltic States imported from Great Britain manufactured goods to exactly the same value as did the Soviet Union, with a population then of 170 million.

AFTER radical land reforms the Baltic States had created a measure of social justice which gave Communist propaganda no opportunity to make any notable progress. The developments of 1940 arose, therefore, not out of successful revolution but by the plain expedient of suppression—by Soviet commissars A. A. Zhdanov, A. Y. Vishinsky and V. G. Dekanozov respectively, acting under the protection of the Soviet occupation army—of the constitutional governments of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

The operation took place safely in the area defined, in the secret treaty signed in Moscow by Ribbentrop and Molotov on September 28, 1939, as—temporarily, the Germans hoped—a Soviet zone of influence and at a time when no help could be extended to the victims.

◇ ◇ ◇

DURING the present celebrations there naturally has been no reference to the most tragic consequence to the Baltic States of their "liberation" by the Soviet armies, namely their Russification by the removal of hundreds of thousands of inhabitants representing the political, economic, military, religious and intellectual elite.

◇ ◇ ◇

AT least three main deportations were organized by the Soviet Ministry of State Security (M.G.B.). The first took place on June 13-14, 1941, shortly before the German invasion, and altogether 62,750 Estonians, 34,250 Latvians and 54,000 Lithuanians were transported to northern Russia and Siberia.

The second wave of deportations began immediately after the return of the Soviet armies, and during 1945-46 some 121,000 Estonians, 105,000 Latvians and 145,000 Lithuanians were sent to distant Soviet camps of forced labour.

DEPORTATIONS continued on a smaller scale during 1947-48 with one notable exception: in Lithuania, on the single day of May 22, 1948, about 100,000 peasants resisting collectivization were arrested and sent eastwards.

The third and—to date—last mass deportation from the three Baltic States took place in March 1949 when 40,000 Estonians, 70,000 Latvians and 60,000 Lithuanians were victims of the operation.

Altogether, in ten years the number of Estonians living in their homeland fell from 996,000 to 664,000, the number of Latvians from 1,496,000 to 1,222,000 and of Lithuanians from 2,084,000 to 1,645,000.

◇ ◇ ◇

TO appreciate the magnitude of changes in the ethnic composition of the populations concerned it is necessary to remember that 130,000 Germans were removed from the Baltic States in 1939-40 and 59,000 fled from the Klaipeda (Memel) territory in 1944-45; that 416,000 Jews living in the Baltic States, mainly in Lithuania, were murdered by the Germans; that 200,000 Poles were deported by the Russians from the Wilno area in 1939 and 178,000 transferred to Poland in 1945-46; and that in 1944-45 about 90,000 Estonians, 65,000 Latvians and 80,000 Lithuanians fled westwards before the return of the Russian "liberators".

THE populations of the Baltic States before World War Two were as follows:—Estonia 1,134,000; Latvia 1,994,500 and Lithuania—in its present frontiers—3,124,000. If all the losses mentioned above are deducted and if it is assumed that for the remainder births had balanced deaths, the respective figures of actual populations would be: Estonia 802,250, Latvia 1,571,250 and Lithuania 1,869,000.

However, according to the Soviet estimate of March 1950, the figures were 1,200,000, 2,100,000 and 3,000,000. If these estimates were true they would suggest that the proportions of Russians—including military garrisons—to the native populations would be one-third in Estonia one-fourth in Latvia and almost two-fifths in Lithuania.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE three Soviet Baltic republics are headed by native "puppet" administrators, but the real power is in the hands of Russian deputy Prime Ministers—Arseny Leonov in Estonia, Ivan Ostrov in Latvia and Vasily Pisarev in Lithuania. The Ministers of State Security are, of course, also Russian: Valenty Moskalenko in Estonia, A. A. Novik in Latvia, and Petr Kapralov in Lithuania. About half of the members of the central committees of the Communist parties in the Baltic States are Russian. The most influential secretaries are Russian, too; I. G. Kebin in Estonia, F. Y. Titov in Latvia and A. S. Trofimov in Lithuania.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALTHOUGH economically the kolkhoz (collective farm) system is not a success in Russia, it was ruthlessly introduced in the Baltic States for the political reason that only through kolkhoz regimentation was control over the peasants possible. Up to June 1950 about 80 per cent. of all peasant holdings in Estonia, 95 per cent. in Latvia and 76 per cent. in Lithuania have been absorbed by the kolkhoz system.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALREADY the language of administration, Russian, is becoming that of instruction in schools.

Added to the other elements of Russification which have been indicated above, this fact must result in the disappearance of the Baltic States as national entities within a generation.

Nor must the conclusion be ignored that this new pattern of de-nationalization is one which is likely to be repeated in other countries of Soviet-dominated Europe.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

Letters To The Editor

THE EXAMINER'S VIOLENT ANTI-CATHOLICISM

Sir: Don't look now, but your religious prejudice is showing badly. Whenever a half-told story appears that looks bad for the Catholics you make a big splash of it, and even write editorials about it, calling it "religious persecution" (Shawinigan Falls incident). Notice however that the enclosed clipping is from the back page. I noticed that you wrote no editorial about that.

Now comes a big "to-do" about an Omemee Baptist "missionary". They were probably making a nuisance of themselves at people's doors and insulting their religion, the same way that the Witnesses do. Ten-to-one, they haven't told all of the facts. I wonder how favorably Catholics would be received at the doors of Protestant homes if they handed them pamphlets calling their ministers names etc.? You know the answer. It's about time that you practised a little of the fairness that you preach about in your columns.

After all, why should so-called "missionaries" go from door to door in a Catholic community. Why don't they go to Africa where they are needed, instead of insulting Catholics on their own door-step?

Yes, I know this won't be printed in your biased paper. It is a well known fact that you only print letters that suit you, so why sign my name.

CATHOLIC CITIZEN.

ED. NOTE: This letter is answered in the editorial columns.

ENJOYED CENTENNIAL NUMBER

Sir: The Centennial Edition came to my desk a few days ago, and I have enjoyed every article thoroughly. I remember Mr. Bradburn very well, and I knew some of the members of the Strickland family, too. Many of the events which are described make up an important part of my life, and they shall always remain near and dear to me.

Sincerely yours,
BOLTON S. ARMSTRONG

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein: I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles. (Isa. 42: 5, 6.)

◇ ◇ ◇

No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him. (John 1: 18.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place. (II Cor. 2: 14.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward: not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life.... Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3: 4-6, 17, 18.)

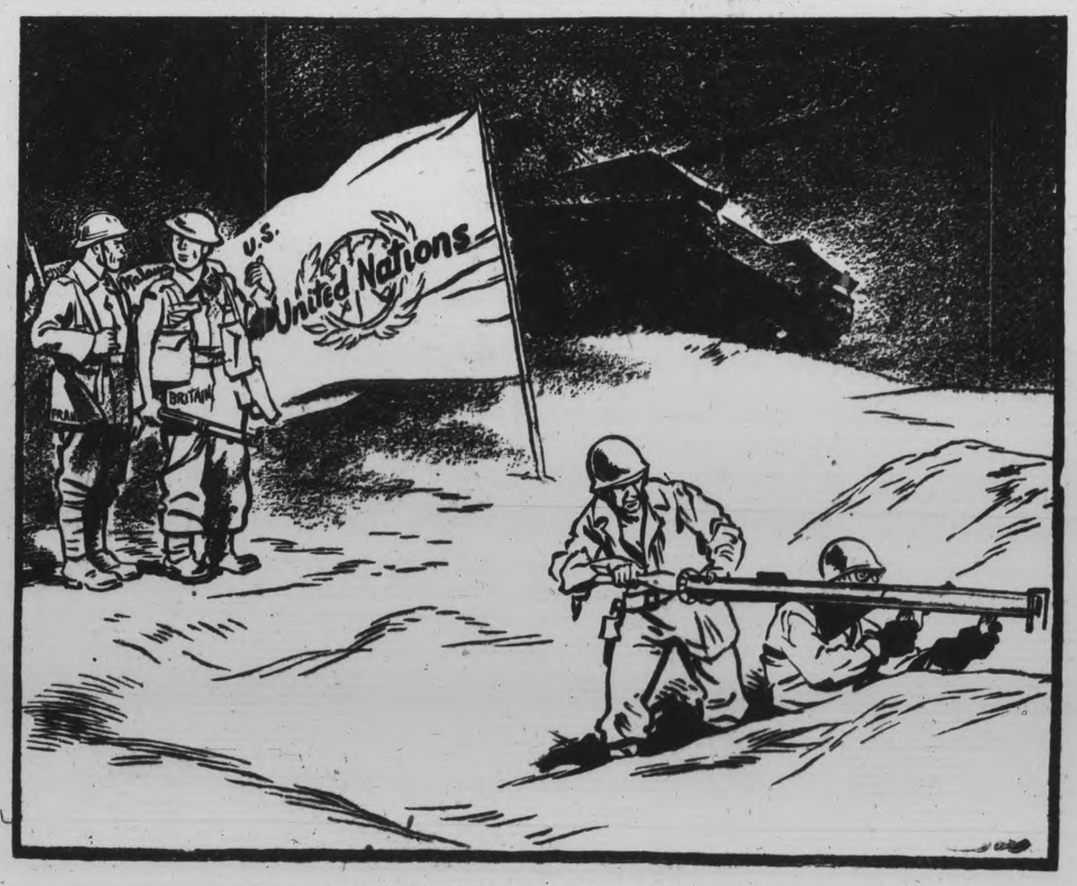
Milk Tip

(Manchester Guardian)

The shabbily dressed young mother, changing at Manchester en route from Yorkshire to South Wales, aproached a porter. "Er—I wonder if you'd—er—mind warming my baby's feed for her?" she hesitatingly asked. Slightly staggered, the porter was none the less willing. 'Aye", he grinned. "Ah'll have a do at owt. Stop near th' indicator an' then Ah'll be able t'find thee".

He was away for some time, eventually reappearing with the bottle and its contents warmed to just the right temperature. "Ah couldna' find a pan", he explained, "so Ah got a bucket, asked t'driver o' t'down London to hose some hot water in it, an' then Ah put t'bottle in t'bucket. That did t'trick awreet".

He waved away a proffered sixpence. "Nay, lass', he said "put it back in thi purse. If my mates heard as how Ah'd getten paid for bein' a nursemaid Ah'd ne'er hear last of it".



"U S" — THAT SPELLS "US"

Iron Curtain Listeners Demand Hard Facts Not Music On US Radio

By LEON DENNEN

PARIS—(NEA)—The western world is waging an unequal battle of words against Russian Communism behind the Iron Curtain. On one side, blaring away full blast, are the state-controlled and Communist-policed radio networks of the satellite nations. They bombard the people of Eastern Europe with a constant barrage of lies about Russia's virtues and the West's vices. To offset this outpouring of falsehood, the West up to now has relied largely on this country's Voice of America and the British Broadcasting Corporation.

These broadcasters start with great handicaps. Though it isn't illegal to listen to foreign programs in satellite countries, it may be worth your life to do so. Secret police are everywhere, and they blacklist listeners. Long-term imprisonment, exile or even death may follow.

Moreover, few satellite folk can afford a short-wave radio receiver, or even the price of replacing a worn-out tube. Hence listening is confined mostly to small, determined groups of intellectuals, middle class people and workers. They channel western news quietly to others.

Not Doing Job

Because the risk of listening is so great, those who take the chance feel free to complain when the Voice and the BBC don't do the kind of job they think is needed to match Russian propaganda.

Recent reports filtering back here from satellite listeners convey these current complaints against western radio broadcasts:

The Voice of America is so intent on being "objective" that it neglects to offer fair and reasonable explanations along with the straight facts.

Being under the Russian heel, satellite peoples want no talk of compromise with Soviet tyranny. They don't understand broadcasts which fail to name Russia as the real aggressor in Korea. They don't like to hear of Korean mediation offers like Indian Prime Minister Nehru's unless they're accompanied by assurances of the West's firm stand against aggression.

Too Long-Winded

The listeners say Voice broadcasts are too rambling and long-winded. They want brief, concise, well-documented accounts of what's going on in the free world. When listening time is a time of danger, it shouldn't be strung out.

However effective musical programs may be elsewhere in Europe, they have no place in broadcasts to Iron Curtain nations. Who wants to go to jail for listening to Guy Lombardo?

Both BBC and Voice programs too often stress what Eastern Europeans view as trivial news. BBC is losing ground now because it describes too many British court ceremonies. Talk of expensively gowned and bejeweled women is resented as useless. So it is, too, with word of gay gatherings in America.

Just Acting

The Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, Rumanians and others who listen don't feel the western broadcasters understand them or their countries. They get the notion the man at the Voice microphone is an actor running through a part

According to the reports, here's what the satellite listeners want:

1. Good, solid information about the social, economic, political and scientific progress of the U.S. and the West, to be thrown into the balance against Russia's poisonous anti-western propaganda.

2. Clear signs of what the west would do when and if it can free the satellites from the Russian yoke. Do we have a social and economic program to take the place of that the Communists offer?

3. Programs which indicate the West really understands conditions behind the Curtain.

Vital to this end is the need to assure the listener he's being addressed in his OWN interest, not in America's or Britain's. He must feel he is hearing from a friend, a brother, a man who knows him and his problems well.

But the satellite reports suggest they'd like to see an expanded Voice of America. In effect, they say: strip away the frills, the general slogans, the excess talk, and focus on hard facts well-interpreted. With that kind of information, men can keep up their courage under tyranny.

Open Inquiry At Hospital

PENETANGUISHENE, Aug. 1—(CP)—A provincial government inquiry into conditions at the Ontario Hospital for the Criminally Insane here opens today.

The investigation was ordered by Premier Frost after complaints by Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound about the escape of two prisoners sent to the hospital after murder cases. One of the prisoners, Melville Wilkie, is still at large. It is his fifth escape. The other, George Herman Woodcox, of Haliburton, has been recaptured.

The invectigation will be conducted by Welfare Minister Goodfellow; his deputy, B. W. Heise; W. E. Hamilton, minister of reform institutions, and his deputy, C. F. Neelands.

They will conduct the inquiry behind closed doors. But they are expected to issue a statement after the probe.

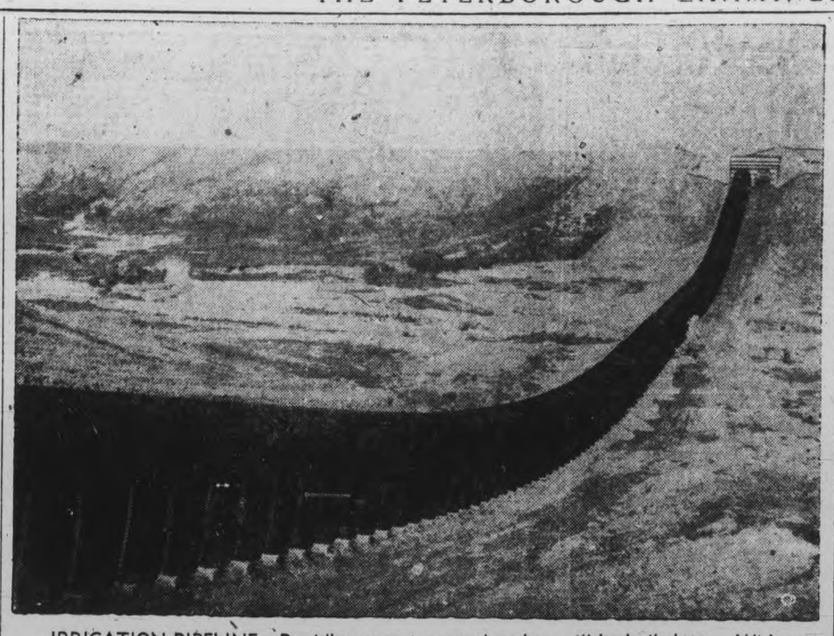
OSHAWA, Aug. 1 CP) — A letter thanking the citizens of Oshawa and district for $4,000 in disaster relief contributions for Cabano, Que., was read at Monday night's council meeting. The letter was signed by Emilien Morin, mayor of Cabano.

U.S. Traffic Down

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP)—Highway traffic entering Canada from the United States in May was one per cent lower than in May last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. This slight drop was the first halt in a steady series of month-to-month advances which began in November, 1948.



IRRIGATION PIPELINE—Rapidly nearing completion is this wood stave pipeline, built as a syphone across the Pinepound Coulee near the Alberta town of Spring Coulee for the main canal of the huge St. Mary-Milk rivers irrigation projects. A second syphon will be built later. With an inside diameter of 13 feet, it will carry 1,600 cubic feet of water per second across the coulee. Through its 960-foot length, the pipeline drops 60 feet and then rises that height again.

Fear Highways Dept. Getting Too Powerful

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—A motion criticizing the Ontario Highways Department was passed by city council Monday.

The motion, stating the department is getting "too much power for comfort," was addressed to the Ontario Municipal Association. It proposed that the legislature be requested to review powers given the department under the Highways Improvement Act.

Specifically mentioned was a clause giving the department power to control building of roads, stands and other structures within a certain distance of controlled access highways.

Members expressed fear that the regulations would be extended to take in highways other than the Queen Elizabeth way, which now comes under the clause. Ald. George R. Inglis, sponsor of the motion, said control of the regulations would tend to slip into the hands of paid officials and not elected representatives.

The resolution was supported by Mayor William Houck, Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Niagara Falls.

Report 3,000 Apply To Join Forces

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP).—The air force reported Monday that more than half the men applying for enlistment in the big new recruiting drive are suitable for acceptance, both in air and ground crew.

That was one factor that emerged as the Defense Department gathered in incomplete statistics on the first full week of the drive that began July 20, the day after cabinet authorized an expansion of the defense program because of Korea.

The general attitude among recruiting officers, a spokesman said is that the response is good if not excellent. The regular forces want about 8,000 men. There have been 3,000 applicants so far.

The one service with hard and fast figures was the army which reported that 1,590 men actually applied for enlistment between July 20 and 29 but only 94 were actually enlisted.

Takes Time

That sounded far from encouraging but army officials said many others were accepted but had not gone through the formalities of enlistment when the figures were drawn up. Some were allowed to go home to round off personal affairs.

Enlistment, one officer said, is far from a 24-hour spot matter. It takes time.

In Ottawa's army recruiting office, there were 147 applications of whom 83 were rejected, 15 enlisted and 49 accepted but not yet enlisted. The rate of applications was up about four times over the weeks before Korea.

The army's best cities for applications were Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Winnipeg.

The air force reported that of 800 men who had applied for ground crew service up to July 27 about 440 were suitable for enlistment. Of 400 who wanted to serve in the air—there has been a shortage of air crew candidates in past months—more than 215 were considered suitable.

Army Cadets Train At Banff

BANFF, Alta., Aug. 1—(CP)—Three companies ,totalling 150 selected master army cadets Monday started a three-week "reward" summer training course at a camp at the foot of Cascade mountain, about five miles from here.

The cadets arrived Sunday aboard a special train from Halifax, which picked up 53 Ontario's central command boys, 42 from Quebec comand, 18 from Eastern command, and 15 from Prairie command. Western command sent 22.

Camp arrangements made tent-mates of lads from widely-scattered parts of the country. Sharing one tent were Cadet Sgt.-Maj. Eric Fitzgerald of Corner Brook, Nfld.; Platoon Sgt.-Maj. Ian Sutherland, Victoria; Cadet Capt. W. Trudeau of Sault Ste. Marie, and Cadet Lieut. D. Richards of Tillsonburg.

No Seattle Cheering As War Dead Return

SEATTLE, Aug. 1 (AP). — There was no celebrating, cheering crowd on the Seattle port of embarkation dock Monday when the transport General E. T. Collins arrived.

The ship's flag was half-masted, so were the flags on ships berthed nearby. Rows of white-helmeted soldiers stood at attention and saluted; longshoremen and civilian workers doffed hats.

A hush settled over the piers when a flag-draped coffin swung out of the ship's hold on a white pallet. Another coffin followed. That was all.

Slowly, a waiting funeral truck drove away through the silent soldiers and civilians.

The first U.S. army dead from the Korean war had returned to their native soil.

Repairing Dredge

LEAMINGTON, Aug. 1 (CP)—The Sidney M., a dredge working in Leamington harbor, struck a sand bar early Monday and loosened a plate in her bow. She was taken to dock for repairs after water began to leak into her hull.

War Affecting Tourist Business

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP)—War in Korea is having a definite effect on Canada's tourist trade, D. Leo Dolan, Canadian Travel Bureau chief, said Monday.

"There hasn't been a serious falling-off," he said in an interview, "but the total tourist trade this summer probably won't reach the record-breaking heights we anticipated about six months ago."

Central Ontario, the Muskoka district, and some resorts in other parts of the country, were reporting decreased business. On the other hand, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and some parts of Quebec were breaking records.

Previously, Mr. Dolan thought tourist business this year might reach $300,000,000. Now it appears to be headed for about the same level as the $270,000,000 realized last year.

Fined $21,021

TORONTO, Aug 1 (CP) — George Philpson Dowe, president of the G. P. Dowe Electrical Company, Monday was fined $21,021 on four charges laid under the Income Tax and Excess Profits Tax Act. Alternative sentence was one year on two counts and six months on each of the other two.

Young Swimmer Enters Two CNE Events

A bid for Canadian championship swimming honors will be made this year at the CNE by Gerard Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Armstrong, 214 Carlisle Ave.

Armstrong, a lifeguard at the Riverside swimming area the past four years and an employee of the Examiner, started to train last November to enter the "big" swim, the professional 15-mile swim.

Three weeks ago an arm infection caused a change in his daily routine and his plans for this year. Instead of entering the long event he will be a contestant in the Ross Gold Trophy race for the two-mile amateur swimming championship of Canada on Saturday, August 26. He will also swim in the 100-yard free style event on September 4, Labor Day.

Armstrong during the past two years has become well-known in the Port Credit area where he has taken part in the annual races. A year ago he was presented with a cup as a finalist in the mile swim there and two years ago brought home two silver medals for his efforts there.

Swam Five Miles

He claims to hold the longest swim record for Peterborough. Three years ago at the Riverside H-wharf he swam five miles in slightly more than four hours. He swam the length of the wharf 440 times, a five-mile distance, before coming out of the water.

Besides his Port Credit medals and cup Armstrong has won various cups and trophies during the past several years while contesting in various regattas in this area.

Practised Daily

Under Coach Gord Minty of the YMCA Swimming Club Armstrong started his daily practices in November in the YMCA pool. He gradually increased his distance in the pool to a mile and a half at the same time practising different strokes, kicking and breath control.

Early in the spring Armstrong with Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, the 18-year-old swimmer started workouts at the Riverside beach. There since then she has been teaching him the Japanese crawl which was introduced into the United States a year ago by the Japanese swimming team.

An arm infection caused a temporary but serious stoppage to his daily practices. Then the decision was made to enter the Ross trophy swim rather than the 15-mile event.

The CNE events will be one of many events for Armstrong this year as he hopes to compete in local regattas as well as other swimming meets in the province.

Already plans are being made by the youthful swimmer for the long swim at the CNE next year. He hopes to have an instructor throughout the fall, winter and spring to guide him through the daily practices which will make him a strong competitor.

Centennial Records Reveal Hundred Years of Cricket

By C. H. IRESON

In the celebrations organized for Peterborough's centenary, sport has not been overlooked. A centennary sports program has been prepared for the latter part of August.

In the early days of Peterborough's hundred years' history, cricket was played here. A club was formed in 1855. We read in the newspapers of those days that in 1858 a shelter was provided for the ladies who regularly attended the game which were played on what was known as Cricket Place in East City. Hence the name arose of the present street built on part of the cricket field.

The game has been played regularly from those days to the present time, except for a break during the First World War.

When The Examiner moved from its old quarters on George St. to its present location, many old records of the cricket club were found. These eventually were placed in the Public Library and form a record reaching back to the 1860's.

During the decade 1870-80 there is a definite record of 30 towns and villages playing cricket in Ontario and the Peterborough club was in the position to engage a professional playing coach.

Matches Widespread

Inspection of those records, dating back to 1863, reveals the fact that the game was well spread over the county, for the first match recorded is one between East and West Peterborough played on May 26, 1863. There was a club at Westwood then and at Millbrook. It is recorded that there was a match here between Peterborough and the Toronto University.

Records also show that games were played between the University and Trinity College from 1873 until 1894. Matches have been played with TCS of Port Hope and Upper Canada College from 1867 to the present time.

The principal opponents of the local club i nthose old days were Port Hope, Lindsay, Cobourg, Lakefield and Colborne.

Old Country vs. Canada

The greatest interest seems to have been taken in local games between the British-born and the Canadian-born. Oe such game is recorded as played on May 24, 1875, and the scorebook is patriotically headed "God She the Queen." The Old Country men won by 29 runs. The last match recorded in this book is one between the two local teams on May 2, 1879.

The unfortunate custom of frequently entering the names without initials makes the identification of the players difficult. But the following roster will appeal to the very old inhabitants. Of course, it is impossible to give all the names, but the most frequently mentioned include: J. E. Hammond, H. Strickland, Spence, D. Hartley, W. Hartley, Belcher, Rutherford, W. Rockham, Foote, Clements, Burrell, R. B. Rogers, Pack, Morristoun, Stratton, Burnham, Haultain, G. Hatton and M. Hamilton. These names may evoke memories.

Since those days the game has been played here regularly, except as stated, during the First World War. Although its popularity has bee novershadowed by baseball, it still holds its place as the leading summer sport throughout the rest of the Empire. Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and the West Indies all play "test" matches against the Old Country.

However in any local centenary sports program, cricket deserves a place, the present team making a great showing in the Toronto and District Cricket Council matches so far.

Ladies Throw Dodgers

BROOKLYN, Aug. 1 — (AP)—It was ladies night for the first time in Ebbets Field's history Monday night. The fair sex numbered 15,592. Maybe that's why the Dodgers made three straight errors in the first three plays of the game. First, third woman Bill Cox let a ground ball scoot through his legs. Pitcher Dan Bankhead threw wildly into centrefield on an attempted force play at second base and then centrefielder Duke Snider muffed a line drive. There were no excuses for the misplays by Snider and Bankhead. Cox, okay. Billy probably had his mind on bouncing babies, instead of bouncing ball. Mrs. Cox presented him with a tiny girl Sunday.

Braves In Top League Slot

St. Alphonsus Braves with nine wins against one loss placed first in the final standing of the Catholic Softball League, a spokesman said today. Immaculate Conception Cubs with a record of eight wins and a loss captured the second slot while St. Peter's Yanks were third with six wins against four losses. Sacred Heart Red Sox finished in fourth with five and seven and the St. Anne's Pirates in the cellar with 12 losses.

Two postponed games between the Yanks and the Braves will not be played because they would have no bearing on the standing. The Braves and the Red Sox, the Yanks and the Cubs will meet in the semi-finals series. The winners will meet in a best-of-five series for the J. E. Sullivan trophy.

The Cubs and the Yanks will open their series Wednesday at the Orphanage grounds. The other series will not begin until next week, several players still on vacation.

In Need Of Cash Joe Louis Returns To Ring

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA). — If Joe Louis knocks out Ezzard Charles in late September, he'll tackle Lee Savold next June.

And then boxing will be right back where it started—with a 37-year-old undefeated champion once more announcing his retirement, this time for keeps, everybody hopes.

Savold, the British edition of world champion, wants no part of a cagey Charles with no more bucks office appeal than a bad theatrical production.

Prefers Savold

Louis would much prefer to square off with the 34-year-old Savold, but this Fall it has to be Charles.

The International Boxing Club, in which Louis is an associate, wants a firm grip on the heavyweight title.

Charles is recognized as the class leader by the National Boxing Association, but not by the New York Commission.

Important money had gone out of the beak busting business.

So in coming back, Louis saves the club and gets himself out of hock.

There are two ways to look at Louis' return to the wars. You can take the position that the Old Brown Bomber has been nothing more than a prize fighter and that, in need of ready cash like most of the rest of us, he is falling back on the only trade he knows.

Joe Louis Ezzard Charles

Either that or you can be a bleeding heart, and regret his move.

Personally, I'm one of those who would prefer to remember Louis in the flattering light of distance.

So-called fight experts want to see how Louis stands up in training before venturing an opinion as to the outcome of his meeting with Charles.

Smoky Joe was no ball of fire in his two starts against Jersey Joe Walcott, although he knocked out the ancient and honorable resident of Camden in his last stand two years ago. He certainly won't be any better against Charles, although in his last outing he demonstrated that his punch was still there.

Charles Has Good Chance

On his speed and youth—he's 27—Charles must be given a good chance—if he doesn't freeze. If he goes in there with the idea he is fighting just another old man, he'll be tough.

There is a mental hazard to take into consideration in doping Charles against Louis, too, the heart condition that forced him to cancel his Buffalo joust with Freddie Beshore and kept him on the sidelines for months. Charles has been pronounced OK by medicine men, but it easily could be that all his nervous tension the night he engages Louis will not be because of his celebrated opponent and the opportunity the match presents.

Anyway, Old Joe Louis has returned to once more put the breath of life back into what was a dying fight game.

SPAHN WINS 13TH

Pitching — Warren Spahn, Braves—Yielded six hits, fanned four in registering his 13th triumph as the Braves nipped the cards, 4-3.

WHEELCHAIR GAME—Golf at 63 was beginning to get Charlie Ephofen's feet. So the Allegan, Mich., senior built a wheelchair that carries 14 clubs, balls and a raincoat.

RESOUNDING REPRIEVE — Shortly after being asked to go to the minors for the second time this season, Johnny Mize took over at first base, and the cannonading was devastating as the Yankees won six straight. Here are the swing, eyes, grip and stance that enabled Big John to drive in 11 runs pounding out 13 hits, five of them homers, in 15 times at bat for an average of .867 through a four-game stretch. And the 37-year-old Georgia giant polishes his bludgeon for a sustained attack.

Royals Dump Giants In 3-1 Victory

By The Associated Press.

Branch Rickey, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, flew to Montreal Monday night to see if Carl Erskine, righthanded ace of Montreal's Royals, was ready to return to the big leagues. He saw plenty.

The 23-year-old Erskine came up with a 3-1 victory over Jersey City Giants for his sixth straight victory. He now has an over-all 9-6 mark with Montreal.

The league leading Rochester Red Wings opened a 14-game home stand with a 4-2 victory over Syracuse Chiefs. Jack Faszholz, rookie righthander, went the distance. Don Bolweg and Ed Mierkowicz helped him with a home run apiece.

Sweep Twin Bill

Springfield Cubs swept a doubleheader from Buffalo 5-3 and 6-3. Al Ihde scattered six Bison hits in the opener, while his mates clubbed Sandy Silverstein and Al Carrasquel for 13 safeties, including a homer by Ransom Jackson.

In the second game, Bob Spicer scattered eight hits. Big Jack Wallaesa connected for his 21st homer, a triple and double, to ease Spicer's eighth triumph.

Babe Barna hit two home runs, to lead Baltimore to a 6-5 victory over Toronto. Irv Medlinger, although he needed aid from Ray Shore, notched his ninth victory

Need Pitchers? Try The Minors

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP) — Note to major league managers seeking pitching strength: There have been 21 no-hit games in 11 minor leagues so far this season. Against that, the last big-league no-hitter was Sept. 9, 1948 when Brooklyn Dodgers' Rex Barney blanked New York Giants 2-0.

Marlin Stuart, who pitched a perfect game for Toledo of the American Association (Class AAA) in beating Indianapolis, 1-0, on June 27, already has been recalled by the Detroit Tigers.

Two others in the American Association hurled no-hitters — Kirby Higbe, who had 11 years service in the majors, and Bob Alexander.

Others include:

Canadian - American League (Class C): July 20—Fred Belinsky, Quebec, beat Pittsfield, 8-1, nine innings.

Pony League (Class D)—July 20—Dick Fortune, Jamestown, beat Lockport, 2-0, nine innings.

—Remember When

By The Canadian Press.

Percy Williams, now an insurance salesman in Vancouver, B. C., was eliminated from the 100-metre dash in a semi-final at the Los Angeles Olympics, 18 years ago today. Eddie Tolan, United States Negro, won the heat, equalling the Canadian star's world record time of 10.3 seconds set in 1930.

Declares Louis Doesn't Need Any Sympathy

By JIM HOLTON

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1—(AP)—Check those tears of pity for "poor old" Joe Louis, fight fans. Jake Mintz says you've got it all wrong.

Jabbering Jake—the excitable ex-dancer who handles the affairs of Ezzard Charles, National Boxing Association heavyweight champion—wants a little sympathy for his boy, who's due to face the former fight king in the fall.

"The way everybody talks you'd think Louis will have a tougher time fighting his condition than fighting Charles," sputtered Jake.

"In fact," Mintz went on, "it's the other way around. Ezzard's got a lot tougher training problem than Louis."

Then he launched into his argument:

"Louis never really retired.

No Exhibition

"Lee Oma ran out on Louis in Detroit and his manager, Tex Sullivan, said that billing the fight as an exhibition was ridiculous.

"Louis kayoed Pat Valentino in the eighth—the same round Charles did in a legitimate title fight—but he gave him a worse lacing, and with 16-ounce gloves . . .

"He boxed nearly every day in that 'exhibition tour,' then he went to South America where he did the same thing. He came home, joined a circus and fought, sometimes, twice a day.

"Louis in the last year has been the most active heavyweight in the history of the game."

Then Mintz turned to Charles' troubles. Said he:

"As everybody knows, Ezzard has been doing nothing for the last four months because of his heart injury. He's off his timing and out of practice. He should be okay for the Freddie Beshore fight (in Buffalo Aug 15), but he'll have lots of work to do on himself after that."

St. Kitts Wallop Excelsiors 15-5

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 1 (CP) If there were two second halves in each lacrosse game, St. Catharines Athletics would be unbeatable.

Athletics staged their customary terrific last-half drive Monday to wallop Brampton Excelsiors 15-5. The win moved St. Kitts into a second place tie with Brampton in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior series.

The winners' six regulars, brought Leo Teatro back into action after a three-week layoff due to a leg injury, and dressed big Bill Nelson, making his first appearance on St. Kitts colors. Both played a key part in the win.

Teatro shared scoring honors with Jim McMahon, each scoring four times. Nelson played brilliantly on defence and kicked in with two goals. Harvey Madgett scored twice for Bramps.

St. Kitts held a 2-1 lead at the end of the quarter, and stretched it to 6-2 by the half. They poured in five straight tallies in the third quarter, and outscored Excelsiors 4-3 in the fourth.

To Start In Derby

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Trainer Max Hirsch said today King Ranch's Middleground, the Kentucky Derby winner, will slip the Travers stake here Aug. 12 and start in the American Derby at Chicago Aug. 26.

Trotters Try For $5,000 Maple Leaf Cup

TORONTO, Aug. 1—(CP)—The $5,000 Maple Leaf Cup— richest prize offered to trotters in Canada this season—will go at Thorncliffe Raceway here Thursday.

Outstanding purse of the 42-day meeting which ends Aug. 19, is the $15,000 Canadian Cup pace, scheduled for competition Aug. 11.

Nine top-flight trotters are entered in the Maple Leaf Cup.

Duke Volo, owned by L. LaChapelle, of Sorel, Que., which negotiated the mile at Thorncliffe in 2:07 1-5, is favorite but Morris Mite, racing against time, covered the distance in 2:07 3-5 ten days ago. Morris Mite is owned by O. E. Corbeil, of Montreal.

Dark horse of the field is Ceilia's Counsel, owned by Hon. W. Earl Rowe, Conservative member of parliament for Dufferin-Simcoe.

Lone American invader in the field is Rocco Hanover, owned by the famous partnership of Cobb and Burdick, of Washington Court House, O. These partners also own Jerry the First, recent winner of the $50,000 pacing stake at Santa Anita—a horse which is entered in the $15,000 Canadian Cup.

Another expected starter is De Al-Stan, which has been campaigning in the United States. The horse is owned by Alex Parsons, of Brantford, Ont. It has just won an important stake at Hamburg, N.Y.

Three Represent Peterborough At Swim Meet

Peterborough will be represented at the Ontario outdoor swimming championships in Fergus Wednesday night by John Boorman, Donald Wood and James Heffernan. The boys are being sponsored at this meet by the Peterborough Lions Club and will be accompanied by swimming instructor at the Lions pool, Bill Lech.

Coach Lech, former Dominion junior 100-yard breaststoke champion, said today that he expects the swimmers to bring back at least three championships. Boorman, a 13-year-old swimmer who captured two international championships at Watertown over the weekend, is entered in the under 14 years 100-yard free style event and the 50-yard free style event. Fifteen-year-old Wood has entered the junior men's class in the 100-yard backstroke and the 100-yard free style swims. Jim Heffernan, 14, will be making an attempt also at a championship in the junior men's 100-yard free style.

Mr. Lech explained that if Wood wins an Ontario championship in either of his two events, he will automatically become a member of the Ontario swimming team at the Canadian championships at Verdun, Quebec, on August 16-17.

Junior Clubs Get 4 Imports

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP) — Junior A clubs in the Ontario Hockey Association will be allowed four imports—two of their own and two from their affiliated Junior B clubs—this season, the OHA executive committee decided Monday night.

Under present regulations, each category is allowed two imports. But imports to B teams cannot jump up to A clubs.

The proposal was carried over the objections of Guelph delegates. It was suggested by Staff Smythe of Toronto Marlboros, Lloyd Pollock of Windsor Spitfires and Hap Emms of Barrie Flyers.

George Dudley, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association secretary opposed the move. He said it was prohibited by CAHA regulations and added: "It would be a sad commentary on the OHA if Ontario teams took the lead in securing additional imports."

Boston Braves Defeat St. Louis Cardinals 4-3

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place is the prize tonight as the rising New York Yankees and the slumping Detroit Tigers clash in the first of an important three-game series.

A capacity crowd of 55,000 is expected at Briggs Stadium to watch the mound duel between southpaw Tommy Byrne, of the Yankees, and righthander Art Houtteman, of the Tigers.

A Yankee victory would put Casey Stengel's men back at the top of the American League for the first time since June 9, the days the Tigers wrested the lead from New York.

Byrne has beaten the Bengals four times without a defeat this season and holds a lifetime 12-3 mark against them.

Houtteman, steadiest Tiger hurler, has a 3-2 mark against New York for the year. His lifetime Yankee mark is 8-5.

Wednesday, Allie Reynolds will face Dizzy Trout. In the final game Thursday, Eddie Lopat will pitch against Ted Gray. Thus far the Yankees lead the Tigers, seven victories to six.

Whip Cardinals

There were no games in the American League Monday but the National League picture changed somewhat when Boston Braves defeated St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 and Chicago Cubs whipped Brooklyn Dodgers 8-5.

Walker Cooper's single off Tommy Glaviano's glove in the last of the ninth drove in Earl Torgeson with the run that gave Boston the victory and moved the Braves into second place past the Cardinals. The Braves now trail the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils by three games. The Cards are 3½ games behind and the fourth-place Dodgers lag by 4½.

Warren Spann, who went the route for his 13th victory, gave up six hits and fanned four to increase his league-leading strikeout total of 132. Max Lanier was the loser.

After the Cards had fought back three times to tie, Lanier walked Sam Jethroe to open the last of the ninth. Torgeson, hitless in four previous times at bat, singled Jethroe to third.

Comes Through

After an intentional walk to Bob Elliott loaded the bases, Sid Gordon hit into a force play at the plate, but Cooper came through with his game-winning hit.

The Cube overcame a 5-1 deficit. They tallied three times in the sixth to kayo starter Dank Bankhead. Two straight hits finished Chris Cuyk in the seventh. Rex Barney relieved, gave up three bases on balls and uncorked a wild pitch to set up a four-run inning for Chicago. That was the game.

Frank (Dutch) Hiller, who needed help in the seventh, won his fifth game, three over Brooklyn.

Declares Canada Easiest Place To Become Rich

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada is on its way to becoming a great industrial nation, says an article in the current issue of American magazine, written by Charles Woodbury.

Thanks to the discovery of vast new national resources, the Dominion is off on a tremendous joyride, states Mr. Woodbury, and he adds:

Many American businessmen are saying that it is easier to get rich in Canada than in the United States. They have ample reason for feeling that way.

Canada provides frontiers today comparable to those which beckoned to pioneers in this country (the United States) a century ago. The next quarter of a century seems certain to do for Canada what the last part of the 19th did for us.

Offers Opportunities

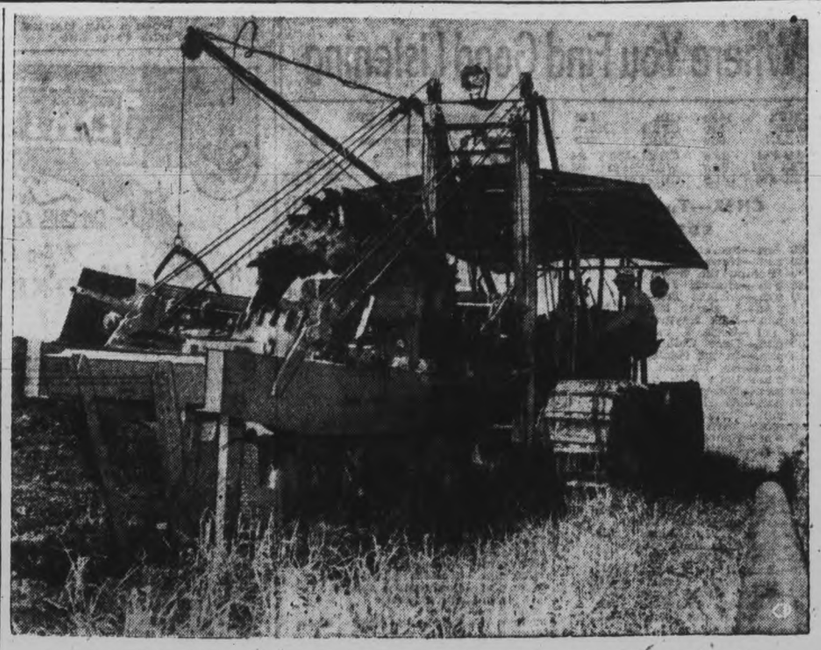
From Labrador to British Columbia and from the American border to the Arctic Ocean, Canada is offering opportunities to capital, to industry, and to individuals which have been unequalled since the opening of our west.

Iron (in Labrador and Ontario) and oil (in western Canada) are only two of the reasons why Canada has suddenly emerged as the world's number one land of promise. Huge jackpots have also been struck in natural gas, coal, salt, titanium (in Quebec).

New Hydro Electric projects soon will increase vastly the nation's power supply. New developments in agriculture are augmenting its food output. A vastly expanded aviation is pushing cold weather frontiers farther and farther northward.

Canadians are a bit more conservative than Americans. They don't talk as much as we do. But a mighty boom is unmistakably getting underway and rags-to-riches stories are already a dime-a-dozen.

Mr. Woodbury's article goes on to outline various industrial developments and discoveries in Canada in recent years, and some of the colorful stories connected with them.



TRENCH DIGGERS — Huge machines such as this are digging a $2,500,000, 75-mile long, four-foot trench from Winnipeg to Gretna, Man. The line, owned by Winnipeg Pipeline Company, a subsidiary of Imperial Oil, will move Alberta oil from a takeoff point on the Interprovincial Pipeline at Gretna to Winnipeg refineries. Completion is scheduled for this fall or early spring. Operating the mechanical ditcher is A. D. (Smitty) Smith of Broken Bow, Okla., who has worked on pipelines all over the world.

Dies In Flames

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP) — One man burned to death Monday night and more than a dozen other persons were left homeless in a fire which swept through two dwellings on Champagne Street in West Ottawa. Dead is Bernard Driscoll, 25, who is believed to have been sleeping when the fire started and failed to awaken in time to escape the fast-spreading flames.

Passenger Ship Stops At Quebec

QUEBEC, Aug. 1—(CP)—The passenger liner Empress of Canada stopped here briefly Monday night on her way to Montreal from Liverpool. Among her 660 passengers were nine British school teachers coming to Canada as part of a group of 40 who will spend a year here under plan whereby 40 Canadian teachers will teach in England.

A passenger was Peter Stursburg, Canadian broadcaster and foreign correspondent, who is returning to Canada after several years overseas, the last five spent as roving reporter and correspondent for the London Daily Herald. He said he hoped to re-enter the Canadian newspaper and radio field.

J. H. Cranston, former owner and publisher of the Midland Free Press, and Mrs. Cranston were among the returning passengers.

Margaret Stokes of Toronto, a recent competitor in the Alpine rally motor car race run of 1,900 miles between Marseille and Cannes, France, is returning on the ship. She said mechanical trouble forced her out of the race.

Friend Buster Saves Little Cocker Susie

TILLSONBURG, Aug. 1—(CP)—Susie's safe and credit for her rescue goes to her friend Buster.

Susie, a three-year-old cocker spaniel, disappeared from the farm of Victor Ford near here three days ago. The farmer and his daughter Lucille, 15, searched everywhere for her.

Monday they heard howls from woods near their farm. They investigated, found Buster, a two-year-old collie, digging at groundhog hole. A few minutes later Susie staggered out of her "prison". She apparently had been there for three days.

On Reviewing Stand

TORONTO, Aug 1 (CP)—Lord Tedder and Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck will be on the reviewing stand for the march-past of veterans on Warrior's Day at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Ex-Warden's Funeral

WINDSOR, Aug. 1 (CP)—Funeral services for George A. Hall, former warden of Essex County, will be held here today. Mr. Hall, who was 71, died in hospital here Sunday. He was formerly tax collector, treasurer and reeve of Colchester North township.

Urges Canadians To Help Country

GRAVEHURST, Aug. 1—(CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario Monday urged young Canadians to dedicate themselves to the service of their country.

He told the opening session of the third annual summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association that Canadians must "be prepared to give service, not just military service," to the strengthening and improvement of democracy.

The current international situation could seriously affect his government's plans and policies Mr. Frost told conference delegates, who represent Ontario's 90 constituencies. A number of other Young Progressive Conservative provincial associations have sent observers to the gathering.

Mr. Frost said that following the First World War young men found they still had to dedicate their lives to the country.

"Such is the case in 1950 and such, I dare say, will be the case in 1975 and 2000. It is not enough to turn powers over to elected representatives. We all have to be part of government."

Import Control Officers Begin Taper Off Work

OTTAWA, Aug. 1. (CP)—The big government import control machine, which for three years helped steer Canada over the economic dangers of a dollar crisis, is on its way out.

With the wind knocked out of the crisis and Canada's reserves steadily mounting, three of the top officials in the trade department's emergency import control branch will step out of harness today, back to jobs in private industry.

J. S. Irwin, 40, of Ottawa, the branch's director, will join the Steel Equipment Company Limited.

W. E. McDermott, 48, of Oakville, Ont., director of the Import Allotment division, assumes an appointment with the Reo Motor Company, as assistant to the vice-president and general manager at Leaside, Ont.

G. B. Greene, 34, of Westboro, Ont., the allotment division's assistant director, becomes Ottawa representative of the Sheridan Equipment Company.

Branch Continues

The branch, first created late in 1947 when Canada's dollar reserves hit a low ebb, will continue for some months to come, with tapering administrative control over the flow into Canada of United States capital goods and some consumer items.

Some time next spring, or possibly earlier, the branch will issue its last permit and make its last decontrol, bringing Canada's import policy in relation to US goods back to the fairly free position it held before the 1947 crisis.

Meanwhile, W. F. Bull, 47, of Weston, the department's commodity chief who helped create the import control branch, will take over its administration in addition to his own work.

Assisting him will be E. J. McWilliams, 33, of Toronto, Mr. Irvin's associate, who will become assistant director, and A. F. Cunningham, 57, of Owen Sound who, in addition to his work as projects chief, will become director of the allotment division.

Egyptian Council Takes Queen's Assets

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 1 (AP).—The Egyptian Royal Council Monday night placed the assets of Queen Mother Nazli under custody and removed her as custodian of former Princess Fathia. Both the Queen Mother and Princess now are in the United States.

The council also declared void the marriage of Fathia, sister of King Farouk I, and a former Christian Egyptian, Riad Ghali, in San Francisco last April.

Farouk stripped Fathia of her royal title and privileges after her marriage. Ghali, who was a Coptic Christian, became a Moslem after his marriage in a civil ceremony. He and the Princess were remarried in a Moslem ceremony in California last May.

Give Up Holidays For UK Social Work

LONDON, Aug. 1— CP)—Ten Canadians, including one woman, started social work Monday on the seamy side of London.

For the next four weeks, along with 38 college students from the United States, the Canadians will make their headquarters in the working-class district of London's East End or act as counsellors at summer camps.

The Canadian students have given up their holidays to work in Britain. They arrived last Friday and will stay here until Sept. 29.

Among them are Leonard Carlson, Canwood, Sask., and William Heard, Calgary.

Driver Killed

HAMILTON, Aug. 1 (CP)—A man, tentatively identified as Allan Ball, 45, of Stoney Creek, Ont., was killed in an automobile accident at nearby Tapleytown Monday. Police said the man's automobile collided with a truck driven by John C. Edwards, 18, of Glencoe, Ont. Edwards suffered chest injuries and facial cuts.

Manslaughter Charges

SAULT STE. MARIE, Aug 1 (CP) — Manslaughter charges were laid Monday against the driver of a car in which three people died Sunday night after a collision with a train. The driver, 34-year-old Robert Archibald, was released on bail of $1,000. He was the only one of seven occupants who was not injured.

Albert J. Ness Dies

ORMSTOWN, Que., Aug. 1 (CP)—Albert James Ness, 70, one of North America's top authorities on draft horses, died here Monday after a long illness. He successfully took part in such shows as the Chicago International Exhibition, Royal Winter Fair at Toronto and Guelph and Ottawa winter fairs. For several years he was inspector of stallions of all breeds for the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Holiday Travellers Warned By Doucett

TORONTO, Aug. 1 — (CP) — Eleven persons were killed in Ontario traffic accidents last year during Civic Holiday weekend.

This year, Highways Minister Doucett said Monday, there may be more.

In a plea for safe driving next weekend—Civic Holiday weekend—Mr. Doucett said: "If the weather is favorable, the number of cars and the number of accidents on the highways may exceed records".

Tenants Flee Apartment

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP) — Smoke forced 200 persons to evacuate a large north-end apartment building Monday night. No injuries were reported. The fire, beleived to have started in the basement of the 56-unit building, sent clouds of thick, oily smoke pouring through the windows and forced tenants to the street.

Court Suspends Two Printers

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP) —Two printers who unknowingly allowed counterfeiters to use their shop to cut bogus bills, were given suspended two-year sentences on Monday in Federal District Court.

The men, Alfonse Stablewski, 41, and Henry Stevens, 45, had pleaded guilty to a charge of participating in a conspiracy to make counterfeit money. The case was part of the investigation which ended in the break-up of a ring after about $1,000,000 in false U.S. and Canadian currency had been made.

The pair were placed on probation for two years.

W. Norman Kirchgraber, Assistant U.S. Attorney, told the court that Stablewski and Stevens gained nothing from the counterfeiting enterprise.

Fine Pair $100 Each Set Fire, No Alarm

BRANTFORD, Aug. 1 (CP). — A man and woman who left a hotel bed room without sounding an alarm after setting fire to the bed clothes each were fined $100 and costs Monday.

Paul Bertrand and Mrs. Myrtle Foster said they thought the fire, started by a cigaret, had been extinguished when they left. It was discovered half an hour later.

Ask Rotary Help ProfessionalMen From DP Camps

An appeal to help professional men among the thousands of displaced persons in European camps still waiting for homes was made Monday to the Rotary Club by Hector J. M. Allard, Chief of Mission in Canada of the International Refugee Organization, on loan from the Department of External Affairs.

Canada will take in 500 of these men who are doctors, lawyers, architects and men and women of the arts, if some individual or club will sponsor them, Mr. Allard said. Sponsoring one of these "best brains of the world" would entail guaranteeing him a position in his type of work for one year and providing accommodation for him and his dependents.

He asked that the Peterborough Rotary Club make a survey in the district to find what openings there were for one or more of these 500 that the Canadian government is willing to allow into the country.

He said from the difficulty met in getting professional men placed in Canada, he thought professional groups in Canada must have some opposition to them. But he said he could not believe 500 professional men could disrupt the professions to any extent.

Want Freedom Again

"What the displaced persons want," Mr. Allard said, "is to get a position which will make them free men again."

When the International Relief Organization took on its job in 1947, there were 25,000 of these professional men in European camps, he said. Since then, not more than 10 or 15 per cent had been resettled in new homes in the United States, Canada, Australia, South America and France.

The IRO had adopted 1,600,000 men, women and children in 1947. In the years since then the United Nations organization had resettled about 774,000 and repatriated about 70,000 to their former homes. Of this number, Canada took in about 85,000.

At the end of March, 1951, the IRO's money will run out and the displaced persons will then be the responsibility of the countries in which their camps happen to be.

Of this group, about half are workers and the IRO is not particularly worried about them. It feels they will be able to look after themselves.

U.S. And Australia Help

The United States has promised to take in another 140,000 and Australia has offered to absorb another 35,000. Canada has said it will continue to take in displaced persons as there are openings for them.

The future of the rest is extremely uncertain. Many of them will have to stay where they are. Some have married nationals in the countries they are living in. Some are workers with large families they cannot easily support. Others are widows with one or more children or unmarried mothers. Still another large group are called institution cases who are sick, have TB, are insane, blind or have other afflictions.

Mr. Allard had shown a film of life in a displaced persons' camp. The camp had formerly been a permanent German army barracks, but now it was jammed with men, women and children living in sordid surroundings with little but hope to live on.

It was through the work of organizations like the Rotary Club and other service clubs, said Mr. Allard, that this hope will be fulfilled.

Mr. Allard was introduced by Harold Deeth and thanked by the Rev. Ivan Morgan. Club president Hugh Waddell was chairman.

HECTOR J. M. ALLARD appealed to the Rotary Club Monday to help find openings for professional men among the 500 displaced persons the Canadian government will allow into the country if sponsors are found for them. Mr. Allard is chief of Mission in Canada of the International Refugee Organization on loan from the Department of External Affairs.

STABBED IN ARM

James Turner, 67, of Lorneville, was discharged Monday from Ross Hospital, Lindsay, after receiving knife wounds in one arm Saturday night. Lindsay provincial police are investigating the stabbing that followed a domestic argument.

Men's Stores Report Good Tourist Trade

Tourist business in Peterborough stores this year varies from poor to about the same as last year, according to a survey of downtown stores today.

Only men's clothing stores seemed to find they were selling a little more than last year.

China stores which sell considerable quantities of fine English china, report that sales have kept as high as last year. And they didn't suffer the drop in business in 1949 other merchants selling to tourists experienced.

One china shop owner said business seemed to be developing more slowly but he was confident that by the end of the summer, sales will equal last year's. This shop found that the tourists were quite "choosey".

The manager of one large department store said he had expected less business than he has been getting this year, but it was still lower than last year's.

He reported some Americans were doing some panic buying. They were buying nylon hosiery and sheets which they can easily buy in the United States cheaper than here.

The volume of woollen blankets and linen goods sales was down from 1949. Linens, some of them Chinese linens, can be bought just about as cheaply now in the United States as they can here. Prices of Irish linens have been cut in the United States through recent tariff adjustments.

The proprietor of one dry goods store was not too happy about sales so far this year, but expected they would increase in August when the tourists would begin to travel home.

Jewellery stores have found tourist business trade is very poor. When asked how his sales were this year, one store manager commented shortly, "There aren't any."

People who work downtown say that there are more tourists around this year than last. This was especially true of the first two weeks in July.

Excellent Farce Offered On Summer Theatre's Bill

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

This week the Summer Theatre offers an excellent farce, "Elizabeth Sleeps Out", by the late actor, Leslie Howard. Although the title might suggest otherwise, this farce is entirely without offence, and would indeed be a suitable play for children; it is, in fact, a family play. It is one of those delightful affairs in which cases of mistaken identity, the discomfiture of family lawyers, and the enfranchisement of a middle-aged spinster are mingled in a variety of improbable but very funny situations. It is "escapist" drama, and if you want to escape for a couple of hours from the complexities of everyday life, you should certainly not miss it.

Let us vary the usual procedure by giving first praise to the setting of the play, which is the work of Margaret McDonough. Since the beginning of the season the settings of the summer plays have been excellent in every case, but this week Miss McDonough has succeeded brilliantly in translating the spirit of the farce into canvas and paint. Her evocation of the spirit of the Murray Hill home of the Tweedles deserved a round of applause by itself, and was of incalculable help to the actors in creating the atmosphere of this charming play. The improved lighting also adds greatly to the appearance and practical playing space of the stage.

The principal honours in the farce go to John Primm and Donald Glenn. Farce acting demands a combination of energy with ease, and as an undertaker's assistant and a non-stop merry-maker these two excellent actors were in their best form. They reached their highest point in the second act, when the mistaken identity business was fully explored. This is quite the funniest scene that the Summer Theatre has shown us in two seasons.

Improved Player

Kate Reid was good as the repressed darling of the Tweedle household. As the season progresses she becomes more relaxed and correspondingly better; in any case Miss Reid is to be complimented upon it. As the spinster who bursts her bonds asunder Clarine Jackman played with humour and good attack, and in the less rewarding role of May Tweedle Pat Atkinson was suitably dictatorial and disgruntled.

Every farce contains one character who is the butt of all the others; in "Elizabeth Sleeps Out" this is George Appleway, the family lawyer. Ron Poffenroth dithered amiably, fumed and fretted, was chased about the stage, tied up and shot at with a squirt gun, and all with skill and charm. He is the anvil man upon which the plot is hammered out, and these anvil-roles take good acting.

Special mention must be made of Marjorie Root's performance as an old woman. Young actors and actresses tend to represent age by such tremblings of the members and wobblings of the voice as are observable only in advanced cases of Parkinson's Disease. Miss Root triumphantly showed that a young woman can play an old one without any of this foolishness; she thought like an old woman, and in consequence we had no difficulty in accepting her as an old woman. This was acting with style and finish.

A good word must also be said for Cal Whitehead's performance as the family butler. Too often stage butlers are indistinguishable from cigar store Indians. Mr. Whitehead played Vane as a human being, and added greatly to the value of the play by so doing.

"Elizabeth Sleeps Out" is a first-rate farce, admirably directed and acted. It is much the best laugh of the season.

Making Ready To Start Drain

Curran and Briggs, Toronto, contractors for the Park St. storm drain and the filling of that ditch, have set up a temporary office in the remnant building of the former Scott Lumber Company. They are getting ready to proceed into the main part of the job which is to be finished by fall.

The decision of the council was reluctantly made over the opposition of some of the ratepayers of the south stretch of Park St.

"Any council likes to go along with what the people say they want," Mayor Swanston remarked to the Examiner a few days ago, "but in this case we had to consider the interests of the citizens beyond the group along one street. As the chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board said in this matter 'you can't stand in the way of the progress of the city'.

"Here was a street with a lot of money invested in new houses, but facing them was this open ditch, just as it was 100 years ago. Monaghan township did nothing about it in their day, but we had to, and the decision had to be made. So, there were factors as to appearance and public safety.

"Some of the bus drivers, apart from other motorists, have told me they used to be afraid of driving through the mist that hung over part of the road as the hot water from Ovaltine factory gives off vapor that condenses in the chilly air.

"It was one of these cases in which you have to take a stand believing that you are right, especially after the council assumed three-quarters of the cost of the work. When it is finished and they have sidewalks on Park St. south, and more guarantee of safety for everybody, I'm sure the people owning property on the street will approve it then."

4th Anti-Tank Battery Plans Re-union

Later this summer as many as 130 ex-members of the 4th Anti-Tank Battery are expected to meet in Peterborough for a re-union.

Already the 4th Battery Association has been formed, headed by Harry Carter, president, Edward Wood, secretary-treasurer —both of Peterborough—and an executive of seven members.

The 4th Anti-Tank Battery was the first unit to be mobilized in Peterborough during the Second World War. That was early in June, 1940.

After leaving Peterborough the Battery was stationed for some time at Lindsay and then at Debert camp. It fought with the 3rd Division right from the landing in Normandy on D-Day to VE-Day.

On August 13 there will be a general meeting at the Canadian Legion to discuss details of a re-union dance and banquet. Invitations have been sent out to about 130 former members of the Battery who live in this part of southern Ontario. (The area is roughly from Ottawa to Toronto.)

Already about 85 have joined the Association and prospective new members are being approached daily. Altogether about 400 men passed through the unit from the date of mobilization to discharge.

WRONG CHARGE

It was reported in error that Hugh Imming, 30, of Toronto, was remanded Monday on a charge of fraud in connection with the $100,000 swindle of a Toronto finance company. Imming is charged with being an accessory after the fact, and with making false statements under the Highway Traffic Act. He was remanded to August 21 by Magistrate E. A. Gee on bail of $3,000.

EXCAVATION COMPLETED

Excavation for the basement of the new city hall was completed on Monday evening.

Deplores Fact No Memorial To David Fife

Rev. J. Gordon Jones, minister of First Baptist Church, Calgary, motored into the Fife section of Otonabee today, on his vacation trip to Ottawa and Montreal.

He is a descendant of the old Walton family of Smith township whose farm and home were on the second concession.

"My great great grandfather was the first person to join Gilmour Memorial Church on the Chemong Road," Rev. Mr. Jones mentioned to the Examiner. Mr. Jones was senior chaplain of the 1st Canadian Division in the Second World War.

"Rev. George Gilmour preached the morning sermon at the centenary of the Church some years ago, and I preached in the evening. Many of our church people in Calgary are naturally greatly interested in wheat, and I thought I would try to get as much as possible of the story of David Fife, the Otonabee Scotsman who gave us Red Fife spring wheat."

Rev. Mr. Jones was told there was no cairn or other form of monument to indicate the Fife neighborhood.

"That's too bad. It seems to me we have a lot of monuments in this country to men who deserved them less than David Fife. I have become more interested in this subject, and I am hoping to get some pictures and also material for an address and our part of Alberta is going to hear more about this Otonabee man."

The old Walton farm is now occupied by Clarence Hancock.

Nashua Lawn Beauty Spot

The beauty spot of the new south end of the city, Nashua Paper Company's lawn, has regained most of its spring greenness as a result of copious watering. There were days when the groundsman had four or five lines of garden hose at work. The weather of late has co-operated in the making of new verdure, and with all that moisture Nashua has now a grand spread of grass. It is located at Monaghan Road and Braidwood Ave.

Eventually when changes and improvements are completed on Monaghan Road, its older and familiar aspects will be only a memory. The appearance will begin to change at Lansdowne St., and the most imposing alteration in the landscape will be the proposed Collegiate Institute which is bound to be built some time, and possibly within the next two years.

The Nashua lawn is a comparatively new creation as compared with other industrial grounds in the city. Several of the busmen who drive that section of the city are inclined to give top lawn honors to the De Laval sward with difficulty in separating it from A. Wander Limited, the Ovaltine place.

Modelling Statue of Youth To Adorn Top of Fountain

There is a 75-pound boy only one week old at a place on Water St., N., and he has feet of clay. In fact, the whole thing is of best quality modelling clay, a 36-inch model of a youngster fishing which will some day adorn the top of a new fountain in Victoria Park.

Its creator, potter-sculptor, J. H. Riedel, has been working on this masterpiece for several days. His son John, the patient model, has already spent many hours on the stand while his father shapes his likeness. On Monday the model had taken sufficient form to enable one to make out the general outline of masses. It is now in the process of being smoothed out starting with the facial features.

The idea was the brainchild of F. M. delaFosse who lives across from the park. He was disturbed by the ugly non-working monstrosity of a Victorian fountain in front of his door. He wrote letters to the editor of the Examiner. The editor wrote editorials and the city fathers set wheels of thought in motion.

Started A Year Ago

The controversy all started a year ago when citizens of loyal British stock thought the city should purchase a large statue of Queen Victoria which the Republic of Eire had removed from Munster Square in Dublin to the obscurity of some warehouse. It was offered for the cost of transportation, which was considerable.

London, Ont., citizens who claimed more zealous loyalty than Peterborough, jumped on the bidding bandwagon and the two cities threw thousands of printed words at each other. Each cooled at the cold reality of cost. It is presumed that London withdrew from the battle of the arts. But not Peterborough. Springing a short few generations from pioneer stock, the citizens stood their ground stubbornly for some suitable decoration for the city's most beautiful park.

Since the community is the fishingest spot in Canada, the City Council approved of spending a modest sum for some suitable design, say, of a small boy with a fishing pole, to adorn the column. Alderman Dr. Herbert Young's son-in-law, Stafford Collie, a New York art student, submitted several designs and the fishing boy was chosen.

Parks Superintendent Armar Butcher was called into the picture to have his men dismantle the old eyesore and make way for a suitable fountain. This has been completed, Nature Boy is being moulded and in a month or two Mayor Max Swanston will be called upon to turn a tap to put the fountain in operation. Peterborough can then claim to have the first and only fishing boy fountain in Canada. It has been a long struggle.

Davies To Speak To Toronto Club

Representing smaller communities outside the orbit of Toronto, members of Peterborough city council, Robertson Davies and H. L. Garner of The Examiner, will be guests at the annual Civic Holiday dinner of the Toronto Downtown Kiwanis club.

The dinner will be held Wednesday at noon in the Royal York Hotel. Mr. Davies will be guest speaker and has chosen as his subject, "Why Live in Toronto?"

Normal procedure for the Toronto club is to extend invitations to members of Toronto's city council, but this year they have chosen Peterborough as representative of smaller cities outside Toronto.

From city council, Aldermen James Gillespie, P. J. Anglesey, J. A. Dewart, and Mayor M. J. Swanston will attend.

Eleven Homes Sold Before Completion

Eleven of the brick houses that are being built by Don Ephgrave east of Monaghan Road and south of Cameron St. have already been sold.

Six of them are of solid brick construction, and the rest are of brick veneer. They range in size from four to six rooms and are priced at $6,500 to $8,500. They are of stout and attractive type, and their interiors are laid out and finished in the modern provision of domestic convenience.

Approximate value of the subdivision is around $150,000. Some of the Ephgrave house are on the east side of Monaghan Road, south of Cameron St. The others are on Spruce St. which extends south from Cameron to Riverside Drive.

Mr. Ephgrave said he expects the subdivision to be completed by November. Water main and connections for the area have been approved by the Utilities Commission, and it is expected that this necessary work will be done in August. The property was once part of the old Crawford place, after which Crawford's Grove, down stream on the river, was named.

Stenner-Booth Wedding In Haultain Church

Eden United Church, Haultain, provided the setting Saturday for the wedding of Susan Martha Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Booth of Haultain, and Douglas Andrew Stenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perce Stenner of Paudash. The Rev. Cleveland Robb and the Rev. W. H. Tongue officiated and Miss Isabel Reid played the wedding music. Mrs. Stan Northey was the soloist. The church was decorated with flowers and ribbons.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown trimmed with lace. Her finger-tip veil of white net was caught with a lace headdress and she carried a bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Lona Marthin. She wore a yellow taffeta gown. Her yellow veil was caught with white flowers and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Jack Booth was groomsman and Mr. George Booth was usher.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother received in a navy blue flowered silk gown, navy blue hat and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a navy blue sheer gown, white hat and a corsage of white roses.

Later, the bride and groom left for a trip to Buffalo. For travelling, the bride chose a pink sheer dress with white accessories.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Stenner will reside at 270 Reid St., Peterborough.

Marguerite Todd Weds S.W. Parsons

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Knox United Church recently by the Rev. H. G. Douglas when Marguerite, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Todd of Lakefield, became the bride of Sidney Wilfred Parsons, son of Mrs. C. Hilker and the late Mr. R. Parsons of Hespeler, Ont.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an afternoon dress of ice blue lace over taffeta with a blue hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Betty Reynolds was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of yellow lace over taffeta with a picture hat of yellow lace straw and a corsage of blue cornflowers.

Mr. Wally Harrison was groomsman.

Areception was held after the ceremony at Bill's Place, No. 7 Highway. The bride's mother received in a navy sheer gown, white accessories and a corsage of mixed summer flowers. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a navy crepe gown, white accessories and a corsage of mixed summer flowers.

For the motor trip to the Thousand Islands, the bride chose a printed nylon dress of mauve and white, white accessories and a corsage of white sweet peas.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will reside at 543 Sherbrooke St., Peterborough.

James-Steinke Vows Taken In Knox United Church

Ferns and gladioli provided the setting in Knox United Church for the marriage of Joyce Ernestine, daughter of Mr. Herbert Steinke and the late Mrs. Steinke of Ottawa, and Morley Ronald William James, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley James of Peterborough. The Rev. H. G. Douglas officiated and the wedding music was played by Mr. Adam Hawley. Before the ceremony, Mrs. Norman Hughes sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Michael Bertrand of Ottawa, owing to the illness of the bride's father who was unable to attend the wedding. She wore a gown made and designed by the groom's mother of white slipper satin and a nylon lace yoke covered with satin buttons from neck to waist. The full skirt was gathered into a slim waist where a long train fell from the back. The gown had alacon lace set in to form panels down the front and continued around the bottom of the gown and train. Her fingertip veil had set in slipper satin baskets on the shoulders and back. She carried a ring bouquet of orchid gladioli and sweet peas falling in streamers.

The maid of honor was Mrs. M Bertrand of Ottawa, sister of the bride. She wore a green sea taffeta gown with picture hat of Bemberg net to match, and carried a ring bouquet of gladioli. Miss Rita Delarme and Miss Dorothy James, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. They wore yellow taffeta gowns, picture hats of Bemberg lace to match and carried ring bouquets of gladioli. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Margaret James, sister of the groom, who was gowned in pink taffeta styled with princess lines, and a peter pan collar. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a ring bouquet of gladioli. All the gowns were designed and made by the groom's mother.

The groomsman was Mr. Robert James, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Michael Drum and Mr. Robert Currie, all of Peterborough.

The reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where the groom's mother received in a gown of grey delight crepe with a navy picture hat, matching accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Later the bride and groom left on an extended motor trip to the Thousand Islands and points in the United States. For travelling, the bride chose a turquoise gabardine suit, black picture hat, black accessories and a corsage of pink tea roses and sweet peas.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. James will reside at 53 Park St. S. Peterborough.

Joan Luella Collins Weds Robert Richard Moscrop

The marriage of Joan Luella, daughter of Mrs. Luella Collins and the late Mr. Arthur Collins, and Robert Richard Moscrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. rAthur Moscrop, was solemnized in St. Peter's rectory, on Saturday. The Rev. J. J. Garvey officiated at the wedding ceremony.

The bride wore an original gown of imported chantilly lace and silk net over slipper satin, fashioned on torso lines, a scalloped appliqued neckline and a flounce of silk net swept from the knees falling into a soft train. Tiny self covered buttons extended to a bustle back and long sleeves of lace formed points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil was caught with a Juliet cap of chantilly lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Dorine Wells was bridesmaid. She wore a hyacinth blue taffeta gown with fitted bodice, cap sleeves, voluminous skirt, a sash of pink chiffon velvet and matching mittens. Her headdress was a Dutch cap of taffeta and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink gladioli.

The groomsman was Mr. Douglas Moscrop, brother of the groom.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in a gown of grey silk mesh over taffeta, a picture hat of grey straw and a corsage of American beauty roses. The groom's mother also received. She wore a navy sheer crepe gown, a white straw hat with navy quill and a corsage of American beauty roses.

For a trip to Algonquin Park and Niagara Falls, the bride chose a navy sheer crepe dress with navy bolero jacket styled with a madarin neckline, matching white straw hat, navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Moscrop will reside at 543 Elm St., Peterborough.

IT'S NOT RAINING . . . BUT—A shower of compliments greet modelovelies Carmen Lister (left) and Pego Macnaughton when they don these gorgeous coats. Carmen's is a beautifully styled natural grey persian lamb jacket featuring detailed sleeves, deep wide cuffs, soft flowing back fullness and tiny collar. Pego's sheared Canadian otter is simply cut on long lines and honey-colored toned where furs break. No wonder they both look bemused.

McArthur-Arnold Vows in Toronto

The marriage of Marion Arnold, a former employee of the Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Arnold, Brookln, Ont., to Charles A. McArthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McArthur, Toronto, was solemnized at the residence of the Rev. J. S. Ferguson, Toronto, on Saturday.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a pink nylon marquisette street-length gown crusted with white forget-me-nots, a picture hat of white tulle and lace, white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Clarkson Arnold was bridesmaid and wore a street-length blue nylon marquisette gown, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Ernest Gueran.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home where the bride's mother received in a blue flowered silk gown, a navy straw hat and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a navy suit, sunshine yellow hat and a corsage of talisman roses. Friends of the bride who help serve at the reception were Mrs. A. C. Ferguson, Mrs. A. Clarke, Miss Marnie Smith and Miss Daisy Graham. Miss Mary Ellen Law, cousin of the bride, sang and played the piano accordion at the reception.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Manitoulin Island. For travelling, the bride chose a rose coral gabardine suit, white hat and gloves and snakeskin shoes and bag.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. McArthur will reside at 31 Scott Rd., Toronto.

Mark Brennan Marries Gloria E. Robbins

The double ring wedding ceremony of Gloria Esther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robbins and Mark Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brennan, Greenock, Scotland, was solemnized in Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Saturday. The Rev. G. F. Sullivan officiated.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white sher over satin, single strand of pearls, lace mittens and white shoes. Her finger-tip veil of white illusion was caught with a cornet of matching flowers and she carried a nosegay of briarcliffe roses and bovardia. Miss Ann Leahy was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of blush pink over satin, a matching cornet of flowers, lace mittens and carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations and gypsophalia.

Mr. Gordon Paulenchuck of Oshawa was groomsman.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, 436 George St. The bride's mother received in printed crepe sheer gown, green accessories and a corsage of carnations. A friend of the groom also received in a blue and white crepe gown, white hat and a corsage of rapture roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Northern Ontario. For travelling, the bride wore a navy blue sheer dress, shorty coat of white Australian wool and white accessories.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Brennan will live in Montreal.

Gladys M. Eady Becomes Wife Of V. D. Green

A pretty wedding took place in St. Agnes' Anglican Church, Long Branch, on July 22, when Gladys Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Eady, was married to Vernon Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Green, of Marmora.

The Rev. E. A. Slemin, of Bala, Ont., who, as a former pastor, had christened the bride, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Jack Eady was at the organ and Mr. Norman Nuttall sang "Thine Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin with train and bodice of French lace. Her full-length veil of nylon net edged with French lace was held in place with a tiara of rhinestones and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and stephanosis.

Attending the bride were her four sisters: Wyn Robertson as matron of honor, wore pink nylon sheer over blue taffeta with picture hat of pink mohair and carried a cascade of white and pink carnations. The bridesmaids were Ida Lambert, Alcie Nuttall and Dorothy Eaton and were gowned in blue sheer over pink taffeta with picture hats of blue mohair and they carried cascades of pink carnations and blue cornflowers.

Lynda Eady, niece of the bride, in a junior gown and hat similar to the bridesmaids, and carrying a nosegay of carnations, was flower girl.

Mr. Maxwell Green was groomsman and the ushers were Ralph Green, Gordon Eady and Ivan Eaton.

Receiving the guests at Lynn Arms, Mimico, were the bride's mother, wearing grey lace with navy accessories, the groom's mother, wearing navy sheer with white accessories, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Theo Reid, in grey crepe with black accessories. All three wore corsages of carnations and roses.

For their wedding trip to Ottawa and Crow Lake the bride wore a white gabardine suit and white hat with navy accessories. Their new home is in Long Branch.

Guests were present from Marmora, Bala, Deloro, Campbellford, Stirling, Bonarlaw, Port Hope and Georgetown.

MISS VELMA JONES was the bride of Andrew Paul Wilson on Saturday. The marriage ceremony in St. George's Church was conducted by Archdeacon C. W. Balfour. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Paul Wilson. —(Parks' Studio Photo)

Velma Jones and Paul Wilson Wed at St. George's Church

At St. George's Anglican Church on Saturday Miss Velma Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones, was married to Mr. Andrew Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Paul Wilson. Archdeacon C. W. Balfour officiated.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with a net yoke. A peter pan collar and shoulder line cuff were embroidered with pearls

Her finger length veil was held by a net headdress and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Iris Wilson, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a pink taffeta gown and net headdress.

Mr. Amos Jones, brother of the bride, was groomsman and Mr. Kenneth Walker and Everett MacDonald were ushers.

A buffet supper at the home of the bride followed the ceremony.

What's Right?

When double-dating the others start to kid you because you do not drink.

WRONG: Let them goad you into being "a good sport" and taking a drink, even though you know how much your parents would disapprove.

RIGHT: Take their kidding good-naturedly — but stick by your own decision.

DOROTHY DIX

Look For These Points When Choosing A Mate

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a young couple planning to be married and would like to know just what should be taken into consideration before and after marriage. How long should the engagement period be?

MISS

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think six months is the ideal length for an engagement because that gives a man and woman enough time in which to become acquainted and get each other's numbers, so to speak, without being long enough for them to get tired of each other and to wear off all the gilt of romance on their gingerbread.

Dorothy Dix

The things that should be taken into consideration before marriage are: First, the character of the individual you are marrying. Is he or she moral, upright, honest, trustworthy? Has he or she a strong sense of duty? What sort of disposition has he or she? Is he or she lazy, high-tempered, slovenly, selfish, hard to get along with?

Physical Requirements

Next, consider the health of the one you marry. If sickness comes to a husband or wife after marriage, their mates should do all in their power to comfort and cherish them, but it is folly to deny that an invalid wife or husband is a handicap in marriage.

Choose a husband or wife with the same social status as yourself and with about the same amount of education and intelligence. Husbands and wives look best to each other when they are on a level, not when one looks up and the other looks down on their mates.

But the most important thing of all to consider before marriage is the subject of congeniality. Find out whether you like the same things. Have you the same religion? Do you belong to the same political party? Do you order the same dishes when you go to a restaurant? Do you enjoy the same plays, the same music, the same books, the same people? Do you like the same games?

If you do, your marriage will be successful. If you differ on everything from politics to pie, you will fight from the altar to the grave. The whole of the law and the prophets of how to be happy though married consists in congeniality.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Our club has been discussing the case of an attractive young woman who has just married a middle-aged man when she might have had the choice of so many handsome young men. Do you think this girl will tire of the husband who is so much older than she is as soon as the glamour of capturing a sophisticated man of the world has worn off, and will she not then yearn for a husband of her own age?

GANG OF CONSTANT READERS

ANSWER—The matter of age is, of course, a very important consideration in marriage, yet it does not depend upon calendar age, but spiritual age, mental age. If a girl is frivilous in disposition; if she wants to live in a wild whirl of gayety, forever going places and doing things, then she should marry not only a boy of her own age but one who is as fond of fun and dancing as she is.

A girl of this type is miserable married to a middle-aged man and she is equally miserable if she is married to a man of her own age who is of a sober, serious disposition and who wants to sit by his fireside of an evening instead of stepping out to a night club.

But there are plenty of girls who even in their teens are mature in tastes and thoughts. There are plenty of girls who are interested in worth-while things of life and who would far rather spend an evening in listening to an intelligent man talk than in dancing. Plenty of girls are domestic in their tastes and would be content to stay put in their own homes and never go to another ball. These girls are perfectly safe in marrying men who are much older than themselves.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — We find life almost too monotonous to bear. Young men are boring. Movies all alike. Bridge games stupid. Can you give us some advice on what to do?

FOUR BORED GIRLS.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER—We get out of life nothing but what we put into it, and if you do not put any interest, any enthusiasm, any sportsmanship into anything you do, you are bound to get boredom out of it. If you find trying to amuse yourself so wearisome and dull, why don't you try work for a change?

Girl May Be Heir Of Dead Pen Pal

JOHANNESBURG—(CP)—Miss Jean Botha, of Oudtshoorn, South Africa, is heiress to £10,000 ($31,000) from a man she has never seen—unless somebody is hoaxing her.

She corresponded with a Mr. R. McCormick, of Eiffel Flats, Southern Rhodesia, through a pen friend club, and they were to have met at Oudtshoorn on June 30.

Somebody telegraphed Mr. McCormick had died of snakebite on May 10, and later wrote that the body was being sent to London for burial and that the writer understood that McCormick had left Miss Botha £10,000.

Miss Botha, who works in a cafe and as a shop assistant, dislikes publicity and says that she has made no plans concerning the supposed inheritance.

She understands that correspondence is passing between Oudtshoorn and London with regard to the matter.

Princess Films Baby Charles

LONDON—(CP)—A homecoming surprise planned by Princess Elizabeth awaits the Duke of Edinburgh on his return from Malta.

The Duke will see a 10-minute film of his son's first walking attempts, taken by the Princess.

The 19-month-old Prince Charles reveals on the screen a grave air of self-importance his mother finds engaging.

Most of the shots were taken in the gardens of Clarence House, the royal couple's London home.

The Princess took a course of instruction in the use of her camera to ensure good results.

Soiled Traveller Negotiates Perilous Roadside Showers

By JACK SCOTT

DAUPHIN, Manitoba — Never mind the better mouse-trap, boys. If you want a real path beaten to your door I suggest you build a better shower.

Now, I am a bath man myself. The shower, as I see it, is a heathen instrument at best, offering none of the contemplation and utter relaxation of the horizontal tub. But for those of us out here on the bathless highways, plaintively looking for a home away from home and finding only the same old motor courts, the shower is a grim necessity.

I have thus been in a position to study the various types of shower baths and the various devilish devices affixed to same.

Indeed the traveller must give some close attention to the apparatus or risk being scalded alive.

Not all showers are necessarily dangerous. Right here in Dauphin we are using a little gem of engineering that wouldn't harm a fly.

I classify it under the Dribble, or Bloop-Bleep category. This type of shower makes a growling, sputtering noise, as if it were a terrible agony to give out a little moisture. Each precious drop falls reluctantly, one pearl at a time. Nobody ever got hurt with a shower of this type. Nobody ever got very clean, either.

Still, the Bloop-Bleep is a relief after the Swift Changing type shower we had in Regina. This is the kind of shower that can't make up its mind. Both hands must be kept firmly at all times on the controls or the spray will switch suddenly from lukewarm to live stream. This can be aggravating or even fatal.

A word of warning on this type: The handle marked "Cold" may be the one which controls the hot water, or at least it is in the second shower from the end at a certain Calgary auto court.

Some Perils

I have heard it suggested that one reason for the frightful condition of auto camp showers may be due to the fact that the proprietors of these establishments are anxious to discourage bathers. One of the gentry went so far as to confide that he reckons a 10-cent loss on each and every shower.

This could easily explain some of the fiendish and subtle discouragements offered to the soiled wayfarer. In the first place, he frequently finds the shower to be located in a mildewing oblong cabinet with the chill dampness of an underground cave or grotto. To disrobe invites an immediate case of double pneumonia.

If the bather persists in going through with his mad project he must first accustom his bare feet to a concrete floor the temperature of an ice floe. He will note, too, the single hook for his clothes, cleverly placed just within the orbit of the spray.

Now comes the agonizing period devoted to the hopeless task of getting the right blend of hot and cold.

The controls, of course, are so situated that some parts of the body are exposed to the first blast of very cold or very hot (it is always one or the other). This becomes particularly irksome if the shower happens to be the rare "needle-spray" type in which real needles are used.

The adjustments having been made, the bather then makes the discovery that there is no tray for his bar of soap.

I have let to find a way to beat this. A bar of soap will simply not stay put under the arm or held between the knees. It will slip out and fall to the floor and nine times out of ten the floor will be a sort of lattice-work arrangement of boards through which the soap will find its way.

Thus the shower is able to get its victim down on his knees, hands beyond reach of the taps, and in a perfect position for a quick change of temperature.

Mob Scene

The position of the nozzle, itself, indicates some considerable thought and these generally come in two general types.

One type, constructed for either children or midgets, throws a spray which strikes you just below the chest so that the user must do his washing in a half crouch. The other cascades down the side of the wall forcing the user to press himself up against the barricade. One must sacrifice all dignity in the auto camp shower.

Probably the most frightening example of all was a little number I got wedged into in Medicine Hat. I was congratulating myself on having found, at last, the perfect shower. Fine steady flow of water. Temperature just right.

Then I realized that the water was beginning to creep up above my ankles and that the drain—if, indeed, there was one—was plugged. Death by drowning in a shower loomed suddenly as a distinct possibility.

Another peculiar thing about showers (particularly one booth operations) is that everybody seems to want to use them at the same time.

I have lain in wait, peering furtively through the trailer's curtain with my eye on the shower room door until there is no sign of life within a hundred miles, then scurried across the camp ground only to find myself seventh man in a queue.

Oh, well, let them lead the way. They'll take all the hot water, but at least I'll know the place is free of booby traps.

Canadian Gets Fashion Nod At Palace Garden Party

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON — (CP) — Fashion bouquets at this year's Buckingham Palace garden party went to overseas guests.

Newspapers picked Dominion visitors as wearing the most eye-catching styles. Freda Northrop of Canada, in a yellow dress edged with white pique, introduced cotton to garden party styles.

She was singled out by the Daily Graphic as a "fashion pioneer."

Pat Perkins of Sydney, Australia, wore a lacy black picture hat, black gloves, and a yellow taffeta dress edged with lace, on the large hip pockets, the tiny puff sleeves and the low round neck.

Another Australian, Margaret Croker, wore what was described as the cheapest hat ever worn at the garden party, and one of the prettiest. It was a small, pale blue grosgrain cloche which cost £1 ($3.10).

Elegant Frock

A French guest chose an elegant silver-grey lace dress with fan-tail of pleated lace cascading down one side, worn with a huge picture hat.

The longest dresses were ankle length, in lace, georgette and organdie, worn mostly by older women. The younger set favored long calf-lengths, in everything from froths of candy-striped muslin to severely-tailored dove-grey grosgrain.

Queen's Costume

The Queen wore rose pink printed chiffon with cross-over neckline and straight skirt. A long panelled cape flowed from the shoulders, almost to the ankles, and a stiffened pink tulle hat swept sideways in gigantic "mothwings."

Princess Margaret wore a rainbow organdie skirt with short, ice-blue silk jacket, and a huge halo picture hat with transparent brim.

Parasols are again becoming garden-party style. In place of big picture hats they give glamor without trouble in a high wind, and are as frothy and fluffy as they were in grandmother's day.

The Queen carried a white parasol with dark lining and long dark handle.

HORSELESS CARRIAGE

Cugnot, a Frenchman, is credited with building the first horseless carriage. It was propelled by steam at 2 m.p.h.

6—In Memoriams

ATCHESON—In loving memory of Ileen Atcheson, who passed away August 1, one year ago.
We loved her, yes we loved her.
But Jesus loved her more,
So He gently called her
To yonder shining shore.
The pearly gates of heaven were open,
And a gentle Voice said come.
And with farewells unspaken,
She calmly entered home.
—Ever remembered by Janet and Fred Christmas.

CONROY—In loving memory of Mrs. Alex Conroy, who passed away five years ago today.
We mourn for her in silence,
No eyes can see us weep.
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
—Ever lovingly remembered by husband Alex and family

YORK—In memory of Private Wilfred H. York, who was killed in action in Caen, France, Aug. 1, 1944.
Every memory is a keepsake,
With which I will never part.
God has him in His keeping,
I have him in my heart.
—Ever remembered by Mother, Margaret and babies.

STOPPED BY BULLETS, John Kicak, 33, is held up by two detectives, Alfred Fredenburg, left, and James Byron, right. Kicak broke away from Syracuse police four times before they stopped him with two bullets and a flying tackle. He was being sought in connection with a $160 robbery at a dairy company. Taken to hospital, Kicak was reported in a critical condition from the bullet wounds in his abdomen.

Forecasts More Unemployment As Summer Ends

Unemployment insurance claims in the Peterborough area totalled 1,039 during July, a rise of 34 over the figure for June, William Mellis, manager of the National Employment office said today. Claims in May totalled 1,001, in April 1,120 and in March 1,628.

Mr. Mellis forecasts a rise in unemployment insurance claims in the next few months as the fall and winter weather approaches.

Men looking for employment in the Peterborough area numbered 403 in July, compared with 535 in June. Women seeking employment totalled 317, compared with 366 in June.

Vacancies available throughout the city rose slightly in the men's department but decreased by more than half in the women's. Vacancies for men in July were 135 and for women 17. June's figures were: male, 101; female, 43.

Claimants calling at the local office for their insurance funds totalled 360 men and 573 women. Postal claims were sent to 65 men and 41 women during the month for a total of 1,039 on both types of claim at the local office.

On Short Week

These claimants included a total of 506 men and women drawing money on the short-time claim basis. These are people who are only working for two or three days a week or working on the weekly alternative system. Short-time claims were paid to 143 men and 363 women in July, compared with 110 men and 293 women in June.

A few job opportunities became available in factories and in construction work during July, said Mr. Mellis. Although there are some farm openings, local men are still looking for other forms of work. A few local men who are on holidays, receiving pay for only one week, have taken employment on farms in the district for the other week of their holidays.

Sixty-seven western farmers have been helping in the Peterborough area with the harvest. Several have started to return to the west. Most of them will begin to return about August 15. Eight Newfoundlanders accepted farm labor in this area this summer.

Wants Police Withdrawn Now

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—Mayor Harold Cleave Monday night instructed the town clerk to request that the Ontario Provincial Police detachment here be withdrawn "now".

His action came at a council meeting called to consider a letter from W. H. Stringer, OPP commissioner, who said "unwarranted criticisms" made it necessary to withdraw the provincials Dec. 31.

Council discussed the matter but took no vote. Then Mayor Cleave, who said "that man in Toronto (Commissioner Stringer) knows what it's all about," gave his "withdraw now" instructions. He did not elaborate on the matter; nor has Commissioner Stringer gone into detail about the "unwarranted criticism".

Reeve W. Marshall, police chief here until the provincials took over in 1947, said "this is all a mistake".

Another councillor said he understood the squabble had to do with the provincial officers' alleged failure to enforce local by-laws.

Appoint Rudy Pilous Manager Of Tee Pees

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 1 — (CP)—Rudy Pilous, 35, whose varied hockey career has stretched from his native Winnipeg into three countries, today was named general manager of St. Catharines Tee Pees, Junior A entry in the Ontario Hockey Association.

Pilous comes from Buffalo in the American Hockey League where he was chief scout and had managed and coached Buffalo arm clubs. Buffalo sponsorship of the Tee Pees was announced last week.

He played junior with the Winnipeg Monarchs, senior with Selkirk, Man., and Nelson, B.C. He then went to England for a season and in 1937 was with New York Rovers in the Eastern United States League. In 1943 he helped organize the first junior hockey club in St. Catharines, later going to Buffalo.

Cote Pays Tribute To Labor Minister

VERDUN, Que., Aug. 1 (CP).—P. E. Cote, parliamentary assistant to the late Labor Minister Mitchell, today paid tribute to the Minister as "one of the most ardent defenders" of the world of labor.

Mr. Cote, Liberal member of the Commons for Montreal Verdun Lasalle, spoke of Mr. Mitchell as one whose work contributed powerfully to making Canada in wartime one of the chief suppliers of the allied forces.

"In these last years, he was particularly consecrated to the maintenance and development of good relations and a spirit of collaboration between workers and employers."

A New Army!

LIVERPOOL, England, Aug. 1—(CP)—Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck sails for Canada tonight with the smallest "army" he has ever commanded—50 teen-aged British boys.

More Children Use Playgrounds

Average weekly attendance at the city's playgrounds during July was 805 children higher than last year, Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said today. This year the average attendance each week was 6,916, compared with 6,111 last year.

Total attendance on the playgrounds this year for the four weeks of July was 27,664. By weeks the attendance was 8,547, 6,306, 6,199, and 6,612.

This week is Pet Week. Children on most of the playgrounds Wednesday will be showing their favorite pets before the judges for theatre passes. Mr. Sinclair expects a wide variety of pets such as dogs, cats, goldfish and chickens.

The beginners' swimming class at Inverlea beach is thriving, said Mr. Sinclair. More than 110 children who are unable to swim are registered in the daily class under the three instructors. Twelve are taking the life saving course while the junior, intermediate and senior Red Cross classes are small. No report has been received as yet from the registration of swimmers at Hamilton park.

Lumberjacks Fight Fire

CAMPBELL RIVER, B. C., Aug. 1 (CP).—Some 250 lumberjacks today were fighting a raging forest fire about 15 miles northwest of this northern Vancouver Island town. It was the first major outbreak on Vancouver Island this year. Cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

Farmers Plan Conference In Fredericton

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP)—Representatives of some 400,000 Canadian farmers will meet in Fredericton Sept. 11 to discuss, among other things, the question of wartime controls and how Canadian agriculture can work under them.

The meeting will mark the semi-annual gathering of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture board of directors. It is expected the meeting will last about a week.

The sessions will be open to the public for one day and the CFA said today in a statement that plans are being made to call prominent Canadian farm leaders to discuss "important problems affecting agriculture."

The federation recalled that on the question of controls H. H. Hannam, CFA president, already hag stated that if such economic controls once again became necessary they should be imposed immediately the emergency arose and not two years later as was done in the second world war.

Mr. Hannam also proposed that a commission should be set up by the government to study the need for controls "and recommend the proper balance for the national economy between various economic groups."

In this way, when controls are reimposed, "the unbalance which developed in the last emergency before full-time controls were imposed, would not arise again."

The CFA said the Fredericton meeting also likely will survey the "whole situation with respect to agriculture and marketing in the light of what has transpired since the federation's annual meeting at Niagara Falls."

Receiving attention will be proposals for setting up of marketing boards for various farm products and the development of marketing schemes which already had received "considerable airing" at the National Marketing Conference held in Ottawa last March.

Gasoline Truck Driver Burned

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—William Wakeling, 26, was critically burned today when a gasoline tank truck turned over and burst into flames at a Canadian National Railways' level crossing on No. 7 highway, near Elginfield, 12 miles north of here.

Wakeling, driving the truck, was rushed to hospital here with gasoline burns to his head, arms and upper body. His condition was described as "critical."

Police said that as Wakeling approached the crossing he saw a Diesel train coming. He applied the truck brakes but they didn't hold. The truck and gas trailer went into a ditch. The trailer jack-knifed and rolled over. The cab of the truck went onto the railway right of way just as the train passed.

As Wakeling leaped from the cab a series of seven gasoline explosions ripped the area, and were followed by a fire which sent flames as high as 100 feet into the air.

Several hydro poles were burned and Hydro Electric Power Commission officials said the power supply from Elginfield to Grand Bend on Lake Huron was cut. Power supply had only been restored late Monday night after a severe electrical and rain storm.

Engineer of the locomotive was A. Jackson of Sarnia. The conductor was W. Urquhart, also of Sarnia.

US Forces Get A Thrill Beat Back Reds Near Taegu

By HAL BOYLE.

WITH U.S. TROOPS OUTSIDE KOCHANG, South Korea, Aug. 1 (AP).—American forces beat back a North Korean thrust toward the rail and road centre of Taegu today.

South Korean soldiers fighting alongside the Americans then chased the invaders back into the hills.

The attack appeared to be the spearhead of an enemy force of division size or larger probing American defence lines for an all-out drive toward Taegu. It is one of the two Communist columns seeking to sweep in from the west and envelop the bulk of United Nations troops before they can grow too powerful.

The blunted Red attack moving eastward from the Kochang area along the road to Taegu was a relatively small-size enlargement.

Get a Thrill

But the fact it was halted in its tracks and thrown back sent a thrill of pride through the 24th American division which previously had been forced to make a series of nine straight withdrawals.

Describing the attack Col. Richard W. Stephens of Pierre, S. D., said:

"We broke it up with our 60-MM. mortars. They took off through the hills and our Southern Koreans took off right after them.

"Our trouble is we can't run up these hills the way the Koreans do. We aren't used to it.

"They've shot more artillery in this thing than I've seen to date. But we put some artillery on the area where we think they are building up. An observer said a lot of the enemy came running out naked."

Has High Praise

Col. Stephens had high praise for the South Koreans protecting his flanks.

"We have had a tendency to low-rate the fighting ability of the South Koreans," he said. "The more I see of them in action the better I like them. They haven't given ground until we forced them to."

Just before dawn a battlefront mixup caused American machine-gunners to open fire on six or seven trucks full of South Korean police pulling northeast out of Hyopchon. Twenty were killed and between 20 and 30 wounded.

Labor Leaders Pay Tribute To Late Minister

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP) — Percy Bengough president of the 480-000-member Trades and Labor Congress, said today that the death of Labor Minister Mitchell "comes as a great shock to all workers in Canada."

"Humphrey Mitchell's long record of useful and faithful service to Canadian labor is no happen-chance," Mr. Bengough said.

His heredity and environment combined to equip him with the character, ability and experience to serve working people both within their own organizations and as Minister of Labor. He has held his ministerial position with distinction for nine years."

The TLC president added that there were times when the Congress disagreed with Mr. Mitchell, "but those were differences over government policies."

"Humphrey Mitchell never forgot his trade union background and the needs of working people."

The position of Labor Minister, continued Mr. Bengough, was not an easy one. It was the "most exacting post in the government." Problems of the department touched on the lives of millions of people and they acquire an importanee in their economic and social influences far greater than that of any other department."

"Humphrey Mitchell," said Mr. Bengough, "measured up and more to these great responsibilities. His passing is a great loss to us all."

Mosher's Tribute

A. R. Mosher, president of the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, today expressed "deepest regrets" in the death of Labor Minister Mitchell.

"The news this morning of the untimely death of Mr Humphrey Mitchell came as a great shock," he said in a statement.

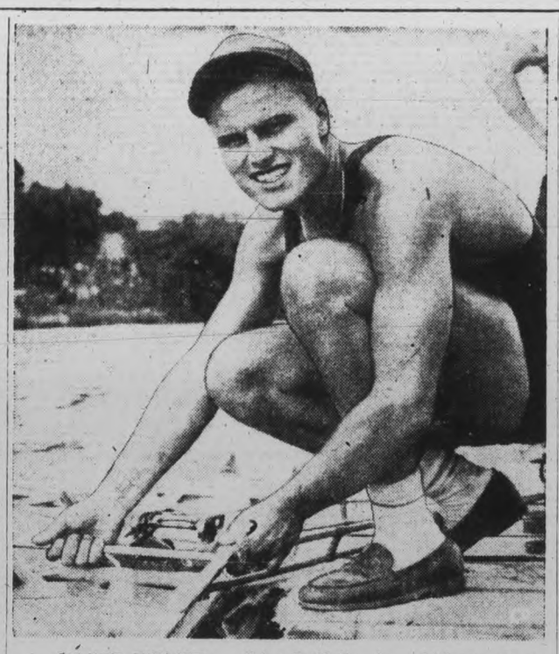
"I knew for some months that he had not been in good health but it did not occur to me that his condition was so serious.

"On behalf of the CCL and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers and myself, personally I wish to express deepest regrets and convey to the bereaved family sincere sympathy.

"J. E. McGuire, executive committee member of the Congress and national secretary-treasurer of the brotherhood, joins with me in this public expression of sorrow and sympathy."

MONTREAL, Aug. 1 (CP) — Donald Gordon, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways today said:

"It is with deep regret that I have learned of the untimely death of the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell. His rugged and vivid personality will be sadly missed by all who knew him during his long period of responsibile and difficult public service, and his homely wisdom will be hard to replace."



SENIOR TITLIST — John B. Kelly, Jr., of Vesper Boat Club, Philadelphia, Canadian senior sculling champion in 1946-47-48, regained his title Saturday at the Canadian Henley after an absence of two years. Here he takes his shell from the water after winning his race.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Embarrassed executives of Cleveland Indians humbly apologized Monday for the public "humiliation" of the Boston Red Sox manager, Steve O'Neill.

But they refused to name the Cleveland front office man who got stout Steve, a normally placid man, so hopping mad that the "spy glass affair" was taken to Will Barridge, president of the American League.

What happened was this.

Friday night, in a Cleveland-Boston ball game. O'Neill accused the Indians of employing a man at the scoreboard to steal signals through a spyglass.

Then, before the game Saturday a package was handed O'Neill in a public ceremony before some 47,000 fans. It was supposedly a gift from some Erie, Pa., admirers. Steve made a solemn acceptance speech and sent the package to the clubhouse.

When he opened it, he found two telephone books, a toy pair of binoculars and a note suggesting they be left in Cleveland for further use.

Steve dashed over to the Cleveland clubhouse and charged inside demanding to know who did it. Everybody looked innocent.

"Day or night," exploded O'Neill, "winter or summer, I'll catch up with the man who did that to me.

"It was the most disgraceful thing I've ever known to happen in a big league ball park."

Boston's general manager, Joe Cronin, filed a complaint with Harridge. Harridge asked the Indians for an explanation.

Harridge said Monday he has not yet decided what action he will take since all the facts are not yet in.

"I talked today with Harridge," said Ellis Ryan, Cleveland's president, "and he feels that I have taken the proper stand in withholding the guilty person's name.

"This is a serious thing. Cleveland is O'Neill's home town. I have apologized to Steve and Tom Yawkey, president of the Red Sox. The man will be severely reprimanded.

"As far as I'm concerned, the incident is closed."

Cimarron Chief, pacing star of the Cimarron Race Stable being groomed for the $65,000 Little Brown Jug, died Sunday of an intestinal disturbance in his stall at Baltimore Raceway.

An Ontario Hockey Association executive committee in Toronto Monday night refused to grant forward Al Buchanan a release from Toronto Marlboros to play with Edmonton Flyers of the Western Canada Senior League.

The committee said Edmonton should have made overtures to Marlboros and not the player. Buchanan said he was dissatisfied with Marlboros and wanted to move west.

The committee suggested he ask Edmonton to approach the club to arrange the transfer.

DOUBLE WINNERS — Winners of the senior heavy eight classic at Saturday's Canadian Henley at Port Dalhousie were the crew from Buffalo West Sides—winners of the United States national title a week before. It was Buffalo's fourth straight victory in this Henley event. Crew are Coxswain C. Upper, Stroke E. Fox, A. Holt, J. Miller, F. Fleming, W. Hubbard, J. Hewson, J. McGowan, and C. Hewson.

Union Officials Express Regret At Mitchell Death

MONTREAL, Aug. 1 (CP)—Officials of International Railway Brotherhoods headed by Frank H. Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL), today sent a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent expressing regret at the death of Labor Minister Mitchell.

Text of the telegram, signed by Mr. Hall as chairman of the union group:

"The members of the negotiating committee of the international railway unions now in session at Montreal were deeply shocked to hear of the untimely death of the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, for whom they had the highest esteem and respect.

"Please accept on behalf of yourself and the government our deepest regrets and sympathy. Humphrey Mitchell was an able and conscientious public servant and government officer and his passing is to be deeply deplored."

Small Bomb Blast In Rome Theatre

ROME, Aug. 1 —(AP)— A small bomb exploded in the entrance to a local movie house showing an anti-communist film last night. Two women were painfully injured in the wild rush of spectators for exits.

It was the second time in a week that a bomb had interrupted the showing of an anti-communist film.

Walkie Talkie Very Popular With Civilians Now Too

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP).—The walkie talkie which has proved so handy to America's fighting men in the war is coming in handy for civilians, too.

Hundreds of such devices — portable two-way radiotelephones —are being used.

Here are some examples of the varied services they performed this year:

Fire Chief Edward P. Walsh directed his men with one of the instruments during a fire that swept a six-storey building in San Francisco.

The apparatus was put to work in New York City harbor. A pilot gave orders to tugs by word of mouth instead of by the traditional whistle signals while the liner Argentina was being eased away from her berth in the North River.

Helps Parade

Marshals carrying lightweight radio equipment called up the floats, marching groups and bands in the assembly zone of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce parade in Chicago.

Some railroads already had found they can save time and steps in freight classification yards where freight trains are put together. Car checkers establish contact with dispatchers in yard offices and call off the number, owners, contents and destination of each car as they walk along a line of cars.

Sets have been sold to police departments, game wardens, construction companies, farmers, the FBI, government forestry and park services, the Red Cross, surveyors, utility firms and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Use Limited

Their use has been limited, thus far, to persons, companies and agencies of those types. They usually are used in areas where telephones can't be used.

People who use them have to get a licence from the Federal Communications Commission. They operate on the 25 to 50 and 152 to 194 megacycle bands.

Compact transmitter and receiver units powered by batteries were produced early in the Second World War for the armed forces. The first one was the handie-talkie. It was carried by hand and, in use, was held up against the head.

Guelph Man Serves As Chaplain In Korea

GUELPH, Aug. 1—(CP)—On his way to serve as a Chaplain with the American forces in Korea, Guelph-born Major Charles E. McGee has left for Fort Totten prior to sailing with 50 United States chaplains from an undisclosed base in California.

The Guelph priest, home on a brief furlough before leaving for the war area, served with the American Army as chaplain during the Second World War.

45 Men Sentenced For Anti-Red Work

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 1 (AP)—Forty-five men were reported today to have been sentenced in Ostrava for working against Czechoslovakia's Communist-led government. One was a Roman Catholic priest.

Nova Svoboda, Communist newspaper in that North Moravian mining centre, said they drew terms ranging from one to 25 years there Monday. They had been on trial since Friday.

Obituary

BASIL MILLS MUIR

BETHANY, Aug. 1—(ENS) — Basil Mills Muir, 51, of Port Arthur, was buried in Pontypool cemetery on Sunday, with Rev. James Hampson of Bethany, conducting the graveside service.

Mr. Muir, son of Mrs. Christine Muir and the late Henry Muir of Manvers Station, was a veteran of the last war and had been in failing health for some time, being hospitalized in Winnipeg Military Hospital and transferred to Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, about five months ago, where his death occurred on Friday. The funeral service was held from the chapel of the Ross Craig funeral home, Toronto, on Saturday, the body coming to Pontypool by train on Sunday.

Mr. Muir was well known here before moving to Port Arthur, having resided with his parents at their farm home in Manvers township.

Immediately surviving are his mother, Mrs. Christine Muir, one sister, Mrs. Alfred Johnston (Lillian) both of Manvers Station, and one brother, John Muir of Toronto.

Pallbearers were all former neighbors, Ernest Cavano, James Boggs, Harold Thompson, Norman Porter, Alex Sinclair and Earl Argue.

Mission Band Meets At Dartford Church

DARTFORD, Aug. 1 (ENS).—The Mission Band of the United Church met on Saturday afternoon in the church. The leader, Mrs. John Coggins, and the vice-president, Marjorie Honey, were in charge and the meeting opened with all repeating the Members Purpose.

The Mission Band pins were given to those present.

Program conveners for the next meeting are Ida, Bill, and Charles Honey, and David Ward.

Scripture was read by Mrs. Percy Honey. Mrs. Coggins read a chapter from the study book, followed by prayer. A piano solo by Marjorie Honey and a vocal solo by Marilyn Honey were enjoed. Games were played on the lawn.

Police Hold Father After Child Drowned

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—(AP)— The father of a six-year-old girl found drowned in a stream in New Jersey was booked here by police early today as a fugitive from justice.

Steps will be taken to remove the father, Francis Robinson, 37, to Linden, N.J., for further questioning, authorities said. His estranged wife, Ida, 30, of Hoboken, N.J., will be held as a material witness.

The naked body of their pretty little daughter, Louise, was found in a stream at Linden last Friday.

Mrs. Robinson told police her husband seized the child from her in Hoboken last Thursday night. She said he is a former inmate of a mental institution.

Syria Requests UN Halt Israeli Attacks

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Aug. 1 —(AP)— Syria has asked the United Nations Security Council to take action to prevent what it called new attacks on Arab countries by Israel.

The UN published a cable from Syrian premier and foreign minister Nazem Koudsi Monday. It charged Israel with being a threat to the peace.

The cable claimed "the Jews have of late multiplied armed attacks against Syria, Egypt, Jordan, and quite recently, against Lebanon where a civil aircraft was attacked by a Jewish military plane."

Sign Affidavits

MINEOLA, N.Y., Aug. 1 (AP) —Some 1,000 civilian defence volunteers in Nassau County must sign affidavits swearing they are not Communists.

Warns U-Boats Greatest Danger

HALIFAX, Aug. 1 —(CP)— Dr. J. E. Keystone, superintendent of the naval research establishment here, told a service club Monday the submarine and not the atom bomb was the chief threat to democracy.

"The number one problem of the democracies is to see we have adequate naval strength backed by all the resources science can bring to cope with submarines," he said. "The defence of Western Europe depends on control of the North Atlantic."

He said the industrial potential of North America is unlikely to be directly injured by atom bomb attack.

"If Europe should fall," said Dr. Keystone, "our chance of defending this country depends on our having command of the sea."

Possible technical developments in undersea craft made the problem of coping with submarines in another war more difficult than in the last one.

Pamphlets Fly Like Bullets In Korea's Propaganda War

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA). — The battle of Korea is psychological warfare, as well as shooting war.

All the propaganda tricks the Russians have mastered in 30 years of stirring up trouble all over the world are now being used in an effort to break the will of the South Koreans and Americans fighting to put down North Korean aggression.

Radio broadcasts, pamphlets, handbills, posters, sound truck amplification of recordings and leaflets dropped from low-flying airplanes enter into this war of ideas—Communism against freedom.

U.S. and South Korean psychological warfare teams are replying in kind. Assistant Secretary of State Edward W. Barrett estimates that some 10,000,000 U.S.-prepared leaflets have been dropped on North Korea by American planes in the first month of the war.

In charge of psychological warfare against North Korea is Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, of General MacArthur's staff. But the Joint Chiefs of Staff psychological warfare section and the Public Affairs office of the State Department back in Washington shape the policy on telling the Koreans the truth about the war.

Comparison of the first samples of these word bullets released in Washington shows the Russians to be much more cunning and poisonous in their approach. American information leaflets and radio broadcasts are factual, truthful, but somewhat colorless. The North Korean propaganda is exaggerated, plays on its audience's weakness and prejudices, and frequently repeats lies to drive home truths.

In their pamphlets and leaflets, the Communists use many cartoons. In these drawings, President Syngman Rhee of Korea, General MacArthur and all Americans are drawn to look like Japs. The Koreans hate the Japs. Tricks of this kind make quick impressions on the gullible peasants.

Red Propaganda

A copy of one Communist, plane-dropped leaflet sent back to Washington shows a South Korean officer ordering two South Korean soldiers to shoot a girl and a woman. "Who orders you to shoot you own people?" asks the caption. "Kill those vile officers and come to North Korea," it directs.

By contrast, one typical American-prepared leaflet dropped on the North Koreans carries a picture of General MacArthur with the caption, "Listen each day at 2100 Korean time, over 950 kilocycles, to truthful news broadcast from General MacArthur's headquarters."

On the other side of this leaflet is a prisoner of war warning. "Personnel of the Armed Forces of North Korea . . . who are taken into custody of armed forces now under my command . . . will be treated in accordance with humanitarian principles . . . I will hold responsible any individual acting for Nortr Korea who deviates from these principles. MacArthur."

More Aid On Way

Other American-dropped leaflets show pictures of President Truman with some of his recent pronouncements, the United Nations flag with excerpts from the UN resolution on Korea, pictures of U.S. jet plane flights with more notices of news broadcasts and the slogans, "Ever increasing aid is on its way. Korea is not alone in her hour of need."

Voice of America broadcasts beamed at Korea have been stepped up. Some of the programs originate in the United States. Most are recorded and rebroadcast from local stations in Japan and Korea.

A 15-minute daily United Nations broadcast in Korean, originating in New York, is rebroadcast from Japan. This program plays up the angle that 50 countries have now joined in support of the South Korean Republic, and are united to put down North Korea.

As soon as hostilities broke out, the State Department's small U.S. Information Service staff in Korea went to work to keep up the morale of the South Korean people and prevent panic. But it was driven out of Seoul almost immediately, losing facilities of the higher-powered stations in the capital.

Since then four smaller stations in Southern Korea have been used constantly to help stabilize internol conditions and to offset Communist propaganda. One of the principal assignments has been in trying to keep the roads clear, and with troop movements and supprefugees so they won't interfere to direct the movement of civilian plies.

Posters and sound trucks have been used, too, with Korean Republic Ministry of Information and Education staffs working with the USIS teams.

On the offensive, these same radio stations are being used to tell the North Koreans their communications lines are being cut, their tanks are being destroyed, that more opposition is coming, that they can't win.

Car Industry Shows Biggest Year Ever

DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP). —The automobile industry Monday wound up the biggest seven months in its history both in production and sales.

Authoritative estimates put production from Jan. 1 through July 31 at approximately 4,500,000 cars and trucks. Indications are sales over the same period come close to 3,700,000.

While the figures suggest a substantial volume of field stocks, virtually all dealers have more orders on hand than they can fill for weeks ahead.

Yet, despite the uncertainties of the war situation, the industry's August production may come close to the record the factories set in June of this year with a total output of 853,997 vehicles.

Automotive News estimates that for the week ended July 29 the total of cars and trucks produced in Canada was 9,440. The total produced in Canada from Jan 1 to July 29 was estimated at 225,097.

Lewis-Martin Duo Denies Possible Split

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 (AP) Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis swear they're the best of friends and angrily deny a rumor they might split up. Jerry vows, "we're just the happiest duo in show business."

Martin and Lewis are professional screwballs from the nightclubs. They're extremely funny fellows if you like your comedy seasoned with insanity. Jerry Lewis, 24, wears a crew cut and, sometimes, a simian expression. Dean Martin, 3., is the dark, good looking crooner of the pair.

They were featured in "My Friend Irma" and "My Friend Irma Goes West." Now they're stars and investors in an independent production called "At War with the Army," based on a play that ran four months on Broadway last year.

Agile Character-Man

Jerry spontaneously assumes any character that comes to his agile mind. Suddenly he was a shoe salesman examining my oxfords: "We can give you a 9½-B if you prefer."

Next he was a doctor, tapping my knee with a pencil and fingering my eyes and ears

Jerry: "When we work, we really go to town." Dean: "We don't get back, but we go to town." Jerry flicked his cigaret ashes into Dean's hair. Dean, morosely: "How much can I take?"

I asked about that rumor of a possible breakup. Jerry: "Were'd you hear that? We stay home, behave ourselves, have a lot of fun. We're happy people. We get mad when we hear something that's not true."

Dean: "It's jealous people who say those things."

Youth Remanded On Abortion Charge

WINDSOR, Aug. 1 — (CP) — David Carswell, 18, of Windsor, charged with procuring an illegal operation which resulted in the death of 16-year-old Margaret Jean Smith, was given a further remand of eight days when he appeared in court Monday.

Carswell, free on $5,000 bail, has not yet entered a plea on the charge.

The bound and weighted body of the girl, a high school friend of Carswell, was found in the Detroit river July 12. She had been missing from her home for a week.

Huge Liner Terminal Opened In Britain

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 1—(AP)—Britain laid a lavish welcome mat at its biggest tourist door Monday with official opening of a new £1,000,000 ($3,100,000) passenger terminal for ocean liners.

Prime Minister Attlee participated in the opening ceremonies.

The building is about a quarter-mile long and was built especially to handle traffic to and from Britain's huge Queen liners, the Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary.

BAZOOKA BONANZA—The new 3.5 super bazooka, a big boost for the American troops' morale since its introduction in Korea, goes off with a puff of smoke as a GI fires it at an enemy tank. This weapon is capable of stopping the Reds' heavy tanks, which could withstand attacks by the earlier, lighter bazooka.

Wants Trade With Canada

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Aug. 1 — (Reuters) —S. Howard Hunter, president of the New Zealand Manufacturers' Federation, today said it is "a matter of serious concern" that New Zealand can not trade with Canada "with reasonable freedom."

Hunter was commending the New Zealand Government for its release from control of 326 items under its new import schedule.

"The fact that the freer interchange of licences applies to soft currency areas and not to Canada, which is a dollar area, is of course not the fault of the New Zealand government," he said.

"It is a matter of serious concern that while we now can trade with reasonable freedom with continental countries like Italy and France, we cannot do so with Canada, one of the Empire's greatest links."

Shortage of dollars in the sterling area, which includes New Zealand, since the war has curtailed trade with dollar-area countries, Canada among them.

Hospital Chief Denies Labor Man's Charge

HAMILTON, Aug. 1 (CP). — Dr. J. B. Neilson, superintendent of hospitals said Monday he would be glad to investigate any incident at the Hamilton General Hospital involving allegedly faulty oxygen equipment.

He was commenting on a statement by Oliver Hodges, Canadian Congress of Labor representative here, that the hospital's emergency equipment should be investigated.

Mr. Hodges said a woman patient died recently after an oxygen mask "was found to be perforated and leaked."

Dr. Neilson said he knew of no such instances.

Can't Sell Cherries So Chops Trees Down

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. Aug 1 — (AP) — A Michigan cherry grower is plum disgusted.

Because he was offered only four cents a pound for his crop of Michigan sour cherries, Fred E Reed of Sutton's Bay gave his pickers axes and ordered 'em to chop down the 250 trees in his orchard.

"I'll clear the ground and raise strawberries," Reed declared.

Last year's crop of Michigan sour cherries brought nine cents a pound. Packers are offering four cents for this year's early crop but promise the growers additional payment (possibly up to three cents a pound) later if the processed pack warrants it.

"When I can't raise cherries and make a profit without depending on price supports, I'll quit growing them," Reed declared.

The only trees Reed plans to leave standing are a few for his personal use.

Ranger Force Disbanded, Mounties Come

By RUPERT JACKSON

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 1 (CP) — The Newfoundland Ranger Force ceased to exist today and its duties were taken over by the RCMP. But in the tiny villages and hamlets of Newfoundland and Labrador, residents saw the change with a sense of regret.

Since 1935, the Rangers have been a familiar sight in 85 per cent of the island of Newfoundland and the territory of Labrador. The Newfoundland constabulary polices the bigger places.

For 15 years the khaki uniform with the dark brown stripe down the breeches and the forage cap with its badge of a caribou has indicated the presence of a friend to thousands of Newfoundlanders.

The 60 Rangers were a combination of police force and government. Members acted as collectors of customs, officials of the Game and Inland Fisheries Department, organizers of local roads committees, deputy sheriffs, other things.

The Rangers built up a reputation as fine as that enjoyed by the Mounties in the rest of Canada. Their courage and devotion to duty became a byword in the remote outposts dotted around the bleak Newfoundland and Labrador coasts.

In Isolated Territory

Tracelling by dogteam, on foot, by boat, by car and by plane, the Rangers kept the peace in hundreds of square miles of isolated, desolate territory.

The RCMP trained the Rangers, and, in modified form, the traditions of the Mounties were the traditions of the Newfoundland force. Today the Mounties will take over, but the men and traditions of the Rangers will remain, only the uniform will be different.

May Lose Sight

ELMVALE, Ont., Aug. 1 — (CP)—Doctors say Cecil McEachern, 25-year-old Oshawa musician, may lose the sight of an eye as a result of injuries suffered early Monday in an automobile collision in dense fog near here. McEachern, one of five persons injured, was taken to Royal Victoria Hospital in Barrie.

No Jaywalking

OSLO (CP).—Osloites had a field day recently when traffic lights were installed with buttons so pedestrians could stop traffic in order to cross the street. The long-suffering pedestrians had a lot of fun, pressing the button, and parading back and forth in front of the stymied cars, until a policeman put an end to it.

Navigator Seeks Men For Pacific Air Lift

LONDON, Aug. — (CP)— A Canadian navigator who flew with the RAF Pathfinder force during the Second World War was back in London today trying to interest some wartime buddies in the Pacific air lift to Japan.

John Chislett, DFC, formerly a squadron leader, said he has been asked by United States charter companies to recruit at least 100 ex-RAF navigators for the Pacific airlift, which transports supplies to Korea from bases in California and Alaska.

Tonight he makes his last flight as a crew member of Trans-Canada Air Lines, with which he has been for four years.

Chislett was born in Port Hope, Ont., and now lives in Montreal. He said he flew "60-something" trips during the war.

Rail Strike Deadline Set Aug. 22

125,000 Men Ready For Walkout, St. Laurent Notified

MONTREAL, Aug. 2—(CP)—Unions numbering 125,000 men today set Aug. 22 as the date for a strike which could hamstring Canada's railway operations.

Two union groups of non-operating workers announced they would embark on "a concerted and peaceful withdrawal" from service on that date unless there was "a satisfactory agreement."

Although the unions involved in a wage-hours dispute with the railroads do not include the men who operate trains, they could tie up work in repair shops, telegraph companies and hotels.

There were indications, however, that between now and the strike deadline railway-employee talks and negotiations looking towards settlement satisfactory to both sides would continue.

An announcement by Frank Hall, chairman of the brotherhoods' negotiating committee, said the membership has voted to "go on strike unless there is settlement of their demands for the five-day, 40-hour week and a wage increase.

Date Set Aug. 22

"Date for withdrawal from the service of Canada's railways has been set for Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 6 a.m., regional standard time."

The announcement was made following a series of meetings by spokesmen for the international brotherhoods. Earlier this month spokesmen for 30,000 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) and the Brotherhood of Express Employees (CCL) announced their unions had voted "overwhelmingly" in favor of a strike.

At the same time the two Canadian brotherhoods announced they would join the international brotherhoods in a strike Aug. 22 unless there is a settlement.

"The setting of this particular date indicates collaboration between these organizations and the international group of 15 unions," T. McGregor, chairman of the Canadian unions' negotiating committee said in a statement.

U.S. Troops Retake Chinju Hills

Battle Rages 18 Hrs. G.I. Lines Hang On; New Marines Landed

TOKYO, Aug. 3—(Thursday)—(CP) — United States troops recaptured hill positions northeast of Chinju and held on today in a furious battle 40 miles from the main port of Pusan.

The arching battleline was marked by burning villages all the way from the southern coast to abandoned Kumchon, which was also in flames.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said U.S. troops and the North Korean sixth division were locked in a grim battle east of Chinju at the western approaches to Pusan.

"No gains by the enemy have been made in this fighting in the last 12 hours," the war summary said. It was released at 12.55 a.m. (10.55 a.m. EDT Wednesday.)

Rages 18 Hours

For 18 hours or more the battle between tanks, artillery and men raged on the heights just eight miles northeast of Chinju.

On the central front Kumchon, ablaze and abandoned by the U.S. first cavalry division, scorched in ruins as the Reds moved into its outskirts.

Disputed Yongdok, east coast anchor town which has changed hands frequently, was a no-man's land.

But the hardest fighting was just north of Chinju, about 40 miles west of Pusan.

Heavy Casualties

Battle-weary U.S. 24th division troops were almost surrounded when they counter-attacked. They suffered many casualties and lost some tanks.

Help for the Americans was near. Marines in force were at a southeastern port only 40 miles from the battle-zone. The Marines came equipped with 45-ton tanks, tank-killing bazookas and other weapons new to the Korean war.

American planes set fire to Kumchon after it had been abandoned by their troops.

Fired By Planes

O. H. P. King, Associated Press correspondent in the hills near Chinju, reported both Chinju and the nearby village of Sanchon were fired by U.S. planes in a five-hour raid.

As the battle progressed the Americans seized the heights at Sangmun, 10 miles east of Chinju, King said. The Reds closed behind them, but the Americans seized positions at Wonbung, five miles southwest of the village of Churgam, King reported.

King said 35-ton Sherman tanks went into action a few hours after the vital battle in the Chinju area started.

If the Americans lose there, the Reds could move eastward to a steep ridge where an American

Thieves' Car Swept By Fire Escape, Leave Some Gold

TIMMINS, Aug. 2—(CP)—Two hooded bandits overpowered a 62-year-old watchman early today, blasted open a vault at Coniaurum Mines Ltd., and fled with almost $100,000 in gold.

It was the work of experienced robbers and probably the biggest gold robbery in Canadian history, police said. The men fled in the watchman's automobile. It later was found, charred by fire, on Highway 101 about 22 miles east of here. Tire tracks at the side of the road indicated the thieves transferred to another car at that point. An acetylene torch used in the robbery was found in bushes near the car.

Police sounded an Ontario-wide alert and set up roadblocks throughout the north. The alarm was spread to border points because of the possibility the bandits later switched to an airplane for a fast getaway.

TIMMINS—(CP)—Three gold bars worth $100,000, were found about seven hours later near an abandoned, fire-blackened automobile about 25 miles east of here. A Timmins Daily Press reported who telephoned the news here said police believe the bandits' get-away car suddenly burst into flames, forcing them to run for their lives, leaving the bullion behind.

There were conflicting reports as to how the robbery was carried out.

Tisdale township police quoted the watchman, Bill Edwards, as saying he was making rounds inside the high mine fence about 3.30 a.m. when the bandits "jumped" him. The gate is open during the night for the benefit of night-shift employees and for persons who live on the mine property, police said.

No Comment

Company officials here declined to comment on the robbery, but in Toronto a Coniaurum spokesman said Edwards was grabbed and slugged outside the fence and that the robbers took the gate keys from him.

Police quoted Edwards as saying the men did not assault him but tied him up and took him inside the mine office as they blasted open the vault.

The company spokesman in Toronto said the men worked from outside, blasting through a rear wall to get at the vault and using an acetylene torch to cut through an inner safe.

The first getaway car was so badly burned that police surmised the bandits used gasoline to set it afire, apparently in an attempt to wipe out fingerprints.

Canada's 2 Biggest Railways Disappointed At Sudden Announcement Of Strike Action

MONTREAL, Aug 2 (CP)—Canada's two biggest railways said in a joint statement today they are "surprised and disappointed" at the announcement of strike action by 17 railway brotherhoods.

The statement, issued by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, said that "meetings designed to effect settlement of the labor differences between the companies and their employees have been taking place and have been arranged to continue . . .

"Before and since the recommendations of the two boards of conciliation were made known, the railways have sought a peaceful settlement of these differences. On May 1, they informed the minister of labor that 'having weighed their responsibility to the employees and to the public the railways are willing to accept the findings contained in the majority reports and are ready to negotiate a settlement on this basis'."

The statement said this undertaking would involve the railways in an additional expenditure of $19,225,000 a year when applied only to the employees concerned and that this cost would rise to approximately $27,000,000 a year when the benefits were applied to all employees.

The recommendations of the conciliation boards had been "summarily rejected" by the unions "but nonetheless the railways have continued to hold discussions with labor and have indicated their willingness to go farther than the recommendations of the board and give the dissident labor groups a reduction in working hours from 48 to 44 hours a week with no reduction in take-home pay, thus putting them in an advantageous position in relation to industrial labor generally in Canada."

Can't Defend West Europe At Present Time

PARIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—American leaders have no hope of defending Western Europe from a Russian attack if it comes tomorrow.

But in "x" months—there's a top secret label on the value of "x"—they believe Britain and France can be so strengthened morally and militarily that they could lead a successful stand.

The Communist attack in Korea and its success have put the razor edge on American awareness of how helpless Europe would be in the face of a full Russian assault. This is the way they now paint the picture:

The Russians, according to Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell of Britain could put 175 army divisions into the field tomorrow. Western Europe probably could not scrape together 15. While it might not necessarily take 175 divisions to stop 175, it would take a lot more than 15.

Sure War Avoided

American rearmament of the Atlantic world is going ahead on the assumption that a third world war can be avoided. Top American policy makers are said to believe there is less danger now of a major conflict than there was two months ago.

They reason that two months ago the Russians might have thought they could edge ahead without resistance. The Korean war has showed they can expect opposition.

The fact that the Russians have not moved against Western Europe seems to mean to observers here that Russia does not want a big war. If they did, they could hardly pick a better time than now.

Gordon Warns Democracies Must Be Ready To Fight

OTTAWA, Aug. 2—(CP)—Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, said today the democracies must not only be willing to fight, but must be prepared to beat "the living daylights" out of any "group of evil men" who profess a philosophy aimed at the destruction of the democratic heritage.

In an address delivered to the 56th annual meeting of the accounting division of the Association of American Railroads, Mr. Gordon said "the paradox which is constantly before us is that those who love peace must be ready to fight and those who love freedom must accept discipline."

Today, he said, young Canadians are serving with young Americans under the flag of the United Nations in the battle "that has been forced upon us in Korea by the deliberate acts of power-mad and unscrupulous men."

Canada and the United States were "grass roots" democracies, the greatest the world had ever known. Canadians had shaped their own character and their own institutions and had recognized the truth of statement "that envy is ignorance and imitation is suicide."

Use Own Ideas

"Frequently, it is true, we have borrowed from the British or American example, and sometimes we have blended the two for our own purposes, but in almost all these instances we have added a liberal sprinkling of our own ideas and poured the mixture into a Canadian mould."

Mr. Gordon said he now found himself caught in the "squeeze" he used to warn about as wartime price controller. Railroading was a field where rising costs seemed uncontrollable yet there was governmental control on raising the prices.

He added, however, that he would "resist the temptation to warn you that under present conditions the inflationary threat is again with us, first because it is no longer my job to do so and, second, because the influence of steadily rising wage and other costs upon the purchasing value of the dollar has become painfully obvious."

Plan To Curb Food Hoarders

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Agriculture Secretary Brannan today accused speculators in farm and food products of trying to cash in even at the expense of the United States' economy and war effort.

Such trading on futures markets by a "considerable" number of speculators, Brannan said, has contributed to recent sharp price advances. He called the speculation "excessive and unrestrained" and said it is threatening the country's economy stability and the war effort.

It is obvious, he said, in a formal statement, that some means must be set up to stop, or at least curb, excessive speculation if the futures markets are to provide price insurance to merchandisers and processors.

President Truman, in a recent message to Congress, urged the government be authorized to control speculation to prevent undue price fluctuations.

Belgians Prepare Bill For New King

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 2.—(CP)—A bill to make Crown Prince Baudouin king of Belgium next year received final touches from a ministerial committee today.

Justice Minister Count Henri Carton de Wiart heads the select committee of ministers drafting the legislation under which King Leopold III would be succeded by his son, Price Baudouin.

The bill is expected to be ready for introduction in the House of Representatives by Friday.

Meanwhile Belgians went back to work after a week of near-revolutionary strikes which started Leopold on a long road toward abdication.

Fred West Arrives On Canadian Soil

HAVELOCK, Aug. 2 (ENS). — Fred West, 17, of Havelock, who was held in Texas, has arrived on Canadian soil, according to a letter received by his mother on Tuesday.

Uses Bare Hands To Break Jail

ANSONVILLE, Aug. 2—(CP)—A prisoner, using only his bare hands, tore his way to freedom through the walls of the police lockup in this northern Ontario town Monday.

He was arrested three hours later in nearby Timmins.

George Archambault, 29-year-old painter, ripped tongue-and-groove boards from a boarded-up air grate to make his ecape. It took him less than 90 minutes.

Archambault was arrested earlier Monday on a charge of assaulting his wife. He was locked up at 5.20 p.m., and when police returned at 6.55 he had vanished, leaving behind a foot-square hole in the wall.

Police traced his escape to a taxi firm nearby, where he had hired a cab. They alerted police in Haileybury, Kirkland Lake, Cochrane and Timmins.

Timmins police arrested him outside a hotel. He was held in Timmins until secure quarters were found in Ansonville.

An additional charge of illegal escape was laid against him.

Russia Loses First Round In UN Battle On China

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 2—(AP)—Beaten in his first attempt as Security Council President to oust Nationalist China, Russian delegate Jakob A. Malik comes back for another try today. He was defeated decisively—by a vote of 8 to 3—but he didn't walk out Tuesday.

Instead, he remained to trade bitter words with United States and Chinese delegates in a three-hour, wrangling council session, and to accuse the United States of leading "naked aggression" against Asian peoples in Korea, China, Indo-China and the Philippines.

The fact that he stayed, instead of walking out on the Chinese question as he did when he was beaten last January, strengthened a belief that Russia is back in the U.N., at least for the rest of Malik's August term as president.

He called another meeting today (at 3 p.m. EDT), to continue a wrangle over what should be on the agenda. Tuesday's session was devoted entirely to jousting over the unseating of the Chinese Nationalists and over what subjects should be discussed, and in what order.

Denounce Action

The Russian deputy foreign minister, somewhat pale and speaking in a husky voice, denounced the Korean action in answer to insistence of American delegate Warren Austin that the agenda give priority to a U.S. resolution designed to keep the Korean conflict from spreading.

Malik tried to out-manoeuve western powers of the Council: First, by flatly declaring that Chinese Nationalist delegate T. F. Tsiang represented no country and was illegally at the Council table; and second, by trying to declare adopted his agenda which calls for seating the Communist Chinese representative and for a "peaceful settlement" in Korea.

Austin challenged him and he was joined quickly by Britain and France. Egypt, Ecuador, and Cuba quickly chimed in with criticism of any attempt by the president

Experts Plan London Meet

LONDON, Aug. 2 (Reuters) — Commonwealth experts will meet in London, probably in early September, to discuss aid to southeast Asia, the foreign office said today.

The talks would continue the assessment of what is needed and what is available for aid.

It was held possible that Commonwealth foreign ministers themselves might attend later.

Unwelcome Quads

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., Aug. 2—(AP)—Quadruplets Tuesday were born to Sancil and Gertrude Martin. The smallest of the four boys weighed two pounds, six ounces. The father, a 36-year-old yard man who already has six children, when told the news, exclaimed: "My God, what am I going to do with four more?"

France Plans Drastic Move

PARIS, Aug. 2 (AP). — The French cabinet today announced a series of drastic steps to improve the country's financial position in the face of growing international crisis.

The principal aim is to build up France's reserves of both gold and foreign currencies and to solidify the franc.

Gold used to secure loans obtained in 1947 and 1949 from the United States is to be pumped back into the French treasury by the "anticipated repayment" of those loans before their expiration date.

Information Minister Albert Gazier announced the plan, but did not disclose how the U.S. debts were to be paid.

Information said the payment of foreign debts and the improvement in the franc's position in world currencies was made possible by improvement of France's trade balances with other countries in recent months.

Peiping Says Aid Not Needed

TOKYO, Aug. 2—(AP)—Peiping radio said today that Communist China had offered military and naval help to the North Korean Reds but was turned down. The broadcast was heard here.

The Korean Reds were quoted as saying help was not needed now.

An American intelligence officer said the broadcast was made in the Tibetan language.

There was no evidence that the broadcast had been made in any other language. It is possible that it was a propaganda broadcast directed to Tibet alone. The Chinese Reds alternately threaten and cajole Tibet.

Women's Appearance Disgusts Bachelor

LONDON, Aug. 2—(Reuters)—A middle-aged bachelor vicar here has expressed disapproval of the bed-time appearance of women.

"What a frightful sight a woman is made to look before retiring for the night," Rev. Eric Bailey said in his parish magazine after attending a beauty demonstration for young wives.

" I cannot help thinking that this may be the cause of some marriage breakdowns.

"The hair is gathered up into a kind of net strapped under the chin, and the face and neck are smeared with cream.

"I could not help thinking that every prospective bridegroom should have the opportunity of seeing all this before the wedding."

Plan Joint High Command For 12 Pact Countries

LONDON, Aug. 2—(AP)—The 12 North Atlantic Pact countries are planning to set up a joint, London-based military high command, informed sources said today.

The military agencies of the Atlantic Pact countries now report to the American-British-French standing group in Washington.

The group's leaders—Lt.-Gen. Willis Crittenberger of the United States, Air Marshal Lord Tedder of Britain and Lt.-Gen. Paul Ely of the French army—arrived Tuesday for a two-day talk with the Pact's council of deputies, now meeting here.

The new command would furnish on-the-spot co-ordination of such Pact agencies as the alliance's Scandinavian, West European and Mediterranean regional defence planning groups its supply and production board and the air and shipping committees.

The new command would be responsible to the council of deputies, whose next step is reported to be figuring out how the western countries can fill the gap between the needs of their defence and what they have ready —at least in terms of airplanes, guns, tanks, steel and other war goods.

French delegates were said in Paris to favor a pool lumping all troops—including American—in one force or at least a pooling of Pact financial resources for defence purposes.

GI's Must Harden Hearts Shoot Civilian Crowds

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA, Aug. 2—(AP)—American soldiers must harden their hearts and coldly shoot down anyone wearing civilian clothes in the combat area if they are to protect their own lives in this war.

This is a coldblooded, ruthless thing to do. But there is no other way out in this battle for survival.

"Refugees" are the big problem. They have been coming through the American lines for days in droves.

Some of them are South Koreans fleeing before the Reds. But among them are guerrillas.

The U.S. army has tried to solve the problem by creating a so-called "security belt" from which all natives are evacuated Presumably anyone found in this area would be an enemy. But it hasn't worked out that way. American troops still hesitate to fire on civilians.

Sgt. James Haskins of La Mesa, Calif., sized up the situation this way as a veteran of two wars:

"We were trained to fight in the European style of position and manoeuvre. The enemy fought the same way and used pretty much the same tactics we used. But this is a guerrilla war and we haven't been trained for it."

Wolf Pups, Chipmunks Part Of Exports Now

OTTAWA, Aug. 2—(CP)—Add to Canada's exports to Britain: Seven wolf pups and 14 chipmunks.

The Resources Department today announced that it has made this shipment to the United Kingdom as a donation to the Dudley Zoological Society in Worcestershire.

The wolves were captured in Saskatchewan's Prince Albert National Park and the chipmunks in Georgian Bay Islands National Park in Ontario.

U.S. Considering Giving Arms Again To Chiang

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—The United States government is considering reversing its policy of no-arms aid to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa in order to strengthen defences of that anti-Communist stronghold.

A final decision by the state and defence departments and the White House is understood to await recommendations from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who conferred Monday with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at Taipen, Formosan capital.

The government has already taken one step designed to ease the flow of American arms to the Chinese Nationalists. An order issued last week permits them to buy weapons through the defence department instead of having to go to the manufacturers directly as they had done for many months.

Needs Spare Parts

Responsible officials said today Chiang has an adequate basic supply of weapons for the defence of the island but that he undoubtedly needs spare parts for repairs and also additional ammunition.

Following his meetings with the Chinese leader, MacArthur said plans had been made to co-ordinate American and Chinese forces "the better to meet any attack which a hostile force might be foolish enough to attempt." He thus presented the United States and Nationalist China as being, in effect, allies against a common foe.

Chiang himself subsequently announced that MacArthur and he had agreed on the foundation of the defence of the island. Chiang had offered 33,000 troops to fight with the United Nations forces in Korea, but MacArthur turned that down as possibly jeopardizing the defence of Formosa.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

FILTERED JELLY CRYSTAL CLEAR

Would you like to know how they make many of the jellies on your grocer's shelf so beautifully crystal clear? Well, it's done with a Johns-Manville filter powder called Celite.

With Celite, fruit processors can filter out all of the impurities from their fruit juices, leaving only the purest clear product. Celite traps out the suspended impurities in sugar, wine, beer and other beverages, too. In fact, in almost every field, Celite is used to get clearer products, faster filtration, and lowered costs.

Manufacturers with clarification problems are invited to write to Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay Street, Toronto. J-M's filtration experts will be glad to work with you.

Pleads Guilty To Robbery

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Aug. 2 (CP) — Charles-Emile Poliquin, 28-year-old ex-salesman who is key witness in the conspiracy trial of three Quebec provincial policemen, today pleaded guilty to the $4,000 robbery last Dec. 2 of the St. Hugues, Que., branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale. Sentence was deferred until Sept. 12.

The slickly-dressed Poliquin claimed in court in Montreal two weeks ago that he carried out the robbery to pay off three provincial police officers who helped him plan it so he could split the loot with them.

The trial of the three, Lieut. Marcel Patenaude, Sgt. Gaston Archambault and former Detective Paul Hervieux, was adjourned in Montreal Tuesday so Poliquin could appear in court here.

The three are charged with plotting robberies in country banks and with inciting others to commit them.

Also in court today was Berthe Galipeault, Poliquin's attractive 25-year-old girl friend, who is alleged to have been his accomplice in the St. Hugues robbery. She pleaded not guilty and her case was postponed until Sept. 2.

Rail Strike

Making Arrangements

Mr. McGregor said arrangements for "making the strike effective in accordance with the mandate from the membership are being carried out by the unions' committee which is still in session at Montreal."

The railways involved are Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railway and their subsidiaries; the Ontario Northland; and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railways.

The workers involved are all in non-operating categories, that is they do not operate trains but fall into such classes as hotel employees, clerks and telegraphers.

Mr. Hall said the railways have been advised of the strike decision in a letter signed by himself.

Copies of the letter went to Prime Minister St. Laurent and Arthur MacNamara, deputy labor minister.

tank-supported element is trying to hold the terrain that levels out in a flat coastal plain almost all the remaining way to Pusan. There is no river barrier beyond the steep ridge.

Holding Its Own

"This force is holding its own," said Maj.-Gen. John Church, new commander of the 24th division.

Church said the U.S. tanks met fire from Red tanks in dug-in positions.

As the battle raged, heavily-armed marines, brought direct from the United States by ship, pulled into a South Korean port, ready to move to the front.

The marines came loaded for heavy combat. They are going into battle behind hulking 45-ton tanks and carrying 90 millimetre guns. There has been nothing like that fighting on the American side thus far.

The marines also carry flame-throwers and the new tank-killer bazookas.

Real Peril

The thrusting and enveloping North Koreans on the Chinju front broke into flat ground that stretches to the main U.S. road-rail supply lines and to Pusan itself.

The North Korean Communists were punching eastward toward Pusan, the main allied seaport base 55 miles due east of Chinju.

American casualties in the southeast were heavy. O. H. P. King, Associated Press correspondent, reported from the battle-front that numerous United States wounded were evacuated to the rear.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur called the mounting battle the most critical of the war which began June 25.

A spokesman at his headquarters said the enemy efforts had been checked but not stopped.

Expect More Tanks

The Communists were expected to hurl their remaining tanks into the battle aimed at pushing the Americans off the peninsula before their reinforced defences can make a decisive stand.

U.S. Sherman tanks with 76 millimetre guns supported the Americans near Chinju.

Planes with bombs, rockets and machine-guns hunted out assembling Communists forces, including many tanks in the Chinju area.

Naval and aerial forces hit the southern ports of Mokpo and Yosu, supply bases for the Communists behind the big push in the southeast.

British and South Korean naval units destroyed warehouses and supplies at Mokpo.

American destroyers supported smaller South Korean craft in a similar action at Yosu.

The Communists used sampans to get supplies ashore at both places.

Effort Fails

Enemy efforts to cut communications between Taegu, provincial capital 55 miles northeast of Pusan, and the big southeastern port failed to gain momentum despite the fullest Communist effort in that area.

In 500 sorties—the biggest day yet for air power in the Korean war—allied planes hit chemical and metal plants in North Korea and destroyed seven tanks, 45 trucks and three artillery positions in the forward battle areas.

Communist pressure forced withdrawals along the twisting front. Enemy shells fell in the outskirts of Kumchon, on the central front, forcing back units of the 1st cavalry. The foot soldiers of the cavalry division held a line Wednesday across the highway west of the town.

Sacrifice Everything

MacArthur said North Korean forces "have thrown caution to the winds" and have sacrificed thousands of men. His statement added:

"The ground force build-up continues steadily and the time for the offensive by United Nations forces in Korea grows nearer. That the enemy's time is gradually running out is indicated by his last desperate all out effort. . . ."

The build-up of which he spoke included the marines, army and air reinforcements, fresh from the United States, assigned to the front west of Pusan.

About the time field dispatches reported the beginning of the American counter-attack northeast of fallen Chinju MacArthur's operational summary reported considerable movement of Communist troops there.

The Far East air forces reported that day-and-night strikes by American and Australian fighter planes were doing everything possible to check the movement.

Under Strong Pressure

Thirty-five miles north of Chinju, the U.S. 24th Division was under strong enemy pressure in the Kochang sector. AP correspondent Leif Erickson reported Wednesday the Communist drive appeared aimed at the junction of Kochang-Taegu and Hyopchon-Taegu roads.

A U.S. eigth army announcement said the Communists were pushing on the 1st Cavalry flank southeast of Hwanggan. This would indicate the front describes an arc around Kumchon. The North Koreans thus appear trying to turn the first cavalry division's south flank.

Steady air strikes and artillery barrages inflicted "heavy" casualties on a large attacking force in the Kumchon area, eighth army headquarters reported.

Farther north, there was a general allied withdrawal in the Hamchang-Yechon-Andong sectors.

Hamchang had been the anchor of the American-South Korean line. The Eighth Army announcement confirmed that the North Koreans had occupied Hamchang and Yechon.

Yechon had been the southernmost point of the front.

of the council to decide council membership by his own ruling. Norway's Arne Sunde, council president in July, challenged Malik's right to make such a rule.

Ales Bebler, Yugoslavia's delegate, said his country wanted Communist China in and would vote with Russia. India's Sir Benegal N. Rau said he would vote with Russia.

Take Sides

That was the way they lined up—Russia, India, Yugoslavia to oust the Nationalists; the United States, Britain, France, Ecuador, Egypt, Norway, Cub and Chinese Nationalist delegate T. S. Tsiang raising their hands against Malik's ruling.

Malik announced first the vote was seven votes "plus the vote of the Kuomintang group" against three and drew an angry challenge from Austin, who demanded a "truthful" announcement of the vote.

Malik said his announcement meant eight votes against the chair. Austin withdrew his challenge.

The Russian chief delegate repeated several times that the action in keeping Tsiang seated was illegal. When Tsiang asked for the floor, Malik did not acknowledge him by name or country. He uttered a brief, questioning "yes?", but allowed Tsiang to say that "my right to be here as a representative of a government elected by the people is beyond dispute".

Malik even replied acidly: "The president is allowed to have his opinion. That is my answer to ignorant things from the mouth of the speaker".

Granted Hearing

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 2—(CP)—Former detective Allan Rush will be granted a police commission hearing before the end of August concerning reasons for his sudden dismissal July 14, Mayor George A. Wenige, commission chairman, said today.

The mayor's statement followed an announcement last night that the 107-member London police association would request such a hearing.

The commission will decide whether the hearing will be public or private, the mayor said.

Newlyweds Injured

CHATHAM, Aug. 2—(CP) — William Mahood of Rochester, N.Y., suffered head injuries and his bride was severely shaken up when their automobile went out of control near here.

Hospital officials say Mahood may have a fractured skull. Their car left the road, struck a culvert, and rolled over, coming to rest against a telegraph pole.

The couple were on a honeymoon trip.

Dies On Journey To Visit Mother

ROSENEATH, Aug. 2—(ENS)—Mrs. Gordon Overland, of Detroit, the former Pearl Parker, of Roseneath, died suddenly on Monday while travelling from Detrfoit to spend a holiday with her mother and sister in Roseneath.

Mr. and Mrs. Overland left Detroit on Thursday and when Mrs. Overland became ill near Stouffville, they went to the home of their sister-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Overland at Claremont, where Mrs. Overland died.

Mrs. Overland was born at Havelock July 9th, 1900, a daughter of the late Thomas Parker and Mrs. Parker, moving with her parents at an early age to Roseneath.

Twenty-three years ago she married and her entire married life has been spent in Detroit.

Leaves Two Children

She is survived by two children, Mitzi, 16, and Gregory, 12. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas Parker, Roseneath, and one sister, Mrs. Leo Timlin,, Roseneath.

Mrs. Overland planned to reach Roseneath on Saturday, July 29, to be with her mother on her 79th birthday. This was her annual custom to be present on that occasion.

The funeral service was held today at McEachern's funeral home, Pickering. Burial was at Oakwood Hill Gardens, Detroit.

Early Advances Cut In Industrial Group

TORONTO, Aug. 2—(CP) — Leading industrials encountered mild selling pressure in mid-session on the Toronto stock exchange today that reduced earlier strong advances. Activity continued at the dull pace of previous sessions this week but generally, prices climbed for a third straight session. Volume for the first three hours was 358,000 shares.

Gains ranged from fractions to about a point over a narrow list of key industrials. Papers, steels, agricultures, constructions, foods and a few utilities showed good gains.

Base metals also sagged from early gains. The list showed signs of continued recent steady climbs but profit-taking appeared in key issues, and losses began to appear. Waite Amulet backed down and United Keno Hill, strong yesterday, lost part of a morning rise.

Golds settled into a narrow path at slightly lower levels. Junior producers showed a handful of penny losses and a few seniors slipped fractions.

Western oils also couldn't make headway. Piccadilly, a penny issue, traded briskly but was unchanged.

Professional Bandits

Charles McInnis, chief of police in Tisdale township, said the smooth operation of the robbery is "proof that these two men are definitely professionals."

Police leaves were cancelled as the hunt was launched. Investigators started a check of the many small lakes in this section of Northern Ontario. If the bandits fled by plane after abandoning the car, police said, chances are they would have had it waiting in some small isolated lake.

The bandits had about a half-hour jump on the police. It took watchman Bill Edwards that long to wriggle free of the rope with which they tied him.

Edwards wasn't sure but he said he thought the men were armed. They wrapped a curtain around his face and themselves were disguised with gray hoods. They stooped—Edwards said they looked like "apes"—in a further attempt to keep him from getting a good look at them.

$96,000 Loss

Company officials put the loss at $96,000. They said the bars are a total of 216 pounds troy weight (12 ounces to the pound). Official Canadian price for gold is $38.50 an ounce. The stolen bars would bring much more at underworld prices.

The gold had been poured yesterday and was being kept only overnight for shipment to the mint at Ottawa today.

The Coniaurum spokesman said the bandits had "darned good information" and apparently were well informed about the office layout.

Police set up roadblocks throughout Northern Ontario in the belief that the bandits may have transferred to another car after abandoning the getaway auto. Police in Southern Ontario were asked to be on the lookout for suspicious vehicles.

The robbery came two months after a $75,000 robbery at Delnite Mines near here. Two men arrested about a week after the theft are awaiting trial. The three bars stolen in that instance were recovered in thick bushland near Delnite.

Admits Fatal Injury To Child Of Six Years

HOBOKEN, N.J., Aug. 2 (AP)—City Prosecutor Albert J. Shea announced last night that William Harris, 34, admitted fatally injuring six-year-old Louise Robinson, whose nude body was found in a Linden, N.J., stream last Friday.

Harris, who had been living here at the home of the child's mother, Mrs. Ida Robinson, signed a statement that he struck the child in the stomach to punish her, Shea said.

Louise became ill the following day and died, Shea quoted Harris as saying.

The man told police he had become panicky, stripped off the child's clothes, put her body in a cardboard carton and dumped it into the Linden stream.

Canada Fails To Meet Bacon Contract

OTTAWA, Aug 2 (CP).—Canada, which has agreed to provide Britain with 60,000,000 pounds of bacon this year, so far has shipped a mere 14,000,000

Informed officials said Tuesday there is little indication of an acceleration of shipments in the latter months of the year to make up for the slow-down. At best, officials predict shipments may reach 40,000,000 to 45,000,000 pounds for the year.

In a way this decline in bacon shipments to Britain means a saving to the government and evenually to the taxpayer, for under the terms of the Anglo-Canadian agreement, the government ships bacon overseas at a loss.

It buys bacon whenever the domestic price falls to 32½ cents a pound for Grade A Wiltshire and sells it to Britain at 29 cents a pound.

So far the government has been able to buy only a limited supply. High domestic demand for meats, together with the high-price attraction of the United States market, is keeping bacon prices ranging well above the government rates.

Causes Upset

It is indicated that this shortage in shipments is causing some disturbance to the United Kingdom, which had planned on receiving fixed monthly amounts from Canada and from European sources.

However, no one is blaming Canada, for this country had to persuade Britain to sign a new bacon contract at the beginning of the year.

It also is expected the cheese-contract target will not be met. Britain expanded cheese purchases from 50,000,000 pounds in 1949 to a maximum of 85,000,000 pounds.

Although Canada is requisitioning all the cheese under production, a high demand for evaporated milk is causing a diversion of milk from the cheese factories.

Thus, there is some doubt that even the minimum target of 70,000,000 pounds would be reached. Under terms of the Anglo-Canadian cheese agreement, Canada buys cheese from producers at 28 cents a pound and sells it to Britain for 25. The loss is borne by the revolving $200,000,000 government price-support program.

George Drew Flying For Holiday In Italy

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 — (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, will fly from Montreal today on a trip that will take him to the United Kingdom and to Italy.

He plans to spend a few days in London before flying to Italy where he will join Mrs. Drew and their two children—Edward and Sandra.

Mrs. Drew was born in Florence.

Mr. Drew is not expected to return to Ottawa until the latter part of September unless international developments necessitate a new session of parliament.

Find Boy 10 Alive In Weak Condition

ST. SCHOLASTIQUE, Que., Aug. 2—(CP)—Ten-year-old Luc Prevost, object of a search since he disappeared from his farm home here Monday, was found alive but in a weakened condition by searchers today.

Sgt. Maurice Valiquette of the Provincial Police said the lad was found shortly before noon in the woods near this Lake of Two Mountains village.

Scores of volunteers and policemen have combed the woods of this area, 45 miles northeast of Montreal, since the boy was reported missing. It was at first feared he would not be found alive because his parents said he was "weak."

Bylaw Permits Garages Regulate Hours

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2 — (ENS)—A bylaw allowing the garage operators of Campbellford to regulate their hours was passed Monday by the town council. The bylaw allows 25 per cent of the operators to keep open all night and 25 per cent to be open on Sundays.

Mr. Robbins, of the Garage Operators Association presented the Association's case in favor of the bylaw to the council.

Before the vote was taken Councillor Nicholas spoke against its passage. He believed no one should dictate to a man who is in business for himself and said it was not democratic.

The provincial statutes require that council pass the bylaw, as long as it carries the necessary 75 per cent of the signatures of all the garage operators of the municipality. This request was supported by the necessary percentage of operators. The bill passed its third reading and goes into effect on August 13.

When the council voted in favor of the removal of the parking meters as soon as the one year contract expires, there was considerable controversy. Those voting in favor of their removal were Reeve Ralph Locke, Councillors Rutherford, Maybee, Free, Kingston and Reeve Ralph Locke. Those against were Mayor Ayrhart, Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason and Councillors Nicholas and Maier.

The garage operators' bylaw passed at this meeting is a different one from that put in force in Toronto. The Joy Oil Company defeated the action taken against them because the Toronto City Council delegated its authority to the police force in the issuance of permits to remain open.

This is explained fully in the Campbellford legislation, and while council cannot delegate its authority in the matter, and must appoint a board to issue permits, the local police force can enforce the bill and prosecute offenders.

Swedish Operation Restores Fertility

STOCKHOLM. — (CP) — A young man, sterilized a few years ago because of an apparent mental deficiency, has been restored to full propagative powers.

In the original operation, his seminal ducts were severed. Afted he had creditable results in examinations in connection with conscription, showing a high I.Q., an operation at the Carolina hospital here simply joined the severed ends.

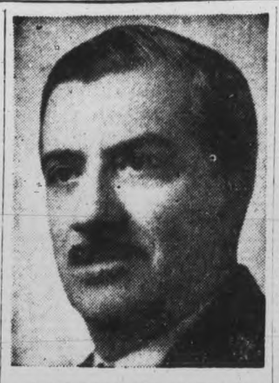
Medical circles say the accomplishment theoretically opens up prospects for similar operations on sterilized women, by joining severed oviducts.

Monday A Holiday

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2 — (ENS)—Next Monday was declared a civic holiday by the town council on Monday. Because the next meeting date for the council fell on Labor Day, the council decided to hold its next meeting on August 28.

Money From Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2 — (ENS)—The town council Monday voted a donation of $200 to Mount Pleasant Cemetery Board towards paying for the new vault. A donation of $10 was voted to the local Salvation Army drive.



MAY REPLACE FISET—Dr. Gaspard Fauteux, former Speaker of the House of Commons, will likely be appointed as successor to Sir Eugene Fiset as lieutenant-governor of Quebec Province. Sir Eugene, in the post since 1939, will retire Oct. 1. It is believed Fauteux's appointment will be announced in September.

T. L. Diamond Gets Land From Town For $1

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2 — (ENS)—Council decided Monday to sell some land adjoining T. L. Diamond's property on Ranney St. to Mr. Diamond for a nominal sum of $1, with the understanding that he pays all legal fees.

Council considered the land was worthless to the town, which had no right of way to it and as Mr. Diamond had already gone to considerable expense to clean it up, it was decided to sell it to him.

Grant Anderson told council of his efforts to beautify the land adjoining his property by the dairy and asked council to put some top soil on it so that grass could be grown. Mr. Anderson and his neighbors have gone to some considerable trouble and expense to fill in a piece of property along the canal, in order that shrubs and flowers and possibly some picnic tables and benches, could be placed there.

Council thought this was a move in the right direction and agreed to spend up to $75. The matter was left to the Road and Bridge Committee.

J. C. Birmingham, the town tax collector, reported he has collected $59,674.45 out of a possible $92,000 and also about $4,500 of taxes in arrears. This was considered a good showing, and Mr. Birmingham was commended.

Harry Townsend, the assessor, made a report on his trip to Windsor to attend a conference in that border city. He outlined the new plan of assessment and the extra work it would involve.

Vincent Lockwood asked council for the deed to his property on Front St. He said the roof was now on the building which is to be bowling alley. The bylaw providing for the deed to be turned over was passed.

James Albert Edwards

The funeral of James Albert Edwards, 502 Park St., was held Tuesday at the Kaye Funeral home, the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiating. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Leslie, Frank, Norman, Hector and Percy Edwards, and Percy Hawthorne. Mr. Edwards died in hospital Sunday.

Common Sense About Korea

Things look black for the U.S. forces in Korea, and there is no prospect that any sudden magic will turn the tide there. It is by no means impossible that the U.N. force will be driven from the peninsula entirely, unless Russia makes some hard bargain at the U.N. meetings to which Mr. Malik is making a spectacular entry. And if the Korean fight is lost U.N. will have to do some careful stock-taking. The obvious decision is for U.N. forces to fight on and to attempt to drive the North Koreans back to where they came from, and restore the government of South Korea.

* * *

How effective would such action be? An attack on the Korean peninsula from the sea would be an elaborate and difficult affair. And if, at last, the South Korean government were restored, would it not take a large U.N. force to keep it secure? The South Korean government obviously does not command the loyalty of its people, and the South Korean army has little stomach for fighting. Once again we see the result of attempting to establish a democratic government among people who have no background of democracy and who do not appear to understand it. The Korean business is no easy problem, and the obvious line of action may not be the right one.

* * *

The hard knocks which U.S. forces have been taking in Korea have raised feeling in the U.S.A. to a high pitch. There have been loud public calls for greater help from the other members of United Nations. Canada has been criticised for her small contribution. Yesterday we published part of an editorial from the Arizona Star which accused us of slacking. And in the Chicago Daily News we read:

> Where is the stirring enthusiasm with which they voted for the resolutions committing the United Nations to a full share in the Korean crusade? Was it only lip service which they could not deny to the United States because we are rearming and protecting their own lands?

Arthur Krock writes in The New York Times that some of our military authorities do not share this rising criticism of other nations. He reports there are "professional reasons" why they do not, and that certain ground diversions to Korea would involve more risk than gain to the non-Communist world. But Krock adds: "If this be true, now would be an excellent time to explain it."

Our complacent friends in the United Nations are following the age-old instinct of self-preservation but they seem blind to reality. Unless the aggressor is routed in Korea without undue and tragic delay, the Kremlin will be encouraged to probe for other chinks in the battle armor of the free nations.

The United States will see it through in Korea, with or without United Nations help. But the reluctance of our allies to share the responsibility raises grave doubts as to the resistance these same nations would offer if Stalin invaded Western Europe. It is not a pretty thought nor one that can be lightly dismissed.

* * *

There is much in this which commends itself to reason, but we must not become feverish and emotional in our view of the Korean affair. The U.S.A. has a large fighting force nearer to Korea than any other member of U.N.; that is why American soldiers are in the field there. If the U.S.A. is unable to reinforce and arm its men in the field in time to stop a defeat in Korea, what hope have nations which are far away of doing so? And if Canada sends the greater part of her small force to Korea, what defence has she against any other attack from the North? The U.S.A. may be vexed with us because we have not sent more to Korea, but what would the anger of the U.S.A. be if we left all of Canada, between the Arctic Circle and the American boundary, undefended against a possible Russian attack?

* * *

This newspaper would like to see Canada send more substantial help to our American friends and allies in Korea. But we have not the men or arms to send and it will take time to produce them. And when we have produced them, we must bear in mind that this country has two frontiers, one of which faces the United States, and the other, Russia. It is easy to abuse the government and to say that we are unprepared, and that we should have more men and more arms ready. But if Canada is to keep a big enough standing army to be able to send men to any part of the world on a week's notice we must prepare for some very sharp changes in our way of living and in our scale of taxation.

* * *

We have nothing but admiration for the bravery of the American troops who are fighting in Korea now. But that admiration does not blind us to the fact that their desperate position is largely the result of the miscalculation of their own high command, which disarmed Korea some months ago, although news that North Korea was preparing for trouble was not wanting. Canada is a member of United Nations and pledged to give help where it is needed. But Canada is being blamed in some quarters for failure to hasten to a war which would not have begun if there had not been serious miscalculation elsewhere. Canada, in fact, is in the usual position of a small power engaged in an alliance which contains much greater powers: we are not allowed to call the tune, but we are strongly urged to help pay the piper.

The Late Humphrey Mitchell

The death of the Minister of Labour, the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, was a surprise and a shock. A man of jolly, robust appearance, Mr. Mitchell was not the sort of man one thinks of in terms of ill-health. He was as genial as he looked, and he leaves behind him great numbers of friends, who will mourn him sincerely.

As Minister of Labour Mr. Mitchell did a good, if unspectacular, job. It is best, perhaps, for a Minister of Labour to be unspectacular in his dealings. His work is one of continual conciliation and compromise; the workers are inclined to think that his job is to get them what they want; industrialists also think that he is the cabinet member whose task it is to keep labour from becoming too demanding. The real fact of the matter is that the Minister of Labour is charged with the business of keeping both management and labour from rocking the boat and upsetting the national economy. It is one of the most wearing of Cabinet posts, and few men choose to hold it long. Mr. Mitchell held it longer than any of his predecessors, and it may fairly be said that it killed him.

His best work was done during the war. This has been emphasized in the tributes paid to him by his colleagues and by the labour leaders of this country. He was always regarded with respect by the Canadian labour movement, and to be able to say that of a Minister of Labour is the best obituary tribute that could be offered.

A Stupid Letter

In the current issue of Time magazine the following letter appears:

Sir:

> . . . . I think that the U.S. Government would be wise to ask for a Canadian division with Canadian commanders, to clear up the Korean situation. We could take care of things in quick, efficient fashion, and boot the North Communists across their border without much difficulty . . .
>
> C. R. COMPSTON,
> Edmonton, Canada

Most Canadians, we think, would have preferred that Time's letter editor should have thrown this vainglorious piece of nonsense into the wastepaper basket. What can have prompted it? What excuse is there for it? And, as Canada's contribution to the Korean fight is a small one, what must our American friends think of it?

To boast of the excellence of its fighting men is every nation's privilege, though we have noticed that men who have been in great danger in war, or who have borne great responsibility in war, rarely do so. But when it comes to hinting that the American troops in Korea are not doing as well as Canadians would do in the same place, that is going too far.

There is no doubt that the U.S. troops in Korea would be glad of the help of a Canadian division. This newspaper has the firmest faith in Canadian soldiers. But we say without hesitation that a Canadian division in Korea right now would probably help the Americans to hold their line, but we doubt if it could do much more.

Mr. Compston's attempt to belittle the U.S. troops in Korea is one which will make every sensible Canadian ashamed for him. It seems plain that he has no shame of his own.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is hinted that cars may have running-boards again in the new models. Someplace for the cop to put his foot.

It is now hoped to produce diamonds in Ontario. Good. The production of rough diamonds has gone on too long.

A California man has been arrested for driving his car while nude. Is there no law which prevents snoopers from peeping into cars?

At the lying-in hospital in Providence, Rhode Island 6,836 women gave birth last year and not one of them died. This is a notable record and one which all other hospitals should seek to rival.

A Chance Conversation

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

ONE day in July, 1774, the Austrian Charge d'Affaires in Berlin, a Baron van Swieten, had an audience of Frederick the Great, and for one reason or another, the latter chose to talk about music. Frederick, who was then sixty-two, despised the modern music of his day. Twenty-five years ago, he told the respectfully listening van Swieten, there had been living in Berlin a musician by the name of Bach—Philipp Emanuel Bach—who was superior to anything van Swieten, a man of the new generation, had ever heard or could imagine. There was depth of harmonic knowledge! There was power of execution! Where was anything like that to be found now? But even this Herr Bach was nothing compared to his father.

✧ ✧ ✧

BARON van Swieten had never heard a word of that older Bach, and the King, enjoying his superior knowledge, went on discoursing upon the wonders of that now forgotten Johann Sebastian Bach, whom he had had with him in Sans Souci a year or two before he died. On the spot, he said, the old man had made a fugue in four parts, and then one in five, and, finally, one in eight parts on a fugue subject he, Frederick, had set him; and, carried away, the King began to "sing aloud" (as van Swieten reported in a confidential letter to his Minister)—sing aloud in his old, croaking voice the curiously asymmetric chromatic theme from which Bach had fashioned the mysteriously glowing musical microcosmos of the six-part Ricercare in the "Musical Offering." (Frederick was an irrespressible bluffer and boaster; he simply could not help talking of eight parts where there had been only six.)

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT van Swieten, who was something of a musical connoisseur, snob, and bargain-hunter, was deeply impressed. He got into touch with Philipp Emanuel Bach, who was still alive in Hamburg, and bought from him, cheaply, a good many of his father's manuscripts—the Art of the Fugue, the 46 preludes and fugues, the Organ trios. He took them back with him to Vienna a few years later, together with a little Handel collection he had similarly acquired on a previous diplomatic assignment in London; and, doling out sparse patronage to aspiring musicians and keeping a musical salon, he turned these antiquarian treasures into a social asset. His house became talked about, with a mixture of curiosity and respect, as "that place where they play nothing but Handel and Bach."

✧ ✧ ✧

IN 1782 there strayed into that house a young musician who, after a glittering but fruitless career as a child prodigy and a row with his employer, tried to establish himself as a free-lance in Vienna and had to accept what casual patronage was going; his name was Mozart. Van Swieten, providing him with number of Sunday dinners and a number of small commissions, played his usual trick for him, impressing on him the superior worth of those old, forgotten musical treasures of which he was now the sole custodian; and, with the gesture of a man bestowing a precious favour and honour, gave him some of Bach's "48" to set for string trio and string quartet for performance in van Swieten's musical salon.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT Mozart originally thought of this commission (which he duly carried out) we can only guess. He was entirely a child of that musical revolution which Bach had so obstinately resisted and whose victory had buried Bach's work: the revolution of accompanied melody against polyphony, or, in the language of the time, of sensibility and nature against artificiality and turgidity; he had never regarded old-fashioned counterpoint as anything but the most boring kind of pedantic school-work; at his entrance examination for the Bologna Philharmonic Academy in 1770 he had passed his test in "strict style" only by a wangle bordering on fraud; and he was usually intolerant of anything alien to the bent of his own genius and quick to mock.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT now something extraordinary happened, something very moving and, in the end, infinitely fruitful, which retrospectively made that July day when Frederick the Great had held forth to van Swieten on Bach a major date in the history of European music. Faced with the actual work of Bach, which had reached him by this devious rout, Mozart was overwhelmed. The encounter caused the greatest crisis in his artistic career. For the first time he found himself confronted, in this dead and forgotten composer, with a genius he recognized as his equal or superior, working in an utterly different medium of style. He was disturbed, humbled and thrown out of his stride.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR more than a year his production becomes disjointed, fragmentary, and tentative; there are, in 1782 and 1783, dozens of fugues and other essays in counterpoint, some unfinished, some obstinately carried through—all attempts to assimilate the alien genius of the forgotten master. Reading through the pages of the Kochel catalogue of Mozart's works for 1782 and 1783, one feels one is witnessing Jacob wrestling with the angel. One watches the utter humility of a great and perfect master voluntarily and obscurely going back to school, the obstinacy of his effort, his bewilderment also, and his despair.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE greatest things in history tend to pass unnoticed while they happen. In 1782 Bach was a forgotten man, Mozart a faded child prodigy obscurely struggling for a living. Nobody knew of the desperate dialogue carried on at that time by Mozart with the ghost of Bach, of his quixotic attempt to fuse what seemed an obsolete and archaic style with his own. But this attempt produced, long before the romantic Bach revival of the 1830s, Bach's greatest after-effect: the miraculous infusion of his spirit into Mozart's mature work producing the marvel of such music as the finale of the Jupiter symphony, where counter-point takes wing and becomes ethereal. To think that all this would never have existed but for a chance conversation between a King of Prussia, famed for his politics, his generalship and his interest in French literature, and a minor Austrian diplomat!

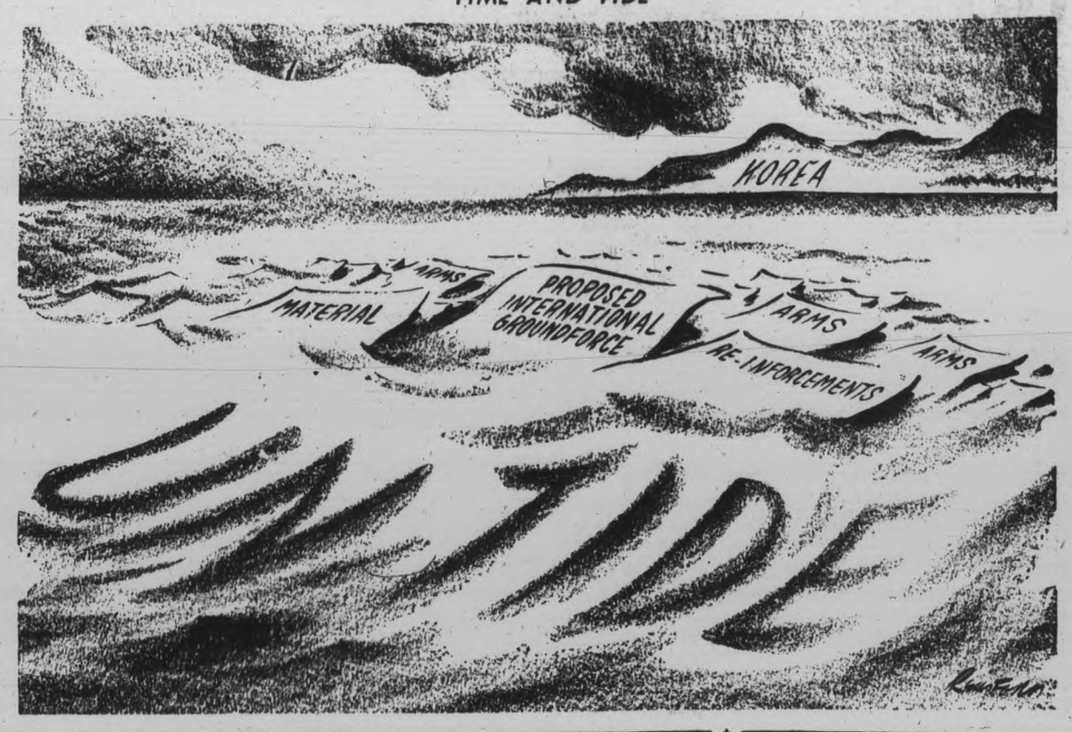
TIME AND TIDE



Orpheus In England

(FROM THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

AN Orpheus of our time, Mr. Frank Sinatra, an Italo-American crooner, made a first personal appearance in this country last night at the Palladium. Not to be outdone by their American sisters, a mob of respectable young women surged and moaned outside the theatre throughout the evening. Inside, an agitated and ill-behaved audience could scarcely accord attention to the other items on the bill, and when it sensed the arrival of various luminaries of the screen such as Mr. Cornel Wilde it turned its back upon the stage and stood on seats to behold the hero in the flesh.

When Mr. Sinatra at last appeared pandemonium broke loose and (at the second house) it was often difficult to hear because of the barrage of comment, giggling, sighing, and applause which punctuated the melancholy sounds proceeding from the stage. When Mr. Sinatra made fun of a rival, Mr. Bing Crosby, a fierce lady in the back of the stalls cried out, "If you had his voice you'd be better than what you are!"—which was greeted by other ladies with a hyena howl which made one fear for the intrepid woman critic's life.

MR. Sinatra brought a cup of tea on to the stage and sipped it with coy informality; told us, in a few ill-judged words, how wonderful we were; sang, with the best intentions, a song about "Foggy Old London," "Old Man River" (which does not suit him), an excerpt from "Carousel," the American show at Drury Lane, and numbers of those moony little dirges familiar from Mr. Sinatra's records.

Mr. Sinatra is an agreeable fellow, if somewhat over-tailored and to the masculine eye a trifle too effusive. But he has a pleasant mock-modest stage presence and is at least visible as well as audible, having a wide brow and wide-set eyes, which tell on the stage. The lower part of his face may be less impressive, but it is usually hidden by the microphone, which he clutches like some holy thing. When not thus crooning he leans back, extends his arms, sags at the knees, and displays his padded shoulders, his eyelids, and a well-developed Adam's apple.

The gesture, as much as the sound, at such climaxes appears to be what sends the audience into convulsions. Yet, curiously, the sound at such times is actually less loud than when Mr. Sinatra is crouching feline, and sickeningly intimate, upon the nozzle of the microphone. In so much—and indeed more—he differs from those Italian tenors whose stentorian bellows set the gallery yelling with delight in Italy.

TO look at, Mr. Sinatra may reasonably be judged to have more sex appeal than some Italian tenors, but fundamentally the secret of his success is the same as theirs. Though the idea is carefully scouted in this country, the human voice is not merely a melodic instrument; it is a secondary sexual characteristic, and it is interesting thus forcing itself upon the public's notice.

Amateurs of curious cultural phenomena should try to get into the Palladium, as well as social historians, for the last and perhaps most important factor in Mr. Sinatra's success over here is as an illustration of the complete hegemony of the American voice as a "lingua franca" for the tongue-tied British. This is the language of love as the cinema-educated youth of our country understands it. Just as Caruso was adored as the quintessence of every Mediterranean serenader, so Mr. Sinatra is the incarnation of every lovesick G.I., the new myth, the new English dream.

U.S. Shortage Of Labour

(Wall Street Journal)

U.S. Government labour men who were trying a few months ago to find jobs for idle workers are now worrying about finding workers to fill jobs.

For the first time in two years, Labour Department reports show manpower pinches in some areas. True, these shortages are spotty, and involve only certain skilled craftsmen, like building tradesmen or metal workers. But there are signs that employers in other industries soon may be faced with similar labour scarcities.

"Unemployment is no longer much of a problem, nationwide", says Ewan Clague, Commissioner of Labour Statistics in the Labour Department. He thinks "manpower shortages look like a bigger worry now".

Mr. King: Servant Of Five Monarchs

(Montreal Star)

The amazing span of Mr. Mackenzie King's career can be simply though strikingly illustrated by his association with the Royal Family. Mr. King, on the birth of Prince Charles, was among those to send congratulations to the King and Queen and to the mother, Princess Elizabeth. The little boy is the great-great-great-grandson of Queen Victoria, and it was in Victoria's reign that Mr. King was sworn in at Ottawa as Deputy Minister of Labour.

Mr. King served Queen Victoria, her son, Edward VII, and her grandson, George V. He was Canada's first minister through the short reign of Edward VIII, and he was King George VI's only minister to serve him from the moment of his accession until Mr. King's retirement two years ago.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grave given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ . . . For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, that he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God. (Eph. 3: 8, 14-19.)

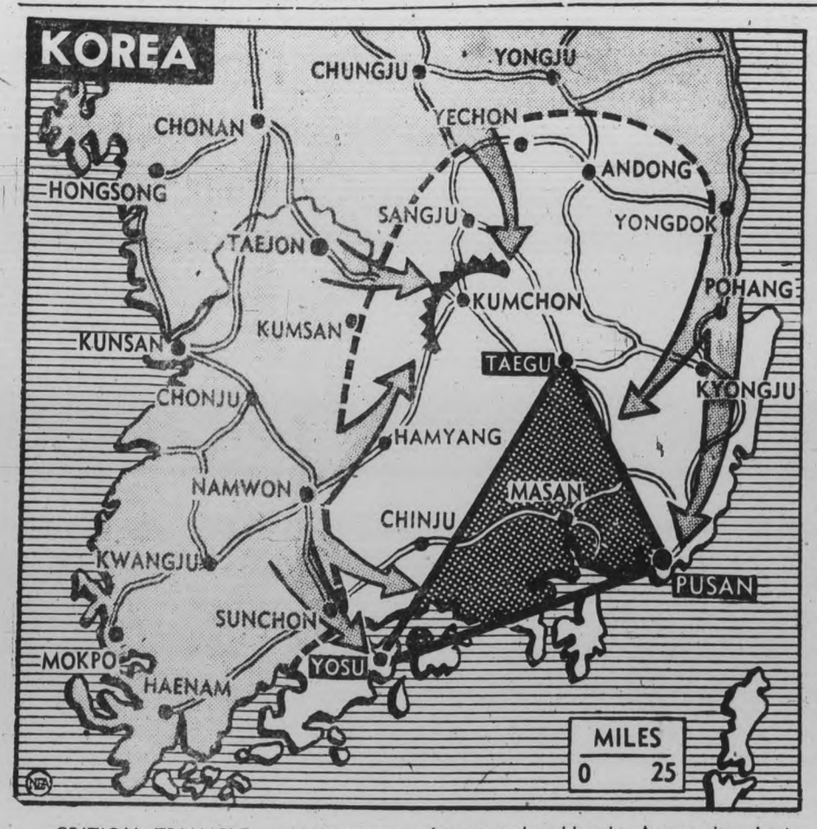
✧ ✧ ✧

Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. (Rom. 13: 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. (I John 4: 12.)

"Here be some more gen'lemen to see you mas'er."



CRITICAL TRIANGLE — If Communist troops continue to push US and South Korean forces toward the southeast corner of the peninsula, the defenders are expected to make a final stand to hold the Taegu-Pusan-Yosu triangle, shown cross-hatched on map. The enemy must be kept beyond artillery range of the vital supply and reinforcement beachhead. Arrows show basic goals of Reds' strategy—(1) to smash down the Kumchon-Taegu-Pusan road with flanking attacks confining the defenders to this narrow corridor; (2) drive from southwest corner across to Pusan; (3) a drive down the east coast toward Pusan, with possible secondary thrust to cut Kumchon-Taegu-Pusan road.

Drop Charges Against 5 Evangelists

LA SARRE, Que., Aug. 2 (CP) —Charges of disturbing the peace against five Baptist evangelists were withdrawn Tuesday.

The five were arrested July 22 after a crowd of residents broke up their street-corner religious meeting. The incident was one of a series of distrubances in this predominantly Roman Catholic mining town.

Charges were withdrawn with the consent of Magistrate Camille Beaulieu after Crown Attorney J. J Martel said a constable arrested the men because he believed the Baptists were at fault in attemp'ing to proceed with the meeting. The crowd was quite unruly, he said.

Magistrate Beaulieu said such religious meetings are entirely legal as long as they are orderly.

Following the trial, Mr. Martel and Max Garmaise, defence counsel, issued the following joint statement:

"The charge of unlawful assembly laid by the chief of police of La Sarre against the five Baptists was the result of a misunderstanding on the part of La Sarre town council of the activities of the Baptist church involved.

"The explanation since received by the authorities of the town have completely satisfied them that the Baptists were merely exercising rights which are granted to all religious minorities in the province of Quebec."

4 Canadian Vessels Hired For Korean Job

MONTREAL, Aug. 2 (CP) — Four Canadian vessels have been chartered on a commercial basis to transport supplies from the west coast of the United States to the Korea battle area, a cargo line operator said here Tuesday night.

The operator who would not be identified said the four ships probably are en route now for the west coast.

They were identified as the Islandside, operated by Atlantic Shipping Agencies, Ltd., here, another ship which could not be identified, also owned by a Montreal firm; a Great Lakes vessel owned by the Western Canada Steamship Company of Vancouver; and the Digby County, owned by Acadia Overseas, Ltd. of Halifax.

Board Rejects Guild Increase

TORONTO, Aug. 2 — (CP) — A conciliation board has rejected a request by the Toronto Newspaper Guild (CIO) for wage increases for editorial employees of the Toronto Daily Star.

Labor Minister Daley of Ontario made public Tuesday the text of a report by the board, headed by Judge Harold E. Fuller, of Welland. Neither party is obliged to accept it.

Reduction of the work week from 40 to 37½ hours starting Sept. 1, 1951, and three weeks' vacation after 20 years' service were recommended by Judge Fuller; by the company nominee, E. MacAauley Dillon, and by the Guild nominee, Roger Irwin.

Judge Fuller and Mr. Dillon said in a majority report they found no justification for the wage boost asked by the Guild—ranging from $22.50 a week for desk men to $40 a week for senior editors. They said, however, that consideration might be given to the fact that the cost-of-living index has risen 5.8 per cent since the first Star-Guild contract was signed last year.

Mr. Irwin said in a minority report he had no hesitation in recommending a blanket wage increase of 10 per cent.

The present minimum wage scale for employees with at least five years' experience ranges from $80 a week for reporters to $110 for senior editors.

French Leaders Demand Rapid Rearmament Plan

By HAROLD KING

PARIS, Aug. 2—(Reuters) — Communist military successes in Korea have aroused the instinct of self-preservation in France. Each day brings another flood of demands from national leaders, deputies and newspapers for rapid rearmament.

Until Korea, warnings that it was suicidal to leave a military void in Europe between the western democracies and the Russian Army had virtually been left to Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his supporters.

Today, the "Neutralist" intellectuals are virtually silent, and left-wing anti-Communist "revolutionaries" are clamoring for military security.

For the first time since the cold war started, a French prime minister has put national defense in the forefront of his government program. Responsible Socialist leaders, until recently more distinguished for objections to military expendture than for bellicosity, have joined in the demand for more arms.

Many Voices Raised

The pessimists and defeatists have been arguing for a long time that it was hopeless to try to prevent an attempted invasion from the east because there was no time left, not enough money, and no chance of producing the heavy armament needed.

Today, other and more resolute voices are being raised on many sides.

As regards the time factor, it now is regretfully admitted that valuable years have been lost. Nevertheless, many of the most responsible leaders feel it is not too late to provide the armor which may avoid the war everyone fears.

Financial and economic difficulties are being disregarded as unsound by more and more experts.

Fire Under Control

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C., Aug. 2—(CP)—A raging forest fire, which threatened millions of dollars worth of standing timber 23 miles north of here, was reported under control Tuesday night. More than 250 loggers and forestry men fought the blaze as it spread rapidly through felled and bucked timber.

To Haul Freight

TORONTO, Aug. 2 — (CP) — The Avro jetliner, first jet transport in North America, will begin hauling freight on domestic routes of Trans-Canada Air Lines within one month, officials of Avro Canada Ltd., said Tuesday night. It will not carry revenue passengers on the trial flights.

Expect To Play Under Lights On August 12

Baseball fans will be pleased to learn that according to present plans the lights at Riverside should be ready by Aug. 12 when the Marines play Oshawa. This is the latest information received from Coach Ed Murphy and is based on reports he has received from those in charge of installation.

Play In Bowmanville

In the meantime, the club has two home dates here before the 12th they will be unable to fill due to the fact the grounds will not be available while the work is being completed. Thus due to a heavy schedule ahead, including postponed games, the next two games will be played in Bowmanville this Saturday (an afternoon fixture) and on Monday (Civic Holiday) at 10.30 a.m. Saturday's game is against Toronto Aces with whom Marines are now virtually tied for second place, while Monday's is against Staffords.

Five Games In Six Days

The club is also scheduled to fill two regular dates away this week on Thursday and Sunday against Staffords and New Toronto in Toronto. So it will be a busy week-end for the Murphy men. They play next Tuesday too, making five games in six days.

Today the Marines shape up as one of the strongest teams Peterborough has had in years. In the catching department, Al Menzies has returned and is in good shape. Freddy Garvey did a fine job during his absence and can now return to second. At first, Joe Stewart is available with Dadson and Glazier also, if needed. Danny Brown is at short with Howie Dalton and Bud Harrison to take over the hot corner and the latter able to fill in elsewhere.

Murphy now has five pitchers with Bill Edger, Doug Plunkett, Lefty Dadson, Ed Whitehill and youthful Frank Glazier, the New Hampshire southpaw, available for duty. It's a cinch all these boys will see some action in the next few days.

Petes Minors Win In Overtime

In overtime Petes downed the Tigers 10-6 in a minor lacrosse game at Miller Bowl Tuesday. The lead seesawed back and forth throughout as the Petes were up 2-1 at the end of the first, down 3-2 at the half and up 5-4 at three-quarters.

The Tigers tied the score six-all in the last frame but failed to hold in the extra time.

Jay opened the scoring in a passing play with McCarthy for the Tigers but the Petes surged back to score twice, first Ferguson with O'Neil, then Mountney alone.

Tigers evened the score at two-all on a goal by Ketcheson in the second and went ahead at the half 3-2 on Jay's second goal.

Davis started the Petes on a three-goal scoring spree in the third on a pass from Kent. Coombs later drifted in with O'Neil setting him up. Ferguson notched the third with O'Neil again assisting. Jay flipped in his third counter of the game for the Tigers, Ketcheson also in on the play.

Jay ruled the roost for the Tigers in the fourth as he sent the Tigers ahead on his fourth and fifth goals. First with Ketcheson and then with Kelly. Coombs with his second goal, rallied with Ferguson to tie the score and force overtime play.

Davis whipped in two goals in the overtime period, the first unassisted and the second with Ferguson. Coombs rapped in his third and fourth counters, Davis assisting on the last, to assure the Petes the win.

Lineups — Petes — F. Heffernan, T. Davis, D. Walker, L. Ferguson, C. Coombs, D. Mountney, B. O'Neil, B. Rogers, D. Kent.

Tigers — G. Heffernan, R. Jay, P. Ketcheson, G. DeNoble, W. McCarthy, T. Maniece, K. Dixon, T. Kelly, B. Heard.

Curt Simmons Philosophical About Call Up

By RALPH BERNSTEIN.

INDIANTOWN, Pa., Aug 2 — (AP)—"Like a lot of guys who are going to have dreams turn to nightmares, I'll make the best of it says 21-year-old Curt Simmons, the first major-league player to trade baseball flannels for army khaki in the current war.

The Philadelphia Phillies' southpaw was called to active service with the army Tuesday when the war department activated his national guard outfit — the 28th Division of Pennsylvania. Curt will report to Camp Atterbury near Ebensburg, Pa., on or about Sept. 1.

Simmons got a special pass from the Pennsylvania Guard's summer encampment here by plane Tuesday night to seek his 15th National League victory against Cincinnati at Philadelphia. But in the second game the Reds knocked Curt from the box in the fourth inning.

"I hope I have better luck against those Reds in Korea," he joshed.

How does he feel about the quick chain of events that lifted him from a pitcher battling for a pennant to a soldier?

A Tough Break

"Of course it's a tough break but I'll do what thousands of other fellows are going to have to do—pitch in and help get the war over so I can get back to playing baseball."

Simmons will probably pitch a few more games this year. He can obtain passes for night game chores while finishing out the present guard encampment at Indiantown, Gap. After that he'll have to leave the clean up business affairs before reporting to Camp Atterbury.

Club president Bob Carpenter was philosophical about the loss of his $65,000 bonus investment that was just beginning to pay dividends after four years with the team.

"Curt, like a lot of other boys has been called to win a bigger fight than the one for the National League pennant. Naturally it's a tough blow to our team but that's life," Carpenter said.

Fear Senior OHA May Fold Up

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP). — Fears were expressed today that the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A circuit—home of Toronto's Allan Cup-holding Marlboros —may fold this year unless Niagara Falls fields a team.

The Falls will decide this week if it is to enter the circuit.

Unless it decides to come in, it is understood the Kitchener-Waterloo entry may drop out and that probably would mean the loss of Owen Sound Mercurys, leaving only Toronto and Hamilton Tigers in the league.

"Obviously we couldn't operate a two-team league," said Toronto president Harold Ballard Tuesday night.

The Kitchener club already is experiencing arena difficulties. It must play in the Waterloo Arena seating only 2,200 people.

Mr. Ballard said the entry of the two clubs into the Quebec Senior Hockey League hasn't been considered but that Hamilton Tigers said their arena isn't big enough 'to pay the freight for Quebec league standards."

Cubs Capture Twin Bill From Bisons

By The Associated Press

Stan Hack's Springfield Cubs are making a spirited bid for fourth place in the International League — the final qualifying position for the post-season playoffs, now less than 1½ months away.

The Cubs, an in-and-out team all season, climbed to within two games of fourth-place Jersey City Tuesday night by sweeping a double-header from Buffalo 5-3 and 3-1.

Bill Veiselle, seeking to return to the big leagues, stopped Buffalo on three hits on the nightcap. It was his third victory against one setback.

Ted Sepkowski, Bob Thurman and Ransom Jackson hit home runs in the opener to ease Al Porto's fourth win.

Jersey City, meanwhile, slipped past Montreal 2-1, when a fumble by Walt Fiala, Montreal's second baseman, in the ninth allowed Ziggy Jasinski to score the winning run. Andy Tomasic was the winner, Al Epperly the loser.

Edge Closer

Baltimore edged closer to the league-leading Rochester Red Wings by sweeping a double-header from Toronto 5-4 and 1-0 while Red Wings dropped a 12-6 slugfest to Syracuse. Rochester's lead now is four games.

A run-scoring double by catcher Bob Unser in the ninth inning of the second game at Toronto snapped a scoreless duel between lefty Bill Kennedy of the Orioles and Toronto's Ron Robertson. Kennedy fanned seven in taking his 12th game.

Syracuse, paced by Benny Zientara's three singles, loosed a 14-hit attack against four Rochester hurlers. Zientara knocked in four runs, as did Al Rubeling of the Chiefs. Jim Prendergast won his fifth, while Johnny Wittig dropped his fourth.

Tigers Whip Yankees 7-3 Wertz Bat Sparks Victory

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The sensational stick work of Vic Wertz is keeping Detroit Tigers on top—by one game — in the pulse-pounding American League pennant race.

Wertz' big bat has accounted for four Detroit triumphs in the Tigers' current home stand. Rival pitchers consider it a moral victory if they can get him out just once a game.

Tommy Byrne, an old Tiger tamer, found the feat impossible Tuesday night. As a result the southpaw lost his first game of the season to the Tigers, who went on to whip New York Yankees 7-3 in the first of an all-important three game series.

Wertz hammered two home runs and a single and drew a walk in four times at bat, to drive in three runs. The round-trippers gave him seven homers in five consecutive games. That tied a record set by Babe Ruth in 1921 and equalled by Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1929.

Phenomenal Average

He's been retired only four times in his last 24 times at bat. During that torrid hitting streak he's walloped four doubles and two singles besides his homers and has walked seven times. That's a phenomenal .764 batting average. No wonder he's way up there now with 22 homers, 97 runs batted in and a highly-respectable .319 batting mark.

The Tigers' triumph was tempered by an injury to Art Houtteman, Detroit's ace righthander who came up with a sore side muscle an hour before he was due to pitch Tuesday.

Dizzy Trout, a last-minute pitching replacement, turned back the Yankees with six hits. He was behind only once when he served a two-run homer to Johnny Mize in the sixth. That gave the Yankees a short lived 3-2 advantage. The Tigers roared back with five runs in the half of the sixth.

Whip Washington

Cleveland's third place Indians shot to within a game of second when they defeated Washington 8-2 Early Wynn spaced 10 hits for his 11th victory. Jim Hegan paced the Tribe's 11-hit attack with a double, triple and home run.

The fourth place Boston Red Sox whipped St. Louis Browns 7-3. Mel Parnell went the route for his eighth triumph.

Billy Pierce pitched Chicago White Sox to an easy 8-1 win over Philadelphia.

The National League race tightened a little when Brooklyn swept two games from Pittsburgh 21-12 and 3-1 to close within 3½ of the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils who split a pair with Cincinnati, winning the first 6-4 and losing the second 4-1.

The Cardinals regained second place, three games off the pace, thrashing Boston Braves 6-1. The defeat dropped the Braves into fourth place, one percentage point behind Brooklyn.

An Even Break

Del Ennis smashed his fifth homer in six games and drove in two more tallies with a single to pace the Phils to their first game triumph as rookie Bob Miller notched his 10th win. Ewell Blackwell gave the Reds an even break with a four hitter in the nightcap.

It took the Dodgers five weeks to get their June 24 victory over Pittsburgh in the official records. But they did it Tuesday night when they concluded the suspended game prior to playing their regularly scheduled one. Added two more runs for a total of 21 runs and 25 hits. Preacher Roe was credited with his 14th win in that one.

The scheduled game between New York Giants and Chicago Cubs was postponed by rain.

Hastings Boys Take Orphans For 10-5 Loss

Bigford of the Orphans matched the deliveries of Crowley of the Hastings Legion Tuesday night at the Bowl but the Hastings intermediates won 10-5. The return game will be in Hastings tonight.

Both pitchers allowed seven hits in the game which took slightly over an hour to run off. But the junior Orphans kicked in four across against two for the Legion.

Sullivan, McGrath, and Bigford all had doubles for the Orphans while O'Donoghue had two for three. Morrow for Hastings had a double. Sullivan, Casey and O'Donoghue fielded well for Peterborough.

Legion worked a hit and a walk for a run in the first and added another in the second which started on a walk. Again in the third a walk started a Legion rally for two runs to make the score 4-0. Two errors opened the fifth inning nd were followed by two hits which were good enough to send two additional runs across.

Peterborough took advantage of two Legion errors which opened the seventh inning. Sullivan and Casey then followed with hits to push three across to make the score 6-3.

Both teams were scoreless in the eighth. Legion jumped to the fore for four runs in the top of the ninth on two walks and two hits. Peterborough in their half of the inning tried to even the score but could only work Crowley for a walk and two hits for two runs. The final score was 10-5.

Lineups:

Hastings Legion—Spencer cf. P. Fife rf, B. Kelly ss, Morrow 3b, K. Oliver c, Thomas 2b. M. Fife 1b. Crowley p. Phillips lf.

Marino Wins Flyweight Title

HONOLULU Aug. 2 (AP)—Dado Marino, Hawaii's little brown doll won the world's flyweight ttile Tuesday night with a unanimous decision over Terry Allen of London in 15 rounds. Marino weighed 112, Allen 111½.

Marino, who waged an unsuccessful campaign in the British islands several years ago for the title, was the first American in 20 years to win the flyweight championship.

Both fought a torrid battle and bled freely from cuts over their left eyes.

A total of 10,762 fans paid $42,-673.

Marino carried the battle to Allen from the start. The left was Marino's big gun. He fights from a right-handed stance but is naturally left-handed.

Marino cut a deep gash under Allen's left eyebrow in the second round.

There were no knockdowns.

Mrs. M. Holt Wins Morrow Golf Trophy

The W. G. Morrow trophy, awarded to the women's second flight champion at the Peterborough Golf and Country club, was won this year by Mrs. Maurice Holt, a club spokesman announced today. Mrs. Stanley McBride placed second in the competition.

Other play at the course during July resulted in Miss Gladys Mortimer winning the J. F Strickland trophy, full handicap medal round, with Mrs. William Vanstone, runner-up and Mrs. Harry Baptie winning the H A Morrow trophy, handicap match play, with Mrs. Stanley McBride again runnerup.

Policemen Win 5-1

Policemen downed the Bus Drivers 5 to 1 in a Civic League game at Armour Road diamond Tuesday night behind the steady pitching of Graham Strickland. He managed to edge Lindsay Brown of the Bus Drivers by allowing nine scattered hits to Brown's ten. Both teams booted the ball twice.

The policemen actually won the game in the first inning when three runs crossed the plate. The Bus Drivers managed to score their only run of the game in the first. The rest of the game was scoreless with the exception of the policemen's fifth inning when they pushed two more runs across.

Macken Advances

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP). — Led by top-seeded Bren Macken of Montreal, favorites advanced through the second round of the Ontario tennis championships on Tuesday, leaving a flock of defaults behind them. Macken, Canadian Davis Cupper, won his first-round match by default and breezed through Dave Mackenzie of Toronto in the second round without losing a game. Brother B. Abbott of Toronto 6-2, 6-1.

BOBBY MORGAN is congratulated by Frank Shaughnessy after receiving award of a wrist watch for being the International League's most valuable player in 1949. Presentation of the award was made during ceremony before Cubs-Dodgers doubleheader at Ebbets Field Saturday. Morgan, 24, played in 1948 and 1949 with the Royals and was the league all-star shortstop. He is a third baseman with the Dodgers.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club will stage an international junior regatta at Lake St. Louis near Montreal Friday and Saturday with the avowed purpose of inaugurating Canada's foremost junior sailing classic.

Lynn Patrick, signed by Boston Bruins two weeks ago as coach, is being groomed to succeed Art Ross as general manager of the National Hockey League club, Ross disclosed in Boston Tuesday night.

Art said Patrick would hold his coaching post for two years and then move into the front office. At that time Bruin captain Milt Schmidt will succeed to the coaching job.

"We've brought Lynn in here as a permanent member of this organization," Ross told the writers.

"He's not an interim coach. He's the coach and he will be for two years and by that time he should be able to take over in here when he'll be succeeded on the bench by Schmiddy.

"Schmiddy deserves it—and, by the way—we haven't told him about this year.

"But Schmiddy can't play and do the coaching. He will work with Lynn the next two seasons and by then should be able to replace him and Lynn should be ready to run the office."

"Do you mean," asked a writer, "that he'll succeed you?"

"Yes," replied Ross, "I'm not going to be any younger two years from now, you know."

Fred Kijek, long - distance kicker with the 1950 Grey Cup champion Montreal Alouettes, turned up at drills of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Tuesday night, and club officials said he is expected to draw a uniform today.

Kijek has not been released by Alouettes. It was rumored Hamilton might trade their claim to Joey Pal, now working out with Montreal, in return for Kijek.

Alan McFater, of Toronto, and Jean Richard, of Montreal—both lightweights — Tuesday night fought to a 10-round draw in one of two main boxing bouts at Montreal's Stade Exchange.

In the other main event, Armand Savoie, of Montreal, kayoed Archie Goodbe, of Hartford, Conn., in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round lightweight event.

McFater, 19-year-old battler, was in the first 10-rounder of his career. Previously he had fought only eight-round matches and he won nine of 11 bouts.

Legion Midget Team Edges Kiwanis Entry

Canadian Legion edged the Kiwanis Tuesday night at Miller Bowl 9-8 in a midget lacrosse game while the bantam American Hotel team battled the Irwin-Godson squad to a 14-all tie.

Kiwanis took a 3-2 lead in the first period and continued to add in the second to make the score 5-3 at the half. Although outscored in the third they managed to hold the lead 7-6 at the three-quarter-mark. Kiwanis faded in the fourth as the Legionnaires took the win with three tallies against one for the Kiwanians.

Allan of the Legion was tops with five goals and an assist while Scriver had two goals, Hobart and Curtiss each a single. Drury was in on three goals. Batley led the Kiwanians with two goals and four assists while Bloom and Delehaye each had three goals.

American Hotel took a one-goal lead, 4-3, in the first period of the high-scoring bantam game with Irwin-Godson. The car-dealers with five goals in the second against two for the hoteliers took the lead 8-6 at the half. Both teams added four goals in the third. Tallying four goals in fourth again the hoteliers tied the score 14-all as the dealers managed to notch two.

McDougall of the hoteliers piled up five goals and four assists to lead the scoring while Courynea scored four, Kane two and Roberts one. Hunt and Heffernan shared the car dealers scoring with six points each. Heffernan had four goals and two assists while Hunt had two goals and four assists. Other goals were by Sutherland two, Davis three, Morgan two and Doris one.

Tighter Defence For Bruins, Patrick Rules

BOSTON, Aug. 2 (CP)—Hockey fans can expect a different style of play by Boston Bruins next season—rougher with a tighter defence.

That was the word from Lynn Patrick, the newly-appointed Bruin coach who is being groomed to become general manager, when he arrived here Tuesday.

Lynn said he would "probably change the wide-open style because you have too many goals scored against you."

"I like it a little rougher," the former New York Ranger said, "not roughness that draws penalties. I don't condone tripping penalties or slashing penalties, they're senseless. But if rough checking draws a penalty that's taking a chance on."

Permanent Spot

Patrick conferred with general manager Art Ross, director Frank Ryan and writers who were told by Ross that Patrick was a permanent member of the Boston organization.

"He'll coach for two years and then be succeeded on the bench by Milt Schmidt. Lynn then will come in here in this office."

Patrick, who coached New York Rangers into the Stanley Cup finals last season, had resigned to move to Victoria with his father Lester, a noted hockey figure.

At Victoria he was going to coach his father's club, Victoria Cougars, and learn the business end.

"I'm getting the same opportunity here in the big league. It's toog ood to pass up and it's been my ambition to get ahead in hockey. I don't want to be a coach all my life."

Picks Cleveland To Capture Pennant

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP). — James J. Dykes, the famous little round man of baseball, predicts Cleveland will win the 1950 American League pennant.

Currently operating as Connie Mack's assistant with the Philadelphia Athletics, Dykes said he is picking the Indians on "power and pitching, an unbeatable combination for a pennant machine."

Former manager of Chicago White Sox he dismissed Detroit Tigers in this manner: "we just left Detroit, where we won one of three games—and believe we should have swept the series. And it was our mistakes, and not superior Detroit play, which beat us in the two games we did lose."

the first with two runs and added another in the sixth. The Raybestos squad pushed one across in the fourth and five across in the sixth to take the lead 6-3. They added three more in the seventh and a single in the eighth against two for the canoers in the ninth.

Bombers Raze 20% Of Plants In North Korea

TOKYO, Aug. 2—(AP)—B29's that rained 400 tons of bombs on Hungnam Tuesday destroyed 20 per cent of main factory area buildings, the Far East Air Forces said today.

It was the second big strategic air strike at the North Korean east coast city, a chemical and explosives centre 115 miles north of the 38th Parallel. B-29's hit the city first Sunday.

The announcement said incomplete evaluation by photographs showed that 40 per cent of the main buildings received direct hits. Another 10 per cent of the target area was damaged.

The plant is considered North Korea's principal manufacturer of war material.

American fighter planes hit Chinju on the southern front today and left the city in flames.

One pilot reported residents fled from the city after the attack.

Chinju, 55 miles west of the southeast port of Pusan, is a focal point for the Communist thrust driving toward Pusan.

SEA CADETS

The Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps was organized Dec. 16, 1895, by the Navy League of Canada.

THE ONLY MECHANICAL ELEPHANT in the world took off for a 27-miles per hour, stroll through the Essex countryside recently. Made by Frank Stuart, a theatrical mask maker, the elephant is powered by a motor car engine which drives the moving legs. It has three forward gears and reverse. Composed of 9,000 parts, the elephant, which weighs over a ton, cost £1,200. Orders for similar elephants have been received from USA, Canada, Australia and South Africa. As the elephant moved off from Blue Gates Studio at Thaxted, Essex, a tiny plume of smoke issued from the trunk—used an exhust pipe. The driver, Karl Nelles, is an ex-prisoner of war from Germany. In photo above Thaxted kiddies enjoy a ride on the man-made elephant as Karl takes it through the village streets.

Urges Canadian Participation In Korean Action

GRAVENHURST, Aug. 2 (CP)—George Drew, National Progressive Conservative leader, Tuesday urged Canadian participation in the United Nations action in Korea.

Speaking at the third annual summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Drew urged Canadians to close their ranks in the face of the international crisis so the country may join with other free nations against armed aggression anywhere in the world.

He said Canadian participation in the UN collective security program will be one of the first questions he will bring up at the next sessions of parliament.

"The principal of collective security against armed aggression is the real issue in Korea today," said Mr. Drew. "The threat to what we hold dear is greater today than at any time in our history, including the dark days of 1939."

He urged that a committee on national defence be set up to tell Canadians what is being bought with their money and what is being done to protect Canada.

Wants Reports

"No one should accept the statement that 'it is not in the public interest to reveal the facts.' Day by day the government should be reporting to the people what is being done to protect their freedom. They should give the people the bad news as well as the good. They must not leave the impression that everything is all right."

Mr. Drew said the world is split by an aggressive dictatorship using Communism as a method of expansion. But there was no Marxian Communism in Russia.

"We are dealing, not with a political ideal, but with a dream of continuing Russian expansion at the hands of men more powerful than any Czar."

He said it was a struggle "on a scale which we have never been called on to contemplate. It is a struggle for survival between two systems."

Give Heavy Sentences To 30 For Spying

PRAGUE, Aug. 2—(Reuters)—Thirty persons accused of espionage, high treason and preparation of murder were sentenced to heavy prison terms by the state court in Liberec, Northern Bohemia, it was announced here today.

Sixteen, including two women, were given hard labor for life.

Six, including one woman, got 25 years while the remaining eight received sentences ranging from nine to 23 years.

It also was announced that a third group connected with the organization of Mrs. Milada Horakova, who was sentenced and hanged recently, had been tried and sentenced last week.

Three sentenced were Fratisek Krepela, a former member of parliament who got 16 years, Rev. Zdenek Zkrabak, from Mistek, Moravia, 15 years, and Capt. Rudolf Stransky, 23 years.

Westerling Asks Halt In Extradition Case

SINGAPORE, Aug. 2 (Reuters)—Captain Raymond (Turk) Westerling, whose tough "Army of the Heavenly Host" captured the Indonesian city of Bandoeng last January, today asked the Supreme Court to halt extradition proceedings against him by the Indonesian government.

The case was adjourned until tomorrow after the court was told the British foreign office regarded treaties between Britain and Holland as applying also to the United States of Indonesia.

Westerling's counsel argued they could not apply to independent Indonesia. Even then they could only concern Indonesian subjects, which Westerling was not.

Quick Thinking Averts Major Explosion

SARNIA, Aug. 2. — Polymer Corp. employees are working around the clock in an effort to repair damage to a recovery unit caused by an explosion and fire shortly before noon Tuesday.

E. Ralph Rowzee, manager of the plant, stated officials were uncertain when the unit could be put back into production. In the meantime normal flow of gasses from Imperial Oil has been resumed to other sections of the plant.

According to Mr. Rowzee, a major catastrophe was averted by employees in the unit. An unidentified operator noticed a leak in a line delivering gas to Imperial Oil. He immediately started throwing safety valves which exhaust the unit to normal pressure and avert explosions. His fellow-workmen in the unit were right with him turning off valves.

In the meantime the fire department arrived at the scene, and was ready for action when the escaping gas ignited and exploded. The fire which followed was quickly extinguished.

The unit receives hydro carbon gasses from Imperial Oil and fractionates them for Polymer's various uses, returning the unwanted gasses to Imperial Oil.

The unit has been isolated and repair work is being carried out.

When the safety valves were thrown, the gasses were fed into flare stacks which started shooting flames 40 to 50 feet in the air during the time the unit was being exhausted of its pressurized gasses.

The flares and heavy pall of smoke brought spectators from both sides of the border to the scene.

Barge Breaks Loose

TORONTO, Aug. 2—(CP) — An oil barge was torn adrift from a tug during a high wind on Lake Ontario Tuesday. The tug, Helena, went out from Hamilton and picked up the barge a few hours later. It put back into Toronto. The tug Elsie Connors lost the barge Arthur Hermann about 18 miles out of Toronto. Another attempt to take the barge to Port Weller, at the head of the Welland canal, will be made today.

Dies From Burns

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 2—(CP) —Bill Wakeling, 23, died of burns in hospital Tuesday night, a few hours after his gasoline trailer overturned at a railway crossing west of Elginfield. Police said Wakeling, of R.R. 2, Lucan, was attempting to avoid a collision with a train when his truck overturned in a ditch and caught fire. He was married and had four children.

Knocked Off Chair

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 2—(CP)— A lightning bolt Tuesday night knocked a provincial police constable out of his chair and silenced the police radio set here for almost two hours. Hydro was cut off in part of the city for 90 minutes when a transformer was struck.

Find Missing Woman

STRATFORD, Aug. 2—(CP)— Mrs. Thelma Lingard, reported missing from her home since early Monday night, walked into police headquarters late Tuesday. The 35-year-old mother of six children asked to see a doctor. There was no immediate explanation for her disappearance, although police said the woman had laid an assault charge against her husband, Francis Lingard, of Stratford.

ELEVEN POUNDS, this husky pickerel was caught on the weekend at Chandos Lake near Apsley by Max Smith, Cobourg ball player, who is shown proudly holding his catch. The fish is 32½ inches long and 16 inches in breadth. Max caught it with a June bug spinner and worm, while trolling and he was using a 15-pound test line.

Goat Guards Sheep From Foxes, Bears

TRURO, N.S. — (CP) — Here's an answer for sheep herders who have been losing out to bears, dogs and foxes.

R. M. Burry, Guysborough county's agricultural representative said:

"When calling on a sheep man I was interested to hear him say he solves the bear, dog and fox problem by keeping a buck goat in the pasture with the sheep. The buck certainly keeps off the dogs, and, because of the peculiar scent, other animals such as bears and foxes are kept away, too.

"Who knows, perhaps he has something there!"

Lights Go Off

TORONTO, Aug. 2—(CP) — Street lights in a large area of North-Central Toronto were blacked out when falling trees snapped power lines Tuesday night in the Rosedale ravine. Service was restored early today.

Refugees Strain Resources At Hong Kong

HONG KONG — (CP) — This seaport colony on the China coast, Britain's one direct frontier with Communism, seems to be more concerned with domestic problems than with the conflict in Korea.

Biggest headache at the moment is the huge numbers of refugees that continue to pour into the colony. Accor to governor Sir Alexander Grantham, the settlement has a higher percentage of refugees than any other city in the world

Its population, now reported to be over the 2,000,000 mark, includes only about 14,500 Europeans and Americans. The remainder are mostly Chinese. This is more than twice the prewar figure, and some 20 per cent higher than last year.

These refugees are presenting the city with many problems of food, education and administration.

But, despite the large influx, which reached a high of 10,000 a week last year there have been no signs of widespread starvation; the standard of nutrition in fact, has not deteriorated at all General health, at the same time has improved. In 1940, for example, there were 7,29 cases of beri-beri in the colony; last year the figure was 100.

There is a serious shortage of water, supplied mostly by catchments, but investigation is under way to obtain water from the mainland part of the settlement.

Education, which is voluntary, is a problem. New enrolments are a strain on a system that still is in the throes of post-war construction. However, the confidence of the inhabitants in the future of the colony is reflected in this reconstruction and expansion of educational facilities.

Hong Kong University is constructing a new engineering and architecture building. Optimism is also shown by the British government, which has made a large restoration grant and has more than trebled its annual grant to the University.

Yorkshireman 100 Years Old Does Day's Work At Plant

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP). — Parliament is getting ready to pay tribute to one of the most remarkable men who ever sat in the House of Commons.

Two things are out of the ordinary about Theodore Cooke Taylor of Batley, Yorkshire—he'll be 100 years old Thursday, and he's still doing a full day's work at his Yorkshire woollen company.

Taylor was a Liberal member of the House of Commons for Lancashire Southeast from 1900 to 1918. Parliament is not sitting, but Col. Douglas Clifton Brown, speaker of the present parliament will send a special message of congratulations and goodwill on behalf of all members.

Two years ago Taylor visited Canada and the United States to investigate ways of increasing woollen exports to North America. Now he's talking of a return visit.

Avid Interest

Although he hasn't been a member for more than 30 years, his interest in politics is still avid. He made several vigorous speeches during last February's general election campaign.

In industry, Taylor is well known for his insistence on profit-sharing. He carried the idea into practice in his own company, which in Taylor's time has shared £2,000,000 ($6,200,000) among employees apart from their ordinary earnings.

Congratulations to Taylor mark a pleasant phase in what has already been tagged the "uneasy recess." The Commons adjourned last week and members are not scheduled to return until mid-October but many fear that international events may bring them hurrying back to a special assembly.

Investigate Penetang Hospital

PENETANGUISHENE, Aug. 2. —(CP) — Four Provincial government officials Tuesday investigated conditions at the Ontario Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

The investigation was ordered by Premier Frost of Ontario after complaints by Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound about the escape of two men committed to the asylum after being judged insane on murder charges.

The investigators made no statement after their inquiry.

He has MORE Anti-knock Quality for you....

Your Imperial Esso dealer has improved Esso and Esso Extra—top-quality gasolines for smoother performance.

Keep up-to-date with Esso and Esso Extra—the modern gasolines. For several months Imperial Esso pumps have been delivering higher anti-knock quality gasoline—just one of the improvements that are part of a continuing program to keep Esso gasolines abreast of car engine requirements.

When you buy Esso and Esso Extra you not only get higher anti-knock quality but in addition, controlled volatility and the best balanced combination of important gasoline qualities to give all-round performance.

Most cars now give satisfactory performance with ESSO—a balanced gasoline with stepped-up anti-knock quality and controlled volatility to give smoother performance at regular price.

Some cars—due to extra high compression, or the condition of the engine—need premium quality gasoline. For those cars your Imperial Esso dealer has ESSO EXTRA with extra anti-knock quality.

Fill your tank with ESSO or ESSO EXTRA. Take your car out on the road. Notice the fast starting, quick warm-up, surging power on hills and highways!

Sugar Hoarders Out Of Luck During 1950

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Some bad news for sugar hoarders is contained in "Sugar Facts", published by Canada and Dominion Sugar Co., Ltd., Chatham.

Canada's own sugar beet crop is expected to be the largest in history, with 102,300 acres producing more than 1,000,000 tons of beets. Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta all show substantial gains over 1949.

The United States sugar beet crop also is expected to exceed all records. Australia expects a heavy sugar cane crop for the third successive year. European acreage is up. Cuba still has available for sale in world markets 1,200,000 short tons of raw sugar over and above latest estimates of United States requirements.

Lamborn and Co., New York sugar brokers, are quoted as saying:

"There are mountains of sugar immediately available and in only a short space of time more mountains will be produced from new crops." "Sugar Facts" adds:

Hoarders Hit

When hoarders in various parts of the world have filled their cupboards, demand for sugar will slacken suddenly, observers say Prices will decline, inventories of sugar will have to be marked down and hoarders will be out-of-pocket.

In the meantime, with heavy buying, the world market for sugar is strong.

Steico Additions

H. G. Hilton, president of Steel Co. of Canada, Ltd., makes the following report to shareholders in a letter accompanying dividend cheques:

While supplies of semi-finished steel available from other mills during the first half of this year have been less than last year, the increase in your company's ingot production more than offset this decline and, as a result, a greater total tonnage of steel products was rolled during the first six months of 1950 than ever before.

As international developments have intensified the universal demand for steel and have curtailed exports from the United States upon which Canada has relied for many years for more than 25 per cent of its needs, the heavier burden thrown on Canadian mills has been materially helped by the greater domestic output.

Your company, nevertheless, is studying plans to add to basic steel and pig iron capacity and, meanwhile, progress has been made by increasing ingot production from existing furnaces through improved techniques as well as by expenditures for processing equipment.

The new plans will include added open hearth furnaces increased pig iron and coke production.

Mr. King's Will To Be Made Public In Week

OTTAWA, Aug. 2—(CP)—The will of former Prime Minister MacKenzie King is expected to be made public next week, sources concerned with it said Tuesday.

Meanwhile, there is speculation that Mr. King's diary, several typewritten volumes of personal comments on men and events, will be destroyed because that was his wish.

The will may throw some light on reports to that effect. The diary, covering many years of Mr. King's public life, would be an illuminating factor in any compilation of a biography of Mr. King.

Three executors are working on the will now in preparation for publication.

There have been reports that Mr. King's two properties—Laurier House in Ottawa and his summer home in Kingsmere, Que.—will be turned over to the government as state properties.

Denmark Government Faces Dollar Crisis

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 2—(Reuters—Denmark's minority Social Democrat government is expected to fall victim of a crisis which has developed over the country's serious foreign exchange deficit. A general election is forecast for late September after an emergency parliament session Aug. 8.

Official estimates show that Denmark this year is likely to exceed her income of foreign currency by 400,000,000 to 500,000,000 kroner (about $60,000,000 to $75,000,000).

Nearly Aground

AMHERSTBURG, Aug. 2 (CP)—The steamship Detroit Edison, carrying 7,000 tons of coal, narrowly escaped going aground on the south end of Bob-Lo island in the Detroit River Tuesday when her steering gear jammed. The captain ordered both anchors dropped and the engines put full speed astern to stop the boat. The tugs Atomic and Patricia McQueen from Amherstburg put lines aboard the ship and towed it to Ecorse, Mich., for repairs.

Smart Rustlers Operate Across Bechuanaland, S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, — (CP) — The meat shortage in South Africa has resulted in an outbreak of rustling on a scale that would warm the heart of a Hollywood scenario writer. The main object of the poachers is not cattle, but deer.

Encouraged by high prices being paid for game and biltong (dried meat), poaching in Bechuanaland by gangs of Europeans operating from the Transvaal has reached alarming proportions and drastic measures are expected to be instituted to stamp it out.

S. A. Lombard, acting administrator of the Transvaal and provincial secretary, said recently that for some time negotiations had been in progress with the authorities in Bechuanaland to reach an agreement which would permit the police in the territory to pursue suspected poachers across the border into the Transvaal.

Policing the territory was a difficult task, he said, because of the large, uninhabited tracts of land, which had to be continually watched if poaching was to be detected and the culprits caught.

It was known, Lombard said, that in a comparatively short period 1,800 head of game, including impala, sable and eland, had been slaughtered by one gang of rustlers. Recently three trucks, loaded with biltong valued at about £8,000 ($24,800), were intercepted.

Suggest Own Police

Farmers now are discussing the possibility of appointing their own police to patrol their farm boundaries.

The minimum penalty for poaching is a fine of £100 or six months' imprisonment with hard labor. Weapons and vehicles used by the rustlers are confiscated

The gang usually travel to a central point in trucks, which are then parked under cover. The hunters spread out and later report back and indicate on large-scale maps where they have concealed the game they have shot. The trucks then proceed to these points, where the deer are skinned and butchered.

It has been estimated that thousands of pounds worth of biltong from Bechuanaland is sold in the Tranvaal each month.

WIDOW'S ALLOWANCE: "My husband was killed in action during the second world war and since then I have received a widow's allowance. If I remarry will I lose this allowance?" Yes, D.V.A. authorities tell us that you will lose your allowance if you re-marry.
FASHION TREND: "Is it true that skirts will be shorter and slimmer this fall? If so, what does an overweight, over 40 woman do?" Skirts are definitely shorter, and all definitely slim. Getting rid of some of the poundage seems to be the quickest way to conform to the fall silhouette. To help you we've sent along our reducing diet (a pound a day for 10 days on end).
CANNED RASPBERRIES: "Please give me a good recipe for canned raspberries. One that will preserve their fresh flavor." Our best recipe is this. Pick over the berries, pack them in sterile pint or quart jars. Tap down smartly as fruit is being packed so that the berries will not be floating in syrup when done. When jars are filled, place on rack in oven, temperature 300 deg. F. Do not put on rubbers or tops, do not have jars touching. When fruit is hot through and through and juice has begun to draw out (about 25 minutes), remove jars from oven and fill to overflowing with boiling syrup. Adjust rubbers, glass and zinc tops screw down tightly and invert to rest for leaks.

Old Scrap Book 90 Years Ago Comes To Light

A scrapbook owned by Dr. J. O'Donnell, a prominent dentist in Peterborough in the 1860s and 70s was uncovered Tuesday by Miss Genevieve Sullivan of the Public Library staff, which paints a lively picture of town life in those days.

Dr. O'Donnell belonged to a long list of organizations of all kinds and kept newspaper clippings of the organizations' activities through the years. He pasted them in a journal of the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada published in 1851.

The doctor was everything from a captain of the Protection Fire Company to a secretary of the Peterborough Literary Club.

In 1871 he ran for council calling himself a "man of the people" and in a violent advertisement criticized members of the former council as incompetent, interested only in their own cliques, and inefficient.

The clippings also record interesting events of the outside world. There is one of the "bloody day" Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

McGee's Assassination

The story of D'Arcy McGee's assassination in 1868 is also told in gory detail. The social lives and morals of the ladies of Parisian society came in for heavy criticism.

Reports of meetings of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, of which Dr. O'Donnell was a member, give an insight into the beginnings of dentistry as an established profession in the province.

One motion passed by the association read: "A committee appointed at a former meeting reported that it was not advisable to establish a dental school at present."

At the same meeting it was decided "that no license be granted to any applicant who has not an established office, and does not make dentistry a legitimate and regular business, but candidates who pass satisfactory examinations shall receive licenses when they locate, in accordance with the established rules of the board."

Painless Extraction

In an advertisement, Dr. O'Donnell claimed he could "extract teeth without pain."

Dr. O'Donnell was a member of the Masons and was its secretary in 1867. Many accounts of the activities of the Masons have been pasted in the scrap book.

Another story tells of the Firemen's Ball held March 1, 1867, in Caisse's hotel where the beauty of the decorations was exceeded only by the beauty of the women.

A list of the executive of the Literary Club includes the names, Sheriff James Hall, president; W. H. Scott, first vice president; John Burnham, second vice president; John Carnegie Jr., MPP, third vice president; J. A. Hall, treasurer; J. O'Donnell, secretary; and F. C. Taylor, assistant secretary and collector.

A Gymnastic Club was also started and the men practiced in the Union School. Dr. Poole, who wrote a history of Peterborough, was president of the group and Dr. O'Donnell was vice president. There was also a Dramtic Club and the doctor was its secretary.

One interesting story reveals how the fire brigade acquired some of its money to operate. At a meeting of the company, a motion was passed to the effect "that the thanks of this company are hereby tended to Messrs. McDougall and Co. for their liberal donation of $50 given by them for our services at the late fire."

One of the bits of new information that the scrap book reveals is that there was a Peterborough Library Association as early as 1853. A printed form pasted on the inside cover of the journal, Dr. O'Donnell used as a scrap book, stated that the book was the property of the Library which was established in 1853. Previously it was thought the Mechanics' Institute had started the first library in 1856.

July Building Totals $355,863

Building permits for July totalled $355,863, more than half of which was made up of a permit to build two apartment houses, valued at $200,000.

This is an increase of $214,423 over July, 1949, but is down by $91,435 from June of this year, when building permits were valued at $447,298.

Value of permits issued in the first seven months of 1950 is $2,464,908, a decrease of $209,956 from the seven-month total of $2,674,864 of 1949.

Total for the whole of 1949 was a record $3,781,799.

In 1949, there were three months during which permits valued at more than $600,000 were issued. Only May of this year with $1,250,000 exceeds that mark, and none equals it.

The apartment houses valued at $200,000 are being built by Walter Mortlock, and are owned by Parkdale Realty Co.

Roy Redpath Knocked From Motorcycle

Roy Redpath, who lives just west of Lakefield, was knocked off his motorcycle and suffered several cuts about his face and shoulders in a collision with a car in Lakefield Tuesday. His injuries were believed not serious.

Driver of the car, William Oliver, 564 Hamilton St., Peterborough, was driving east on King St. The accident took place as he was making a right turn into Queen St. Redpath had been travelling north on Queen St.

About $25 damage was done to the motorcycle, but the car was not damaged. Constable Aubrey Fitzpatrick of the provincial police investigated.

July Was Colder By 2.9 Degrees

July was colder this year—by 2.9 degrees on the average. July of 1950 had an average temperature of 65.8 and July, 1949, averaged 68.7.

Oddly enough, the lowest temperatures for both months were the same and came on the same date—45 degrees above on July 15 of both years.

Hottest day in July, 1949 was 92 seven degrees above the high of 85 for last month. July 9 was the hottest this year and July 3 the warmest in 1949.

Rainfall was also lower this July when 2.29 inches fell in Peterborough against 2.46 inches for the same month last year.

Fear New York Man Drowned In Quebec

VAL D'OR, Que., Aug. 2—(CP)—Prospectors and veteran bush rangers of this northwestern Quebec district were mobilized today to search for Martin Strauss III of New York City, who may have drowned near Lake Dozois.

Strauss' canoe was found drifting overturned in the lake Sunday.

The 26-year-old man's father, Martin Strauss II, came from New York to aid in the search for his only son.

The Val d'Or search party is being flown into the area. It will operate out of Camp Dorval which Strauss, against advice, left on a solitary fishing excursion July 22. He was later reported by Indians as having stopped at Rapide de lac Kanwaten. They tried to warn him of treacherous whirlpools.

Mother, Three Sons Face Robbery Charge

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—(AP)—A mother and three sons were charged today with robbing a luncheonette of $670.

Police said Mrs. Beatrice Polock, 49, acted as lookout and engaged a policeman in conversation while her sons, Joseph, 20, and William, 16, burglarized the place.

A third son, James, 19, allegedly planned the job.

"They did it of their own accord—just to help me, I guess."

TV Doubles

LONDON—(CP)— During the year ended April 30, 1950, television licences issued in Britain increased by 126,857 to a total of 221,115 for the year. The total of licences issued for all types of broadcast receivers was about 2,250,000.

Wheat Sprouting In Field Stook

Fall wheat in the townships of south Durham is reported sprouting in the stook from recent excess rain, Ed. A. Summers, agricultural representatives, reported to the district grain meeting Tuesday night at Robert Armstrong's farm in Cavan.

"Green sprouts have been noticed even in the grain that was cut last Saturday," Mr. Summers said. "Probably 75 per cent of the wheat that is standing in stooks has started to sprout."

Mr. Summers asked Dr. G. P. McCrostie of the field husbandry department, O.A.C., what could be done about it.

"I don't know," was the frank and amusing reply of one of the grain experts of this country. "If we could have known it was going to happen, we might have done something. It is only one year in quite a while that weather conditions bring about sprouting.

"There won't be any harm for feed, but I don't know what your miller would say about it."

Conditions in the Peterborough district, including Cavan and Emily, are highly satisfactory, F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, said today.

"Our farmers have another good crop of wheat, spring grain is ripening, pasture is good, and corn needs only some August sunshine. This district received timely rains, and crops generally very favorable."

Reeve Armstrong Honored By 200 Farmers

Reeve Robert Armstrong of Cavan township was presented with a pen and pencil set at a twilight crop meeting Tuesday night at his home, two miles west of Scott's Corners.

Around 200 farmers of Durham and Peterborough counties attended this crop demonstration which was arranged by Ed. A. Summers and Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representatives of Durham and Peterborough counties respectively. The presentation by Mr. Summers followed Mr. Paterson's expression of appreciation of Mr. Armstrong's special contribution in the district as a grower of registered grain.

This meeting was arranged on short notice by the two "ag reps" as secretaries of their county Crop Improvement Associations. Mr. Armstrong has grown 64 test lots of oats and barley, apart from his elite Cornell wheat, in co-operation with both Departments of Agriculture and O.A.C. Recently as they were maturing it apparently occurred at the same time to Mr. Paterson and Mr. Summers that farmers should be urged to see the sample plots of grain.

Everybody was impressed with the response of so many farmers from the two counties and also by the program featuring Dr. G. P. McCrostie, director of the field husbandry department, O.A.C., Dr. J. R. Weir, pasture specialist of that department, Ken Fallis of the crops and seeds branch of the Ontario Department.

Co-operates With O.A.C.

Dr. McCrostie paid a tribute to Reeve Armstrong in the field part of the program.

"Mr. Armstrong has been for years one of our best co-operators," Dr. McCrostie said. "His plots show what we want them to show. We can't tell at Guelph specifically what to do for you. Your soil and atmosphere are different from ours in the Guelph area, and there is a difference in moisture, and so on.

"We naturally decided the best thing to do was to get production out where the new seeds were likely to be grown."

Mr. Paterson said that although Mr. Armstrong lived in Cavan and was now reeve of his townships, Peterborough was glad to put some claim on him. He is president of the Peterborough Crop Improvement Association of which he has been a member for years, and he has also been a vice-president of the Durham Association. He is one of the few farmers in Ontario who has been consistently carrying on the special work of growing registered grain. The government saw to it that he got some of the first elite Cornell wheat that was distributed to registered grain growers a year ago.

"You all know this work he has been doing, and I know that he is glad so many of you came out here this evening."

Mr. Armstrong thanked the members of the two associations for their gift, and commented on the interest of so many farmers in the grain demonstration of test rows as indicated by their attendance.

Dr. Weir was introduced by Stuart Bowman, district inspector seeds for the federal Department of Agriculture.

Mel McHolm of Port Hope, president of the Durham Crop Improvement Association, was chairman.

Men Begging Meals

Reports to police of two men begging meals in the city on Tuesday brought a scathing comment today from William Mellis, National Employment Service manager.

"They're just some of these guys who are looking for work and are afraid they'll get it," he said.

Police Chief John Thompson said today that housewives in two sections of the city reported men begging meals on Tuesday.

"They're the first reports like this that we've had in a long time," he said.

On Tuesday, Mr. Mellis predicted a seasonal rise in unemployment toward the end of the summer, although he said there were a number of jobs open. He said that during July, 1,039 persons were claiming unemployment insurance.

Three New Stores To Be Built On Charlotte St.

The Bradburn terrace of three dwellings on the north side of Charlotte St., between Bethune and Aylmer streets, is to be converted with enlargment into three stores with apartments overhead. The property is owned by Gradburns Securities Limited of which Mr. H. I. Bradburn is secretary-treasurer.

The three stores will be built from the street line back through the ground floor of the terrace which is virtually disappearing in the plans which have been in consideration for the last year or two.

"The tenants are moving out by the 15th of this month," Mr. Bradburn informed the Examiner today, confirming the significance of the removal of two trees from the Charlotte St. frontage.

Start In One Month

"Construction will be begun in a month. We have not yet had any enquiry for the layout of any of the stores for special requirements, but if anyone was interested it would be considered before the work is actually begun."

Exterior repairs of the building have been deferred by Bradburns Securities in the expectation of proceeding with the conversion project this fall.

The present building will not be demolished. Its interior is in good condition and is suitable for considerable use in the proposed change which will greatly alter the familiar appearance of that Charlotte St. block.

Centennial Year

Did You Know These Facts?

THAT after the 1825 settlers from Ireland had been in Canada one year, the yield of crops in 11 townships surrounding Peterborough amounted to 67,799 bushels of potatoes, 25,623 bushels of turnips, 10,438½ bushels of Indian corn, and 9,067 pounds of maple sugar.

THAT 363½ bushels of wheat were sown in the fall by the settlers in this area after only one year in the country.

THAT Michael Cronin wrote to his mother and other relatives in Ireland from Huntley township in 1823 that "Mr. Robinson, our superintendent, is uncommonly humane and good to us all."

THAT "he send people which are in the habit of building houses with the whole of us and each man's house is built in the course of two days."

THAT Mr. Robinson promises a cow to the head of every family next spring and several other things which I have not mentioned."

THAT "on reaching shore each man is served out in the day with one pound of bread or flour and one pound of beef or pork and each woman, boy and girl the same."

THAT this information and a great deal more, is contained in the documents displayed in the centennial exhibition of books, pictures, records, maps and pioneer articles which opened last week at the Public Library and will be on view until late in September.

Seven Yachts Reach City On 270-Mile Cruise Toronto To Lake Simcoe

Seven slick cruisers from the Toronto Power Squadron moored at the George St. wharf shortly before 1 p.m. today, and the 25 nautical tourists came ashore to sample Peterborough's hospitality. Several hundred local residents lined the wharf to see Alderman Adam Sands welcome Commodore Reff Reid as he stepped off the lead boat. The seven boats are the hardy survivors of a squadron of 15 that set out early Monday morning from Toronto. A severe storm in Lake Ontario forced eight of them to abandon their cruise up the Trent waterway.

"Another five boats were supposed to come down from Georgian Bay and meet us here in Peterborough," observed Commodore Reid after thanking Alderman Sands for the welcome. "I don't know where they've got to."

Clutch trouble and a gas leakage in Pegg III, owned by George Agnew, Toronto, caused another delay. It took some tricky handling by Mr. Agnew and the rear boat of the squadron, skippered by George Ainsworth to get Pegg III through the locks without incident.

Because of the gear trouble Pegg III could not reverse and to perform this motion it had to be towed in reverse by Mr. Ainsworth's speedy clipper cruiser, Kay II.

Cheered By Cottagers

As the seven sped up the winding Otonabee from Hastings they were roundly cheered by summer cottagers who lined the banks to watch them go by line-astern.

An aircraft wheeled overhead taking pictures and at least a hundred people saw the boats go through the Lansdowne Lock. Tomorrow most of them will continue on to Lake Simcoe, completing their 270-mile cruise up the Trent.

Trip Around Stony

Later today the party will be driven by car convoy as far as Young's Point and then once more they will take to the water. This time it will be in smaller launches so the visitors can see the scenery around Clear and Stony Lakes.

James Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, explained: "It's a trip I think they'll all enjoy. There are about 1,200 cottages around Stony and these Toronto visitors will be able to see why we advertise the Kawarthas."

Then this evening they will be given a reception and dinner at Crowe's Landing, probably Irwin Inn. The city of Peterborough and the Chamber of Commerce will be joint hosts.

Here is a list of the seven boats and their passengers:

Marita II, skippered by the commodore of the Toronto Power Squadron, Reff Reid. Also on board—Mrs. Reid and son Stanley.

Betty Jane, skippered by Ken Halliday with two passengers.

A boat with no name—christened "the honeymooner" by the others in the squadron. On board are Mr. and Mrs. James Gartshore, married five months ago and only now taking their honeymoon.

The Gartshores were taking a course on boats and couldn't be interrupted for even such an important thing as a honeymoon before. Another indication of their nautical keenness is the fact they have been working on their boat—painting and constructing—as the squadron cruised along.

The Chaldean is skippered by James Brown. With him are his wife and two girls, Laureli and Heather.

Lazee is skippered by George Cark, with his wife and son Noel.

Another family trio is on the Pegg III, skippeerd by Geo. Agnew. He is accompanied by his wife and daughter Pat.

The largest party is aboard Kay II, is fastest cruiser in the squadron. Aboard—Mr. and Mrs. George Ainsworth, a son George Claire, and daughter Norma; also Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Lamson.

All 25 of the party are from Toronto.

As the seven boats passed under the CNR railway bridge, George Lockington, bridge attendant for 38 years, said it was the largest number of boats to go through the swing span at one time since he took the job. He was attendant at the Nassau bridge for 37 years and this year is looking after the swing span on the CNR bridge, just north of the Lansdowne locks.

After weathering Saturday's storm the seven boats stopped at Port Hope. They stayed at Trenton and then at Campbellford Monday night. Tuesday night they anchored at Hastings and once again drew a large crowd of both children and adults.

"I guess everyone along the Trent system loves a boat," commented one of the pleased skippers.

Tomorrow they will continue their Trent cruise toward their destination, Lake Simcoe.

Home Destroyed Before Workmen Finish Building

The partly completed home of William Peal on the Lakefield highway about one mile south of Lakefield was destroyed by fire early this morning.

The Bridgenorth fire department, under Fire Chief Al Crowe answered the call. Although the pumper arrived at the fire 20 minutes after receiving the call about 4 a.m., the house was "pretty well gutted." Nothing was standing after the flames had run their course.

Chief Crowe said he thought the fire had been burning some time before he got the call. Some attempt had apparently been made to get the Lakefield fire department out, but the village fire fighters have no agreement with the Smith township. The Bridgenorth pumper will answer calls anywhere in the township.

About 17 volunteers answered the fire alarm and jumped on the fire truck to fight the blaze. Using water from the truck's tank, because no other source of water was available, the men doused nearby house foundations and piles of lumber to prevent sparks from igniting them.

The fire was believed started by an oil stove inside the house where Peal had been living. The exterior of the house had been pretty well completed but the inside was unfinished.

Mr. Peal told the fire chief the building was covered by construction insurance.

It was the first time the Bridgenorth fire department had been called out to fight a building fire. On their first three calls, the new firefighters had only grass fires to deal with.

Speedboat Sinks 60 Feet Of Water

A speedboat, believed owned by Carl Duffus of Peterborough, overturned early Sunday morning in Stony Lake and sank in 60 feet of water.

Several passengers aboard the boat were taken to shore by other nearby craft. One of the passengers, who could not swim, was kept afloat until a canoeist took him to shore.

Salvage plans for the vessel have not been disclosed by Mr. Duffus.

STOP AT ARMOURIES

A convoy of trucks from the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps School at Camp Borden stopped briefly at the armouries Tuesday noon. The 30 trucks, loaded with barracks supplies, two jeeps and a wrecker were going to Ottawa. The trucks waited here until word was received from one which had broken down on the Lindsay highway.

Arctic Explorer Dies In Crash

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Col. Charles Hubbard, famed Arctic explorer and former Harvard football great, was among nine men killed in a plane crash 500 miles from the North Pole. Eight Canadians died with him.

Since 1946 Hubbard has been chief of the Weather Bureau's Arctic section.

Working with the Canadian weather service, he helped to set up six far-northern observation posts. The posts were manned the year around, and had supplied valuable information to the Weather Bureau.

For most of his eventful life Hubbard was an explorer.

He was a member of the All-American football team while at Harvard in 1922 and 1923. He played guard, was captain of the Harvard team.

The crash occurred near the site where, in 1948, Hubbard found the flask containing original documents left there by Admiral Perry during his dash to the Pole in 1905.

Plan Gladiolus Display For Centennial Show

Several large Ontario gladioli growers have indicated their intentions to have large displays at the Peterborough Centennial Flower show August 16-17, a Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society official said today.

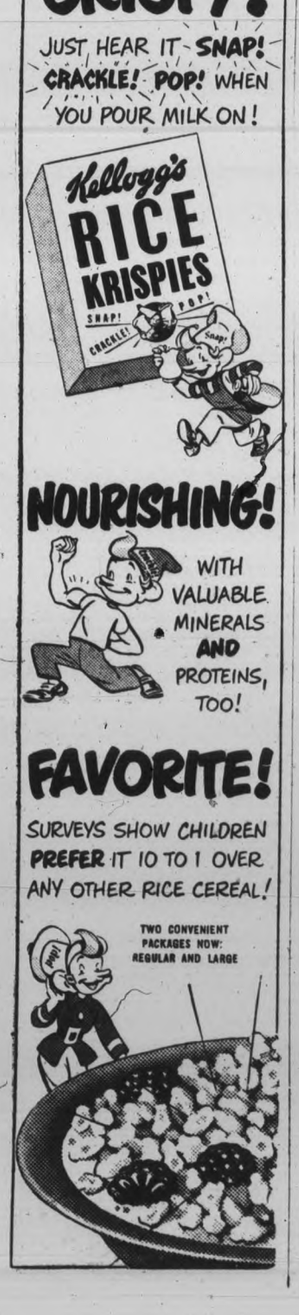
In addition to these displays gladioli from the test gardens under the supervision of George Clarke at Wallace Point will be shown. The Peterborough garden is one of four tests gardens in Ontario this year. Others are in Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Oshawa.

Mr. Clark, Dr. J. H. Leslie and Fred Storey will be the judges and Bud Lloyd will act as scorer.

F. Hacking, chairman of the flower show, is planning to have one of the largest entries in the junior section. Prizes will be awarded to the juvenile contestants. Any junior wishing to exhibit should write Mrs. J. H. Leslie, 296 Park street, for the prize list.

These Changing Times

EDMONTON, Alta — (CP) — Steel girders didn't move as fast to the job when they were building the MacDonald hotel here 38 years ago as they are moving today toward the hotel's 300-room extension. Joseph Smith had a hand in both jobs. Today he is moving the steel by truck from the railway yard—38 years ago he hauled all of it with horses and oxen.



WILDERNESS ORPHAN Bambi, a five-week-old fawn, is shown being bottle-fed by Joan Ointment, 8, of Apsley. The little animal drinks three pop bottles-full of milk each day plus ice cream and candy bars supplied by interested tourists.

Count Livestock Entries At Quebec Rural Fairs

By WILLIAM STEWART

QUEBEC, Aug. 1 — (CP) — Count will be kept this summer of livestock entries at rural fairs held all across the country.

When the season ends officials of the Canadian Association of Exhibitions will check 1950 figures against last year's to find out whether entries drop as a result of cancellation by the railways of special freight rates formerly allowed exhibitors.

The low rates that applied for as long as most exhibitors remember were cancelled in February. Livestock exhibitors, for the price of one-way freight charges, could take prize animals from their farms to the shows and back again.

This low-rate privilege disappeared when the railways argued their cases for freight-rate increases. They were asked to cut out some preferential tariffs and the prize-livestock cheap rate was one of those that vanished.

Emery Boucher, Secretary-Treasurer of Quebec exhibition and Secretary Manager of the C. A. E., said the association is organizing carefully reporting of 1950 exhibition results.

Some Not Affected

'Some fairs probably won't be affected much," he said. "For instance. Livestock exhibitors at Quebec, Sherbrooke Ottawa and London, Ont., appear to rely mostly on truck transportation.

"Here in Quebec city about 1,100 or 1,200 head of livestock go on show every year and it is about the same for Sherbrooke, the centre of an important raising district. We'll know by October what will happen."

Mr. Boucher said effect of the cancellation probably will be felt most heavily at such shows as the Canadian National Exhibition and later at the Roya. Winter Fair in Toronto which have entries from all parts of Canada."

The C.A.E. Secretary-Manager said effect may also be felt at western Canadian shows, adding that in some cases, exhibitors may start trucking their cattle where they used to ship them by railway.

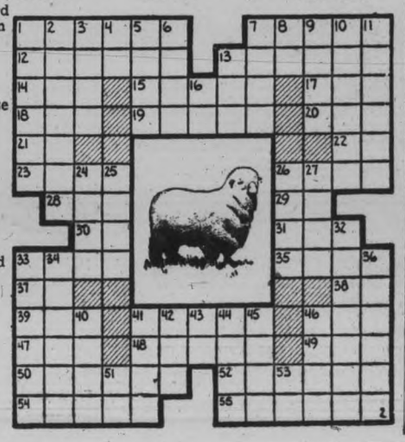
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Fruit Canners Import Apricots

KELOWNA, B.C., — (CP) — Okanagan Valley fruit canning companies are importing hundreds of tons of California apricots to offset curtailed soft fruit production—caused by the severe winter.

Canneries here and at coastal points are sharing the apricots—2,000 tons of which are reported to have been shipped into the province.

Cannery officials here say the move is designed to keep canneries busy and provide employment. Federal Government restrictions on importation of apricots and peaches have been lifted.

Meanwhile, a cheque from Ottawa for $1,956,993 — emergency assistance to fruit growers hard hit last winter—was expected to arrive any time.

The B. C. Fruit Growers' Association has asked Ottawa for an additional $2,500,000 under the Agricultural Prices Support Act.

Irish Police Told To Look Into Case of Molly Donahue

Irish police are patrolling Eire's beaches to clear them of colleens in modern bathing suits The crusade is also being pushed by self-appointed vigilante committees, which note briefly clad beauties and report them to the police and the public, relates The Milwaukee Journal

This attempt to force fashionable dressed young women to wear more clothes is undertaken in the prudish belief that they spoil the view. It's not a new crusade. Ireland has been warring on modern bathing suits, sun bathing and even mixed bathing on beaches for years.

Getting Nowhere

Trouble is the crusade is getting nowhere. While the Irish are partial to policing as a career they don't like policemen. As fast as police run a scantily clad colleen from the beach, a dozen take her place. Authorities are weary with the shame of it.

The police seem to lack the ability to learn from history They forget the case of Molly Donahue, as told by Peter Finley Dunne, and the lesson it teaches

Molly was a pretty Irish lass, with the spirit that terrifies Orangemen and eyes that twinkled like the blue sparks from a peat fire. She was "idjucated," too. She "cud pass th' butther in Frinch an' paint all the' Chiny dishes in th' cubb'rd," Time and again her father "ate a green paint ha-arp along with his cabbage an they had to sind f'r Docther Hinnissy f'r to pump th' a-art work ou. him."

Bought Bicycle

With all her accomplishments, Molly wasn't satisfied. She had a fierce determination to be modern. She bought a bicycle and a divided skirt, in the days when women wore nothing less than six petticoats When she rode home on her new bike in her new outfit, old man Murphy saw her coming. He gasped sicked his dog on her and ran into the house with his hands over his eyes. Her father, red with shame, screamed to his wife: "Honoria, bring a barrel. Molly has come away without anything on but Sarsfields' pants. . "

The neighborhood was in a tumult over the shame of it But Father Kelly, who was passing by, didn't bat an eyelash.

"Tut, tut," he said to Donahue and Murphy. Then he turned to Molly.

"Molly," he said, "ye look well on that bicycle. But 'tis th' first time I iver knowed ye was bowlegged."

Loses Defiance

Molly dashed into the house, her defiance gone. Next day Doheny's express wagon was seen hauling the bicycle away. The divided skirt was knit into rag rug, and old man Donahue rests his feet on it in righteous satisfaction.

There's a lesson there for Irish police. Force won't put clothes on colleens. But psychology and vanity might — at least on the bowlegged.

More 'Quakes Shake California Valley

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug 2 — (AP)—More earthquakes shook the Imperial Valley early Tuesday.

Loose bricks were shaken from already damaged structures in the valley town of Calipatria, Police Chief Robert Merrill said. The damaged side of a grocery store collapsed.

Reports from the valley towns of Westmoreland and Brawley said there was no appreciable damage there.

State Funeral Arranged For Mitchell

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (CP)—Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, 55, labor minister, arbiter of industry and champion of the common man, will be buried in Ottawa Friday with a full state funeral.

Chief of the labor department through nine hectic years of war and peace—longer than any labor minister in Commonwealth history—Mr. Mitchell died suddenly in hospital early Tuesday.

His body will lie in state Friday in parliament's hall of fame to which he himself went only last week to pay last respects at the bier of former prime minister Mackenzie King.

Plans for the capital's second state funeral in as many weeks have not yet been completed and will depend on the time of arrival in Ottawa of Mr. Mitchell's youngest son, John. He is flying from Vienna where he is attached to the international refugee organization.

To Lie In State

It is planned that the minister's body will lie in state from Friday morning until Friday afternoon. A state funeral procession—on the same formal basis but perhaps not as elaborate as that for the late prime minister—will leave Parliament Hill for St. Barnabas Anglican Church.

The Rev. H. W. Browne, rector of St. Barnabas, will conduct the service and burial will be in Beechwood Cemetery in suburban Ottawa.

The funeral will be attended by all Mr. Mitchell's cabinet colleagues who are in Ottawa, headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent who is coming here from his summer home at St. Patrice, Que.

Gagnon Plays Host To Laval Students

QUEBEC, Aug. 2 (CP)—Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon Tuesday was host to students at Laval University's French summer courses at a government reception.

Mr. Gagnon told the students that the study by English and French-speaking Canadians of each other's native tongues was a work of Canadian unity.

Mr. Gagnon noted tht presence of Roland Michener, former Ontario provincial secretary, who is following the French courses here with his wife and two daughter. Mr. Gagnon said Mr. Michener had done much work in connection with inter-provincial visits between Quebec and Ontario students.

Ignore Foreign Wars

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Aug. 2—(CP)—A resolution urging that Canada avoid participation in foreign wars was passed Tuesday by the Union of Catholic Farmers of St. Hyacinte diocese. The resolution was one of a number passed by the Diocesan Farmers' Organization at its annual meeting.

Ask Higher Fare

HAMILTON, Aug. 2 — (CP) — The Hamilton Street Railway was authorized Tuesday night to ask the Ontario Municipal Board for permission to increase fares. The city board of control told the railway to ask for an increase in ticket prices from four tickets for 30 cents to three tickets for 25 cents.

Canada And France Sign Air Agreement

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (CP). — Canada and France Tuesday signed a new bilateral air agreement, paving the way for direct air traffic between Montreal and Paris.

The agreement was signed by Transport Minister Chevrier and Jean Basdevant, charges d'affaires at the French Embassy.

Under the pact, the French air line, Air France, will operate on the Paris-Montreal route, inaugurating commercial flights some time within the next few months.

Trans-Canada Air Lines, designated the Canadian carrier, likely will initiate operations before the 1951 summer traffic season opens.

Charge Stalin Voicing Hate Doctrine

LONDON, Aug. 2 Reuters) — The Daily Herald today accused Prime Minister Stalin of voicing a doctrine of "hatred and suspicion" and charges the people behind the iron curtain are not allowed to read and judge what is happening in the world.

The Herald, official organ of the British Labor party, says Stalin's air is to "scare" his countrymen into a condition of increasing "war-mindedness."

"Mr. Stalin has written an article in the Russian Communist magazine, Bolshevik," the Daily Herald editorial says. "It is very revealing. It is also very depressing.

"For it preaches once again the doctrine that Soviet Russia is mortally threatened by 'capitalist encirclement.'

"It says that in order to avoid being destroyed by this encirclement Russia must strengthen 'the organs of the state, the intelligence service and the army.'

Only One Meaning

"Not until there has been a 'victory of socialism in the majority of countries' can these rules be relaxed. And of course by 'socialism' Stalin means Communism. He certainly does not mean the democratic socialism which came to power in Britain in 1945. . . .

"All cominform propaganda vilifies democratic socialism everywhere. And in all countries where Communism seizes power the Democratic Socialists are marked down for rapid liquidation.

"Stalin's article shows . . . that when he agreed to the United Nations charter—with its pledge 'to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and for the suppression of acts of aggression'—he had his tongue in his cheek.

Gives Million For Church

DETROIT, Aug. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Henry Ford, widow of the automotive pioneer, today announced the gift of a fund of approximately $1,000,000 to the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan for a church in Detroit. The church will be built on an 8½-acre site surrounding the private cemetery where Henry Ford is buried.

A Bad Risk

Just A Bluff

UXBRIDGE, Aug. 2 — (CP) — A 300-pound woman tried to throw her weight around in court Tuesday. Mrs. Viola Myers threatened to "sit down right here" if convicted of keeping liquor for sale. Convicted she was—but it was all a bluff. She meekly allowed herself to be led away to serve two months in jail.

Says Welfare State Should Be Approved

GRAVENHURST, Aug. 2 (CP)—A university economist told Progresive Conservatives Tuesday night that the term "welfare state" shouldn't be used as a term of disapproval.

Prof. Vincent Braden, head of the University of Toronto's Institute of Industrial Relations, said people should be shown that free enterprise can provide for their welfare better than socialism.

He told the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association: "Unless you believe that the free enterprise system will deliver welfare and make for greater welfare of the people, your party hasn't any real hope for the future."

He advised those who were not acquainted with trade unions to get to know them because "if your party is to be influential, it has to adjust itself to the new condition where the trade union is a normal, respectable, accepted part of the social structure."

New Cement Industry

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 2—(CP)—Premier Smallwood announced Tuesday a new cement industry that will employ 300 men and produce 100,000 tons annually is to be established soon at the west coast Newfoundland town of Corner Brook. Some 50,000 tons would probably fill local demand and the remainder would be exported.

To Fly Out Bodies Of RCAF Victims

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (CP) — An RCAF amphibian plane took off from a maritime base Tuesday for the far north to bring out the bodies of seven airmen and two civilians who died in the crash of an air force ice patrol Lancaster 600 miles south of the pole.

An air force spokesman said that the Canso amphibian probably will land along the northern coast of Ellesmere Island near weather station Alert where the crash occurred. Otherwise it will land in some nearby fresh water lake.

The four-motored Lancaster, one of two ice reconnaissance planes from the RCAF base at Greenwood, N.S., crashed Monday near the Canadian-United States operated weather station while dropping supplies.

A supply parachute it let go from 1,000 feet fouled in its tail assembly and the plane dived to earth and exploded and burned. All nine men aboard were killed instantly.

Dead in the Lancaster crash are:

Wing Cmdr. D. T. French of Calgary and Hamilton the plane's pilot; FO T. D. Martin of Lethbridge, Alta., co-pilot; Flt. Lt L M. MacLean of Calgary, navigator; FO J. R. Dube of Grand Mere, Que., navigator; Flt. Lt J. F. Swinton of Montreal, radio officer; FO J. E. McCutcheon of Cornwall, Ont., radio officer; LAC R. L. Sprange of Ottawa, engineer; Dr. D. W. Kirk of Toronto, a member of the geographical bureau of the Federal Department of Mines; C. J. Hubbard of the U.S. weather bureau.

FO. McCutcheon, 24, was born in Huntingdon, Que., and is a former Cornwall resident who served overseas as a wireless air gunner with the RCAF during the Second World War. He re-inlisted in 1949 and was posted to the ice reconnaissance group last November.

Warwick G. Evans Marries Miss Elsie Margaret Black

At George St. United Church on Tuesday, Miss Elsie Margaret Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Black, was the bride of Warwick George Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Evans, Brimingham, England. The wedding ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. J. Semple, minister of the church and Mr. Adam Hawley was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bengaline taffeta styled on princess lines with long sleeves. Her floor length veil of silk illusion was held with a tiara of rhinestones. Her bouquet was of white gladioli.

There were three bridal attendants. Miss Dorothy Saunders wore a gown of blue taffeta with matching headdress and white gloves; Mrs. Rodney Kilborn wore a dress of pink nylon net over pink taffeta with matching headdress and white gloves and Miss Pauline Chaggares, flower girl, was dressed in yellow organdie. The bridesmaids carried posies of white gladioli and blue and pink carnations and the flower girl carried a basket of mixed summer flowers.

Mr. Tom Fraser was best man and Mr. Rodney Kilborn, usher.

The church was decorated with gladioli and white satin bows were tied on the pews.

The bride's mother wore a dress of navy sheer with a hat of crochet lace and a corsage of carnations.

After a reception at the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel, the couple left for Gananoque, Ottawa and points east. For travelling, the bride wore a navy sheer dress with white appliqued flowers and white accessories.

On their return they will live at 539 Downie St., Peterborough.

Lynch-O'Connor Exchange Marriage Vows

Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Bertha Margaret Mary, daughter of Mrs. Ellen O'Connor and the late Mr. Stephen O'Connor, and Cornelius Michael Lynch, son of Mr. Patrick Lynch and the late Mrs. Lynch. The church was decorated with snapdragons and sweet peas. The Rev. James Greenan officiated and Mr. Bruce Lynch and Mr. Bill Rupert served the mass. Mrs. Marian Aman played the wedding music and Mr. Robert Fleury, Belleville, sang "Panis Angelicus," "Ave Moria," "On Thus Day O Beautiful Mother" and "O Lord I'm not Worthy" during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr Joseph O'Connor. She wore a white faille taffeta gown fashioned with tucked bodice, Queen Anne collar and long sheath like sleeves. A front panel with lace applique accented the full bouffant skirt which fell into a generous sweep at the floor. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion, appliqued with lace and attached to amat ching sweetheart halo. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Clara O'Connor, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a yellow brocaded taffeta gown with matching braided halo entwined with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of mauve gladioli cups.

The groomsman was Mr. William Lynch, brother of the groom and Mr. William Hartwick and Mrs. Stewart Brown were ushers.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Kawartha Room, Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in a navy crepe dress, navy hat, navy accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. She was assisted by Mrs. E. Harrison, aunt of the groom. She wore a navy sheer gown, navy straw hat, navy accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a frock of peacock blue and black, black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding came from Belleville, Newburg Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Douro and Campbellford.

Kay Clarke Weds Frank Blackburn Mark St. Church

Pink and red gladioli provided the setting in Mark Street United Church for the wedding Friday of Kay Clarke, daughter of Mrs Annie Clarke and the late Mr. James Clarke, to Frank William Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blackburn. The Rev. B. S. Morwood officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Cecil Searles.

The bride was given in marraige by her brother, Mr Harry Clarke. She wore a white satin gown with a lace inserted neckline studded with rhinestones. Her full length embroidered lace veil was held by a headdress of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The wedding attendents were the sister of the bride, Mrs. Walter Thompson, matron-of-honor and Miss Connie McGlynn, bridesmaid. Both wore blue taffeta gowns with off-the-shoulder necklines, matching headdresses and carried colonial bouquets of carnations.

Mr. Joseph Csumrik was groomsman.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs Norman Field. Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Detroit. For travelling the bride chose a green two piece suit, taffeta green hat and white accessories.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

The following letter from Chicago is self-explanatory.

"Here's a real dilly of a problem if I ever saw one. The stock pile was very large. Our side had already melded our 120 points but not so our opponent.

"I discarded a nine. The player to my left picked it up and melded her required 120 points. But she did not have a natural pair of nines in her hand, and her required 120 was thusly:

9, 9, 2 10, 10, 2 K, K, 2

"After everyone counted her 120 points, she continued to meld off the pile she had picked up. However, no one noticed this error until the next player had picked a card from the closed pack, made a three-card meld for our side and discarded. Then I discovered the error.

A terrific debate followed as to penalty, reneg, whose fault, discovered too late, etc. Would you please straighten us out. We're completely stumped." (Signed "Perplexed Sextet.")

I admit the question is a dilly; however, the sextet have a simple way of solving their problem. Law 29, of the Official Laws of Canasta as found in my books and all the other standard books on the game, reads as follows:

"Condonement of Illegal Melds: If after an illegal meld the next player completes his play before attention is drawn to the error, there is no penalty. Initial meld with insufficient count stands as a correct first meld. Likewise, all other properly melded combinations stand as correct Combinations of cards that do not form a meld are replaced in the offender's hand.

"COMMENT:: An example of cards that do not form a meld would be king-ten-deuce. Such cards are replaced in the offender's hand if the error is condoned."

Hence, in this instance, since the next player has completed his play, the entire play and meld stand as legal and the opponents have no redress.

Incidentally, this letter shows exactly why the law was made that way. If an illegal meld could be called at any time, imagine what would happen if instead of being discovered after one player had played, it was not discovered until several plays had been made. It would take the Supreme Court of the United States to reconstruct the hand and assess the proper penalties, etc. In fact, I believe even the Supreme Court would disqualify itself.

"We're really tackling the housing shortage now. This new building is to house staff dealing entirely with the problems of the homeless."

Small Head on Frail Neck Proclaimed as 1950 Look

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS —(NEA)— Christian Dior, the Paris designer who not so long ago startled the style world with the New Look, is out to revamp the feminine silhouette again.

This time he has decreed this picture of the smart woman.

A small head on a frail neck.

Sloping shoulders and widened bust.

Wasp waist and rounded hips.

And over all this, all sorts of "oblique" effects in draperies and fastenings, from "elephant ear" sleeves to "sling gloves" that fasten behind the neck.

The occasion, of course, was the unveiling of the fall collections of Paris high style, and Dior apparently set the pace.

Skirts are a few inches shorter than last spring—usually calf-length—and pretty evenly divided between the slender sheath and the swishing full skirt.

Collars are either non-existent or straight and high, reaching to the ear-tips. Sleeves are raglan-cut and slender except on a few formal full-length coats, where they appear in the guise of "elephant ears" that reach almost to the hemline. Suit jackets and three-quarter coats have stiffened rippling basques and "oblique" fastenings which stand well away from the figure.

Breast-plate and "shield" fronts on bodices, along with deep cape collars on daytime creations, have the flavor of the British Royal Horseguards uniform.

These apparently fascinated Dior when he visited London, a trip which may also explain several dresses in his collection which are almost exact reproductions of English nurses' uniforms.

Another Dior line comes from Spain and has ultra-full skirts attached to molded hipyoke, with restrained fullness introduced below the knee.

Dior puts great stress on the "haughty carriage" this year. He achieves it by using lots of velvet and by expressing most of his creations in black (he calls it "glorious," and also has a new blonde biege color called "Jeanne's hair").

He achieves it also with diminutive daytime hats that sit squarely on the head, project a few inches over the eyes, and compel the wearer to hold her head high. And there's the Dior "chignon," a startling little topnot made of fur, feathers or real hair, garnished with a pert little feather or a nose-veil.

To go with this, Dior apparently expects his 1950-51 women of fashion to let their hair grow again. His mannequins wore their curls pinned back and their hair dragged back from their foreheads.

"CHIGNON" is a topknot of fur, feathers, or even hair.

SLOPING SHOULDERS are Dior's style decree for fall; his "sling gloves" may help women get their shoulders that way.

Dior Designs Still Feature Diagonal Lines

PARIS (CP) — Latest designs from Christian Dior still feature the diagonal line, now used in matt-surfaced broadcloth for frocks, the diagonal line accented with large buttons.

His wool coats are mostly shaggy, some resembling fur. Long-haired models for redingotes, with high-draped necklines covering half the hat. There are also three-quarter-length jackets with scarf collars and tight waistlines, the peplum curving in attention-drawing flared effects.

Pilot cloth is featured for town designs, generally of the box type, with small upstanding collars and raglan sleeves.

Bouclette is used for dressy afternoon and restaurant coats, mostly lined with brilliant contrasting fabrics. Sheath-style half-length strapless restaurant dresses are found in broadcloth. Formal suits have ornate diagonal bodices, very slim waists and exaggerated peplum.

Half-length jackets with straight skirts in plain colors are in the lead in informal designs. Leading colors are black, dark grey and tobacco, black and tobacco often being combined. Other colors noted are red, purple and plum.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Women Can Underestimate Importance of Their Jobs

DEAR MISS DIX: What can a woman do when she has reached the age of 40 and realizes that she is not interesting, charming or well educated? I have seven children, but with all of them in school I still have leisure time in which to improve my mind or do something worth while something better than running my house and taking care of my husband and children. I go to church, sew and help there. I run a charity affair one day a week. Play bridge sometimes. But I feel that there ar so many interesting things to do in this world nd I hate to have lived and not enjoyed any of them.

GRACE.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: You keep house, take care of your husband and seven children and do charity and church work. I should think that any woman who performs all of these activities should be inquiring the way to a rest cure instead of asking how to find new fields of endeavor.

When a woman who has been a good and helpful wife to her husband, who has brought up a family of nice children and who has made a comfortable home, tells me that she wishes she could do "some worth-while work," I never know whether I feel more like bursting into tears or giving her a good shaking. For it is so irritating that any woman should be so dumb as not to know that the domestic woman who makes a good job of being a wife and bringing up a family is the greatest woman in the world—the woman who has performed the greatest service to her day and generation and the only woman of us all who is necessary.

Career Women Expendable

All the balance of us, we women who write and sculpt and paint and get elected to Congress and run businesses and whatnot in public that gets our names in the papers, never would be missed if we were swept off the earth. A thousand men could take our places and do our work. But nobody can take the place of the mother and wife and homemaker. She is what keeps the world going.

But to answer your question directly, if you have time to spare and crave culture, why don't you take a course in literature in your nearest college or join reading clubs where they discuss current events and the new books? If you want to fit yourself to earn money, study domestic science and make yourself an expert cook. A woman of 40 is too old to take up office work unless she has had some previous experience. Or you might take a course in dressmaking or millinery if you are handy with the needle.

But Heaven's sake don't worry about not having done anything worth while.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: I live in a small village and am the only one in the neighborhood who has a telephone, except a couple of stores and an oil station that have pay station telephones. My neighbors are running me crazy using my phone. If I am listening to a program on my radio, I have to shut it off while they phone. If I am in the bathtub, I have to jump out and drip water all over my house waiting for somebody to use my phone. What can I do to rid myself of this nuisance?

MRS. E. M. N.

ANSWER: The answer to that is easy. Put in a pay telephone yourself. When your neighbors find out that it costs them a nickel at your house they will go to the store or the oil station.

At any rate, there is no sense in your running a free telephone booth and having your peace and comfort destroyed by your deadbeat neighbors, and you are foolish to put up with the imposition. Neighbors can be a great comfort to you, but they can also be the greatest nuisance on earth, and there are not many of us who have not known that it was to have a borrowing neighbor who was always running in for a cup of sugar or a few eggs or the daily paper or your new hat. Or the neighbor who dumped her children down on you to spend the afternoon when she went out to play bridge or to the matinee. Or the neighbor who was a chronic visitor who came and sat and sat and sat until you felt that if she stayed another five minutes you would get up and scream.

How to abate these nuisances without making mortal enemies is one of the great problems of social life.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are both 20 and so hopelessly in love, but there will be years and years and years before we can possibly marry because the boy is the sole support of his mother, who is a widow. He also is doing work now that will eventually enable him to start taking up a profession. But the future is so far off. The present is staring at us in every move we make. Why should we not take advantage of it without the benefit of clergy?

R. G.

ANSWER: Because it is morally wrong. Because it is social suicide. Because it will take the sacredness out of your love for each other. Because it will degrade you in your sweetheart's eyes. Because marriage will do less to injure the young man's prospects than a liaison would.

If you are so desperately in love, take your courage in both hands and marry, honestly and decently. If you have a job, keep it and support yourself. It costs no more to support a couple married than single, nor to keep up a home than it does a lovenest..

RED AND WHITE COLOR COMBINATIONS DRESS UP THIS LUSCIOUS CAKE TREAT

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Jelly and Whipped Cream Make Unusual Cake Trim

You don't have to be an experienced baker to produce this delight to eye and mouth. All you need is The Examiner's latest cookbook, 250 Classic Cake Recipes. This cookbook is crammed full of novel ideas for cakes and cake trimmings and here is one of many easy to follow, delicious to eat recipes:

Star Cake

2¼ cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
¾ teaspoon lemon extract
1¼ cups tart red jelly
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening with 1¼ cups of the sugar until fluffy. Add egg yolks and beat vigorously. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately in small amounts, beating well after each addition. Beat egg whites until nearly stiff, add remaining sugar and beat until stiff; then fold into cake with flavoring Turn into two greased (8-inch) pans and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. When cooled, melt jelly over warm water and spread between layers and over top and sides of cake. Chill until set. Just before serving, pipe whipped cream in star shape on top and serve with more whipped cream. Serves 10.

You can obtain your copy of this third release in the remarkable series of cookbooks being offered by The Examiner by slipping a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this paper and presenting that coupon with 25c to The Examiner Office, from your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Home Food Markets.

Manicure By Steps In Spare Moments

By ALICIA HART

Young mothers often fall into the habit of promising themselves to do something about their nails when they can find a "spare hour sometime." Unfortunately, they may wait for years before they find that many consecutive minutes roll into one golden package.

In the meantime, when formula-making, diaper-washing and baby-cuddling are crowding a regular manicure routine out of their schedules, they should create other opportunities for nail care.

One way to accomplish this is to do your manicur in sections, attending to one procedure at a time in spare moments between other tasks.

This means redistributing your manicure equipment, so that it will be handy when time permits its use Keep a nail file, for instance, in your kitchen cabinet. While you are waiting for the vegetable water to boil, you can smooth down at least two or three nails

Keep Nail Cream Handy

Nail cream should be kept on a shelf above the sink, next to your hand lotion. At the end of each dishwashing job, dry your hands and smooth cream into your cuticles as automatically as you smooth lotion onto your hands.

Keep your nail polish in a drawer in the living room, or wherever you sit for your few minutes of reading or rest after lunch or during the baby's nap. Do a quick polish job before you settle back, and your nails will dry while you nap or thumb through your magazine.

The bathroom can also be the scene of one step in your piecemeal manicure. During your bath, take a second to push back your cuticles with your wash cloth.

That vitally important step, the removal of cracked polish, can be attended to effortlessly if you devote a few minutes to it before retiring at night. Keep your remover in your nightstand or bedside table so you can reach for it easily as you relax on the bed.

What's Right?

You get a group of couples together for a picnic where each couple is expected to bring their own food.

WRONG: Consider that in doing so you have repaid your obligation to those couples who have had you to their home to dinner.

RIGHT: Never expect a Dutch treat party to repay social obligations.

Long Tresses To Be Style For Parisiennes This Winter

PARIS — (CP) — It looks as though long hair will be the vogue in Paris next winter.

Mannequins wearing the new fall models at the fashion shows are letting their hair grow.

Jacques Fath's mannequins, whose hair is always dressed by Georgel, famous Paris hair stylist, have pompadour styles finishing well below the ears at the back.

Christian Dior girls, who get their new coiffures from Georgel's rival, Guillaume, are wearing, wispy buns of short hair on their necks, plus "Dior Chignons" on top of their heads. The chignons are cone-shaped topknots made of plaited hair.

All through the short-hair craze, Spanish Designer Balenciaga has made his mannequins stick to large chignons worn low on the neck.

Fall fashions that looked as though they were out of a musical comedy were shown by the youngest designer in Paris, 24-year-old Alwyn.

A Second Dior

Greeted last season as a second Dior, Alwyn showed dresses that were skin-tight and figure-revealing. Fur trimming was used liberally.

Alwyn calls his new silhouette the "fan line" and carries it out in deep purple, mauves, grey and black. Hips and busts emphasized with fan drapery.

Tent coats have fullness falling like a fan from the shoulder blades.

Dresses have necklace of silver-blue mink, black lamb or ocelot and bands of the same fur laid around the hips or rimming the cascades of drapery.

Hobble dresses are shown by Alwyn for evening. A dress in black velvet had a halter built up into a neckband of leopard-skin and a deep flounce of the same fur around the bottom of the slinky skirt. Leopardskin flowers dotted with black jet beads were stuck all over the bodice.

CANADIAN DELICACY

A distinctly Canadian delicacy is the pickled cherry which originated in British Columbia

Few West German Laws Vetoed By Allied Powers

By JOHN EARLE

BONN, (Reuters)—The Allied High Commission has disapproved only seven out of 855 laws submitted to it since the West German government was established last autumn.

The majority of these laws, which a special legal body of the high commission has the power to veto within 21 days, were passed by "Laender" or state governments, eighty-six federal laws and regulations were submitted to the Bonn governments, but none were finally disapproved.

An official statement issued by allied high commissioners describes this as "a most sparing use of powers."

Three federal laws, however, were provisionally disapproved this spring. Two of them, the civil service law and the income tax law, were vetoed within a week and led many West German politicians and newspapers, including Dr. Konrad Adenauer, to talk of a serious situation and an Allied-German crisis.

Germans pointed to the occupation statute, which says that the allies should not disapprove legislation unless they believe it to be inconsistent with the basic law, land constitutions, or occupation powers directives, "or unless it constitutes a grave threat to the basic purposes of the occupation."

According to the allies, the civil service law was disapproved because "it did not take into account principles to give all qualified citizens access to the civil service, to exclude civil servants from political activity, and to provide for uniform enforcement of the law."

The income tax law was disapproved until the German government gave assurances they would take steps "to balance the federal budget, to reduce excessive expenditure in high income groups so as to channel savings into investment, and to take measures against tax evasion."

The third law, regulating petrol prices, was officially "temporarily suspended" in May. The suspension was lifted a month later after the Germans had given assurances that the law would not be applied so as to limit free competition in petroleum imports from abroad.

Of the 769 state laws, seven were finally and three provisionally disapproved. Disapproval resulted from allied misgivings which in most cases could not, as with the federal laws, be removed after mutual discussion.

Extinct Moas May Still Be Living In New Zealand

By J. C. GRAHAM

CHRISTCHURCH, N. Z., (CP)—Instead of saying "as dead as the dodo" in New Zealand, most people say "as dead as the moa," a reference to the giant ostrich-like bird which is generally supposed to have become extinct in New Zealand about seven or eight centuries ago.

Now the possibility has been raised that some small species of the bird may still linger in the almost unexplored forest and mountain fastnesses of Fiordland, in the far south-west of New Zealand.

Moas were once common throughout New Zealand, as is shown by the large numbers of skeletons found in all parts of the country. They ranged from species bigger than an ostrich and with far heavier legs, down to small varieties standing only about three feet high.

A few years ago, experts discounted stories of old Maoris that their parents had taken part in moa hunts and reports of early European settlers having seen giant birds in the forests. On the evidence of hundreds of bones found in widely varying places, they considered that the moas had died out not long after the Maoris settled in New Zealand and certainly centuries before European settlement began.

Doubts Raised

This view was shaken by the discovery in the Fiordland region of a living colony of the notornis, another flightless bird about the size of a turkey, half a century after it was thought to have become extinct. People began to ask whether some of the stories of moas have survived later than generally believed might also be true.

It was recalled that footprints of a bird with feet 11 inches long were seen each year for several seasons up to 1907 in one part of the Fiordland area.

Parties searching parts of the area for further colonies of the notornis saw no sign of either notornis or moa, but they did find a pile of moa bones in a Maori shelter which threw new light on the survival of moas. Some of the bones had been cut with a sharp instrument. The clean, sharp cuts were quite different from those made by the stone implements of the Maoris. They had every appearance of having been made with a metal tool. This means that the moa must have been killed after European settlement began. The theory was supported by the fact that the moa was killed so recently that its feathers still littered the tussock floor of the shelter.

On the evidence available several experts have expressed the view that the moa was certainly living at the beginning of this century. They doubt whether there are any survivors among the uninhabited forests of Fiordland, but say it is an arguable proposition that there might be still living specimens of a small species of moa in these regions.

Turkey Anxious To Join Pact

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Turkey plans to apply for membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Britain's foreign office announced today.

If the application is accepted, Britain, the United States, Canada and nine other Atlantic Pact members would be committed to defend Turkey in case of attack.

It would extend deep into the turbulent Middle East the great area already covered by the treaty.

Turkey borders on Russia which has demanded two Turkish provinces and dual control of the vital Dardanelles Straits.

A foreign office spokesman said the Turks' intentions were disclosed orally in Ankara to the British ambassador, Sir Noel Charles.

Turkey is understood to have made similar approaches to the American and French ambassadors.

The application presumably would rank high on the agenda of the meeting of Atlantic Pact foreign ministers scheduled for next month in New York.

Chiang Planes Off On Mission

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 2 (AP)—Nationalist bomber and fighter planes in unusual numbers roared off Formosa airfields today, perhaps in an attack on Chinese Communist craft massed along the China coast.

The Reds have threatened to invade Formosa for months. June 27, after the outbreak of war in Korea, President Truman ordered the U.S. Seventh Fleet to protect Formosa. At the same time he told the Chinese Nationalists to cease bombing the Reds.

Sources said Gen. Douglas MacArthur, on his visit here earlier this week, may have approved certain types of attack such as strikes against Red craft. They pointed out that this could be considered a defensive measure against invasion.

Hospital Chain Serves Villages InNewfoundland

By RUPERT JACKSON

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. ((CP)—The doctor's little black bag is appearing in Newfoundland's remote settlements.

A chain of "cottage hospitals", designed to provide medical assistance at low cost to fishermen and loggers around the craggy coasts, is nearing completion.

The scheme began in 1935, when the old commission of government saw the great need for better health services in the island. Embarking on a vigorous scheme of construction the government built and equipped eight hospitals by the end of 1937.

Today there are 14 hospitals, each fully equipped and so located to provide complete medical service for every nook and cranny of the island. Sites for two more hospitals have been selected and construction will begin shortly.

Added to that there are five nursing stations, 14 dispensaries, and five health boats.

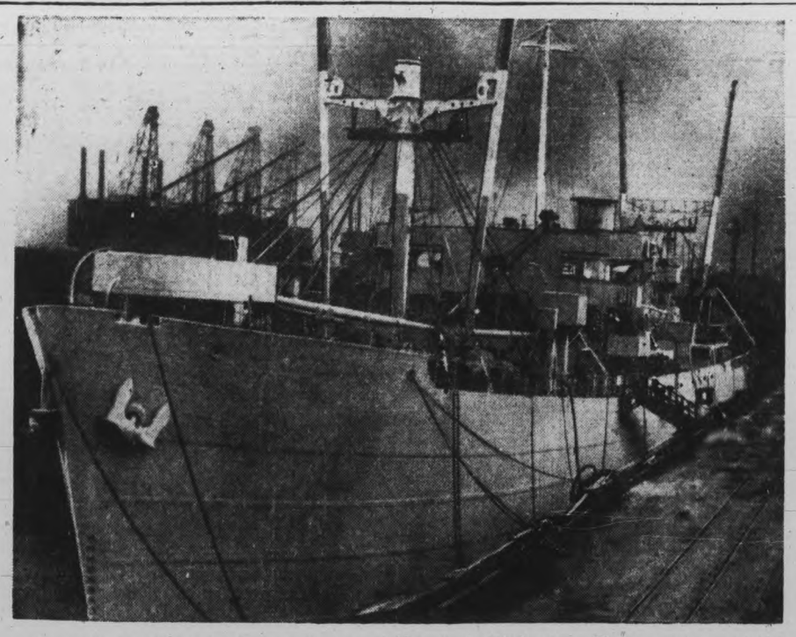
Cost of the system to the fishermen of any area is $10 a year, and for this he and his family get all medical attention required. Nursing services, doctors, medicines all are provided, and if necessary, a patient may be transported to St. John's, or to Montreal at no extra cost.

The $10 fee does not cover the cost of the system. The remainder is made up out of government revenues.

Health services have come a long way compared to what they were when Sir Wilfred Grenfell began his work in northern Newfoundland.

The story is told of Sir Wilfred's first trip to Newfoundland. His boat pulled into a small cove, and a man pulled himself aboard dragging a useless leg behind him. The cripple had suffered a dislocated hip as a child and no doctor had been available. Now he was beyond medical help.

With the network of cottage hospitals now encircling Newfoundland, that kind of thing no longer happens.



SEVERAL CANADIAN SHIPS, like the one shown above, will be chartered to the American Army to carry supplies to the Korean battlefronts. The army requested the tonnage in an effort to speed up the movement of war equipment to the hard-pressed Far East forces.

OBITUARIES

DANIEL ARTHUR LEONARD

Daniel Arthur Leonard, 62, a resident of Peterborough for 37 years, died today at his home, 111 Sophia St, after a long illness. He was the husband of the former Leona Lacroix.

Born in West Rutland, Vermont, Mr. Leonard was the son of the late Daniel Leonard, and Azelie LeFrancois. A member of Immaculate Conception Church, he was employed by the Ontario Marble Company.

He is survived by his wife, his mother, three sons, Romeo of Lakefield, Raymond of Detroit, John of Peterborough, and six daughters, Alice and Jean of Peterborough, Mrs. Bernice Westfall of Trenton, Mrs. Doris Culpitt of Peterborough, Mrs. Helen Thornton of Chapleau, Mrs. Peggy DeForge of Chapleau; seven brothers, Maurice and Edmond of Peterborough, Arthur of Detroit, George and Robert of Boston, Emile of Toronto, Ernest of Montreal, and two sisters, Mrs. Rosalie Leonard of Montreal, and Mrs. Harry Cross of Granville, New York.

Requiem mass will be said at Immaculate Conception Church at 9 a.m. Friday, and burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

CLARENCE MELVILLE JAMES

A resident of Peterborough 37 years, Clarence Melville James, 175 Bethune St., died in hospital early today. He had been ill only a short time.

Mr. James was born in Mariposa township, Victoria county, son of John C. James and his wife, Mary Robinson, both deceased, and had lived at Oakwood before coming to Peterborough. He was employed as a welder at the Canadian General Electric Company.

He leaves his wife, the former Irene Rosemary Brisbin; two sons, Gordon and Oscar of this city; four brothers, Roy and Morley of Peterborough, Ralph of Omemee, and Walter of Windsor; and his sister, Mrs. William (Irene) Wilson also of Peterborough.

The body is resting at the Belleghem funeral home, Hunter St., where the funeral service will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church, of which Mr. James was a member. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Woman Says She Is Married To Man Who Bought Bride

EDMONTON, Aug. 2 (CP). — The "bartered bride" case took a new twist today with reports here that Alex Gokey, 71-year-old Edmonton district pig farmer, was married before allegedly buying a 17-year-old bride.

Gokey, the girl's 18-year-old brother, Allan Ajas, and her sister-in-law, Jessie Ajas of Haney, B. C., will appear in Vancouver juvenile court Thursday on charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency by aiding and abetting a fraudulent marriage contract.

A police report said the farmer had agreed to pay her brother $700 for the girl.

A woman who said she had been Gokey's wife since 1942 still resides on Gokey's property in suburban Jasper Place.

She said she married the heavy set, grey haired farmer in Spirit River, Alta., Sept. 2, 1942. She had been Gokey's housekeeper since 1934, living most of the time around Edmonton, she added.

The trouble began, she said, when Mrs. Pauline Ajas — the young bride's mother who said she had no knowledge of the "sale"—and her daughter moved into a one-room shack on Gokey's property last fall.

"Alex visited the girl every day. Then he said he wanted to marry her," the first wife said.

"Early in July," she added, "he sold some property for $1,260." A week later the Ajas girl left for Vancouver and Gokey admitted paying her expenses, the woman claimed.

A week later he left for Vancouver, telling his wife she should get a divorce.

The mother of the girl said today she still didn't know all the circumstances.

'But he offered me the house I was living in, half an acre of land and $300 if he could marry my daughter,' Mrs. Ajas said.

Village Constable Lawrence Kenney of Jasper Place said today he had applied to the Attorney-General's Department for permission to have Gokey brought here from Vancouver to face charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

The constable confirmed the mother's statement that she knew nothing of the scheme in which she was to receive $500 of the $700 paid for her daughter.

The mother reported the girl missing more than two weeks ago.

Hit Car, Wall Driver Charged

TORONTO, Aug. 2 — (CP) — Max Silver, 26, went for a drive early today and ended up in a peck of trouble.

Arrested after his car crashed into a brick wall at the Hospital for Sick Children, he was charged with dangerous and careless driving, leaving the scene of an accident and assaulting police.

Police said Silver's car collided with another automobile, sped away only to hit a truck, swerved across a sidewalk and crashed into the hospital wall.

Police said Silver jumped out of the wrecked vehicle and fought off an attempt by Constable Larry Gaskin, who had chased him in a commandeered taxi, to place him under arrest. He was apprehended by other police officers near the scene.

TALLEST BUILDING

The palace of the Soviets in Moscow with a height of 1,365 feet is taller than the Empire State building in New York with a height of 1,248 feet.

Experts Veto In-Law Annex

LONDON — (CP) — Experts from the Institute of Housing have vetoed a proposal that provision be made to accommodate in-laws in planning dwelling under the national housing scheme.

In a special report to the Ministry of Health the experts declare it would be a mistake to build separate accommodation adjoining a young couple's home for their in-laws or aged parents.

Any advantages of such a scheme, the report says, would be lost in time. At death of the elder relatives, the accommodation would have to be occupied by strangers.

"It militates against the independence of both parties," the report adds, "and continuing good relationship cannot be assured. Differences arising between them are accentuated by nearness."

Two Doctors Visit Princess Elizabeth

LONDON, Aug. 2 (Reuters) — Sir William Gilliat and Sir John Weir, doctors to the Royal Family today visited Princess Elizabeth, who is expecting her second baby within the next two weeks.

The visit, a routine one, reminded Britons that a new prince or princess who will become third in line of succession to the throne is almost due.

Princess Elizabeth, who now has her husband Prince Philip, at home with her, is reported well.

Everything is ready at Clarence House, royal residence overlooking St. James' Park, which will be the scene of a royal birth for the first time in its 100 years' history.

1914-18 Veteran Gets New House

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. — (CP) — The comradeship of war has been extended to peacetime by a group of veterans here.

The Department of Veterans' Affairs branch learned of a first World War veteran, a cripple, whose house was in a hopeless state of repair. He had a crippled son, little money, and a leaky roof.

The St. John's vets decided he needed a new house. On weekends, members of the department's staff felled and trimmed 130 trees. The Canadian Legion paid to have the logs hauled to a sawmill. A sympathetic builder built the house at a nominal fee —in the garden near the dilapidated old one.

A D. V. A. staff member donated window sashes; the Legion provided window glass, tar and hardware. The joint services headquarters donated doors and ceiling material salvaged from demolished army buildings. Then the D.V.A. staff slapped on the paint—and withheld the lucky veteran's name.

Crosby Brought Del Mar, Stars Together

By BOB MYERS

DEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 2 (AP) —At this time each summer this little hamlet by the sea wakes up and finds it is practically a suburb of Hollywood, 100 miles to the north. Celebrities come here for vacations and to bet on the horses running at the Del Mar race track.

By morning they stroll about the beaches and private swimming pools and bask in the sun, and you haven't seen anything yet until you see Al Jolson or Chico Marx in shorts.

Bing Did It

Del Mar is used to the famous folk, however, and can think or censure a man named Bing Crosby for the situation. He introduced Del Mar to the stars, vice versa, for better or worse.

The first meeting was nearly 15 years ago, when der Bingle started his golf tournaments down here. Leading golfers competed, and after a fashion, so did his cronies from Hollywood.

Then about 11 years ago the race track was built and Crosby became president. Pat O'Brien was his vice president, and tourists entering the gates were often dumbfounded when they were greeted personally by both Bing and O'Brien.

Neither Crosby nor O'Brien ever detained them too long from getting to the pari-mutuel windows, of course, and the same thoughtful policy exists today.

Crosby is no longer connected here but he left many fond memories, and also a happy little song entitled, "Where The Turf Meets The Surf Down At Old Del Mar."

Newspaper Strike Entering 8th Week

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP) — The strike of the New York Newspaper Guild (CIO) against the New York World-Telegram and Sun entered its eighth week Tuesday.

For the first time since the strike began June 13, executives and others who have crossed guild picket lines failed to report. Police said the newspaper management notified them none of the workers would be on hand today.

The big afternoon newspaper has not been published since the strike began. Members of mechanical unions have refused to cross guild picket lines.

The guild is seeking higher salaries and security guarantees.

Have Reconciliation

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Actress Betty Hutton and her former husband Ted Briskin, divorced five months ago after two separations since their 1945 marriage, have reconciled. "We are definitely back together as of right now," the blonde film star said Monday night. The couple, parents of two small daughters, did not announce any date for a remarriage.

Signs Removed Call Provincials

TORONTO, Aug. 2 — (CP) — Removal of 20 to 25 signs forbidding building of fruit stands along the Queen Elizabeth way is being investigated by Ontario Provincial Police.

The signs, put up by the Ontario Highways Department, will be replaced.

A department spokesman said the large signs apparently were taken down during "an organized raid" last Friday or Saturday night. He added:

"Trucks must have been used to carry them away and several men must have been engaged in the undertaking".

The removal of the signs is believed linked with department efforts to enforce the section of the Highways Act which forbids erection of fruit or vegetable stands or gasoline pumps on such limited-access highways as the Queen Elizabeth way. The department has started court action against owners of six fruit stands built in the Grimsby area.

Child Nearly Drowns In Big Tub Of Water

WINDSOR, Aug. 2 (CP)—Windsor police and J. Herbert Dawson, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, Tuesday investigation into alleged neglect by parents that almost resulted in the drowning of a one-year-old child in a tub of water last night.

Mr. Dawson said the parents of the child, and of seven other children ranging to 13 years of age, had left their family and had gone on a trip during the weekend.

The child apparently crawled into a tub of wash water in the kitchen and was rescued only when neighbors heard its cries.

Mr. Dawson said the eight children would be cared for by the Children's Aid Society. He said evidences of neglect and the condition of the home, led to the investigation.

Sending Supplies

LONDON, Aug. 2—(Reuters)— The British Red Cross is to send supplies to help South Korean refugees, it was announced today. It has undertaken to make the supplies available through the International Red Cross committee and has authorized its officers in Singapore to take "such action as is possible".

Menzies Pledges Troops Soon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 AP) — Australian and possibly New Zealand ground troops will be sent to Korea as quickly as it is possible to organize them, Prime Minister Robert Gordon Menzies of Australia announces Tuesday.

Addressing applauding members of the United States House of Representatives, Menzies said his government will organize within as few weeks as possible" enough ground troops to make up 'a first class combat group."

Menzies said he hopes this contribution of troops to the Korean campaign would be made in co-operation with New Zealand.

Later, he continued, there is hope that a British Commonwealth division will be formed "to serve alongside your young men."

(The Canberra correspondent of the Melbourne Herald said the Australian cabinet is considering whether the volunteer force shall comprise a battalion of 1,000 men or a brigade of 4,000.

(He said it was understood the force would be ready to go into action at the end of September if the smaller body were decided on, or by December if the larger.)

RCMP Book Happy At Band's Reception

The RCMP band which April 14 pleased Peterborough audiences and won a very favourable review from Harry Theobald of the Examiner staff, was very happy with their reception in this city.

In the Mountie's quarterly magazine, part of Mr Theobald's review was quoted. The magazine's account of the visit ended with "It can be said that the Peterborough folks were most hospitable and did everything to make the band's visit to that charming city a great success."

Two DP's Arrive For Farm Work

Two more young displaced persons from Europe arrived in Peterborough Tuesday noon. They will help swell the force of farm laborers who will harvest this year's bumper crop.

Zdzislaw Langner, 28, who comes from Starachowice, Poland, will be a hired hand on the farm of Allan Thompson, RR 2, Keene. Mr. Thompson has 200 acres and was eager to get a willing hired man.

The other new Canadian resident is Janos Oltvai, 22, a short, stocky Hungarian from Kecskemet. He greeted his new employer Arnold Brown, RR 1, Millbrook, who also has a 200-acre farm, with a willing handshake and a broad smile.

"These lads from Europe are willing to work hard," said Mr. Brown approvingly. "It's hard nowadays to get our boys to do 12 hours on a farm when they can come to the city and finish after eight."

Mr. Thompson nodded his agreement. "No, I don't know what's come over our young fellows these days," he said.

This brief and pessimistic conversation was interrupted by William Mellis, National Employment branch manager who officially met the two newcomers.

"Have you any more luggage, boys?" he asked. "If not we'll be on our way. And welcome to Canada."

U.S. Battalion Fights Way 22 Miles Behind Enemy To Get Vital Information

Most Daring Adventure In Korean War G.I.'s Fight Way Back, Save Regimental Command Post From Reds

By DON WHITEHEAD

AN ADVANCED U.S. COMMAND POST, Korea, Aug. 3 — (AP)—A U.S. battalion fought its way 22 miles behind the enemy lines, battled out again and saved a regimental command post from destruction in a savage struggle this morning. There hasn't been anything quite like this daring adventure in all the Korean war The officers called it "a reconnaissance in force" and it proved for the high command:

1. That the enemy line can be reached by a hard-hitting tank-led force.

2. That the enemy is building up strong forces around Chinju for the drive eastward toward Masan and Pusan, 30 air-line miles farther east.

The battalion made a 36-hour forced march south to reach the jumping off place for the dash toward Chinju. After a brief rest, the push began Wednesday.

The battalion had five Sherman tanks, a battery of artillery, a platoon of heavy mortars and well armed infantry.

The tank force was under enemy machine-gun and sniper fire all the way. The Americans road the tanks and jeeps and trucks, spraying the enemy with fire as they drove ahead.

Knife Deeper

As the Americans passed, the enemy closed in behind them on the road leading to Chinju. But the task force blazed its way deeper and deeper into enemy country.

Then the group reached the mountain passes just east of Chinju and smacked into enemy forces believed to be the main Red reserve building up for a major offensive.

Fire poured down on the Americans from the hills. And the Americans left the column and went into the hills after the Reds.

The leading tanks rounded a bend in the road and ran head-on into three Russian-made 70 M.M anti-tank guns.

The guns knocked holes in the armour of two Shermans and either killed or wounded all of the gun crews. The Red guns were knocked out by American infantry men who closed in on the gun crews.

The task force fought its way back, having captured enemy documents, maps and Russian-made equipment. Intelligence officers said these were important finds.

The Americans brought all their wounded and dead back with them.

Britain Asks Volunteers Serve In Korea

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The war office appealed today for volunteers to serve a special short term of 18 months in the regular army. Previously the shortest period permitted was for five years.

"It is intended that volunteers shall serve in the Korean area, although this must to some extent depend on events," the announcement said.

Britain has promised to send Korea ground forces of infantry, artillery, tanks and engineers "as quickly as possible." Strength of the contemplated force is expected to be about 5,000 men.

The war office said the volunteers must have at least 18 months of army experience prior to Jan. 1, 1946, and be less than 30 years of age.

Meanwhile, Lewis Douglas, United States ambassador to Britain, had his second talk with Prime Minister Attlee in less than 24 hours.

There was no official disclosure of the subject matter. The London press guessed that the conferences concern an early announcement of plans by Britain sharply to step up its defence spending.

Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell already has told the House of Commons that Britain will spend £100,000,000 ($310,000,000) during the next few months for urgently needed equipment.

Dr. M. Phillips Health Minister

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP). — Dr MacKinnon Phillips of Owen Sound today was appointed Ontario Health Minister.

He succeeds Russell T Kelley of Hamilton, who resigned because of ill health.

Dr. Phillips entered the Provincial Legislature in 1945 as Progressive Conservative member for Grey North. He was re-elected in 1948.

A graduate of the University of Toronto, Dr. Phillips has had a distinguished political and community career in Owen Sound. He is 52.

His appointment was announced by Premier Frost.

Early speculation was that Welfare Minister Goodfellow would take over the health portfolio, with Dr. Phillips getting the welfare post. But Mr. Goodfellow, acting health minister during Mr. Kelley's illness, was reported anxious to retain his present position to complete negotiations with the federal government on the question of old-age pensions.

Elevator Too Slow Fire Alarm Gets Action

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP).—An unidentified visitor to the Ontario government buildings, apparently incensed by slow elevator service, today smashed a fire-alarm box and sent Premier Frost, cabinet ministers and civil servants scurrying outside.

That was the explanation offered today by government office workers for the fourth false fire alarm in the buildings within the last few weeks. The alarm box is beside a fourth-floor elevator door.

Would Keep It Secret

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Aug. 3—(AP)—The South Korean government will send a complete list of 404 Communist prisoners to the International Red Cross despite pleas of the prisoners that their capture not be reported. The Commandant of the prisoners-of-war camp said the prisoners were afraid their families will be persecuted by the Communists in North Korea.

Things Went Wrong

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 3 — (AP) — Something went amiss for a miss, the pot flipped its lid and the ham went wham! Shirley Mackie, 15, was left by her mother to mind the pressure cooker with instructions to turn it off when a bell rang. No bell. The cooker exploded. A steam-propelled 10-pound ham smashed a hole in the ceiling, knocking a man from his chair in the room above. The stove was wrecked, a window broken and bits of ham plastered over the walls. Firemen said if Shirley had been in the room she would have been killed. The man upstairs was not hurt.

Will Discuss Integration Of War Industry

OTTAWA, Aug. 3—(CP)—Integration of Canadian industry with that of the United States for the production of tanks, guns, ships, aircraft and other war goods in the event of a "major conflict," will be discussed with the United States next week, the government's industriali defence organization announced today.

A decision on integration policy between the two countries is expected to tap the flow of millions of dollars worth of United States war material orders into Canada.

The discussions will take place during the one-day meeting here Aug. 8 of the joint United States-Canada industrial mobilization planning committee.

The industrial defence officials said the meeting, important because of the outbreak of Communist aggression in Korea, also will discuss these matters which will affect Canadian industry in time of total war.

1. Joint Canada-United States action on requirements, priorities, allocations and export controls.

2. The change in approach adopted by the military production and supply board of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

This change in approach, said officials, means the shelving of any long-range, over-all war equipment planning for North Atlantic nations and the more realistic, direct approach to filling the urgent requirements first.

This development in planning, decided at a recent meeting of the North Atlantic Production Board at Copenhagen, may require a reassessment of Canada-American production and supply problems, officials said.

Fined For Having Gun

WINDSOR, Aug. 3 (CP)—Germain Noel of Windsor was fined $25 in court today for illegal possession of a revolver. The weapon was confiscated.

The gun was discovered in Noel's home during a police search after they learned Noel had rented his garage to an alleged bank robber, Herbert McAuliffe.

McAuliffe is awaiting trial in Simcoe for the murder of two men in a bank robbery at Langton in June.

2,000 Peace Marchers Battle New York Police

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(AP)—Two thousand left-wing peace marchers banned from staging a rally in Union Square, battled 1,000 police late Wednesday in fist-swinging brawls that led to 13 arrests.

The demonstrators waited until the home-going rush hour to make their defiant move.

"We want peace—open up the Square," the archers chanted as they formed ranks.

Union Square—1½ miles south of Times Square—is the traditional scene of New York soapbox oratory. When mounted police bore down on the demonstrators they shouted "Cossack."

Police rode their horses on to sidewalks. Fist fights broke out. Several injuries were reported and at least one window was smashed.

Two sign-waving demonstrators were removed from electric light poles by police and a fire department hook and ladder company.

The police detail spent an hour breaking up the demonstration. Most of the marchers arrested were charged with assault or disorderly conduct.

Scattered by police, some retreated three blocks south to 11th Street. Another group of about 500 moved north to 23rd Street at Madison Square Park. Police chased them out.

Wednesday night, 1,200 police ringed Times Square after a report the marchers would invade the "Cross-roads of the World." However, police reported no organized demonstrations there.

The New York Labor Conference for peace sponsored the forbidden rally. The marchers were to have heard speeches by left-wing Negro singer Paul Robeson and Dr. W. E. B. Dubois, chairman of the peace information centre.

U.S. Forces As Strong As Red Army

Big Showdown Fight Along Naktong, Allies Choose Spot

TOKYO, Aug. 4—(Friday) —(AP)—Allied troops, for the first time approaching but still inferior to the 10 division strength of the Red invaders, got set today for the showdown fight for South Korea with big Pershing tanks.

Elements of two fresh United States divisions—the 1st Marines and the army's 2nd Infantry — joined three other American and five South Korean divisions along the shrinking front.

Front-line predictions were the Marines and 2nd Infantry troops would be in battle by nightfall.

The lines stretched from the general south coast area of Chinju northward along the winding banks of the Naktong river The allied troops had quietly withdrawn from former positions as much as 18 miles during a three-day period.

A field dispatch early today said the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division has completed its orderly withdrawal to the east bank of the Naktong in the Waegwan area, 12 air miles northwest of Taegu. The bridge near Waegwan was blown after the last American crossed.

Gen. MacArthur's public information officer said the usual early-morning Korean war release will not be issued today because "there has been no change in the situation."

(Communist spearheads Thursday night were reported only eight miles west of Masan, coast town on the road to Pusan, and in a more northerly sector only 12 miles from Taegu, provisional South Korean capital, Reuters reported.)

Equal Terms

On the newly-consolidated front American and South Korean forces face the Communist armies on virtually equal terms in divisional strength, said Leif Erickson. Associated Press correspondent at U.S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea. There were five American divisions and five South Korean divisions facing an estimated nine to 10 North Korean divisions.

Erickson said, however, the United Nations units still lack enough power to embark on any real counter-offensive. He said there will soon be more carrier-based planes to help break up the long supply lines the Communists now must maintain.

Daring Raid

A build-up of enemy forces on the holding front near Chinju was observed by a U.S. 24th Infantry tank reconnaissance force. This force almost thrust back into Chinju before pulling back to American lines in the hills 40 miles west of Pusan.

Don Whitehead, an AP correspondent, reported from the front that tank-probing forces fought into rear elements of Communists.

It was the deepest penetration made yet by an American force into the Red lines and surprised the enemy in a sharp road battle.

An Associated Press correspondent quoted Maj.-Gen. John E. Church, new U.S. 24th Division commander, as saying the daring tank foray was fortunate.

Ontario Population 4,082,829 In 1949

GRAVENHURST, Aug. 3 (CP). —Ontario's population increased to 4,082,829 in 1949, Municipal Affairs Minister George Dunbar said Wednesday night. In 1948 it was 3,941,527.

Mr. Dunbar's figures came from a Department of Municipal Affairs report released today.

It listed total municipal revenue at $229,107,218, compared with $202,856,084 in 1948, and expenditures at $227,375,862, compared with $202,052,189. Arrears of taxes in the province were $16,221,429, compared with $12,751,636 the year before.

Assessment valuations increased by more than $500,000,000 during the year to $3,980,518,432.

Industries Find Employment Hits New High

OTTAWA, Aug. 3—(CP)—Employment has hit an all-time high in an increasing number of industries, the Labor Department said Wednesday, reporting a further decline in the number of Canadians looking for jobs.

At July 13, there were 183,000 applications for employment at employment service offices across the country, a decline of more than 21,000 from two weeks before.

The July 13 figure compares with a peak unemployment mark of 435,000 last April 6 and is 38,000 higher than the total of 145,000 seeking employment at mid-July last year.

Shortages of workers have developed in some industries, the statement said, and during the first half of July skilled construction workers were becoming increasingly scarce and farm help was "not too plentiful in some areas."

Logging Industry Open

"More summer cutting is being done in the logging industry this year and the demand for workers was greater than the supply both in Eastern Canada and on the west coast," it added.

In Quebec, the total fell from 62,500 to 55,000.

Newfoundland had 14,100 unemployed compared with 16,900 two weeks before, the Maritime region 20,800 against 23,600; Ontario 45,500 against 48,200; Prairies 25,500 against 28,300 and the Pacific region 22,300 against 25,100.

Unemployment in Ontario: Kingston 1,050 (1,059); London 1,149 (1,232); Ottawa 2,644 (2,796); St. Catharines 1,172 (1,422); Sudbury 838 (888); Toronto 14,479 14,518); Windsor 3,043 (3,195).

Youth Stabbed In Rail Fight

SUDBURY, Aug. 3 CP) — An 18-year-old youth was stabbed in the abdomen late Wednesday night after a fight between a farmer and three youths on a moving freight train.

Roland Company, North Bay was taken to hospital with the stab wound. George O'Connor 36, was charged with assault. He claimed the wound was inflicted in self-defence.

Two more—Clarence Cote 17 of the Parry Sound Indian reservation and Donald Foster, 16, of North Bay—were charged with breaking, entering and trespassing.

O'Connor told police the three had ransacked his farmhouse at Romford Junction, six miles east of here, smashing furniture, stealing his clothes and plundering his ice box. He said he ran to the railway station half a mile away to telephone the police and saw the three climbing on a freight train.

The farmer said he jumped onto the train after them. During a fight, he and Company fell from the train and Company was stabbed during the scuffle.

Police picked up the other two youths from the train.

House Set To Vote Truman Broad Powers On Inflation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 —(AP)—The House of Representatives appeared set today to give President Truman powers to control virtually every phase of economic life in the United States. As demands mounted for across-the board controls to curb inflation and provide what's needed in the Korean war, the only question was the form of the Presidential powers would take.

An automatic device for invoking price-wage-rationing controls—timed to set them in motion whenever the cost of living reaches a certain point—is being worked out by the Senate banking committee.

The Senate committee Wednesday voted to have the controls bill include a section providing for up to a year in jail and as much as $10,000 fine for hoarders and black marketeers.

Two broad choices confronted the House as it began the task of outlining Truman's grant of authority.

One was a Republican-backed bill offered by Representative John Kunkel (Rep. Pa.). The other was an expanded administration bill rushed into the House Wednesday by Chairman Brent Spence (Dem. Ky.) of the House banking committee.

Both provided for stand-by authority to apply roll back controls over prices, wages and rationing as well as allocations and defence priorities. They differed on other matters, Kunkel's bill omitting Truman proposals for controls over credit and commodity trading.

A final vote is due tomorrow.

Meanwhile, there is fresh clamor for addition of an excess profits tax and new rent control authority.

It appeared improbable, however, the House would back them on the present bill. Leaders were opposed to additional tax or rent controls now, although sentiment for them cut across party lines.

Man Badly Wounded

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP)—William McKay, 55, said to have been shot through the mouth and lungs, was in critical condition in hospital here today. He is the owner of Camp Bragmore, near Manitowaning, about 25 miles southeast of here in the eastern part of Manitoulin Island. Provincial Police said they are questioning McKay's wife in connection with the shooting.

Tea Cup Tempest All Over Now

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 4 (Friday) (Reuters).—A country-wide waterfront strike, starting with a dispute over two cups of tea, ended early today.

The waterside workers accepted Prime Minister Sidney Holland's offer of a royal commission to inquire into every aspect of the waterfront industry.

The waterfront strike began in Auckland 10 days ago, when two workers were fined because they stopped for morning tea.

The resulting tie-up was New Zealand's biggest since a great waterfront strike in 1913 At least 70 overseas ships or coastal vessels were tied up.

Dutch Girl 14 Weds Malayan Teacher

SINGAPORE, Aug. 3 (AP).—A 14-year-old Dutch girl, reared in the jungle by a Malay foster-mother, today defied the world to break up her two-day-old marriage to a Malay schoolteacher.

Bertha Hertogh, who now calls herself Nadra Adabi, was married to schoolteacher Mansoor Adabi only four days after a high court awarded custody to the native nurse who had cared for her since the Japanese invasion of 1942 separated her from her Dutch parents. The Singapore Court of Appeals refused July 28 to return the child to her parents, who are now living in Bergen-Op-Zoom, the Netherlands.

"I married of my own choice the man I love," Bertha told newspaper men. "I am proud of him and I know I am fortunate to have met and married him. I am sure of our happiness and prosperity."

The girl was brought up by her nurse as a Moslem. The Moslem religion permits marriage for girls when they reach 14.

West Lacking In Subtlety, Fails In Asia Nehru Says

NEW DELHI, Aug. 3—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru today told the western world its dealings with Asian countries misfired because it lacked subtlety.

In a parliamentary debate on Korea, the Indian leader said his country would not say "ditto" to any country "in the wide world," and would pursue the line it thought best.

'Insofar as Asian questions are concerned, we are in a better position to throw light on them than some countries of the western world whose methods lack all subtley.

"They are extraordinarily lacking in any approach to mind and heart—and therefore they fail."

His speech was on a motion for parliamentary approval of his Korean policy.

His government's objectives, where Korea was concerned, he said, were:

1. Resistance to aggression. Conditions in neither north nor south had been "admirable" but aggression must be resisted.

2. Localization of the conflict. War should not spread beyond Korea and the Korean question should not be complicated with any other.

3. Termination of the conflict. Means for ending it must be found, and then Korea's future settled by the Koreans themselves.

His appeals to Prime Minister Stalin and State Secretary Dean Acheson, he said, were made "only in continuation of the policy we have pursued diplomatically for months past."

Ignoring the Communist government of China would not make it vanish, he said.

Hint Cabinet Has Agreed Send Troops

Say Volunteer Force Of 1,000 Men In Blueprint Stage

OTTAWA, Aug. 3—(CP)—Cabinet meets again today amid indications its ministers now are broadly agreed that Canada should provide a force of ground troops for service with the United Nations' forces in Korea.

There is no sign that any hard and fast conclusion was reached at Wednesday's four-hour meeting nor is it certain that any official statement will be made at the end of its sequel today.

However, a volunteer force that would run to at least 1,000 men now appears to be likely although details would have to be worked out.

The cabinet is meeting today at 3 p.m. EDT when, it is expected, final details of the principle of sending ground troops to Korea will be completed.

Need Special Session

Acceptance of this principle means a special session of parliament. Prime Minister St. Laurent, in his late-June pre-prorogation statement, indicated that any despatch of combat strength beyond destroyers would have to have parliament's approval.

The house normally would not reassemble until January but announcement of a decision to send ground troops would probably contain a statement that parliament will be recalled several months prior to that, possibly around October.

One of the headaches about a volunteer force is the uncertainty of how many Canadians would enlist for one. The best criterion to date is the army's announcement that more than 700 men have entered recruiting offices and said they would like to serve in Korea but not in the regular army. They were turned away.

There are roughly 800 men in a battalion of infantry.

Train In Canada

It is expected that regular army officers would be used, that the force would get a lot of its training in Canada and more advanced training in Japan and that war-

Says Ontario Will Co-operate

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP). — Premier Frost said today Ontario will co-operate fully in the Federal government's program to expand civil defence facilities throughout Canada.

The broad plan, approved by the Dominion cabinet and passed on to provincial authorities, has not yet been made public.

"We in Ontario have not been inactive," Premier Frost said in an interview. "The Fire Marshal has been making an intensive study of atomic and other defence measures, but we are not yet in a position to say exactly what we have in mind."

He said that Provincial Secretary Welsh has been named to represent Ontario in civil-defence discussions at Ottawa next fall.

Resources of the lands department would likely be put at federal disposal.

Next RCAF Plane On Way To Japan

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Air force headquarters today announced that another of the six North Star aircraft of 426 squadron has taken off from McChord's field near Tacoma, Wash., to join the trans-Pacific shuttle service bringing was supplies to Tokyo.

The take-off was believed to have been some time last night. Four of the aircraft already have made the trans-Pacific flight.

The aircraft was piloted by Wing Cmdr. C. H. Mussels of Montreal, squadron comander. An extra crew was taken aboard to be dropped off at a midway point to act as a relief crew.

Opposition Of 7 Countries Blocks Russia's Move To Seat Red China On UN

Watch With Interest India's Stand On Korean Issues; U.S. Rejects Any 'Deals' On Aggressive War

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 3—(AP)—The solid opposition of seven countries today doomed Russia's latest move to seat Red China on the United Nations Security Council as part of a peace deal for Korea. Six countries—Britain, France, Ecuador, Cuba, Norway and Nationalist China—followed the United States' lead Wednesday in insisting that the Council discuss the Korean question before considering admission of Communist China to the Council, and that the two questions be treated separately.

Chief Delegate Warren R. Austin of the United States led the fight to reject any "deals" for settlement of the Korean war. He declared the U.S. will never agree that the end of the North Korean aggression depends on any other issue.

As the third day of debate began today on the procedural tangle at 3 p.m. EDT, Council delegates watched with particular interest to see what India would do.

Added Significance

It hasn't the power to alter the outcome, but her strategic position in the east gave added significance to whatever stand she takes when her delegate, Sir Benegal N. Rau, speaks today on the agenda proposed by Russian delegate, Jakob A. Malik, the Council president for August.

Malik has insisted on the program he presented:

1. To consider seating the Chinese Communists.
2. To consider a "peaceful settlement" in Korea.

In demanding this agenda, he has denounced U.S. military action in Korea as an act of aggression.

India in recent weeks has found herself siding with both the U.S. and Russia on one aspect or another of the Korean question.

Belgian Cabinet Approves Bill

BRUSSELS, Aug. 3 (Reuters)—The Belgian cabinet today approved a bill providing for the transfer of King Leopold's Royal prerogatives to his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudoin.

It will probably be debated by parliament next week.

The king received foreign diplomats accredited to Belgium at Laeken Palace, still heavily guarded by troops and gendarmes. The reception was arranged shortly after the King's return from exile nearly two weeks ago, government circles said.

Dozens of pro-Leopoldists today burst into Catholic party headquarters and invaded the assembly room where the party chiefs were meeting.

Fist fights broke out. Executive members retreated into the corridors where they were pelted with eggs and tomatoes.

"You have sold us," the demonstrators cried.

Extremist members are severely critical of the all-Catholic government for "compromising" with the anti-Leopold Socialists and Liberals.

Hint Pope Planning Great Consistory

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Roman information agency, Ari, said today Pope Pius may be planning a great consistory to fill the church's dwindling rank of Cardinals as the closing ceremony of the 1950 Holy Year.

Seventeen Cardinals who have died since the last big consistory in 1946 raised the sacred college to its full complement of 70. At that time 32 Cardinals were elected—the greatest number ever created at one time.

The present depletion of the ranks, and the fact that the remaining 53 Cardinals average 70 years of age have pointed up the need for another consistory.

Cost-Of-Living To Show New Rent Gain

OTTAWA, Aug 3—(CP)—At least one segment of the cost-of-living index, now touching unparallelled heights, will show a new gain tomorrow—rents.

Bureau of Statistics officials have completed their June survey on rents and have disclosed that the movement is up. How much up won't be known until official figures are issued at 3 p.m. EDT tomorrow.

The general index, pushed up mainly by climbing meat prices, increased 1.4 points during May to a peak of 165.4. This compared with 160.5 a year ago and 164.0 during April, 1950. The index is calculated on the basis that prices in the 1935-39 period equalled 100.

During May, rising meat prices sent the foods sub-group from 204.6 to 209.0. Fresh pork prices went up 6.3 cents a pound, beef prices 3.2 cents, lamb 4.4 cents and meat 1.9 cents.

Ranges High

The meat price range continued to range high during June, mainly because of the big demand for beef in the United States.

During May, increases in British Columbia telephone rates and galvanised wire advanced the home furnishings and services sub-index from 166.4 to 166.9.

The fuel and light group slipped slightly from its peak of 137.5 to 137.1, reflecting lower prices for coal and coke. The clothing subgroup also declined from 180.8 to 180.7, as lower prices for women's wear out-balanced slight increases in men's wear, piece goods and footwear.

The miscellaneous group, however, climbed 0.1 points to a new peak of 132.4, due principally to higher prices for automobile tires.

Since the Bureau surveys rental changes only four times a year, the rent sub-index has remained unchanged since last February when it climbed an unprecedented 7.7 points to bring the rent group to a new height of 132.7.

Pipes Pierce Front Of Bus

Damage estimated at $500 was done to a city bus Wednesday when it ran into pipes protruding from the rear of a truck.

Driver of the truck, Gerald Howley, 141 Hazlitt St., told police he was driving west on Charlotte St. when a car he was following turned left onto Rubidge St. without signalling.

Howley said he was forced to stop, and a city bus, driven by O. M. Gordon, 30 George St., ran into the pipes. The pipes pierced the front of the bus, dislodging the instrument panel and breaking an air vent.

No damage was done to the truck, and the car that made the left turn has not been located.

The bus driver suffered a bruised knee.

In the other city accident Wednesday $35 damage was done to a motorcycle owned by Fred Delong, 219 Caddy St. Delong was riding his cycle south on George St. when he lost control and struck the rear of a car parked on the west side of George St.

The car is owned by R. J. Ross, 8 Argyle St.

time admission standards—rather than the tough peacetime ones — would apply.

The force would probably emerge as a mixture of war veterans and young men too young for the last war, possibly buttressed with officers and non-commissioned officers from the regular army.

Its formation would be based on the twin conclusions that the Korean war probably is going to last for months and that a long build-up for a counter-offensive is in prospect whether the Americans hold to their tiny share of Korea or not.

It is doubtful that the force, once created, would leave Canada for months, possibly not before the end of the year. It would have to be fitted into some higher formation. Prime Minister Menzies of Australia, due here Monday, has talked of a Commonwealth division now that Britain, Australia and New Zealand have all offered troops.

Britain Plans To Spend More On Arms

LONDON, Aug. 3 (Reuters) — U.S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas made a late and unexpected call at 10 Downing St Wednesday night in connection with expected early announcement of British plans to spend further millions on rearmament.

Prime Minister Attlee has been clearing final details before making the anouncement, to be of major importance.

Britain has already approved addition of £100,000,000 to the existing £780,000,000 defence budget. This now may be regarded as only the first instalment of a spending plan which will return Britain to a near wartime economy.

Answer To U.S.

The new spending plan will be Britain's answer to the U.S. call for Atlantic Pact members to report immediately on their ability to accelerate defence measures.

It was believed Douglas' visit to Attlee's official residence Wednesday was concerned with the transmission of Britain's new defence blueprint to Washington.

The British plan is based according to authoritative sources on the presumption that full-scale war is not imminent. So the plan allows for the maximum possible expenditure on rearmament consistent with economic solvency, just short of the full switch to a wartime economy.

The plan is the result of the urgent instructions to all ministries concerned sent out last month when Attlee announced Britain's intention to match the "high purpose" of the United States, as defined by President Truman.

Two Fishermen Taken From Lake

Fishing was good at Chemong lake today. Two muskies were caught together on the same plug and two Toronto fishermen were plucked from the lake after overturning in their boat.

The Toronto men were trolling in the lake just out from Bridgenorth. Their fishing lines became entangled in the propellor of their rented outboard motor. One of them leaned out of the boat too far trying to untangle the line and upset the boat.

They weren't in the water long when Clifford Hartman of Bridgenorth, saw them and went to their rescue with his boat. They were little the worse for wear, but lost some of their gear.

The two muskies that were caught off Kelly's Island had apparently been swimming together and both tried to snatch the prize. They were each caught by the plug's hooks and were reeled in. However, they were undersized and were thrown back in.

Key Issues Climb On Quiet Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP). — Selective buying pulled a handful of market leaders ahead slightly as the session progressd on the Toronto Stock Exchange today Activity dropped to a trickle but key issues climbed. Volume for the first three hours was 261,000 shares.

Gains were held to fractions on the industrial board as the list pulled ahead from downward pressure of yesterday afternoon. Papers, steels, refining oils, and liquors brightened while foods and constructions weakened. A few utilities were strong in early dealings but slipped in mid-session.

Base metals started lower but recovered as the session progressed. Feature of the list was Waite Amulet. Waite dropped $1.05 to $8.20 in brisk dealings following release of the semi-annual report showing a drop of more than 50 per cent in earnings compared with the first six months of 1949.

Golds brightened in mid-session on small gains by senior producers. Juniors were quiet with a few issues adding pennies.

Western oils sagged steadily.

Convict Couple Of Neglecting Eight Children

WINDSOR, Aug. 3 (CP). — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Foster of Windsor were convicted today of neglecting their eight children. They will be held in jail until Saturday for sentence.

The couple said they were unable to provide properly for the children on Foster's pay as an auto worker.

Police constable William Ross said he entered the Foster home Monday night to investigate the near-drowning of a one-year-old child. He said the baby had fallen in a tub of stagnant water in the kitchen.

He told the court he found the baby lying on a filthy mattress. Five other children, ranging in age from three to 11 years, were sleeping on one bed upstairs and other youngsters were away from home on a weekend visit to Saginaw, Mich.

J. Herbert Dawson, director of the Children's Aid Society, said the home was "definitely unfit for human habitation."

Defence counsel said that Foster had been given notice to leave the house a year ago, but had been unable to find another home.

ly timed. "Our attack stopped theirs from getting underway," Church said.

Arrive At Right Time

Erickson said the big withdrawal of allied troops in the west and north put the defenders on a line of their choice, the Naktong River.

The fall back, he said, disengaged hard-pressed American forces while the newly-arrived 2nd Infantry Division and elements of the 1st Marine Division were being deployed.

Erickson said the Allied withdrawals were skilful. They conserved manpower and denied the Communists an opportunity to attack during the critical time when the reinforcing 2nd Infantry and 1st Marine Division elements moved up.

These reinforcements arrived in the nick of time while a dangerous fight was going on along the perimeter around crowded Pusan.

The holding actions of the hard-hit 24th, 1st Cavalry and the 25th Divisions in the Kumchon-Pusan corridor and the long thin western front bought the needed time for the build-up of Allied forces. It gave commanders time for a deliberate choice of a strong natural defence line.

The Korean Communists can not move faster than their infantry can walk. They are not expected to hit the Allied lines for at least 24 hours.

Regain Yongdok

On the east coast, South Koreans regained shell-flattened Yongdok under a new Allied naval barrage cover. They drove the Communists three miles to the north of the city. The barrage continued today with eight-inch cruiser guns hammering the Reds.

The American retreat in the west and the Korean Republican withdrawal in the north—west of Yongdok—were reported orderly.

The meandering Naktong river offers the Allies what may be the best natural barrier they have had in the unequal Korean war. It is deep and broad in spots and some bridges across it have been blown.

A briefing officer at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo said American and South Korean retreats on the central and northern arcs, averaging from two to six miles a day for three days, gained time for a buildup of the reinforcements from the United States.

More Powerful Armor

The MacArthur spokesman said the marines would throw more powerful armor at the North Koreans than they had encountered. Their Pershing tanks carry 90-millimetre guns. Other marine weapons include super-bazookas and flame throwers.

The Communists, MacArthur's spokesman said, have lost most of their tank strength. They were reported regrouping and getting ready for the drives toward Pusan and Taegu, scarcely seven miles from the Natkong, 50 miles northwest of Pusan.

At least half a division of Reds had been added to the two divisions in the Chingju area. The battle-tried 24th Division halted the Reds in the hills there.

One column of Communists was forced into a defile by the Americans on the Chinju front. Fighter planes dived on them, blasting with rockets and machine-guns.

Throw Away Lives

MacArthur in his Wednesday night war summary said the North Koreans had recklessly thrown away thousands of lives.

MacArthur's report said Americans east of Chinju counter-attacked "for the purpose of rectifying their lines and to disorganze a threatened Red offensive."

A front dispatch from AP war correspondent Hal Boyle said Communist artillery shelled a riverside highway 14 miles southwest of Taegu, aimed to cut American highway traffic along the road east of the Naktong River to Taegu, provincial capital. This was the nearest attack on Taegu up to then.

MacArthur reported a regimental combat team of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division threw back a Communist thrust east of Kumchon in the central sector. Kumchon was abandoned in flames by the 1st Cavalry Wednesday night.

Allied warplanes continued hammering enemy troops and supply. Flying more than 400 sorties Wednesday, they concentrated on close tactical ground support in the battle area west of Pusan.

The Far East air force reported damaging 76 North Korean vehicles, 29 railroad cars and six locomotives. U.S. B-29s bombed nine bridges, including one of their more familiar targets—the railroad bridge west of Seoul, the long-lost South Korean capital.

In addition to covering the South Korean's recapture of Yonkdok, naval gunfire damaged military installations at Red-held Mokpo, former naval base on Korea's southwest coast.

An aerial spotter reported a two-hour bombardment by two British destroyers — "operating under extreme navigational hazards"—set a large fire in an oil storage area and hit warehouses, a factory, railroad sidings and dock installations at Mokpo.

The Far East naval summary said Mokpo "could be a vital staging point for the North Koreans in close-in water resupply operations along the west and south coasts."

Australian Target

A hydro-electric plant at Mokpo was the target of rocket-firing Australian Mustangs.

Airmen generally reported they had difficulty finding targets along the Korean roads. Two days ago the Communists pushed their tanks and supplies down highways in daylight. American and Australian pilots shot some of them to bits. Such targets were scarce on Thursday under terrific pounding and strafing.

Pressure on South Korean troops in the north central sectors had eased noticeably Thursday. Only minor engagements were fought in the Andong-Yechon-Hamchang area.

MacArthur's headquarters said the Korean Republicans had been supplied with more artillery and were waiting for the signal to kick off on a general attack.

Farmers Scour Bush For Child

DANFORD, Que., Aug. 3 (CP) —Police and scores of farmers are scouring the bush near this village 40 miles north of Ottawa, searching for a five-year-old child, reported by a farmer to have been seen in the area Tuesday.

The farmer, George Howard, said he saw a child, about five, dressed in white, walking towards his farm early Tuesday morning. Minutes later he again looked where the child had been. It had disappeared.

Searchers scouring the area throughout the night reported hearing a child crying in the dense underbrush.

Mayor J. B. McConnell of Danford, who led the search, said later that he was doubtful that there was any lost child in the area. However, since Howard and his wife were convinced that they had seen it, the search was continued.

Two Men Awarded Hockey Scholarships

TORONTO, Aug 3 (CP) — Donald S. Wilson, 24, Vancouver, and John Beckwith, 23, of Toronto have been awarded $2,000 scholarships financed by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, it was announced today

Mr. Wilson, who has directed Little-Theatre productions in Vancouver, will use his scholarship to study fine art at Yale with a view to returning to Canada to teach drama. Mr. Beckwith, who has had some of his musical compositions performed publicly, will study under Paul Hindemuth, composer and teacher at the Yale music school.

21,000 German DP's Get Arms Training

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 3—(AP)—The United States army has ordered 21,000 of its German and displaced persons' guards to receive small arms training and to live in barracks.

This was disclosed today by army officials who said many of the guards already carry small arms.

The officials said the new order has no military significance and results from the merger of the army's "industrial police" and labor service companies. This took place Aug. 1 but no official announcement was made by the army.

Reports of the merger appeared in the German press, however, and today the Communist press charged the guard group is molded into a western army. The Communists made no mention of the "people's police" in the Soviet zone, which western authorities say constitutes an illegal army of up to 100,000.

Council Tries To Halt Civic Workers Strike

HAMILTON, Aug. 3 (CP)—A special meeting of city council today will discuss ways to head off a threatened strike by civic employees.

Local 5 of the Hamilton Civic Employees' Union (CCL) is seeking a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour. A conciliation board recommended against the general increase but suggested that the pay of garbage collectors and sewer workers be raised five cents an hour.

The union plans to vote Friday night on acceptance or rejection of the conciliation board report.

Believe Polish Liner First To Be Examined

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(AP)—The Polish liner Batory may be the first vessel to be examined here under new atomic security regulations.

The Batory is due Saturday, and it is expected that she will be boarded in lower New York bay by federal agents for the "Trojan Ship" search announced recently for all ships from Iron-Curtain ports.

Harry M. Durning, collector of the port, declined to comment, saying only no decision on the Polish liner's reception will be made until late Friday.

Last week Durning announced that, under instructions from Washington, all ships from Russia and Satellite countries will receive thorough examination before they reached the Upper Bay.

Gold Loot Recovered, Hunt Thieves

Flee Burning Car Bandits Leave Mine's $100,000

TIMMINS, Ont., Aug. 3 — (CP)—A faulty brake-drum on a stolen car Wednesday thwarted two bandits in what might have been the biggest gold robbery in Canadian history.

The brake drum set fire to the 16-year-old car in which the thieves fled after blasting open a safe and taking an estimated $100,000 in gold from Coniarum Mines, Ltd.

TIMMINS, Aug. 3—(CP)—Police said today a fire which destroyed a getaway car and forced two bandits to abandon almost $100,000 in stolen gold probably was caused by an oxygen explosion. Investigators said they now are inclined to discount a theory that a faulty brakedrum on the stolen car touched off the blaze.

The gutted car, the gold inside, was found by police 25 miles east of here five hours after the theft. There was no sign of the robbers.

Their faces hooded and blackened with soot, they overwhelmed 62-year-old Bill Edwards, mine watchman. Then they cut open a vault with acetylene torches to get at three bars of gold—weighing some 216 pounds—that were awaiting shipment to the Royal Canadian mint at Ottawa.

Just Miss Explosion

The bandits apparently threw their oxygen-acetylene equipment from the car—belonging to Edwards—just in time to prevent an explosion that might have killed them both.

Police said the bandits apparently were professional cracksmen and knew the layout of the mine.

Edwards said he was making the rounds at 3.30 a.m. when the men overpowered him, tied him up while they cut through a vault with a torch and dynamited an inner safe.

He said they walked about like "apes," apparently to foil identification.

IMMING REMANDED

Paul Imming, 25, was further remanded today on total bail of $8,000 to August 21 by Magistrate E. A. Gee. Imming is charged with fraud and forgery in connection with the $100,000 fraud of a Toronto finance company. Imming's mother- and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Riches, 223 Rink St., will appear on the same date. They are charged as accessories after the fact.

Miss O. M. Clark Appointed To School Staff

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 — (ENS). — An application from Miss Olive M. Clark for a position on the staff of the Campbellford High School was accepted at the meeting of the High School Board on Monday.

The secretary was instructed to write to James Jacobs regarding the stoker recently purchased for the school, and also to ask the department for transportation rates. The secretary was also instructed to complete the forms for the department relating to the teaching of agriculture. The Board will advertise in Campbellford and Warkworth, courses offered to students at Campbellford High School.

The property committee was instructed to report on lighting conditions at the school and was also empowered to purchase 62 additional chair-desks from a Toronto firm. The board will also advertise for tenders on a new power mower.

Family Quarrel Costs Parents $7.50 Each

A family quarrel cost Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCarrell $5 and $2.50 costs each in court today when they pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance on Elm St.

Mrs. McCarrell had been taking one of her children to a doctor when Mr. McCarrell stopped her and took the child from the carriage. An argument followed.

"How many children have you?" asked Magistrate E. A. Gee. "Three," said Mrs. McCarrell.

"That gives you three reasons to get along together," said his worship. The quarrel, said the pair, was settled.

Island Given New Ferry But No Bridge

TORONTO, Aug. 3—(CP)—An ice-breaking ferry soon will link St. Joseph's Island with the Algoma district mainland about 30 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

It will replace two cable ferries now serving the 2,500 residents of the Lake Huron Island and will provide speedy, year-round service, J. D. Millar, Ontario Deputy Highways Minister, announced last night. A naval architect, now studying the situation, will recommend the design for the new ferry.

The decision to improve the ferry service means that the island will be without a bridge to the mainland. They have sought such a bridge for nearly 50 years.

The island municipalities recently agreed to have a single central ferry crossing from Humbug point on the mainland to an island dock 750 feet away. A new approach road on the mainland will lead to Highway 17, the Sault-Sudbury highway.

Much Shorter

The new crossing will be considerably shorter than those of the cable ferries at Pine Island and Kensington Point. The cable ferries are wooden craft, formerly light cargo ships used in wartime beach landings, and have been severely pounded by channel ice during storms in late spring and early winter.

St. Joseph's Island, first large Canadian island southeast of Sault Ste. Marie in the north channel, has a mainly farming population. Many Americans and some Canadians own summer cottages on its wooded shores and near its principal communities, Richard's Landing and Hilton Beach.

During the war of 1812, a force of British soldiers and Canadian volunteers that set out from Fort St. Joseph near the southern end of the Island captured Fort Michilimackac from the Americans and held that outpost guarding the Straits of Mackinac until the end of the war.

Obituary

JOHN NELSON McKAY

After a short illness one of Norwood's oldest residents John Nelson McKay, passed away on Saturday in his 91st year at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Olive Bannon.

Born in Westwood son of the late William McKay and Jane Nelson, he spent his entire life in Asphodel township where he farmed until four years ago, when he retired and went to live in Norwood with his daughter, Mrs. Olive Bannon.

His wife, Elizabeth Parker, and three daughters, Mrs. Ernest Ivey (Edna), Mrs. Court Murphy (Ethel), and Myrtle, predeceased him.

Surviving are three daughters and two sons: Mrs. George Baptie (Bertha), Mrs. Edward Bannon (Olive), Herbert, Otonabee, and Arthur on the homestead in Asphodel.

The funeral was held on Tuesday from the Norwood Baptist Church, where he was an active member all his life.

The pallbearers were Frank McKay, Donald Hope, David Nelson, Roy Parker, Gordon Parker and Clarence Glenn.

Flower bearers were: Harold McKay, Clifford Fife, Colin Deck, William Sedgwick, Johnson McKay, Basil Bannon, Bruce Walker, Everett Watters.

Interment was in Norwood cemetery.

Bombers Strike Hungnam Again

TOKYO, Rug. 3 (AP)—B-29 bombers made their third strike in five days against North Korean chemical and munitions manufacturing plants today, the Far East Air Force reported.

Today's target was the Bogun chemical plant at Hungnam, on the east coast 115 miles above the 38th parallel. Four hundred tons of bombs were poured down on the factory.

Some bombs were dropped visually. But three-fourths of the bomb loads had to be sighted by radar.

The Bogun plant is only three miles from explosives factory the Far East Air Force said was "almost totally destroyed" by a B-29 strike Sunday. They struck again in the same area Tuesday.

Some flak was encountered over the target.

Approve Bartered Brides In Tanganyika UK Says

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Aug. 3 —(CP)— A report on British administration in Tanganyika, made public today, gives an official blessing to the native practice of "bartered brides."

"It is sometimes suggested," the report says, "that the status of women could be improved by the limitation or abolition of the 'bride price' but experience has shown this is not the case."

Instead, payment of livestock, clothing or money by the bridegroom to the parents of the bride may be regarded as a parallel to the white man's payment of rings or jewelry to the woman who is to be his wife.

The payment gave marriage a social prestige, the report said. In one district where the practice of "bride price" was not used, tribal elders were considering the possibility of introducing it to prevent marriages breaking up.

The report, which will be presented to the United Nations, also contained a footnote on progress in Tanganyika.

"Twenty years ago," it said, "no self-respecting Kuria male would be seen without the lobes of his ears perforated and the holes distended to an enormous size."

Today, "cranial adornments are a source of ribald comment from Africans who are accustomed to them."

Lower Prices In Russia

Russia has several times since the war cut prices of goods: quite startling reductions some of them have been, measured in terms of rubles. But these reductions can mean no real reduction, if, for instance, rates of pay ahev also dropped at the same rate. The United States Bureau of Labour Statistics has discovered, after a careful study, that there has been a real reduction.

* * *

It reports that during the last thirty months considerable headway has been made in reducing the work time required to buy consumers' necessities. So the Communists who boast that the U.S.S.R. is not only recovering from the upheaval and destruction of the last war, but has also reduced the cost of living, can do so with some truth. However, as the following comparative figures show, Russia has still a long, long way to go before the cost of living is as low as it is in Canada or the United States. As for luxuries like cars, watches and out-of-season foods—items which are almost considered necessities in capitalistic North America—Russian prices are sky-high.

* * *

On the basis of American and Russian statistics, the working time required for a loaf of bread in the U.S.S.R. has slumped from 31 to 19 minutes; in the United States it is six minutes. For a quart of milk the figures are (1947) one hour 18 minutes, (1950) 52 minutes; in the U.S. seven minutes. For a dozen eggs, four hours 57 minutes, four hours; U.S. 24 minutes. For a pound of sugar, two hours 34 minutes, two hours; U.S. four minutes. On the other hand a pound of tea has doubled in labour time, from 11 to 22 hours; in the United States it has remained constant at 40 minutes.

* * *

Where the housewife formerly contributed 31 hours, 51 minutes for a cotton dress, she now labors 23 hours; in the U.S. one hour 57 minutes. Her shoes now require 72 hours labour; they formerly demanded 107 hours, 30 minutes. In the U.S. the percentage decline has been almost exactly the same; the price being now equivalent to three hours, 30 minutes labor. The real cost of men's shoes in the U.S. has followed the same trend; in the U.S.S.R. unfortunately, the labour equivalent has risen from 104 hours 30 minutes to 112 hours. But the cost of Mr. Moscow's wool suit has fallen from 580 hours, 15 minutes to 376 hours; U.S. figure—24 hours 24 minutes.

* * *

The Russian industrial, agricultural and technical machines have moved swiftly in the last thirty years. The extent of recovery from the last war has indeed been impressive. But the Canadian and American development, has been at least equally impressive. And we still get more for less, and have an easier time doing it, under North American capitalistic efficiency.

The World As A Globe

A distinguished professor of Geography, C. B. Fawcett, of University College, London, recently told a Quebec seminar of fellow-geographers that people have to realize that the world is a globe, if the ideal of one harmonious world is ever to be reached. We had thought that Christopher Columbus and his public relations officers through the last five and a half centuries had imbedded the global idea pretty firmly in people's heads. But there has been another force at work. A cartographer named Mercator filled books and schools with his projection of the global world on a flat surface, like a blackboard or wall map. So, after children heard about Columbus' proof that the world was round, they spent the next ten years looking at it as a big flat square, with the North Pole as wide as the Equator.

Dr. Fawcett has his own maps, to give a truly global impression of the world. Instead of northern Canada being as big as all South America, the Arctic bigger than the Atlantic, the seas and continents are shown in proper proportions and the continents not as isolated land masses. In Dr. Fawcett's picture the Atlantic is an inland ocean, the shores of which are the most important to mankind. Beyond the Atlantic border are the highlands of the world, forming the outer edge of a great saucer with nearly two-thirds of all land draining into the Atlantic Ocean, at the centre. Our impression of Dr. Fawcett's global world is a bit hazy, we confess; we haven't seen his maps. But we are glad that the world's roundness is being reaffirmed. It reduces Canada from Mercator's projection, but it puts this country in a supreme, not perhaps easy seat, at the very top of the globe, or is it under it, like Atlas? Northern Canada's being the short-cut for air-liners, and bombers, plying between the continents, may make our tasks as great as Atlas'. We are not quite sure that we like the political implications of a global world. Mercator's projection looks safer.

Illustrated, London News, 1843: Mixed Bag

Our latest investigation of the file of this newspaper proved generally diverting. After a rather stodgy beginning with "The Court and Haut Ton", a postscript from "India, Affghanistan and China", and some revenue, excise and customs statistics, we came to some fairly meaty stuff in an "Epitome of News". Not altogether to our surprise, we found that there was knavery and tragedy, suicide and scandal, murder and maiming in those days as there is today, and that at least one newspaper published accounts of these happenings for interested readers.

Thus we found that a clergyman had been convicted, at the petty sessions at Bury, of being a rogue and a vagabond, and with having obtained money under false pretences. Another clergyman was having a bit of trouble with an irate parent who claimed his daughter was being baptized without his consent—and the parent was obviously a man with all of the senior Mr. Weller's dislike for the clergy. Self-righteousness was nastily strong in the land, for still another clergyman—on Christmas day, of all days—had summoned a young man and a young woman from the congregation, and, "in the presence of all those assembled, expelled them from the sacred edifice".

There was charity, too, for prisoners at Newgate and other prisons were "regaled with bread, beef and porter on New Year's Day at the expense of the sheriff," and the journal expressed the hope that this would prove the only expense that worthy person would be put to on account of the prisoners. A free celebrant died of his holiday potations; a young man "put a period to his existence" by downing a noggin of prussic acid, while another used cold steel. Murder was reduced to manslaughter when it was found that the combatants had been throwing shoes at each other, and a respectable (The Illustrated London News Italics) young lady named Ann Dunn was committed for trial from the Clerkenwell police-office, charged with having robbed twenty-five children of their clothes and bread and butter on the way to school.

It seemed almost anti-climactic to learn that Lord Worsley was recovering from a severe accident, that a monument was proposed for erection at Bamburgh to the memory of Grace Darling, that mild weather was responsible for the activity of two hives of bees on December 30, and that the proprietors of the Colonial Bank met at the London Tavern and recommended a dividend of two per cent. Yet these less spectacular happenings leavened the news of their day, as similar occurrences do today.

Doing Yourself Up Brown

This is the time of year when every newspaper feels obliged to issue a warning to people who go sun-bathing. This can be a dangerous business, for if you try to turn yourself a delightful coffee-colour in two weeks you will very probably lie in the sun too long, and the least unpleasant thing that will happen to you will be a case of severe sunburn. But of late the medical profession has been warning that too much sunbathing, even if you space your sunbaths wisely, may bring about skin-troubles of greater and lesser importance.

We do not pretend to any special knowledge on this subject, but we have observed that there are some people who tan well and seem to take no hurt from long exposure to the sun, and there are many others who have a limited tolerance for sunlight. If you are one of the latter—and you should know without being told—you are wise to forget about sun-tan, and to take proper precautions against it. You can wear light, cool clothes, and you would probably be wise to wear a hat, as well.

There is no reason why everybody should have a tanned skin in summer. The effect is often pleasing, but no more so than a healthy, fair complexion. If you do not tan well, it seems likely that Nature does not mean you to be brown, and if you go contrary to Nature's desires, you will get yourself into uncomfortable and perhaps dangerous trouble.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A knowledge of artificial respiration is useful at a summer resort, and may usefully be applied to oneself, after a short time spent in listening to some other guest's artificial aspiration.

China's Future

By
O. M. GREEN

OBSCURED by the Korean war-clouds, much has recently happened in China which it is important to notice. This is indicated in the Communists' own daily reports. Amid the mass of noisy propaganda they contain a leaven of hard facts, which are confirmed by sporadic foreign information from China. Briefly, these reports indicate a remarkable readiness by the Communists to face realities, recognize mistakes, and change their methods accordingly.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOURTEEN months have passed since the capture of Nanking meant that the Communists had in effect captured all China. All accounts agree that they have since shown marked ability in handling their huge responsibility, particularly in the big cities, for which their years in the wilderness had given them no preparation. On the other hand, the ruthless measures they took to check the headlong inflation of the People's Bank dollar, their crushing taxation and enforced subscription to Victory loans, and the intrusion of the State into retail as well as wholesale business, had a paralyzing effect on industry and caused widespread unemployment.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOWHERE was the outcry more ominous than among the peasants. Even the distribution of large estates among them brought its own difficulties, owing to the old relations between landlord and tenant peculiar to every province. But more than this, taxes hitherto unknown were imposed, and grain was confiscated to feed the Army and keep labour quiet in the big towns. In some districts there have been open riots.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE grievances took up most of the fortnight's discussions at the recent half-yearly meeting of the National Committee of the People's Political Consultative Conference—China's Communist equivalent of a Parliamentary Assembly. As Mao Tse-tung said, the peasants are four-fifths of the population; China depends upon them, and their welfare is the concern of every other class.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE outcome of the National Committee's debates was a new agrarian reform law, which contains some striking clauses. The existence of rich peasants, who have some of their land cultivated by hired labour, is to be allowed; and land used by its owners for industry or commerce must not be confiscated.

✧ ✧ ✧

RURAL land belonging to temples, monastries, churches, and schools "shall be requisitioned"; but financial help must be given to keep going the schools, orphanages, homes for the aged, and hospitals dependent on the revenue of such land. Another interesting clause is that graveyards, the bamboo groves surrounding them, and ancestral shrines are not to be touched. These are the very core of Chinese family life and ancestor-worship, which have always been reckoned the strongest barrier against the conversion of China to Marxist Communism.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE unpleasant discovery, set out in a long report by the Communist Party's committee, that China does not love the Communists as they would wish, has greatly exercised the National Committee. Mao Tse-tung took up this question in two speeches which have been elaborated by the "People's Daily," the leading paper in Peking. The Communist Party, it is pointed out, now numbering more than 5,000,000 members, contains too many "careerists." These must be weeded out; the style of work of the whole party must be remoulded; many defects and mistakes must be corrected, "especially authoritarianism," or, in plain English, the tyrannical ways of junior officials and party members. Persuasion and sweet reasonableness must be the guiding rule; thus alone can the Chinese people be won to understand and further the aims of the Communist reformation.

✧ ✧ ✧

CONTINUAL self-examination is a conventional precept of Communism everywhere. In China it certainly seems to have been acted on, judging not only by the new agrarian law but by the long list of tax alleviations since announced, in response not only to the peasant unrest but to strong remonstrances by a group of leading Chinese businessmen.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN their eagerness to stabilize prices, to make a good show before the workers, and to realize their ideal of the all-controlling beneficent State, the Communists have pressed the pace too hard. The burden of Mao Tse-tung's speeches to the National Committee and to the Communist Party was that they must go slowly, that full Socialism is still a long way off, that capitalism within limits must be not only tolerated but encouraged, and that the aim must be the "New Democracy," a fair co-operation between State and private enterprise. And Liu Chao-chi, vice-chairman of the Central Government, after pointing out that agrarian reform had not yet even been attempted in more than half China, said, if it could be accomplished within three years, that would be very quick.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL this recalls the New Economic Policy which Lenin introduced in Russia when he saw that the move towards Communism was going too fast. The N.E.P. was meant only for a transition period, and Stalin abolished it as soon as he felt the time was ripe. The Chinese Communist leaders may have similar intentions. However, it does at least seem clear that for the present they are fully occupied with domestic problems, and will not want to be drawn into foreign embroilments at Russia's behest.

✧ ✧ ✧

INDEED, a curious feature of the National Committee meeting is that little attention appears to have been given to foreign affairs. Mao Tse-tung paid the usual tribute to Russo-Chinese friendship and to "the great historic significance" of the treaty between the two countries, but quickly passed on to matters nearer home.

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE it is obviously necessary to guard against drawing wishful inferences. At present nothing could seem closer than the tie between Russia and China, continually trumpeted by the clique of Moscow-trained intellectuals in Peking. But it may be open to question whether this enthusiasm is shared by the Communist generals and others of the party. According to some observers, it is not. The Russian advisers do not seem to have made themselves liked in China, and there is positive information of two head-on collisions between them and Ministries in Peking.

✧ ✧ ✧

RUSSIA's record in China is not good, from the treaty of Nerchinsk in 1687, when she cheated China over the Siberian frontier question, to her monopolizing of the Chinese Eastern Railway and her palpable manoeuvres to seize all Manchuria early in the present century. Last June, just before the final collapse of the Kuomintang Government, she extracted from it the exclusive right to fly aeroplanes and control air stations in Sinkiang, a fact on which the treaty signed by Mao Tse-tung in Moscow last February is eloquently silent. And under that treaty, loudly as it has been extolled in Peking, Russia in plain fact gave nothing but promises, while the value to China of the modest loan then made has since been lessened by the revaluation of the rouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE one point on which all the best authorities are agreed is that China is too big, too proud, too much set on doing things for herself in her own way to become a satellite of Russia. At present, of course, this and all such judgements are bound to be highly speculative. But the events described above certainly seem to suggest that China's Government, after thirteen years of invasion and civil war, is far more deeply interested in what happens inside than outside the country. What this may mean in the future may depend largely on the wisdom of Western Powers. At least no effort should be spared in trying to find out what Chinese Communism really means and aims at. It would be easy to go seriously wrong—and not only in China — by indiscriminately labelling as Communism the deep impulses prevalent throughout Asia towards national progress and independence.

Letter To The Editor

WHAT HAPPENED TO BOYS' TOWN?

Sir: May I have a short space in your paper to ask a question which is puzzling quite a few parents minds? What has happened to Boys' Town? Rumours are on the streets that Mr. Bent is looking for employment, and Boys' Town is no longer under supervision. When Boys' Town was first started they were to have a large drill hall built. The boys all worked hard, put on a few shows and made a little money. Still no hall was erected. They had a second show and as every one knows the kids did a swell job and took in quite a sum of money. Now tell us where did that money go? Also they have been operating their booth at the park, and still getting nowhere. This is a very good thing for our boys. Now if the Optimist Club can't see their way clear to operate this club, why don't they let some other club take hold of this club house and really make a success of it? After all there are at least two clubs who are willing to operate, and I believe can make a success of our Boys' Town.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. (John 4: 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. (Ps. 95: 6.)

And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. (Matt. 6: 5, 6.)

Legal Phraseology

(H. King, M.P., in London Times)

The High Court of Parliament has passed Clause 34 of the Finance Bill. Among the quaint provisions of this clause is the following (I quote):—

(2) Where an interest limited to cease on a death (with the meaning of the said section forty-three) has been disposed of or has determined, bona fide possession and enjoyment of the property shall not be deemed for the purposes of subsection (2) of that section to be assumed immediately thereafter and thenceforward retained to the entire exclusion of a person who had the interest and of any benefit to him by contract or otherwise, if at any time thereafter he has a benefit by virtue of any operations associated with the disposition or determination, nor while he has such a benefit shall the property be deemed to be enjoyed to the entire exclusion as aforesaid for the purposes of subsection (3) of section fifty-nine of the Finance (1909-10) Act, 1910 (which relates to the surrender of benefit reserved).

Has not the time arrived when the legal profession might—even in its own interests—tidy up legal language?

How Sweden Solved the Trent Problem

Nation's Oldest Tourist Attraction Adds Every Year To It's Popularity

By RICHARD F. CHOATE.

Problems of canal construction in all ages have challenged the attention of many of the world's great intellects. In many major undertakings of the kind centuries elapsed between concept and fulfillment. After beginnings had been made difficulties were encountered which for long periods seemed insuperable. But in the years of vexatious delays was born a faith that literally moved mountains—and the job was done.

Experience gained in other parts of the world was built into our own Trent Waterway permanently by its engineers and construction workmen. As we look on the still uncompleted Trent, we may ask ourselves if there is not a lot to be learned if we reflect a little on the history of similar developments abroad, especially on how Sweden solved a not dissimilar problem.

If we look at the Gota canal which crosses Sweden, from Gothenburg (Goteborg) to Stockholm we shall find many natural and constructional features which probably parallel most closely those of the Trent. On the routes of both these waterway systems are large and beautiful lakes linked by rivers and canals. One of these lakes on the Gota, Vanern, about two-sevenths the size of Lake Ontario, is the third largest in Europe. Another, Vattern, is the second largest in Sweden. But it is important that while we look at common denominators we should not be unmindful of functional and structural dissimilarities which may provide the most valuable object lessons for study. These are limiting cases and if they remind us of our own limitations something worthwhile will have been gained.

Picturesque Waterway

Connecting the Baltic with the Kattegat, the Gota canal is one of the world's most picturesque and fascinating waterways. The Gota canal was designed primarily as a political move to deprive the Danes of their toll dues in the Sound, but by the time it was completed in the early part of last century the toll dues had been abolished and 300 years' political scheming was brought to nought, writes Edric A. Hille. Nevertheless, when it was opened in 1832, the canal was hailed as one of the engineering triumphs of the world, and it has since proven a commercial proposition of the first importance, as well as an outstanding tourist attraction.

The canal trip, a leisurely and charming three-day journey (one-way) is permanently fascinating to tourists from all parts of the world. Passage either way may be booked in advance from the company which operates the small steamers, the prices including meals and service charge.

Sweden has contrived to avoid the horrors of commercial exploitation and the vulgarity so common in resort areas. One reason given is that it does not seek to exist on tourists alone. The traveller is not just an isolated "tripper." He is in contact with real life—he sees in the towns the great industries in the little ports trees growing on the banks. Twists and turns are so sharp in places that the boats are snubbed around by cables looped about granite mooring posts. While the boats slowly lock through or stop at trim, neat villages to leave or take on passengers or goods, those aboard may stroll through smiling garden land, meadows where farm stock graze, plains dotted with old manor houses, or churches — or even walk on ahead to the next village.

Most of the locks are operated by hand but the mechanism at Trollhattan is electrical and modern. At a rate which at times is not more than five miles an hour the steamers make their way through the canal reaches. Boats are all under 100 feet in length and none with a beam of more than 21 feet can pass. The broader Trent accommodates vessels up to 33 foot beam.

Trip Trough Canal

Leaving Gothenburg, Sweden's largest seaport, the tourists proceed by the Gota river, seeing the picturesque ruins of the Castle of Bohus. At busy Trollhattan are large power stations. On Lake Vanern is the 17th Century Lacko Castle and on Lake Vattern the medieval town of Vadstena, with its mightly fortress. Further along are the garden town of Gronna and Jonkoping, great match centre. At nearby Mount Omberg were built the first monasteries in Sweden. Their remains may still be seen. Crossing the plains of Ostergotland, the canal boat enters the Baltic archipelago, proceeds through Sodertalje canal and winds thence through the beautiful wooded inlets of Lake Malaren to Stockholm. Here ends (or begins) the canal trip in the course of which the tourist obtains an unhurried view not only of the ancient and modern works of man in an idyllic pastoral setting, but of a cross-section of Swedish life. What he sees is not a mere "brain in a bottle" (scientifically isolated and preserved in alcohol) but living, pulsing human beings going about her daily vocations in a dynamic world.

The Gota canal is only a collective name for a while system of canals, river and lakes. Like the Trent, its proper name, as one writer has suggested, should be River and Lake route.

Though the idea of the Gota was conceived in 1116, its constructional fulfillment was delayed three centuries at 1810-32. In the intervening period, mighty intellects of world renown, were stirred to action in solving its problems. Numbered with them was the great Emanuel Swedenborg (friend of Newton), whose keen, advanced ientific mind produced among other things a flying machine, a submarine and a mechanical piano. In 1718, during the siege of Fredriksten, he devised for King Karl XII machinery for transporting boats fourteen miles overland, providing thus a foretaste of modern amphibian warfare. Meditating later on religious problems, he evolved the doctrine of "discrete degrees" regarding the whole of existence as one organism, a well-ordered flowing out from God, in which everywhere the lower, in a mystic way reflects the higher". He died in London. Among his disciples was William Blake.

Aided By Englishman

The final construction of the canal was accomplished through the vigorous organizational initiative of the Swedish engineer, Baron Baltzar von Platen, in the face of the customary obstructionist tactics. But credit for the actual engineering triumph must go in large part to the genius of the British Thomas Telford (1757-1834). He was consulted in 1806 by the King of Sweden and his plans for the Gota construction having been adopted, he went to Sweden in 1810 to superintend the more important excavations. Born at Eskdale, Dumfrieshire, Telford, the son of a shepherd, became engineer of the Ellesmere canal (with aqueducts); of the Caledonian canal in Scotland; and of the St. Katherine's Docks, London. He received the Swedish order of Knighthood from Gustavus Vasa and was buried in Westminster Abbey.

Linked with the story of the Gota, too, is the name of the great John Ericsson, inventor of the first practical screw propeller and of the revolving turret first used on the famous battleship of his design, the Monitor, which, serving for the North in the United States Civil War, destroyed the Merrimac, belonging to the South. When Ericsson was 12 years old he was already turning out excellent work as a draughtsman with the Gota Canal Company. At 14 he was put in charge of 40 Ocanal workmen. His engineering skill enabled him to do a man's job though he was so small that he had to stand on a chair to use his levelling instruments. He later worked on inventions in New York. His body was sent back to his native land on a United States' man-of-war and was met at Stockholm with flags and flowers.

Thus after three centuries of obstruction and delay came to to completion the Gota canal which like the Trent was first conceived as an internal water route necessary as a military or war measure; next as a trade route; and still later as a recreational utility. In both cases the earlier concepts have faded—or shall we say, have been sublated in a fresh vision of greater splendor and widened perspectives.

The Gota was hailed by the Edinburgh Review of 1893 as a piece of engineering work far ahead of the Suez. Y the narrow blue ribbon of the canalized Gota seems small indeed compared with the ample navigation channels of the Trent, and its constructional features offer nothing comparable with the world's greatest lift-locks at Peterborough and Kirkfield.

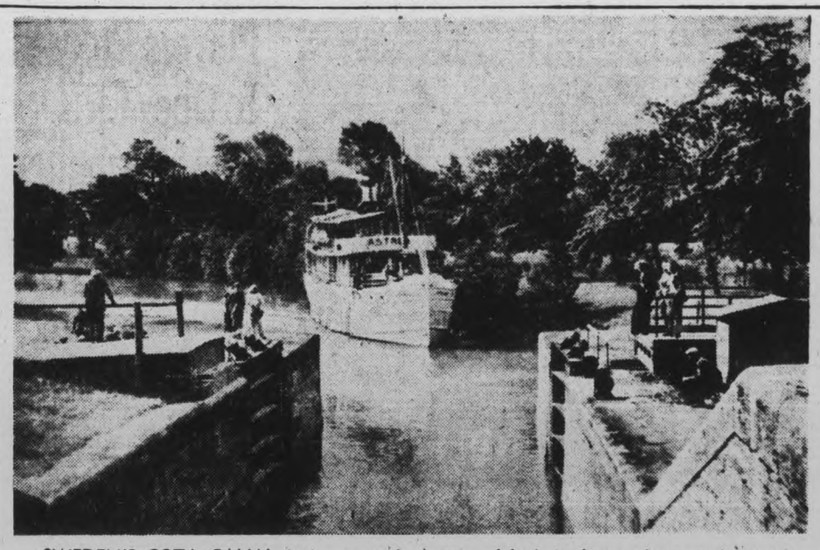
Yet the Gota, Sweden's oldest tourist attraction, holds and adds to its popularity, making it possible for Gustav Asbrink to write: "Hundreds of thousands of travellers from all parts of the world have made this trip and have been unanimous in declaring the experience to be an event of unalloyed pleasure and interest".

Could Use Larger Boats

It not here suggested that the people of the broader Trent could or should copy the travel codes of Gota. Use of much larger boats than those of the Gota would be possible for full-length trips on a completed Trent. But aside from considerations of passenger travel there is surely much that is suggestive and simulating in what Swedish people have done not only to provide rich and varied interests along the route itself but to call attention to the opportunities for side excursions to neighbouring places of unusual appeal. Sweden's lively interest in the summer theatre throughout the country districts is manifested through the work of two subsidized organizations. These direct travelling companies which present good plays for a night or two at a time in the "People's Parks" situated on the outskirts of nearly every little town. In the long summer evenings some 1,500 performances are thus given.

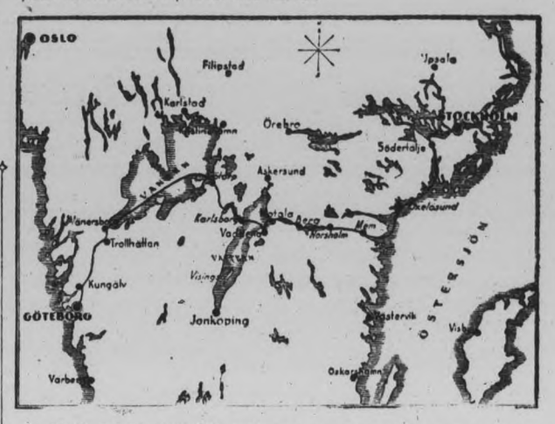
Sweden's folk museum parks, for which Dr. Arthur Hezelius set the pattern in 1891 provide for both residents and tourists a practical demonstration of the people's history and traditions. Among the items of Old Sweden thus lovingly assembled are some of the wooden shovels used in digging the Gota canal. A visiting writer remarks, "It makes one's shoulders ache to look at them."

The ways of elbow-grease were ever hard and slow. But the Swedish people today can afford to smile as they enjoy their deferred dividends.



SWEDEN'S GOTA CANAL is in many respect similar to the Trent Valley Canal, only Sweden has made of the Gota one of that country's greatest tourist attractions. A type of lock is shown above and one of the little white steamers on the popular waterway between Gottenburg and Stockholm.

INTERESTING pictorial scene along the Gota canal which in many places is so narrow that the passengers can reach out and pull the leaves from the trees growing on its banks. Thousands of tourists are attracted to Sweden every year to make a trip over the canal.



THE GOTA CANAL will not accommodate a merchant ship or warship but it is a leisurely three-day journey from Sweden's capital Stockholm to Gottenburg and traverses 347 miles of water, a third of which is narrow canal and the rest winding riverways, broad lakes and open water. There are more locks than on the Panama and Suez canals combined.

Are Canadians Too Myopic?

By R. F. CHOATE

At Motala on the Gota canal is the beautiful tree-embowered grave of Count Baltzaer Von Platen, whose resourcefulness and courage brought to completion in 1832 the waterway begun three centuries before. "But Von Platen," writes Clara E. Laughlin, "did not live to see his life's work finished. He sleeps, nobly sepultured, beside the still waters. The mockery and abuse he had to stand are remembered by some who pass; and by some of those who are trying to look further ahead for the common good than their myopic neighbors, this grave is a place of heartening reflections."

Is it not in order that our Trent Valley people should give a thought to the providing of a fitting memorial to the resourceful, socially-minded man who carried forward the construction of the Trent waterway to an all but completed state before the onset of the First Great War halted operations about 1915-17? Only a narrow land gap remained—as it still remains—at the Georgian Bay end. The waterway should be completed without further delay and the clumsy ad hoc marine railway at Port Severn eliminated.

Are our people so "myopic" that they cannot overcome a relatively trivial obstacle and bring to fulfillment the vision of their fathers. Many share the credit for the magnificent constuctional achievements. A completed fully - navigable waterway—even if we are too niggardly to provide anything more—would be a fine and lasting memorial to the public-spirited workers of earlier years whose ideas were carried out on the engineering side by Richard B. Rogers, superintending engineer (1886-1907), and Walter J. Francis, who was in immediate charge of the Lift Lock work.

CONCRETE PAINT

Now, you, too can have beautiful basement floors and walls with Colortread Concrete Paint.

At last, you can get paint that will stay on your basement floor, regardless of dampness or moisture.

Available in three lovely shades, Colortread will transform a cellar into a play room.

Q. What is Colortread?
A. Colortread, made with rubber, is the new method of painting concrete basement floors and walls that are subject to moisture, dampness, and alkaline action.

Q. What makes ordinary concrete paint fail?
A. Alkaline salts and moisture in concrete, attack ordinary paint films and cause them to flake — peel, and otherwise fail.

Q. Why is Colortread made with rubber?
A. Because rubber is highly waterproof and practically inert to alkali.

Q. Must the concrete be neutralized with chemicals before using Colortread?
A. No — Colortread requires no surface neutralizer.

Q. Must concrete be perfectly dry all through to use Colortread?
A. No, you can paint as soon as the top surface of the concrete is dry.

Q. Will moisture inside the concrete, or in the ground affect Colortread?
A. No, Colortread is unaffected by free moisture or dampness.

Q. Can Colortread be used over old paint?
A. Yes — if the old paint is sound; if not, it should be removed.

Q. Do I need a special thinner with Colortread?
A. No, use pure turpentine.

Q. Will Colortread work over an actual pressure of water?
A. No — in rare cases hydrostatic pressure may be encountered — in such cases drainage and waterproofing is necessary first.

Q. Can Colortread be tinted?
A. No — ordinary tinting colors cannot be used to tint Colortread.

Petes And Lions Victorious Teams At Lacrosse Bowl

Peewee Petes in a low-scoring lacrosse game edged the Lions 5-4 Wednesday at Miller Bowl while the tadpole Shrimps slipped by the Hurricanes 9-8.

The Petes led 3-1 at the first on goals by Kent, Ferguson and Davis, Reid getting the lone counter for the Lions. Casey, with Reid assisting, pulled the Lions one closer in the second quarter. Ellis, first with Reid, then alone, made the score 4-3 for the Lions at the end of the third. The Petes then became stronger in the last quarter to hold the Lions scoreless while Davis and Ferguson rapped in goals for the win.

The Hurricanes swept the first few minutes of their game with the Shrimps for a two-goal lead; Heffernan and Stickle. Walling finally helped the Shrimps to weather the storm for a 2-1 score at the first. Parry for the Shrimps tied the score before Heffernan notched his second and third goals for the Hurricanes. Walling again stemmed the attack with a goal for the Shrimps to make the score 4-3 for Hurricanes at the half.

Hurricanes went two up when Heffernan slipped in his fourth goal early in the third, only to have Walling score his third for the Shrimps. Stickle combined with Heffernan to make the score 6-4. The Shrimps then completely weathered the storm with two goals, Walling and Parry to tie the score at three-quarters 6-all.

Heffernan and Stickle shoved the Hurricanes two up when the Hurricanes drifted in time and time again in the fourth. The wind changed allowing Parry a single and Walling two goals, to send the Shrimps up one, 9-8, at the final whistle.

MARCELLED MESS — It was no enchanted evening for Gorgeous George Wagner at Chicago's Wrigley Field, when the wrestling Adonis of the golden locks missed a flying tackle and fell from the ring. Georgeous George was so slow in returning that Lou Thesz of St. Louis retained his claim to the heavyweight championship without additional defence. Gorgeous George cut his forehead on a sports writer's typewriter practically wrecking one side of the press section. He is no doubt headed for a beauty parlor, walking blindly around the ring with blood spurting from his wound.

Petes Defeat Mimico 12-9 In Fourth Period Push

Mimico Mountaineers have one peak they are finding difficult to master, the Peterborough senior lacrosse team. Wednesday night that peak moved into the Mimico area with one purpose: not to let the Mountaineers walk all over them but to walk all over the Mountaineers. That purpose was realized about 11 p.m. as Red Creighton's team cheerfully left the Toronto suburb with a 12-9 win over what they consider their bitterest enemies.

With the exception of several lapses, the largest in the second period which nearly cost the Petes the game, the locals had the greater part of the territorial play and should have built up a higher score.

Ralph Speck, in the Petes' goal and Ray Mortimore between the pipes for the Mountaineers, earned applause from the 1,000 fans in the first quarter as they performed like rubber men bouncing around the crease making brilliant saves.

Peterborough first took the lead; then the score see-sawed, with the first session ending 3-2. The locals jumped up to five early in the second but failed to get the draws, the loose balls and to backcheck quickly in the late stages. Mimico then went up to 7-5 at the half.

Mother Nature entered the game after halftime. First it began to drizzle and then to pour. Some of the fans left but umbrellas and raincoats appeared throughout the stands as the players weathered the storm. Peterborough regaining in their first-quarter form tied the score but a fortunate free ball allowed Mimico to finish the quarter up 8-7.

In the fourth the rain quit and Mimico seemed to lack the drive as the Petes whipped home four straight counters without a reply.

In the last minute of play Mimico showed signs of life which disappeared as the locals scored another with 12 seconds left.

Dugan Adds Five Points

Arn Dugan continued to add to his lead in the O.L.A. scoring with five points, two goals and three assists while teammates Bob Breakspeare, Gerry Fitzgerald and Dootch Vitarelli each scored two. Doug Beatty and Scoop Hayes each scored two for Mimico while John Hewitt assisted on three.

Line-ups:

Peterborough — Goal, Speck; defence, Wright, D. Vitarelli; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Dugan, Ashbee; rover, Thorpe; alternates, Nolan, Fitzgerald, Magee, Curtin, Batley, B Breakspeare, L. Vitarelli.

Joe Kirkwood To Put On Show

Possibly the best news to be heard in Peterborough's golfing circles in some years is the decision of the directors of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club to present Joe Kirkwood, the world famous trick shot artist, as their contribution to the Peterborough Centennial celebrations.

Kirkwood not only made his name famous as an outstanding golfer during the last two decades but has become more famous with his display of wizardry with the golf clubs and balls.

Kirkwood will perform during the centennial sports week at the Peterborough club August 26. First he will play nine holes of competitive golf with Ald. Hugh Waddell and Les Reid, this year's finalists, and Jack Hardill, 1949 champion. After the match he will present his famous tricks with the golf clubs.

Yanks Furious At DiMag Story

DETROIT, Aug. 3 — (AP)— New York Yankees are hopping mad about published reports that Joe DiMaggio, star outfielder, is not talking to Manager Casey Stengel.

"Anyone who knows Casey Stengel's reputation as a manager and Joe DiMaggio's reputation as a team player, will realize how ridiculous is any talk of a disagreement between them," George Weiss, Yankee general manager, said in a statement.

"'For this reason the Yankees will not dignify the story by making any further comment on it."

Joe Trimble, New York Daily News baseball writer with the Yankees, reported that DiMaggio is "wearing a cloak of martyrdom" because of his recent removal from the clean-up spot in the batting order. Johnny Mize now hits fourth and DiMaggio fifth.

"No one denies this great player the right to his place," Trimble wrote, "but he is carrying things too far when he refuses to talk to the manager, curtly cuts the newspaper men who have been his friends for years and maintains a stony silence toward all but a few of his teammates."

Raybestos Win 5-4

Raybestos edged the Quaker Oats Wednesday night 5-4 in a fastball fixture. The Quakers took a two-run lead in the first and then added a single in the fourth. In the sixth the Raybestos squad scored two and in the seventh went ahead with three more runs. The Quakers rallied for one run in the top of the ninth.

Players Refuse To Obey CRU, Stay In Hamilton

TORONTO, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Theoretically, Jackie Stewart and Earl Valiquette are Edmonton-bound today, and ready to help the Eskimos try for a Western Canada Football Union title.

The Canadian Rugby Union Wednesday gave its verdict on the tug-of-war between Eskimos and Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the two players, telling them to head west. But Stewart and Valiquette were in no apparent hurry to catch a train. They both said they have good jobs in Hamilton and plan to stay there.

Stewart, a high-scoring back with Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Rugby Football Union last season, and Valiquette, a lineman with Hamilton Wildcats of the Interprovincial Union, had signed contracts with the Tiger-Cats—a merger of the two Hamilton clubs—but had signed CRU playing certificates binding them to Edmonton.

At Wednesday's meeting, the CRU executive ruled that the certificates were valid, nullifying any contract Stewart and Valiquette might sign with another club.

Case Not Closed

The Tiger-Cat executive said the club did not consider the case closed and indicated it might be taken to court. The Hamilton club said, the players had committed themselves to sign CRU certificates binding them to Hamilton under their contracts.

Jack Reesor, solicitor for the Tiger-Cats, said both players would continue to practice with the club, despite the CRU's warning they would not be permitted to play for any club other than Edmonton.

Al Anderson, manager of the Eskimos who came east to fight the case, said "the CRU has made a decision and it is up to them to enforce it," adding that Stewart and Valiquette were definitely included in Eskimo plans. Any possible court action would be fought by the Tiger-Cats and CRU, he said.

Stewart and Valiquette told The Canadian Press Wednesday night that they planned to stay in Hamilton, even if it meant giving up football.

Wallace Gets Decision

HAMILTON, Aug. 3—(CP))—Gordon Walace, scrappy Brantford 155-pounder, scored a unanimous five-round decision over Winnipeg's Bill Pinkus Wednesday night in the main bout of an amateur fight card. It was Wallace's third win over Pinkus, who took a nine-count in the second round.

Find White Shot In Arm Tigers Blank Yankees 4-0

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe Red Rolfe had a hunch about Hal White. Call it what you may—hunch, desperation, luck or shot-in-the-dark—the Detroit manager's move was a touch of genius.

White, a refugee from the bullpen, gave the Tigers' pennant hopes a boost Wednesday with a brilliant two-hit shutout of New York 4-0. It shot the Tigers two games out front in the American League.

The 31-year-old righthander in his first starting assignment since July 4, faced only 31 men. Only singles by Gene Woodling in the third and Johnny Mize in the fourth marred his no-hit bid. He was the first righthander to hold the Yanks scoreless all year.

White did a job at the plate, too, driving in what proved to be the winning run with a second-inning single off Allie Reynolds. Tigers scored three more in the seventh on three hits, a walk and a costly throwing error by Reynolds.

Have No Relief

Despite White's effort, the Tigers have no relief. The Yankees, clinging to second place by three percentage points, must be faced again this afternoon. And Cleveland, also two games back, becomes a more serious threat each day.

Larry Doby hit three successive homers for the Indians Wednesday night as Bob Lemon won his 17th the easy way—11-0 over Washington—allowing only three hits. It was his ninth straight victory.

Lemon, a converted infielder, joined the fun with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Boston Red Sox made it 15 out of 16 over St. Louis Browns, rallying with three in the ninth for a 9-8 edge. Walt Dropo's single, following a two-run double by Vern Stephens, did the job for the Sox, now seven games behind Detroit in fourth place.

Elmer Valo hit for the cycle with a single, double, triple and homer for Philadelphia in a 10-3 triumph over Chicago.

Emory (Bubba) Church boosted the Phillies' National League lead to 3½ games with a 2-0 decision over Cincinnati. He allowed only three hits for his fifth win and second shutout.

Church drove in the first run with a single in the fourth and Del Ennis added the other with his 24th homer in the eighth.

In Second Place

Brooklyn moved into second place on timely hitting by Jimmy Russell against his old Pittsburgh mates. Russell, batting right-handed against lefty Bill Werle, hit a two-run homer to tie the score in the ninth. Ralph Kiner's two-run homer in the top half had sent the Pirates ahead. Batting left-handed against right-handed Murry Dickson in the 10th, Russell won the game with a single, 5-4.

Ralph Branca scattered 12 hits for his fifth victory.

Boston's Johnny Sain clicked off his 15th win to hoist the Braves into third place over St. Louis with a 4-3 decision over the Cards. Walker Cooper's pinch single in the eighth scored Sid Gordon with the tie-breaking run off Harry Brecheen.

New York Giants climbed all over Chicago for a double victory, 11-1 and 8-6 despite three homers by the Cubs' Andy Pafko in the second game. The Giants have won 15 of 18 from Chicago this season.

276 Amateurs Enter Kawartha Golf Tournament

There are 276 amateur golfers from Canada and United States competing in the 5th annual Kawartha Lakes Amateur Golf tournament for the Calvert Trophy this weekend at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. This number of entries makes this year's tournament one of the largest Canadian amateur meets.

With the dawn the first golfers will tee off Saturday morning at 6 a.m. and every seven minutes from then until 4.18 in the afternoon groups of three will be leaving the first tee. For three days, Saturday, Sunday and Monday this procedure will be followed.

Prizes are worth $1,000. One hundred and two of Canada's and United States' golfers are in the Class A (handicap from 1 to 9); 145 in the Class B (handicap from 10-20) competition; the remainder in the Class C handicap 21-30) competition.

Prizes will be awarded for: Class A, low gross (the Calvert Trophy), 2nd low gross, low net, 2nd, 3rd and 4th low net; Class B, low gross, 2nd low gross, low net, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th low net; Class C, low gross, 2nd low gross, low net and 2nd low net. In addition a low gross prize for each flight on each of the three days will be presented. Trophies and individual prizes will be presented for four golfers with the lowest aggregate gross score and the runners-up prizes for any clubs entering team competition.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

It was the half holiday and as usual our bowlers took in many outside tournaments and judging from the reports that came to us they gave a good account of themselves.

At Trenton Bert Jeffries skipped his rink to three wins with enough points to capture the beautiful Bendict-Proctor Gold trophy. On his rink were R. Knox, Rufus Payne and W. Ashby.

At Cobourg the ladies did pretty well, taking second and third places with three wins. The trios were Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Mrs. L. Bearne, Mrs. W. Hepburn, skip. And Mrs. J. Cullen, Mrs. J. Arnold, Mrs. F. Staunton, skip.

They also took the high for two wins with Mrs. H. Beatty, Mrs. R. Dyer, Mrs. C. Renaud, skip.

At Bowmanville H. Freeman and R. Hopkins won the doubles for District No. 14 in the provincial championship games — they now go to Kingston next Wednesday to compete.

Tonight we continue with the regular scheduled games. Friday night men's doubles 7.30 o'clock.

Lindsay Defeats Port Hope 5-2

PORT HOPE, Aug. 3—A four-hit pitching effort by Doug Loucks combined with five Port Hope errors, gave Lindsay Merchants a 5-2 win in a Lakeshore Baseball League fixture here Wednesday night. Loucks' teammates hit safely seven times to garner the win, the first by the Lindsay team over Port Hope this year.

The Lindsay victory tightened the Lakeshore league pennant race considerably. Lindsay and Whitby are now tied for third, one half game behind Cobourg and Port Hope in second place. Harv. Heally and Hank Debois led the Lindsay attack, each getting two safeties. John Holman started on the mound for Port Hope and gave up six hits and three runs before being relieved by Harold Woods.

Hastings Boys Defeat Orphans By 12-2 Score

HASTINGS, Aug. 3 —(ENS)— Rain forced a halt in the last half of the sixth innings Wednesday at Hastings park, after Hastings Juniors had built up a 12-2 lead over Peterborough Orphans in their return match. These two teams will play another game next Wednesday night in Hastings.

West was on the mound for Hastings giving up six scattered hits, struck out seven and issued six passes.

Hall opposing pitcher allowed but four hits and took out eight by strikeouts. His support was weak chalking up nine errors.

Orphans took a 1-0 lead in the first but Hastings got the equalizer in their half, and added two more in the second. In the third Orphans collected their final run on two hits, a walk and an error. Hastings came back strong in the fifth with five runs, and then added four more in the sixth, with but one man out.

John Robertson of the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club and Garfield Gould of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, Montreal, won the first two races of the Royals regatta at Toronto Wednesday.

The Hamilton club held a slight lead in point-standings over the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club at the end of the first day of the three-day small-boat regatta. Seven clubs from all parts of Canada are competing in the meet.

Television rights for the world series are going to go for big money this year.

It was reported in New York Wednesday that more than $500,000 has been bid for TV rights on the 1950 series, and indications are that the ultimate figure will reach $600,000.

That doesn't include the $175,000 for ordinary radio rights — paid under a contract which runs to 1956.

The reason for pushing the TV rights so high is the number of sets on which the series can be viewed. Last year there were only 1,750,000 sets able to get the series. This year it will be about 5,000,000 and that means a potential audience of 20,000,000 will watch the series on television.

Citation, sidelined for several weeks with an ankle injury, is back in training at Washington Park and will race again, his trainer said in Chicago Wednesday.

The world's money-winner, with $938,630, missed last week's $75,000 Arlington Handicap. He has not raced since losing to Noor at Golden Gate, Calif., June 24.

Ben Jones, who with his son, Jimmy, trains the five-year-old thoroughbred, said he has had Citation walked under a saddle with weight up and that he appears "sound."

Gerry Magee and Lionel Barber of Toronto carded a two-over-par 73 to win the Ontario Golf Association's junior best-ball tournament at Toronto's Summit Golf Club Wednesday.

One stroke behind the winners were Ron McAlpine and Ramsay MacDonald of Hamilton and Jack McLaughlin and Bob Pezzack of Scarboro.

Featherweight champion Willie Pep was the master boxer Wednesday night as he easily outpointed Proctor Heinold, Oklahoma City, in a 10-round non-title scrap at Scranton, Pa. Both fighters weighed 131¼ pounds.

Pep was given all 10 rounds by referee Jack Walton and one of the judges—Ken Werst. Judge Joe Capristo marked nine rounds for the champion and called the sixth even. There were no knockdowns.

The fight was Pep's last before he defends his crown against Sandy Saddler next month.

Sixteen-year-old Larry Heim of the California Swimming Club of Los Angeles Wednesday broke the senior men's 200-yard Canadian backstroke record in final events at the 44th annual regatta at Kelowna, B. C.

Heim covered the four laps in two minutes, 23.1 seconds to clip nine-tenths of a second off the mark set by Gordon Kerr of Toronto in 1938.

Two of the world's most celebrated swimmers tapered off training Wednesday for a three-day duel beginning tomorrow.

Hironoshi Furuhashi, chunky Japanese star, and John Marshall, Australian ace of Yale University, will duel in three races in a meet matching United States and Japanese swimmers.

Marshall and Furuhashi will meet in the 400, 800 and 1,500 metre freestyle events. Their main battle is expected in the long distance grind, a feature of the first day's program.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Swimmers of a dozen nations gathered round the palatial new pool at Wembley, England. It was the day of the Empire Games swimming meet—a day slated for its full share of surprises.

The Canadian swimmers—overlooked by the experts—first scored an upset in the women's events, taking four wins. Next the men's 100 yard free style fell to Canada . . . climaxed by four relay victories. The team of 1934 had swept the board for Canada's first Empire swimming triumph!

Close teamwork has won many firsts for Canadian sportsmen. And sportsmanship, with teamwork, can help you, too—in work and play. Together they keep your scope for opportunity in Canada . . . unlimited.

Royals Trip Giants 5-4 In Ninth Inning

By The Associated Press

Add Joe Becker, manager of Jersey City Giants of the International League, to the growing list of managers who are moaning, "Oh, those bases on balls."

The Giants, behind Tony West, entered the ninth inning of Wednesday night's game in Montreal leading the Royals 4-1 when bases-on-balls gremlins showed up.

With two on and two out West began to falter. He yielded singles to pinch-hitter Dick Teed and Al Gionfriddo and was lifted in favor of Herman Fox with the Giants still leading 4-3.

Fox walked Walt Fiala and Don Thompson to force home the tying run and then passed Johnny Welaj to bring in Teed with the run that gave the Royals a 5-4 victory.

Turk Lown, Ronnie Lee and Al Epperly worked for the Royals with Epperly gaining credit for the victory, his seventh of the season.

The triumph enabled the Royals to move within ½ game of the second-place Baltimore Orioles who split a doubleheader with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Leafs Bounce Back

Ray Poat pitched the Orioles to a 2-1 six-hit victory in the opener but the Leafs bounced back to grab the finale 6-5.

Al Cihocki won the opener for the Orioles when he banged his 12th homer in the sixth inning to break a 1-1 tie. The Leafs jumped on Karl Drews for four runs in the first inning of the nightcap but the Orioles tied the score at 5-5 in the seventh only to have the Leafs come back in their half to snap the tie and win.

Syracuse Chiefs upset the league-leading Rochester Red Wings 7-5 to cut the Wings' lead over Baltimore to 3½ games.

Syracuse won out in the ninth, scoring twice to break a 5-5 draw. Three straight hits off reliefer Mike Schultz, a former Chief, turned the tide for Syracuse.

Buffalo Bisons and Springfield Cubs divided a doubleheader. The Cubs took the first game 3-1 behind Bill Mosian and the Bisons won the nightcap 10-8 in a game that aws called after seven innings because of rain.

Imperial Hanover Retired For Injury

NEW KORK, Aug. 3—(AP)—The U.S. Trotting Association reported today that Imperial Hanover, a $72,000 yearling purchase at the 1949 Harrisburg, Pa., sales, had been retired for an ankle injury. This was an all-time high price for a standard-bred horse at an auction.

The colt, owned by J. J. McIntyre, of Hollins, Va., has been turned out on the farm.

Imperial Hanover is a full brother to Rodney and Egan Hanover, leading trotters several years ago.

Bowmanville's pitcher, Ed Gavis, also featured when he struck out 10, while only walking two. Cobourg's lone run was driven in by Earl Pope.

Canadian Hams Well Organized Give Highly-Skilled Service

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Amateur radio operating is strictly a hobby, but it's becoming bigger and better organized each year.

To enter the field, it's not just a case of getting an old Morse set or a radio tranmitter and going on the air.

Before an amateur radio operator, better known as a "ham," partment of cmfwy pcmf wmm can receive a licence from the Department of Transport's radio division, he must pass examinations demonstrating proficiency in Morse code and radio technique.

Hams not only are governed by statue, but theirs is the only hobby regulated by international treaty.

Representatives of various governments meet from time to time to discuss amateur radio. These talks mainly concern frequencies alloted to the hams.

4,000 Stations

At present there are more than 4,000 licensed amateur stations in Canada. Manitoba has approximately 350.

Peter C. Watt, president of the Winnipeg Amateur Radio Club, said probably one of the most fascinating features of this hobby is the satisfaction of being able to communicate over long distances with equipment built by one's own hands.

"Having obtained his licence," said Watt, a grain man by profession, "the amateur proceeds to build his own equipment.

Small Beginnings

"Usually he begins by building a small station, one that may be capable of developing a matter of 25 to 50 watts.

"Such a station is sufficient for communication of CW (Morse code) for considerable distance. Such a power rating, however, would be favorable for voice communications over a long distance only if atmospheric conditions were right."

As time goes on, Watt said, the amateur, if he can, will develop his station by adding equipment.

"Under normal conditions, a station operating with a power output of from 250 to 40 0watts can communicate with almost any part of the world."

National Asset

Amateur radio, he said, is not only a hobby, but a national asset. During the Manitoba flood disaster, hams handled emergency messages of inquiry from all parts of the country The Rimouski, Que., fire was another instance of useful service provided by hams.

Florida has called upon the amateurs so often during hurricane disasters that the state granted hams the privilege of using their call letters on their automobile licence plates.

There are many versions as to how the term "ham" originated. Mr. Watt said it most likely started in England. Operators there were first known as amateurs, often pronounced "H'amateurs." This was shortened to "hams."

Have New Glass Against A-Rays

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(AP)—Two new kinds of glass to protect eyes against atomic rays were announced her today by University of Pittsburgh chemists.

One protects against X-rays and gamma rays, the other against neutrons. The latter are tiny atomic particles which penetrate lead as easily as a knife goes through butter.

Both the neutrons and the gamma and X-rays cause cataracts.

The X-ray and gamma-ray glass contains tungsten phosphate, which stops the rays so well it does a 50-per-cent better job than previously-existing X-ray glass.

Cadmium borosilicates and fluorides are used to make the neutron-stopping glass. This is the first glass for shielding against neutrons.

Principal use of the glasses is to make safe peep-holes through the safety-barriers of the atomic reactors.

House of Lords Upholds Military Law on Crimes

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON, Aug. 3 — (CP) —A doctrine applied four years ago at the Nuernberg trials of the Nazi war leaders — that obedience to military orders from superior authority is no justification for acts of crime—has been upheld by the House of Lords.

The issue, introduced by admiral of the fleet, the Earl of Cork and Orrery, hinged on a brief paragraph in the British manual of military law. He urged amendment of a clause which holds members of the country's armed forces liable to punishment for carrying out commands subsequently declared illegal.

After a brisk debate, in a sparsely-attended chamber, the peers rejected the proposed revision by a vote of 21-19.

Lord Cork, known to his shipmates as "Ginger Boyle," appealed for reintroduction of the original provision as laid down in the 1929 military manual, which stipulated: ". . . that members of the armed forces who commit such violations of the recognized rules of warfare as are ordered by the government or by their commanders, are not war criminals and cannot therefore be punished by the enemy."

1944 Amendment

By an amendment in 1944 the principle had been invoked that members of the armed forces were bound to obey "lawful" orders only. They could not, therefore, escape liability if, in obedience to a command, they committed acts which violated unchallenged rules of war-fare.

"If that does not place on every member of the armed forces the duty of deciding what orders he should resist, it means nothing at all," Lord Cork said.

The proposal was described as a "shocking and utterly immoral idea," by the Lord Chancellor Viscount Jowitt.

If a soldier was ordered by his superior officer to collect women and children into a church and set fire to it, would Lord Cork say he was not to blame? Would he excuse a soldier who was ordered to put Jews in a gas chamber?

By putting on uniform, no person completely dissociated himself from his responsibility as a citizen, simply by obeying orders.

"Thus," he added, "is observed and maintained the supremacy of the rule of law. A soldier cannot be licensed to commit crimes merely by the fact that his superiors gave him orders to do so."

A Rare Fish

Canadian Ship Picketed, Say Red Crew

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 3—(AP) —A Seaman's Union Wednesday picketed non-union Canadian grain ship because, a union official charged, some members of the crew were Communists.

The ship is owned by the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company of Toronto. Firm officials denied the charges.

M. A. Pierotti of Montreal, Canadian divisionu representative of the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.), said in Duluth that picket lines will be set up wherever the firm's 28 ships dock in United States ports.

Pierotti said no contract dispute is involved and that the picketing line is a protest against the employment of "some Communists on the Canadian ships; they are a bad risk to U.S. security." Workers on the Canadian firm's boats do not belong to a union.

Carefully Screened

J. L. Lewtas, the firm's legal representative, and Thomas J. Houtman, personnel manager, both of TToronto, arrvied in Duluth Wednesday.

They said the company's employees are screened carefully, each is investigated and cueared through the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and that each is required to sign a declaration that he is not a Communist.

The picketing here halted loading operations on the Howard L. Shaw. Grain trimmers and millers respected the picket lines.

Meanwhile, the Norris Grain Company asked for a court order to halt picketing. A hearing was scheduled for Monday.

Having packed TNT charges around the supporting columns of the bridge, engineers busily connect detonating wires. Note two men at right, alert for enemy attack, with explosive all set.

More Houses Being Built

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Though new homes completed in the first three months of 1950 totalled about the same as the 18,000 finished in the first quarter of last year, more units were started and more were under construction during that period.

This was reported Wednesday by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in its quarterly review of housing in Canada. The report showed that 8,900 starts on new homes were made in the January-March period—six per cent more than in the corresponding period last year.

At March 31 there were 49,000 units under construction, or four per cent more than last year.

Total new construction work of all kinds for the three-month period reached a high of $383,000,000—an increase of three per cent over the corresponding period of 1949. The report attributed the increase to a rise of five per cent in new residential construction.

Whitehall Notebook

Worker M.P. May Have Memorial In Westminster

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP). — Britain's first working-class Member of Parliament may have a memorial in the Palace of Westminster near those of Disraeli, Pitt and Walpole.

Speakers from all major parties agreed with a Socialist proposal that such an honor should be accorded James Keir Hardie, one of the founders of the British Labor party.

Bearded, kindly Keir Hardie died 35 years ago, sick at heart over the outbreak of the First World War, but his memory still glows brightly. His sincerity, strong personality and unquestioned integrity are warmly remembered.

Scots Born

Born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, Keir Hardie entered the mines at the age of 10 and worked 12 hours a day. Biographies say that he taught himself to write shorthand by practising with chalk at the coal-face.

As a trade unionist and agitator, he played a big part in shaping the policies of the Labor party, born in 1900. Eight years earlier he had created consternation among top-hatted members of the House of Commons by making his first appearance there wearing a tweed coat and a cloth cap.

Redecorating Of All Saints'

Until mid-September All Saints' Anglican church will be closed while the interior is redecorated and new lighting is installed.

Services will be held in the parish hall.

The building will have to be rewired so the new amber-colored lanterns can be put in. There will be no other structural changes.

Walls will be painted a light cream with imitation stone work around the windows. Robert Gamble is chairman of the lighting committee and the work is being done by a Hamilton decorator whose specialty is churches.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

It seems as if most people have a struggle to furnish their first home. We visited newlyweds last weekend and it was almost like reliving our own first few months! They will succeed, though, as first things had been put first and improvisation took care of the rest. One of their best "makeshifts" was a hall table. His parents had modernized an old sideboard by removing the top section—mirror and all. The top shelf and two supports had been left intact; a third leg was placed in the centre at the back and then braces run to the other two legs. It made an ideal hall table for the telephone and hadn't cost a cent. Even the mirror had been resilvered, etched and mounted on half-inch plywood, making an inexpensive hall mirror.

Barrel-Stave Hammock

If you would like a hammock to hang under your favourite tree but must pamper a limited budget, try the idea developed by a neighbour down the street. Holes were bored in old barrel staves and then threaded with half-inch rope. You'll see how it was done by examining the diagram shown. A heavy blanket or old sleeping bag will make the hammock quite comfortable.

Corner Garden Seat

If you wish a garden trellis in a half-pint backyard, don't stick it out in the centre of the lawn like a sore thumb. Arbours and gateways should lead somewhere; high trellises should terminate some line of vision. One of the best ideas I have seen for a small garden combined the trellis with a corner garden seat. It was most attractive and a solid mass of blue morning glories when I last saw it.

I notice some of my perennials are beginning to fall over. In case you haven't suitable flower supports for your garden, here is the type I have been using for years. They are easy to apply and just as easy to store away in the fall.

Top photo shows some of the visitors who attended the opening ceremonies for the 80-square-mile playground which extends along the shore of the Bay of Fundy for eight miles and more than nine miles inland. New Brunswick Lt.-Gov. D. L. MacLaren opened the park. Bottom photo shows one of its features — a heated swimming pool. The salt water from the Bay of Fundy is warmed and filtered before entering the pool.

Accounting Dept. Important Railways Told

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—The men who record the gains and losses in railroad operation—the railway accounting officers—were reminded today of their value to the industry.

George F. Glacy of Boston, chairman of the accounting division of the Association of American Railroads, told 750 delegates and visitors to the 56th annual meeting here that no branch of the industry can contribute more to its welfare and progress than the accounting department.

The railroad industry, he said in an address prepared for delivery, "urgently needs an accounting department with the knowledge, skill and ingenuity required to apply the new technique of control which the accounting profession has developed."

"The accounting department is the seeing eye of management in the conduct of its affairs. As a business enterprise of railroad would be in a state of near disorganization without the help and guidance of its accounting department in accurately interpreting the figures."

Mr. Glacy, vice-president of the Boston and Mains, and Maine Central railroads, spoke at close of his term of office as chairman of the accounting division.

Eastview Will Try Ban Shorts On Street

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP) — The suburban Eastview town council decided Wednesday to attempt to ban the wearing of shorts within its boundaries in a move that bids fair to revive Ottawa's recent controversy on the subject.

The council decided to seek an amendment to the Ontario statutes which would enable it to pass a shorts-banning by-law. The move came after letters asking the banning of shorts were received from five Roman Catholic organizations in the township.

The Ottawa city council recently was beseiged with letters for and against the wearing of shorts but took no action either way.

MISS SEPIA, 1950—Beverley Evans, 18-year-old Detroit, Mich., university student, centre, was crowned Miss International Sepia at the annual Emancipation Day celebrations in Windsor, Ont., during the week-end. An estimated 150,000 attended the three-day celebrations marking the 116th anniversary of emancipation of slaves in the British Empire. The queen's attendants are Irene Ellis, 19, left, who placed second, and Billie Benbury, 19, who placed third.

Plan Square Deal For Speeders

TORONTO, Aug. 3 CP)—Toronto's board of control favors giving speeders a "fair deal."

They decided Wednesday to ask the police commission not to copy the Ontario Provincial Police use of "plainclothes cars" to trap speeders.

Controller Allan Lamport said that if highways were properly patrolled there would be no need for undercover patrols.

"Because motorists are in fear of a batch of summonses, traffic speed has been reduced by 20 miles an hour as drivers make sure they are well under the limit. Congestion is the general result.

Spot Foreign Subs.

CANBERRA, Aug. 3 (Reuters) —Foreign submarines have been operating off the coast of Australia during the last few weeks, it was officially disclosed here today.

Canadian Law Similar To Britain

OTTAWA, Aug. 3— (CP) — Many veterans may not be aware of the fact, but it's been a Canadian military law for some years that a soldier is not justified in committing a crime even if told to do so by a superior officer.

And there is no intention of changing the law for Canada's troops. This was made apparent at the last session of Parliament when the most sweeping revision of Canadian military law since Confederation and the existing law on that point was passed unchanged.

Attention has been drawn to the law by a House of Lords debate in Britain which rejected an amendment that would have altered it. Defence Department law officers say Canada adopted the law from Britain.

They admit it places quite a responsibility on the individual soldier. Should he fire into a crowd of rioters, say, because an officer tells him to?

But, they say, it upholds the superior position on civil law and it gives the soldier protection if orders are unjustified, and he does see fit to refuse to obey them.

The officers could not recall any case in which this has actually become an issue in Canada's wars.

Nothing To Say

THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 3 (CP).—The 4,188-ton Russian vessel, Krasnodar, arrived here Wednesday to take on a load of wheat. To reporters who asked for a shipboard interview, Capt. B Bernstchuck said he had nothing to say. Photographers were allowed to take pictures of the ship but no one got aboard.

Killed In Crash

WINDSOR, Aug. 3 (CP). — One woman was killed and two men injured when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control and crashed late Wednesday on No. 98 highway, about eight miles southwest of Windsor. Mrs. Rosie Talbeart, 58, of Maidstone, was killed. Merle Harrison, 22, and William Eaton, 51, were injured.

Will Be Exhibited

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—An 18-carat pure gold tea service and tray weighing about 400 ounces, described as one of England's finest pieces of craftsmanship, leaves London by air Aug. 17 to be exhibited in Canada and the United States, the United Kingdom information office reported Wednesday night.

Pay For Infractions

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP).—Toronto residents are paying more than $1,000,000 a year in fines for infractions of municipal laws, a police report showed Wednesday. Most are for traffic and bylaw violations.

Have Peephole By Using New TV Gadget

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP). — Some day the boss may watch you doing your work, without stirring from his desk.

The method employed will be an inter-office television, such as that now on display at the 56th annual meeting of the accounting division of the Association of American Railroads.

As delegates enter the convention hall in a downtown hotel, they see themselves projected on a television screen without, at first, knowing how. The picture they see is not a mirror-like reflection but an angle shot.

The television camera is at the far end of the room, so out of the way that it takes time to find it. A telescopic lens brings delegates into close range as they enter the room and projects them onto the screen. They may see themselves in profile or three-quarter face, according to how they stand.

The reproduction is clear, yet a surprisingly large number of delegates and their wives at first failed to recognize themselves on the television screen.

Now the screen has become such a favorite with the women that they can be seen standing around it in groups at all times of the day. It is nice to see how a dress or a new hair-do looks on television.

Giving Out Pamphlets About Civil Defence

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP)—The defence department is preparing a series of pamphlets telling the people what to fear and what not to fear in "A-B-C warfare,"—attack by atomic, bacteriological and chemical weapons.

The pamphlets to be made public in a month or two, will also tell what it is proposed ot do to provide defence against them.

Their emergence will be part of what Defence Minister Claxton calls "a program for the progressive implementation" of a broad plan for civil defence in Canada. Another step will be the start next month of the training of a small number of health and fire officials at an A-B-C warfare school at Camp Borden.

The broad plan has been approved by the cabinet and has been made known to provincial authorities.

Have Special Meeting

Federal and provincial representatives will meet here, probably next month, to discuss civil-defence preparations. There has been no official indication of just where that meeting will place Canada in steps to meet enemy attacks on major cities and industrial targets.

Officials say that both Ottawa and the provincial capitals have their own ideas about the federal plan, that these ideas will be thrashed out to prepare the way for what Mr. Claxton has called "further action" on the municipal or city level.

It is pointed out here that the first logical step is to build up a group of skilled instructors who in turn, will be able to pass on this knowledge if and when it is deemed necessary to start training squads to handle attacks on a block-by-block basis.

Only The Beginning

The first Camp Borden course will only be the start, officials say. Similar courses will be held at schools across the country.

There is no sign yet or organization anywhere on a block basis but Korea appears to have touched off a far greater interest in civil defence than has existed since the war. Committees have been organized in a number of cities to map plans.

The government has been sending small groups of officials to England and to the U.S for special training, among them Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, civil defence co-ordinator, who is due back at his office from England shortly.

The pamphlets will attempt to dispel panic thinking and to give the public an adequate picture of just what 20th-century warfare can mean.

NEW ENVOY — New U.S. minister to the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa is Karl R. Rankin, former counsel general at Hong Kong. Rankin's appointment is regarded as a warming up of United States' year-long frigid attitude toward Chiang Kai-shek's regime.

Chevrier Orders Inquiry Into Franconia

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 — (CP) Transport Minister Chevrier announced Wednesday he has ordered a formal investigation into the July 12 grounding of the liner Franconia.

The vessel, caarrying 780 passengers, ran aground on the Island of Orleans as she was leaving Quebec harbor.

Mr. Justice Arthur Ives Smith of the Quebec Superior Court will head the commission which will make the investigation. The investigation will be open to the public. Date for the opening of hearings has not yet been set.

Mr. Chevrier said he was conscious of the interest held by the people of Canada in any occurrence which might tend to cast a reflection upon the navigation facilities of the St. Lawrence, considered to be one of the best-marked waterways in the world.

"The Department of Transport spares no efforts in keeping dredged the channel which permits the largest ocean vessels to penetrate over 1,000 miles into the heart of the continent, and, in keeping in good order the hundreds of lighthouses and buoys which mark the channel," he said.

"When, in spite of all these safety measures, a ship like the Franconia suffers a casualty in the river, the Department of Transport wishes to ascertain if in the opinion of an impartial tribunal the highest possible standards are being maintained, both in the physical aids to navigation and the pilotage service."

The Franconia is in drydock at Lauzon, Que., undergoing repairs.

Braille System Made For Africa

LONDON — (CP) — A system of braille, suitable for any of the 800 tribal languages of Africa was recently given the approval of a committee of blind braillists and linguistic experts

There are an estimated 1,000,000 blind persons in Africa, for whom the new system represents the only potential method of learning to read and write.

The committee was composed of representatives of U.N.E.S.C.O the British Empire Society for the Blind and the University of London's school of oriental and african studies.

"To find braille signs for all the letters, clicks and tone variations used in African languages was a complex and engrossing task," said blind chairman John Wilson, "but I think we have found the solution.

"The new braille system will enable our society to print the braille books required in the blind schools we hope to establish in the colonies."

Develop Nylon Hand

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP).—Development of an electrical battery-powered arm and nylon hand for amputees was announced Wednesday by the International Business Machines Company. The electrical machinery is housed in a hollow artificial forearm. Inside nylon fingers of an almost perfect looking hand, there are joints and flexing rods of metal which closely imitate natural muscle movements.

See Strange Cloud

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Aug. 3 (AP). — Hundreds of persons Wednesday observed a strange cloud which changed color in hues of green, red, orange and blue as it moved seaward, against prevailing winds. Authorities at nearby Hamilton air field base planned an investigation.

FILM FIND — Sixteen-year-old Joan Evans, romantic star of "Edge of Doom" and other recent pictures, is today being hailed by Hollywood film critics as "the find of the century." Joan says that it's easy to make love for the cameras.

UN VISITORS — This group of public school children from Haxley, Alta., have been re-enacting the proceedings of the United Nations Security Council as part of their studies during the past year. Here they visit the conference room of the Security Council at Lake Success as part of a tour of the United Nations headquarters. This United Nations photo shows John W. Holmes (in white jacket), Canadian representative to the UN, explaining the operations of the council. The group, all members of the Alberta section of the United Nations Association in Canada, will visit President Truman in Washington before returning home.

Unesco Board To Back UN Move

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP). —State Department officials expect the executive board of "UNESCO" to hold an emergency session in Paris soon and express strong support for the United Nations military campaign against Communist aggression in Korea.

"UNESCO" is the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and is composed of educationists and other leaders of thought in 59 member countries.

The practical effect of the unexpected Paris action, authorities here said, will be to open a new front in the propaganda struggle with Russia. This has been waged with increasing intensity since the first days of the Korean crisis.

The council says the Korean Communists launched an unprovoked attack on Sauth Korea. Russia contends that South Korea at American instigation started the fighting.

The problem from a propaganda viewpoint is to get the true facts across to as many millions of people as possible who are not well informed.

Cagney To Do Ballet Number In Film

By GLORIA YARBROUGH

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (AP). — Now I've heard everything. Cagney will do a ballet number in "The West Point Story."

You wouldn't recognize Jimmy these days, if your mental image has him talking tough and toting a rod. He is acting very un-Cagneyish.

He likes the change of character, but "it's kinda hard on the old man." He's 46 but looks younger.

Cagney is a part-time hoofer. Press agents build him up as a threat to Astaire and Gene Kelley, but that sort of stuff actually embarrasses the guy. He's just a so-so dancer.

Versatile Jimmy

Versatility is what keeps actors alive. After two pictures in which he played psychological killers, Jimmy felt it was time for a change. In addition to the ballet, he does a routine that has all the earmarks of a Danny Kaye specialty. Yesterday Cagney was dressed in oversize clothing, with medals dangling fore and aft. He plays a six-star general in one scene and he also does a scene in French, but doesn't understand a word he says. Just learned it parrot-fashion.

Quote Of The Week

When Ted Briskin made up with his wife, Betty Hutton, and called off the divorce, he said:

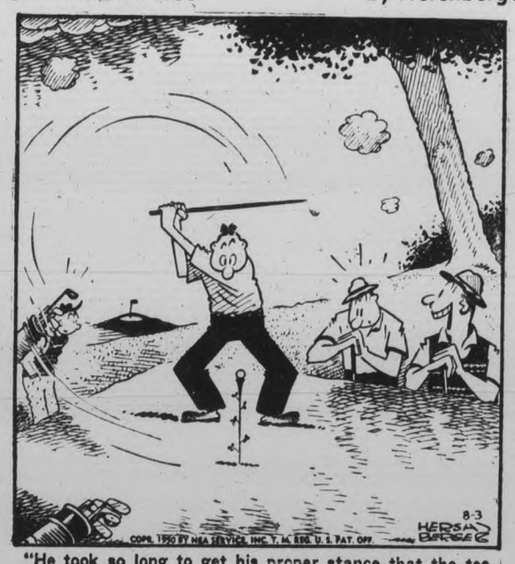
"It isn't good for married people to be constantly in each other's company. When we both realized that, we readily agreed that it was the solution to our difficulties."

Briskin will live in Chicago, he says, and Betty will live here.

Long Time Coming

De WINTON, Alta — (CP) — It was a long time coming, but George Sutherland of De Winton has received recognition of his sports prowess at the 1938 Empire Games in Sydney, Australia. Recently he received a certificate recognizing his establishment of an Australian record for the hammer throw. The record—163 feet—still stands.

FUNNY BUSINESS —By Hershberger



"He took so long to get his proper stance that the tee sprouted!"

Delay Action In Investigation

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP)—Premier Frost said Wednesday that no action on possible changes in administration of the Ontario Hospital for the Insane at Penetanguishene will be taken until the beginning of next week.

He made the announcement following a conference with Acting Health Minister Goodfellow who, with Reform Minister Hamilton, Tuesday visited the Penetanguishene hospital.

Investigation into administration of the hospital followed escape of two prisoners and the charge of Owen Sound's Mayor Sargent that the institution was operated like a "circus." Melville Wilkie, 40, one of the two escapees, is still at large. George Herman Woodcock, 35, was captured at Owen Sound July 22. Both are convicted murderers.

Century Old Coin

PICTON, — (CP) — A bank of Upper Canada penny dated 1850, was turned up in a garden here recently. The century-old coin is well preserved and the inscription legible.

Australia Regrets Mitchell's Death

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP) — The government and people of Australia, in a message made public here Wednesday night, expressed regret and sympathy at the sudden death of Labor Minister Mitchell.

In a message to F. M. Forde high commissioner for Australia for relay to the Canadian government, the Australian government said:

"The government has learned with regret of the death of the Honorable Humphrey Mitchell. His distinguished work in the field of labor relations has been followed with interest in Australia and his co-operation with the Australian department of labor and national service on matters of common interest has been most fruitful.

"Please accept the sincere sympathy of the government and people of Australia."

Bats In Belfry

LETHBRIDGE, Alta —(CP) — The old saying about "bats in the belfry" came to life here recently. Roofing contractor Reg Jones found 24 young bats in a chimney he was repairing. He returned next day and found 18 more.

Fruit Growers Fighting Act

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 3 (CP)—A court test of the validity of the Ontario Highway Improvement Act appeared likely Wednesday as police served summonses on a number of fruit-growers.

They are charged with offering fruit for sale within 150 feet of the Queen Elizabeth Way.

Fighting the regulations, they recently formed the Niagara District Property Owners Protective Association and raised a fund. They said the case will be carried to the supreme court if necessary.

The highways department has set up community markets for the use of all farmers at intervals along the highway, which runs from Toronto through Hamilton to Niagara Falls. Sale of fruit from individual stands is forbidden. The farmers claim the community markets are poorly placed, improperly organized and hidden from the public. They also claim that the province lacks authority to forbid use of individual stands.

SPIRAL TUNNELS

Canadian railway tunnels through Mounts Cathedral and Ogden in the Rockies are built in a spiral, the train making a complete circle before emerging on the west at a lower altitude.

Multi-Million Dollar Ford Plant Planned

DETROIT, Aug. 3—(CP)—A multi-million dollar assembly plant for Lincoln and Mercury automobiles, to be built on a 179-acre site near Wayne, Mich., was announced Wednesday by Benson Ford, vice-president of the Ford Motor Company. Construction is expected to begin this month.

The new factory, employing 3,000 workers, will have a production capacity of 640 cars daily on a two-shift basis. It will enable the Ford division at River Rouge to assemble 300 Ford automobiles on the assembly line now used for Mercury production.

The plant will also house all Lincoln assembly operations now housed in and old factory in Detroit.

Mother Seeking Child's Custody

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP) — Whether the mother of a 10-week-old girl will regain custody of her child from foster parents will be decided in Ontario Supreme Court next fall.

Wednesday Mr. Justice W. F. Spence ordered trial of the case in which Mrs. Margaret Schwager, the mother, seeks return of the baby from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hahn.

In an affidavit, Mrs. Schwager said she agreed to give the baby to Mr. and Mrs. Hahn at birth because she feared she would be unable to support the child. Now she wants her daughter back.

"The child is mine and I feel that I am the person to give her complete love and affection," Mrs. Schwager said.

The Hahns will keep the child until the case goes to trial.

Ontario Program Improves Roads Kawartha Area

The Peterborough and Kawartha district is sharing in Ontario's greatest year of road building and improvement in which $86,000,000 will be spent before another year is out. The area is covered by the Department of Highways Port Hope and Bancroft divisions.

Much of the work is now completed. New pavement, resurfacing, gravelling and grading is in full swing from Highway 2 as far as Trenton north into Algonquin Park.

Highway 7 between Norwood and Marmora is getting a covering of hot mix pavement which is due to be completed by October 31.

About 20,000 tons of crushed gravel has been spread over Highway 7A from Port Perry to Bethany. Highway 2 is being resurfaced for 17.2 miles between Colborne and Trenton.

Twenty thousand tons of gravel is being laid on Highway 36 and the Catchacoma road and is due to be completed November 30.

Smooth With Grader

Grading will smooth out 5.53 miles of the Development Road between Hoard's Station and Stirling by October 31. Three miles of the road south of Kinmount will be graded and culverts installed by November 30.

Grading of Highway 46 from Woodville north will be completed in 1951. Hot mix pavement will be laid on Highway 35 from Rosedale north by August 31 and on the Haliburton county road boundary by October 31.

In the Bancroft division on Highway 41, 30,000 tons of crushed gravel is being put down from Cloyne to Denbigh and will be completed August 31.

South From Bannockburn

Highway 62 will be graded from Bannockburn 3.6 miles south by November 30 and from Lamable Hill north, two miles will be graded by September 30.

Twenty thousand tons of crushed gravel has been put on the highway from Bancroft to Maynooth.

Five miles of grading on the Development Road from Douglas northwest is expected to be completed by November 30.

Work in Algonquin Park is expected to be finished by October 31.

TORONTO POWER BOAT SQUADRON visitors were taken for a "busman's" holiday on Wednesday afternoon by Kawartha guest boats from Young's Point to Irwin's Inn at Crowe's Landing where a civic-Chamber of Commerce dinner was served. Thirty New Buoys Mark Course Through Scugog

The Scugog river from Lindsay to Sturgeon lake is as well marked for navigation as any waterway in the Trent Canal system. That's the opinion of J. P. McGrath, maintenance supervisor.

Anyone with the slightest knowledge of navigation can make the trip with the minimum of trouble, he says.

In a canal boat with a seven-foot draft, Mr. McGrath sailed up and down the river ensuring that boats with an even slighter draft would not strike bottom. Everything OK, he reports.

His recent inspection included a sweep down the channel Wednesday from Lindsay to Hayes Point, to a depth of six feet, checking on possible shoals.

Most of the larger cruisers on the river have a draft of only three or four feet.

This summer 30 new buoys have been put in the water and a number of lighthouses removed. Replacing the later are diamond reflectors that indicate a bend in the river, not visible from a distance.

Red And Black

The snag with lighthouses, he explains, is that some navigators mistakenly believed they could steer a straight course from one lighthouse to another and would likely run into shoals.

Buoys are marked red or black (port or starboard) according to agreement between the United States and Canada. The Trent system, he feels, has been unjustly blamed by some critics for not choosing white rather than black as the alternate color.

The whole matter has been settled by the international agreement.

Shapes Differ

Black buoys have a flat top and red buoys, a cone-shaped top so their silhouettes will identify them at night when the colors can't be seen. Each of the markers has a reflector on it.

Skippers on the Kawartha lakes who are not sure of the soundings should get charts and maps from T. J. Ryan, superintending engineer, Peterborough, says Mr. McGrath.

Police Deplore Windshield Fad

Cluttered windshields are a definite hazard to driving, Police Chief John Thompson said today commenting on fuzzy birds and dolls which decorate many city autos.

"They could easily be the cause of an acident by obstructing the driver's view of other vehicles," he said.

The birds, which are attached to a car's windshield by suction cups, are set on a spring and wobble as the car drives along.

Some Peterborough cars have as many as nine of these birds, dolls, and small animals attached to their windshields, although two or three seem to be the popular number.

Nothing in the Highway Traffic Act prevents decorating windshields, as long as the driver has a clear view of the road and of other vehicles.

The fad for wobbling birds, dolls, etc., started several months ago.

City Entertains Boating Party From Toronto

Part two of the entertainment program for the Toronto Power Boat Squadron members who are visiting Peterborough, was staged on Wednesday afternoon.

After the seven visiting cruiser crews were officially welcomed at George St. Wharf, they were taken by car to Young's Point. Leo Dorfmann's cruiser Cygnet II and two power runabouts owned by Ken McCannan and Max Rishor were able to accommodate the party which had then swelled to about 40.

Acting Mayor and Alderman Adam Sands and president of the Chamber of Commerce, P. J. Scollard, were hosts. Secretary of the Chamber, J. J. Dorris, Trent Valley Canal superintendent T. J. Ryan, James Dutton Jr., and Herb Mason were also in the party.

After a two-hour cruise through the Clear and Stony main boat channels, the flotilla arrived at Irwin's Inn at Crowe's Landing for dinner.

Alderman Sands, in an informal address, said how glad Peterborough people were to be able to entertain freshwater sailors from Toronto and have an opportunity of showing them parts of the Kawartha's off the beaten Trent Canal cruiser courses. He was thanked by Commodor R. Y. (Ref) Reid on behalf of the group.

The visitors are spending today in the city, chiefly to attend to repairs to cruiser Peggy II which had been acting up since leaving Toronto.

They were planning to rendezvous with cruisers of friends on Lake Simcoe which are coming southbound down the Trent but have not heard from them as yet. Original plans called for our visitors to meet their friends at Lake Simcoe and most of their boats will leave shortly for that purpose.

Report Blight Among Tomatoes

Late blight in tomatoes was found in Guelph district Monday. Damp weather conditions are ideal for this fungus, Ontario Agricultural College says it has also been reported in the Hull section of Quebec.

Potatoes and tomatoes should be sprayed or dusted immediately for late blight control, and repeated at weekly intervals as long as the wet weather continues.

The announcement from OAC advises that if any further information is required it may be obtained at the local office of the Department of Agriculture.

Both potatoes and tomatoes have made excellent growth and so far have been free of disease. But, the late blight can cause a rapid change if it appears in the crop fields.

NEW UE BOARD MEMBER

William Hale Wednesday night was elected an executive board member of Local 527, United Electrical Workers. He replaces Bob Parknurst who moved from Peterborough. Mr. Hale, a worker in the polishing room, will represent Peterborough Lock workers in the composite local which also includes UE union members in Ontario Marble and Raybestos.

Sturdy Boy First Baby Born At New Civic Hospital

First baby born in Peterborough's new Civic Hospital was to Mrs. Ray Harding, R.R. 1, Peterborough. The baby, a boy, weighed a healthy eight pounds, six-and-three-quarters ounces. Mrs. Harding was admitted at 8 a.m. Wednesday and the child was born at 4.19 p.m.

"I didn't think we could wait until 8 o'clock to take her in," said Mr. Harding today. The maternity department did not open until 8 a.m.

Mr. Harding, who still sounded pleased this morning, said "we haven't settled on a name yet."

The boy has two sisters, Fay, 8, and Arlene, 7. "We're pretty pleased this third one is a boy," said the father. I saw him last night and he looked pretty good to me."

Mrs. Harding, said the pleased father, was well settled down Wednesday night.

Change Of Lights Not Feasible

Peterborough streets aren't wide enough to handle traffic with lights suggested in a recent letter to The Examiner, Police Chief John Thompson said today

In a letter to The Examiner last week, J. H. Vernor suggested that Peterborough's traffic lights are outmoded. He said "lights used in many cities have a 'stop' and 'go'—and three additional lights. One says 'walk'—one a right turn arrow and the other a left turn arrow.

"Turns are prohibited except when the arrow indicates permission."

The yellow caution light, said Mr. Vernor, is eliminated as the 'stop' is so synchronized that the caution light is not needed.

Chief Thompson said that if these lights were used, they could only be used at two corners—Charlotte and George Sts., and Simcoe and George.

"But our streets aren't wide enough to handle the traffic that would probably pile up," he added.

Toronto traffic lights on some intersections, have four lights—stop, caution, go and walk. Otherwise, their system is the same as Peterborough's. Where left turns are prohibited, there are signs to that effect, and at several Toronto intersections, there are signs saying motorists may not turn right or left in rush hours.

Returns To Find House Ransacked

ROSENEATH, Aug. 3 (ENS)—John Sunday Sr., an aged resident of Alderville, found his house had been ransacked, on returning home this week from a two-weeks visit at Newtonville.

The house was in a shamble from cellar to attic and more than $10 of fishing tackle had been stolen.

Mr. Sunday lives alone when at home in Alderville, but spends a great deal of time at the home of his son, Wilfred Sunday, Newtonville. Provincial police are investigating.

ANGLER'S PROVINCE

Manitoba is practically a fisherman's paradise, with goldeye, whitefish, Arctic grayling, lake trout and Northern pike, with the more adventurous.

Club Suspends Boys Town Hall

Boys' Town activities have been suspended for the summer by the Optimists' Club, said club president Stewart Gardiner today, and Walter Bent, former supervisor, was let go in May.

The club president issued this statement in answer to a letter to the editor of The Examiner appearing on the editorial page today.

He said Mr. Bent was kept on for the first part of the summer to run the Boys' Town canteen. Mr. Bent now has no connection with Boy's Town or the Optimists' Club. The canteen is still running under supervision of members of the Optimists' Club.

Both president Gardiner and the club's chairman of boys' work Walter Murphy, said the executive had found Mr. Bent's work very unsatisfactory and they felt the purpose of Boys' Town was not being fulfilled. Mr. Bent, they said, took on too many other jobs to give enough time to supervise the activities of 200 boys who belonged to the club.

Want Supervisor

An attempt was made at first to have Boys' Town run by volunteer members of the Optimists' Club, but that proved unworkable. The club is now looking for another full-time supervisor who could run Boys' Town in a way which would benefit the boys more than in the past.

The club's representatives said building a drill hall was for the present an unattainable dream. The cost of such a building makes the idea out of the question for some time.

Before anything else is done, the club will have to put a new roof on the Nicholl's Park building they already have and that is going to cost a considerable amount.

Some money was made by the boys themselves when they put on their first vaudeville show. The money made was soon spent on supervisor's salary and many other expenses.

The club had spent considerable money painting, rewiring and generally renovating the club house. As well as spending the money, Optimists' Club members themselves spent many evenings doing the work.

The club also bought woodworking shop tools and machinery but a lot of it was lost through lack of adequate supervision and the rest has been sold. The club executive felt the machinery was too dangerous for the boys to use when they were not being properly supervised.

The club representatives said they thought Boys' Town had a future in Peterborough and it was of great benefit to boys when properly run, but until a new full-time supervisor is found, the club will have to suspend operations.

REMOVE STREET SIGNS

Oshawa council has given two readings to a bylaw to remove "the maze of business and other signs, projecting more than two feet from the street line. If it passes no more of these signs will be permitted, and those already in place will have to come down in five years.

Park St. Drain Once Started At Sherbrooke St.

The dimensions of the reinforced concrete drain that is now being built on Park St. south are: six feet wide by four feet high.

The bottom slab is of eleven inches thickness, and the top and sides are nine inches.

Present wooden and concrete culverts are to be demolished. When the fill is being made the old concrete will be at least two feet under the finished road grade. The private wooden culverts are to be left on the abutting properties. This work has been begun by Curran and Briggs, contractors, of Toronto.

The drain is being laid from Brioux Ave. to the Otonabee River. That section is the last of the old drain which was a municipal project at least 100 years ago.

It was dug on the west side of Park St. from the river to Sherbrooke St. as a means of draining all the west of the town as far north as Weller St. A long stretch of it in front of the C.G.E. property, continuing in both directions, used to be covered with a board walk laid on wooden piles. Water flowed at a depth of about eight to twelve feet throughout the year. At Rink St., along the south side of the present Colonial Weaving Co., there was a diversion of the drain towards Little Lake. Its type was the same as on Park St., contained between wooden walls and covered with a board sidewalk.

Those earlier methods of carrying off surface water from the west side of the city have vanished. Concrete pipe was laid replacing the open drains, and their trenches were filled in with earth.

Huckleberries In Short Supply

Peterborough district is apparently unable to supply the local demand for berries.

Huckleberries at the uptown Anthony store were picked in Northern Ontario, Mr. A. DeNoble informed the Examiner today. Some of them were from the neighborhood of the Creighton Mines. There may be a late offering on the local produce market Saturday, but on the whole the retailers have to go far afield for their stock. Price today was 50c a quart.

Main street raspberries were from growers in the Lake Simcoe district and also around Pontypool.

The cherry season is just about done, and from all accounts retailers generally around town took a loss on most of the unsold stock that carried over last weekend.

Local vegetables are arriving in quantity at the retail counters. New potatoes and corn on the cob have been selling freely all week.

Falls Crossing Tracks Woman Breaks Ribs

An elderly Winnipeg woman suffered several broken ribs Wednesday when she tripped and fell on the CNR tracks crossing Lake St.

Mrs. Edith Nelson, 70, v[illegible] visiting Mrs. Gerald Withers [illegible] Lafayette St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital today. Her condition is reported good.

Showdown In UE Circles As Factions Differ On 'Peace Campaign' Move

A showdown is looming within the ranks of Local 527, United Electrical Workers, between those who support the official UE "peace campaign" and those who look on it as the current Communist tactic. "I'm sure the 83 Peterborough Lock Works employees who signed the petition disassociating themselves from C. S. Jackson's stand on the Korean issue won't back down one bit." That was the information given the Examiner today by the same man (a Local 527 union member who declines to give his name for obvious reasons) who revealed three weeks ago that 83—or more than 50 per cent of the eligible union members on the payroll—had signed the anti-Jackson petition

Statement Issued

Today the Examiner received a statement issued by the Lock Works section of Local 527 condemning the anonymous source and regretting "a piece of dishonest journalism" on the part of the Examiner.

(The text of the petition was printed in full on July 22: "We the undersigned members of Local 527, UE, do hereby wish it publicly known that we are not in favor of our president, C. S. Jackson's stand on the Korean situation. We also wish it to be known that we are in favor of the action taken by the United Nations.")

Wednesday night a membership meeting of Local 527 issued the statement claiming that the petition "was circulated among our members under false pretences."

(The legality of this meeting was questioned by some Jackson critics; some of them claim there wasn't a quorum present.)

The statement claims that the petition was circulated under false pretences because it purported to be a union document; and those handing around the several copies of the petition said the subject matter dealt with a protest over holiday dates.

"Nonsense," said the Examiner source. "Who can believe that 83 people out of 156 would put their names to a brief petition like that without reading it? It's just an attempt to mislead the workers."

This same source produced several copies which contained 83 signatures.

"There you are, count them for yourself," he said.

Here is part of the union statement issued today:

"This petition was not circulated . . . to stimulate discussion in a constructive sense of union policy . . . but was part and parcel of the program of disruption by company-inspired, anti-union elements. Virtually no one in the plant signed the petition."

"The story which appeared in the Examiner (July 22) regarding this petition was obviously inspired by the same source. The statements were not attributed to anyone, nor were they checked with our union."

"The entire story was false and represents what we regretfully term a piece of dishonest journalism intended to create a sensation."

"This meeting condemns the actions of the members of our union who introduced this petition into the plant and who misrepresented to the Examiner the facts concerning it."

The upshot of Wednesday's membership meeting was the decision to "take action against these members in accordance with our constitution."

In brief, this means those who circulated the anti-Jackson petitions will be charged with conduct detrimental to the union.

A separate motion was passed demanding that those circulating it be asked to appear before the executive to give an account of their actions.

'We are not trying to introduce the International Electrical Workers Union" (the bitter rival of the UE), said the union member. 'All who signed are UE members but we don't go along with the offical policy on Korea and the "peace campaign."

Later this month there will be a regular meeting of the Local 527 membership and then will come the critical test of strength. At that time an official report will be made on the last District Council meeting where the "peace campaign" was endorsed.

BROTHER CRASHES

Dr. Donald W. Kirk of the geographical bureau, Department of Mines and Resources, was one of the nine that were killed Tuesday in the crash of an RCAF plane at Albert, 600 miles south of the north pole. He was the brother of Malcolm D. Kirk, zone forester, Department of Lands and Forests office, Lindsay.

Swimmers Take Ontario Titles At Fergus Meet

Donald Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wood, Court House, won the junior men's Ontario 100-yard backstroke championship at the outdoor swimming championships meet in Fergus, Wednesday night.

John Boorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boorman, 378 Downie St., captured two Ontario championships, the 50-yard free style and the 100-yard free style events. Over the past week-end he won two international championships at Watertown, N.Y.

Wood, prior to the backstroke, swam two races. He placed first in the junior men's 100-yard free style heat to qualify for the finals in which he placed third. Immediately after he had to swim the 100-yard backstroke event.

Tired he plunged into the pool and with one length to go in the final race he was in third position. With a burst of speed he churned the water to cross the finish line three inches ahead of his old rival, Walter Samek of Hamilton. Wood's time for the distance was his best ever recorded, 1: 16.2 minutes.

Ontario Team Member

Winning the Beatty trophy Wood automatically became a member of the Ontario swimming team which will compete in the Canadian finals at Verdun, Quebec, August 16-17. Bill Lech, swimming instructor at the Lions club pool and coach for the boys, said that Wood was bothered by the buoys in the pool which he was not used to. During the next several weeks he hopes to help Wood knock a couple of seconds off Wednesday night's time.

Boorman had little trouble winning his two titles. He zipped through the water in 29 seconds to take the 50-yard free style championship and in 1: 07.3 minutes the 100-yard free style championship.

Coach Lech explained that Boorman's competitors are recognizing the young swimmer's ability and competition for him is difficult to find. He added that the Lions Club, which sponsored the swimmers in Fergus, plan to enter Boorman in the Canadian finals at Verdun in the junior 100-yard free style event.

Wood is entered in the junior men's 100-yard free style, the 200-yard free style and the 100-yard backstroke events at the Canadian finals. Lech said that the backstroke event is most important and it depends on the order of events whether Wood will actually enter the free style swims. His chances his coach believes for the Canadian backstroke championship are good.

Besides Coach Lech the swimmers were accompanied by swimmer James Heffernan and Lions club member, Jack Arnott.

RCN Will Form Guard Of Honor At Funeral Of Labor Minister Mitchell

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP). — An RCN detachment will form the guard of honor at the state funeral of Labor Minister Mitchell on Friday, it was decided Wednesday.

Unlike the recent funeral of former prime minister Mackenzie King, when members of the three armed services and the RCMP participated, the navy will be the sole guard. However an RCMP band will participate. The navy guard was chosen because of the minister's pride in having served with the Royal Navy in the First World War.

Special arrangements have been made for the cabinet and any labor groups who wish to pay their respects as a group to visit the body when it lies in state in the Hall of Remembrance in the centre block of the Parliament Buildings. The cabinet will visit in a group at 10 a.m., EDT, Friday.

Mr. Mitchell's body will lie in state for public visits from 10:30 a.m., until 2 p.m., while the carillion in the Peace Tower plays appropriate music at intervals.

Led By Band

At 2 p.m. the procession will move off, headed by a motor-cycle escort and the RCMP band. Entering cars at the main gate of the Parliament Grounds, it will move west along Wellington St. to Kent, and south to St. Barnabas Church. The rector, the Rev. H. W. Browne, has returned from vacation to conduct the service.

Copies of the order of service are being printed and will be presented to guests at the church. These will include a number of provincial labor ministers, members of the diplomatic corps, and others taking part in the procession. Maj.-Gen. H. G. F. Letson, secretary to Viscount Alexander, will represent the Governor-General at the service.

Honorary pallbearers, at the request of Mr. Mitchell's family, will be Prime Minister St. Laurent and his government colleagues, and a number of close personal friends and associates of the late minister.

They are:

Albert Deschamps, Montreal; J. H. Gardener, Welland; H. W. Walker, MPP, Welland; Mayor W. L. Houck, MPP, Niagara Falls; Mayor Harry Diffin, Welland; Senator W. A. Fraser, Trenton; Professor Gilbert E. Jackson, Toronto; Paul-Emile Cote, Verdun, Que., parliamentary assistant to Mr. Mitchell; J. A. McClelland, Valois, Que.; Arthur McNamara, deputy labor minister; Senator A. Neil McLean, Saint John, N. B.; and George Greene, Ottawa, the minister's secretary.

Interment will be in Beechwood Cemetery, on the eastern outskirts of the city.

Have Mystery Witness To Talk On Korea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP). —A mystery witness with "important" testimony on Korea was called before the Senate armed services committee—while even committee members speculated over his identity.

In advance of the public hearing only chairman Milliard Tydings (Dem. Md.) knew who the witness was—and Tydings wasn't telling.

There was speculation Tydings' surprise witness might be Gen. MacArthur, commander of the United Nations forces, or possibly Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the 24th infantry division, who has been reported missing in action in Korea.

Canada's Building Boom Still High

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians continue their drive to build homes.

In July, says MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., residential contracts totalled $74,200,000 or $22,000,000 more than July a year ago. And they increased against a background of rising construction costs and postponement of some Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation projects.

The total for all Canadian construction contracts in July was $151,039,800, up $2[illegible]770,800 from July, 1949; and the cumulative figure for the first seven months of the year was $737,123,400, or $119,000,000 above the same period last year.

July commercial construction was $41,629,800, up $8,900,000; industrial $7,009,100, up $2,600,000; engineering $28,219 10, down $11,800,000.

Western Increase

Western Canada at $23,745,400 was up $1,100,000 from July, 1949; Ontario at $66,396,300 was up $12,879,000; Quebec at $53,477,400 was up $8,628,000; the Maritime region at $7,420,700 was down $840,000, despite inclusion of $1,218,300 for Newfoundland which was not included last year.

The drop in engineering contracts reflected the fact that large contracts for Toronto's rapid transit system and for titanium development in Quebec were let in July of last year. Road and street contracts in Ontario totalling $12,000,000 helped sustain this July's figures.

Contracts included an orphanage and sash mill at Rimouski, Que., each totalling more than $1,000,000; and a mental hospital at Port Arthur, $1,500,000.

West Germany Exports High

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 3—(AP)—Western Germany's exports set a post-war record during the first half of 1950, American officials announced today.

Exports totalled $778,400,000, or 57.2 per cent above the figure for the first six months of 1949.

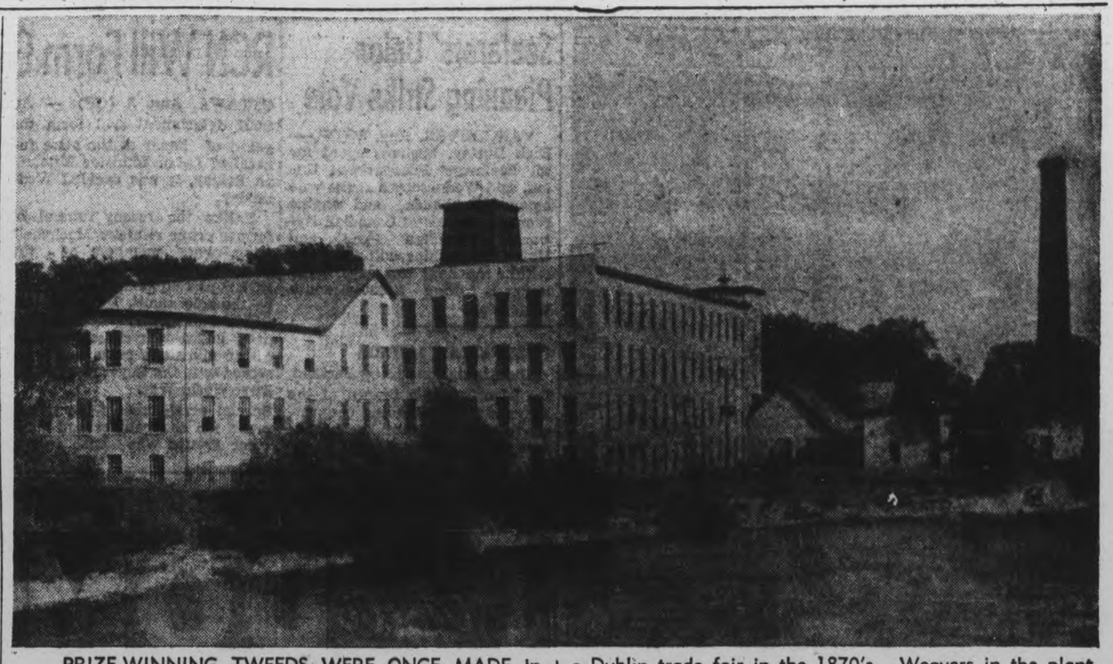
Imports during the first half of this year totalled $1,118,000,000—almost exactly the same as for the 1949 period.

Banking At Standstill

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 3—(Reuters)—Private banking activity came to a virtual standstill here today following an increase in strikes among bank servants for higher pay.

Polio In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 3—(AP)—Polio struck another smashing blow in Texas, invading four counties for the first time this year. It attacked 107 persons the last week.



PRIZE-WINNING TWEEDS WERE ONCE MADE in this mill — the Auburn Mill, established in the 1860's by James Kendry. In the latter port of the 19th century the plant employed about 300 men, and produced some of the finest tweeds in Canada — some of them winning prizes at a Dublin trade fair in the 1870's. Weavers in the plant went on strike in 1937 and the mill closed down in 1938. Much of the machinery and some of the employees were transferred to Hespeler, and others went to the Bonnerworth Mill on McDonnel St.

Shack Town, Tinsel Beauty Attracts More Than Forests

By JACK SCOTT.

WASAGAMING, Man.—People are funny.

Here is Riding Mountain National Park, more than a thousand square miles of green forest and blue lakes, like a jewel in the hot prairie, inviting rest and relaxation for the weary and escape from the sun.

The people come like pilgrims from many miles away, from all parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, a steady stream of them all through the summer, their dusty cars queuing under the archways that open on this holiday playground.

And what do they do? I'll tell you what. They cluster in a congealed mass in one tiny, humid corner of these green acres in a kind of commercial Coney Island atmosphere. . . and, as far as anybody knows, they enjoy every moment of it.

Wasagaming (with the accent on the second syllable) is the park townsite and a pleasant little resort town on the surface ideal as the hub for visiting the park's many charms.

But to nine of ten of its visitors Wasagaming is beginning and end. Very few of its temporary citizens hear the cry of the loon for the heavy throb of the amplified music that vibrates over the town from the roller skating rink. Many are so blinded by the glare of neon lights that the sunsets across the lake go unseen. Visitors seeking the peace and shade of the forest end up at the ball park, naked to the sun, lured there by the pied pipes of patrolling sound trucks.

One wedge of lawn leading down to Clear Lake, on which the town is located, is a moist mass of bodies, a kind of come-to-life Gluvas Williams' cartoon of crying babies, exhausted and sunpink mothers and lovers in various stages of lamination.

Summer City

We were prepared to make some sort of mild protest yesterday when we arrived here. We entered the park from the northern end. The road was deplorable, but we're used to deplorable roads and it was fine to be in among evergreens and to sight cool water through pines.

In Wasagaming we were directed to the camping grounds described in a brochure as "situated in a beautiful grove facing Clear Lake."

We were less than happy to find, in reality, a shack town of more than 600 home-made, box-like structures and tents jammed together. Each is alloted the space of a burial plot. The toilet facilities are unable to cope with the population. There are no showers and an attendant said "just use the lake."

We have found a curt and what-the-hell attitude on the part of both the park employees and the personnel in the commercial businesses, the attitude you find at any summer resort wtih a surplus of visitors.

The whole situation struck us as cockeyed. We'd driven through miles of beautiful, virgin country and seen a hundred shaded, inviting places to pull up our home on wheels. Why wasn't some effort made to spread the visiting horde across this landscape? I put that question to one of the more human park attendants.

"Reason is that the people who come here don't want that sort of holiday," he said. "They want to be where people are, where ther's organized entertainment for them. We have couple of picnic grounds off the beaten track, but almost nobody uses them.

"It seems kind of futile to have a park like this," he went on. "Why, there are thousands of people who come up here and never leave the limits of the town. They've just gotta be together or they don't seem to be happy. We know it's a bad situation in that camping ground. But you ask some of your neighbors if they have any complaints."

We did ask and a typical answer from a Brandon farmer was this: "It's real nice to be so near the town and with so many nice folks."

So many people massed together may be fatiguing, but not without interest to the spectator.

It's interesting, for example, to see the scores of married women who have come up here for a holiday with the kids, leaving Daddy behind in the hot old city.

They are here by the hundreds, women having an absolutely miserable time with no escape from either the brats or the drudgery of housework. nAd you can bet your sweet life Daddy is having a high old merry time of it back home.

The lovers are interesting, too. I don't think I've seen such open style wrestling. You don't like to admit reaching an age when this seems disgusting (it isn't, of course) but such immodesty on a mass scale is disconcerting. You wonder if the purely physical romancing of these clean-cut looking kids isn't confusing a pretty important issue.

As a kind of gallery of the race at play, or what promises to be play, Wasagaming has its points, but I think that the men with the vision to set aside these green acres for the public would be somewhat bewildered to find them merely a backdrop for the human comedy.

Record Earthquake

SEATTLE, Aug. 3—(AP)—The University of Washington seismograph recorded an earthquake Wednesday which lasted an hour and 28 minutes. The shock started at 4:02 a.m., continued until 5:30 a.m. PST. of "moderate force," the quake was 5,800 miles from Seattle in an undetermined direction, the university said.

MORE THAN 1,500 COMMUNIST agitators from the Soviet sector were arrested by West Berlin police recently for distributing "Ban the Atom Bomb" pamphlets and disturbing the peace in "Hate-the-West" arguments. Of the arrested, 888 were released shortly afterwards, another 668 await trial. Penalties range from a few days to a month in prison. Even after his arrest this youthful agitator harangued bystanders from the police car. On the right a fellow agitator attempts to calm him down. This incident took place in the US sector. Most West Berliners took the whole thing as a joke — teasing the petition peddlars.

Lowest Death Rate

LONDON, Aug. 3—(Reuters)—Britain's death rate in 1948—11 persons for every 1,000—was the lowest ever recorded, the registrar-general's statistical review showed today. Cancer accounted for 6.9 per cent of the deaths, as compared with 15.1 in 1947 and 13.9 in 1938.

Prescott Rector Goes To Belleville

KINGSTON, Aug. 3—(CP) — Appointment of the Rev. J. B. Creggan, rector of St. John's church, Prescott, as rector of Christ church, Belleville, was announced today by the Most Rev. John Lyons, Archbishop of the Diocese of Ontario. The appointment is effective Oct. 1.

Mr. Creggan has been rural dean of Grenville county in recent years. He will succeed the Rev. Canon Grant Sparling, who recently accepted the appointment of dean of Edmonton and rector of the cathedral there.

East Berlin Agrees Restore Power Supply

BERLIN, Aug. 3—(AP)—East Berlin agreed today to resume electric power deliveries to the three Western sectors of the city after a month-long shut-off.

The argument which led to the shut-off June 30 concerned method of cash payments, on the surface. But West officials contend the Eastern Communists were merely testing the West to find out if their new power plant, built as a direct outcome of the blockade, was adequate. It was.

GM Refuses To Fire Suspended Unionists

LINDEN, N.J., Aug. 3—(AP)—The General Motors Corporation has refused to fire four men whom the CIO suspended for passing out pamphlets opposing American Korean policy.

Local 595, United Auto Workers, announced suspension of the four Tuesday pending their trial by a committee on charges of "activities detrimental to the local." The UAW supports United Nations action in Korea.

Henry Burgoyne Publisher Dies At Bobcaygeon

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 3 — (CP)— Maj. Henry Bartlett Burgoyne, 65, president and managing director of the St. Catharines Standard and managing director of radio station CKTB, died today.

Death came to the veteran newspaper man following a brief illness at his summer home near Bobcaygeon.

Throughout his life, he took an active interest in civic and national affairs and the news and editorial columns of the Standard constantly supported worthwhile community enterprises.

When the Canadian Aid to China Fund was established in 1942, Maj. Burgoyne became one of its chairmen. Under his guidance it raised more than $8,000,000. In 1948 the Republic of China awarded him the Order of the Brilliant Star in recognition of his work on the fund.

Maj. Burgoyne also was a member of the executive committee of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund.

Founded By Father

Born here Feb. 28, 1885, he attended public schools and the collegiate institute here. In 1901 he joined the Standard, which had been founded by his father, the late W. B. Burgoyne, as a proofreader. He worked in all departments of the paper, became a partner in 1906 and publisher and managing director upon the death of his father in 1921.

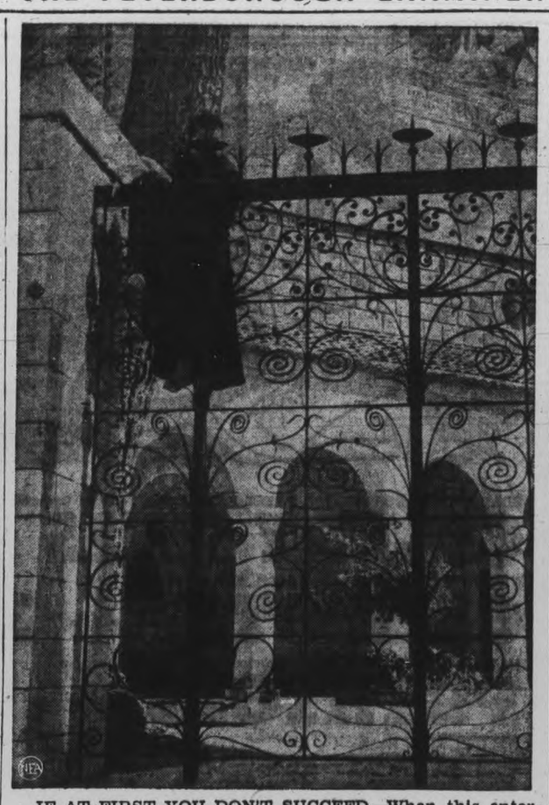
His military career started with his cadet training while attending collegiate. He joined the 19th battalion of the militia in 1901, became a commissioned officer in 1906 and took command of "F" company in 1909. With the rank of lieutenant, he later joined the Second Artillery Brigade as officer commanding the ammunition column.

When the First World War broke out, he signed up for active service in August, 1914. He went overseas with the First Canadian Division, served in France as orderly officer for the Third Brigade and was promoted to captain in the field. He returned to Canada in August, 1916, to take command of the 71st Battery and was promoted to Major. He served until Dec. 31, 1918, when he was retired.

He played a leading part in developing the Royal Canadian Henley regatta into one of the outstanding annual sporting events in Canada. For 26 years he was president of the Henley Aquatic Association. He served for a time as president of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

He became a member of The Canadian Press in 1922. He also was a director of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association, a member of the Empire Press union, and a director of the Inland Daily Press Association.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Harriett Lillian Cameron of Perth, Ont., are a son, William Bartlett Cameron Burgoyne, and a sister, Mrs. W. S. VanEvery of St. Catharines.



IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED—When this enterprising Franciscan friar got no response to his bell-ringing at the entrance to the Church of the Visitation, near Jerusalem, Israel, he put the decorative iron gate to practical use as a ladder.

Chiang Planes Leave On 2nd Mission

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 3 — (AP)—For the second successive day Chinese Nationalist war planes took off for unannounced destinations.

Presumably they are raiding Chinese Communist concentrations on the mainland which threaten to invade Quemoy, a Nationalist island just off the Communist port of Amoy on the China side of Formosa Strait.

Nationalists resumed their air activity Wednesday. The planes had been idle since start of the Korean war at the request of President Truman.

There was speculation in this Nationalist capital that Gen. MacArthur will send American planes to Formosa to help guard against the possibility of a Communist invasion.

OIL RESERVES

About 120,000,000 of Alberta's 163,000,000 acres are geologically favorable for oil and gas; less than five per cent of this area has been completely explored.

High-Ranking Officers Will Tour Canada

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 — (CP) — High-ranking officers from Commonwealth defence forces soon will get a chance to see the scope of Canada's industrial and defence potential.

As students and directors of Britain's Imperial Defence College, a group of 15 will arrive here Aug. 13 for a 24-day tour of important defence and industrial areas in Canada.

Among the visitors will be officers of the United Kingdom, Pakistan, India and New Zealand forces.

Defence officials said the visit has no special significance. A similar party from the college came to Canada last year.

The officers will see naval installations on the east and west coasts, visit arsenal and army points in Quebec, tour the industrial area of Southern Ontario, and witness uranium-mining developments in the Yukon.

U.S. Church Leaders Denounce N. Korea

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP).—A group of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders declared jointly Wednesday that aggression such as has embroiled Korea in war constitutes the "greatest menace to world peace."

The statement was issued by officers of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America the largest Protestant group in the United States; the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and the Synagogue Council of America.

The statement also warned against the Stockholm petition, which calls for outlawing the atomic bomb. U.S. government officials have called the petition Communist-inspired.

Permit Fare Increase

TORONTO, Aug. 3 — (CP) — Request by the Hamilton street railway for a fare increase was approved yesterday by the Ontario Municipal Board.

The increase, efective immediately, brings the cost of tickets to three for 25 cents. They have been four for 30 cents.

If I Were An Artist . . . I could picture better the beauties of the new FRIGIDAIRE De Luxe Cold-Wall REFRIGERATOR . . . for it's a work of art with its Ice-Blue interior trim and Lifetime Porcelain finish. But beauty isn't its only "asset". Fruits and vegetables keep crisp and fresh for days in its all-porcelain Hydrators . . . and you can store up to 45 lbs. of frozen foods in its full-width Super-Freezer Chest. Its spacious shelves, edged in Ice-Blue, are rust-and-tip proof! Once you see these and all the other wonderful features of the new Frigidaire De Luxe Cold-Wall Refrigerator, you'll realize why I can't do it justice with mere words . . . you'll have to see it at your Frigidaire Dealer's soon.

What Has More Summertime Appeal than a refreshing Jell-O salad? I'd say—nothing, unless it's a Jell-O dessert! Salads and desserts made with JELL-O JELLY POWDERS have so much sparkle and flavour! Because Jell-O has those seven "locked-in" flavours, that are delicious in salads and desserts. Try this cool, cool, Cucumber Pineapple Salad!

CUCUMBER PINEAPPLE SALAD
1 package Lime Jell-O
2 cups hot water
1 slice canned pineapple, cut in wedges
1 cup diced cucumber

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Arrange pineapple wedges in bottom of mould. Pour on Jell-O, being careful not to disarrange pineapple. Add cucumber. Chill until firm. Unmould on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Public Enemy No. 1 . . . that's what the disease-carrying housefly is during summer months. And to convince us of how rapidly these horrible little pests can multiply, scientists declare that a pair of flies, if unmolested, will breed a million descendants in a single season! That's why a tin of quick-killing FLY-TOX Spray is a wise purchase for every housewife. In its new, more powerful form Fly-Tox has even greater knock-down power than before . . . is longer lasting . . . has a pleasant fragrance . . . and won't stain clothing! Remember, too, there's only one Fly-Tox . . . so ask for it by name . . . at better stores everywhere.

Woman Gives Up Right To Practise

MONROE, Mich., Aug. 3—(CP)—Charges against a woman doctor, involved in the case of a dead baby found in her office, were dropped yesterday when she gave up her right to practise medicine in Michigan.

Dr. Vivian May McCartney faced trial on charges of manslaughter and failing to put drops in the eyes of a new-born baby. She has already been sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $75 for failing to report a death occurring under suspicious circumstances.

Housing Worries Aussies

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — If it were not for inflation and the housing shortage Australians would be an extraordinarily care-free people, judging from a recent public opinion poll.

Interviewers went from house to house in nearly 200 centres throughout Australia asking:

"What is the main problem facing your family today?"

40 per cent said they had no big family problems;

32 per cent said financial worries were greatest;

19 per cent have a housing problem;

Three per cent are worried about their work or security;

Two per cent of families have health problems;

Two per cent have personal problems;

One per cent worry about their taxes; and

One per cent have other big problems.

Further analysis shows that finance is the chief problem in every occupational group.

Farmers come out best here at 19 per cent, thanks to high export prices; office and store clerks, at 38 per cent fare worst because their salaries are lagging behind inflationary prices.

Of hourly-rated workers, 31 per cent said finance was their chief problem. As a group, they are also the worst sufferers from the housing shortage, which is the chief problem of 23 per cent of them.

THIS HOUSEWIFE makes her moving day job simpler by planning out her work and by using short cuts worked out by experts.

Planned Packing Advised For Safe Transfer of Goods

Moving day, which rolls around each autumn for many families, is a trial to the housewife who doesn't do advance planning. Method can make the job far easier, according to the experts.

Most women begin by packing dinnerware and glassware. The first step, experts say, is to pad the bottom of a strong barrel with a deep layer of excelsior or shredded paper. Heavy dishes, such as dinner and soup plates, go in first. Six or seven of the same size should be wrapped with excelsior between the plates to prevent chipping. Then they are placed on edge, never flat, in the barrel. This prevents breakage if the barrel should be dropped.

When the first layer of dishes is in, give it a topping of excelsior. Medium-sized dishes go in next, and the top of the barrel gets the lightest pieces. If there is room, glassware goes in the top of the china barrel. If not, it gets a barrel of its own.

In addition to the excelsior treatment, each piece of glassware must be wrapped individually in tissue paper. Experienced packers condense as many pieces as possible by wrapping lighter articles in tissue paper and fitting them in the waste spaces of larger glasses or bowls. bowls.

Stemware is so fragile that it needs special wrapping to protect the shank. It should be covered with excelsior before the tissue paper is wrapped around it. And stemware always gets the top of the glass barrel.

Your linens, curtains, blankets and wearing apparel should go into strong cases, cartons or trunks. Give the cases or cartons a brown paper lining as a protection against dust. The linens should be spread as much as possible to lessen creases.

Casters should be removed from furniture. To avoid confusion later on, tie each set of casters together and label them properly. It's also a good idea to place all small articles in boxes and then label the boxes plainly. Brooms, mops and curtain rods can be tied together securely.

If you're moving a refrigerator, have it serviced and the motor bolted down before the moving men arrive. It must be checked and serviced again before it is put in use in your new home.

It's best, the experts advise, not to pack open liquids at all since they may spill. And remember never to pack anything inflammable.

Insuring the furnishings which are moved is a sound idea, since your regular insurance doesn't cover them in transit.

If you own a dog or cat, make certain that he goes along to the new home. Many pets are lost in the unnecessary confusion of moving day.

Qualities Needed For Parson's Wife

BRADFORD, England — (CP) — What qualities are needed to make the ideal wife for a parson?

An answer was given at a Methodist conference here by the Rev. N. Rose, who supervises training of new ministers.

He listed the following main qualifications:

Ability to understand all types of people;

Never embarrass other women by wearing a better hat in church;

Don't look too well-dressed when visiting in poor districts;

Don't be too brittle;

Don't be lipstick-minded.

What's Right?

You have a blind date with a young man who seems shy and hard to talk to.

WRONG: Just don't try to make the evening successful.

RIGHT: Keep talking and acting as though you are having fun, which is the best way of helping him overcome his shyness.

THE DRESSES which women pick for the short, but often trying, weeks from summer into early fall must have certain characteristics in order to pay their way. They must be made of fabric which is cool to the touch. They must be based on simple silhouettes. They must be light weight for simmering days. And they must also forecast autumn. A crisp, lightweight shantung (right) which meets all requirements is in glowing saffron. It's from the hands of designer Hannah Troy. This dress is set off by a simple roll shawl collar. Hip to hemline panels are set into the skirt to give it front fullness for free action. Hip pockets are deep and jutting. Accessorized with black patent belt and pumps and small black vetvet coif, this dress will go fashionably into cool days. Another such dress from this designer is a two-piece red rayon jersey with slim, vertical lines (left). Sunburst pleats flare from neckline to the hem of the full-swinging skirt. Brief cap sleeves round the curve of the shoulders.

Natural Silhouette Gains Popularity With US Buyers

By FLORENCE MILLS.

PARIS. — The style-setting Spanish designer Balenciaga, at his fall opening Monday night, introduced a natural silhouette that rejected any attempt to make the female figure look what it isn't.

His silhouette, reverse of the puffed-up feminine shape displayed by Christian Dior last week, was applauded enthusiastically by United States buyers at the end of the show.

The Spaniard, famed in Paris particularly for his suits, showed short, hip-hugging jackets reaching only three to eight inches below the waist. The set-in sleeves were mounted at a dropped shoulder line, which was unpadded. His skirts were narrow and reached to just below mid-calf level.

Other leading designers — particularly Dior—are showing squared shoulders, long jackets which project bulbously to cover the hips altogether, and hemlines slightly above mid-calf level.

Like Robert Piguet, another top-ranking couturier who launched his new fall styles yesterday, Balenciaga makes a great fuss over the suit dress.

He designs them in tweed and long-haired wool for day wear, and in satins and lace for cocktail and evening. Piguet showed starkly simple dresses with high collarless necklines, long tight sleeves and skirts that fit tight down to the thighs and then flare into fullness obtained by a deep flounce.

Over them he put severely tailored jackets with square shoulders and long protruding peplums.

Balenciaga prefers decollette dresses with drooping epaulette sleeves, topped by brief jackets that have large cape collars, reminiscent of his native Spain. Both designers also favor loose wrist-length jackets over matching dresses. Balenciaga cuts his with flared backs stiffened to stand out and accentuate the narrowness of his skirts.

Piguet, who uses the formula of a flounce set in at thigh level for all his skirts, has straight box jackets heavily trimmed with fur.

He mainly used purple and grey for his fall clothes, but for evening he introduced such combinations as a purple faille coat lined with old gold set over a fan-pleated dress of scarlet lace.

Balenciaga prefers all shades of grey and beige throughout. Magnificent embroidery in silk thread and sequins is featured by both for evening.

Middleton-Holt Vows In Toronto

Rhodes Avenue United Church, Toronto, was decorated with white and pink gladioli when Evelyn Ann Holt, Toronto, became the bride of C. Robert Middleton, Blackstock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Holt, Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Middleton, Blackstock.

Given in marriage by Mr. Herbert Vine, Nestleton, the bride wore a white gabardine dressmaker suit, white picture hat, white accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of mauve and purple orchids, gardenias and lily of the valley mounted on a white satin Bible. The bride's only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The bride's attendant was Mrs. Reg. E. Middleton, Dixie, Ontario. She wore a pastel pink dressmaker suit, white net and pink velvet trimmed picture hat, white accessories and carried an old fashioned nosegay of talisman and pink roses.

Mr. Reg. E. Middleton was best man and the usher was Mr. Ronald Middleton, both brothers of the groom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Diana Sweets Restaurant. The groom's mother chose a navy afternoon dress, white and grey accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds and gladioli. Mrs. H. Vine assisted the groom's mother. She wore a printed navy blue crepe dress, grey hat, grey accessories and a corsage of talisman roses and gladioli buds.

Later the bride and groom left for a motor trip to the home of the bride's parents, Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan. The bride chose a green ensemble for travelling.

PRETTY PASSENGER — A recent competitor in the famous Alpine Rally motor car race run 1,900 miles in Europe, was pretty Margaret Stokes, of Toronto, shown here as she arrived in Montreal on the Empress of Canada. Miss Stokes told reporters she and her partner were forced out by mechanical break-down after doing only three days of the seven-day race.

Miss Pearl Cowan Becomes Wife Of Dr. B. Seetner

In white filmy marquisette, Pearl Cowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Cowan, Peterborough, exchanged marriage vows with Dr. B. Seetner, Winnipeg, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Seetner, Tuesday, in Murray House, Toronto, which was decorated with gladioli and chrysanthemums. Rabbi R. Slonim officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her floor length gown was styled with empire waistline, long sleeves and a flowing train. The veil of French tulle was fashioned in a juliet cap caught by seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Miss Joan Cowan, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Pat Pattenick, Miss Pearl Pattenick, Miss Pearl Breslin and Miss Carol Stackman, all cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. The matron of honor was gowned in blue marquisette; two bridesmaids were in yellow lace and two bridesmaids in blue taffeta. They wore flowered headdresses to match their gowns.

Dr. Sam Seetner, brother of the groom, was groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Edward Breslin, Mr. Bernie Papernick and Mr. Harry Adleman, all cousins of the groom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Murray House. The bride's mother received in a white faille gown, a hat of French flowers and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother also received. She wore a blue faille gown, a hat of fresh flowers and a corsage of pink roses.

After a trip to the Laurentians, the couple will live in Winnipeg. For travelling, the bride chose a mauve silk dress with black accessories.

European Women Far Outdistance AmericanFemmes

By Reuters News Agency.

LONDON. — Miss Margaret Hyndman, Toronto lawyer leading the Canadian delegation to a business women's international conference, said that she thought women had made greater progress in Europe than in North America.

"Women in countries which were occupied or under fire during the war are not so conscious of their position as women in business," she said in an interview.

In the United States and Canada, where no comparable national catastrophe had occurred to bring out women's selflessness, women were still apt to take the easier course.

The loss of self-consciousness which she had found in Britain could come in North America only when women took public office to a much greater extent. Now they are staying too much in the more profitable professions.

pondents may well wonder about this point. However, it is my intention to suggest to the Canasta Laws Commission that we clarify this point in the next revision of the laws, by adding the words "after completing his play by discarding" at the end of that paragraph.

The way of the transgressor is hard, but I assure you the way of the law maker is even harder.

WAGE INCREASE

The rise in the average wage rate of the British worker since 1938 is about 72 per cent, exclusive of overtime.

WARLIKE

The name Mexico is derived from the Aztec word "Mexitli," title of their national war god.

EVENING GLAMOUR — Medieval damsel's jewelled crown interpreted in modern version with glittering rhinestone bands and flower arrangement.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

One of the funny things about Canasta laws is the fact that for a long time nobody will be bothered by some particular point. All of a sudden someone will get into an argument about something which the laws don't make completely clear to them and write me on the subject. The next day the same point will come up all over the world and my mails grows. For instance, today's mail brought me airmail letters from Bombay, India; Portland, Oregon, and a regular letter from Boston—all of them with a brand new question.

In the case of the lady from Bombay, she held a pair of eights and no other cards. The top card of the large discard pile was an eight. She placed the two eights on the table and attempted to take the discard pile, but the opponents said, "You can't do that. You have no cards left in your hand."

In the case of the lady from Boston, she needed 120 for an initial meld. Her hand consisted of three nine, three tens and five jacks, and a nine was discarded to her. By placing her entire 11 cards on the table, she reached 110 and adding the nine on top of the discard pile, it gave her 120. Again the opponents said, "You can't put all your cards down."

The gentleman from Portland had about the same problem as the Boston lady.

The answer to their question is that a player is privileged to place his entire hand on the table and use every card in order to take the discard pile, provided (a) that he can meld out legally then and there, or (b) that there are enough cards in the discard pile so that he will be able to discard and retain at least one card in his hand after discarding.

The last paragraph of Law 10 of the Law of Canasta reads as follows: "When a player melds out legally, he need not discard. At any other turns of play a player must both discard and also retain at least one card in his hand."

I have to confess that this wording is such that my correspondents may well wonder about this point. However, it is my intention to suggest to the Canasta Laws Commission that we clarify this point in the next revision of the laws, by adding the words "after completing his play by discarding" at the end of that paragraph.

The way of the transgressor is hard, but I assure you the way of the law maker is even harder.

EYE TOPICS

PRIMITIVE MAN WARRIOR AND INVENTOR

Primitive man huddled into caves fearful of the elements and of wild beasts. For a long time it was doubtful whether man or some other animal would dominate the life of this planet. Success came to man because he had a superior eye and a superior hand.

The human EYE is capable not only of seeing objects at a distance, but also of seeing and differentiating very small, minute objects close at hand. The human HAND is prehensile, that is, it is adapted to grasping and holding; moreover with the aid of the eye it can be trained to perform the most intricate tasks. Great advances did not come till aid to the hand and aids to vision were discovered and applied. Aids to the hand came first: the axe and the bow and arrow gave a hundred-fold better security and provided the hunter with food. The invention of tools se man on the highroad of progress. With an axe he could build a log hut; with a plow he could till the land.

We should think very little of a carpenter who neglected to provide himself with tools. But persons who fail to take advantage of necessary aids to vision might well be compared to a carpenter who tried to build a house without hammers, saws, or planes.

We should bear in mind that modern life makes greater demands on the eyes than nature intended. Our eyes were designed for life in the open, where light is abundant and where there is little occasion for constant close scrutiny of minute objects or technical operations. Our eyes change from year to year, protect them against strain.

One day — each week,

The Boy

who delivers your Examiner

calls to collect

He has so many customers he can't afford to give credit for he must pay for his papers on fixed dates and counts on his collections to make his payments. Your courteous carrier boy assumes a financial burden he cannot afford to carry when you ask him to wait for his money. He collects on the same day each week — you know which day — and when he has to "call again" to collect from you, delivery of his whole route is delayed on several days. Have the money ready for the boy the day he collects—the correct change, if convenient. Help him to meet his financial obligations promptly, and to make delivery on time every day.

Grandmother's Pampering Does More Harm Than Good

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a "problem child," the result of its grandmother's spoiling. My mother lived with us and from the hour of my son's birth she was frantic over him and took possession of him and negated my every effort to bring him up properly. She upheld him in his childish behaviour, opposed my every way of doing things and made up to him for what discipline I managed to give him. Today he is 12 and shows the marks of the rockings, coddlings, humorings which she gave him. Underneath our boy is of a very tender nature, loving and kind, gentle to his pets, but resentful to authority and any suggestion as to behaviour.

I knew my boy was being ruined, but what could I do?

A WORRIED MOTHER

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: There is no problem that a mother confronts that is more difficult to solve than how to protect her children, educated in the cruel kindness of a doting grandmother. The mother, weighted down by her sense of responsibility to her children, educated in the scientific care of children realizes that their grandmother may be wrecking her children physically, mentally and morally, yet she can only save them at the expense of depriving a pitiful old woman of almost the last shred of happiness she has left in the world, and it takes a more ruthless nature than most women possess to realize it.

possess to do it.

Child Fills Her Life

Old people are very lonely. They have few pleasures. And to them a grandchild comes almost as a resurrection. There is something to do and think about and feel again, and so they come to worship the grandchild with a passion of devotion greater than any they ever felt for their own children.

And perhaps it is because they do not feel any sense of responsibility to the child, or perhaps it is because they are so near the end of things that nothing seems important but the indulgence of the moment, that they spoil the child without reason. They save it from all discipline, they encourage it in selfishness, they make it a rebel against authority and use entirely different tactics in bringing it up from those they employed with its parents.

But what is the woman to do who sees her children being ruined by their grandmother? I don't know. Of course, the children's rights come first, and in justice to them they should be separated from the evil influence that will be their undoing. They should not have to pay all their lives for the folly of an old woman.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We have had an argument about which love the deepest—men or women. A. contends that even when two persons are deeply in love with each other the man's love is stronger than the womans. What do you think?—DOUBTFUL.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Which one of two lovers cares more is a matter of the individual. It isn't something that is determined by sex. Probably no couple in the world ever loved each other in just the same degree.

Not all people are capable of feeling the same amount of emotion. Some hearts are bigger than others. Some natures more generous and responsive than others. There are hard and cold and selfish men and women who are incapable of ever loving profoundly anyone except themselves. There are shallow men and women, with no depths to their natures, who really never have anything but a passing fancy for any man or woman. There are other men and women with affectionate natures who can twine the tendrils of their hearts about anyone handy and there are others, one-woman men and one-man women, who never love but once.

As a sex women love more than men. It is only a woman's love than can stand absence and ill-treatment and disgrace. A thousand men are unfaithful to their wives where one wife is unfaithful to her husband. It is inevitable that women should give themselves more to love than men do because men have a thousand things to distract them from the thoughts of love, while all a woman's life converges around the man she loves.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I would like to know if dolling up would make me a greater success with the opposite sex than studying hard at astronomy.
